PAUL BROWN

Vice President, General Manager

Paul Brown has earned the respect of everyone associated with football. Brown is a legend in his own time. He is football's greatest innovator and has handled virtually every job in the game. His contributions exceed those of all others.

Brown is a principal owner, director, vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals.

His impact on professional football is constant. All of his measures are now common practice, but 36 years ago they were revolutionary in the football world.

As a coach, Brown achieved the most distinguished record in football history — he won 361 games, lost only 133 and had 16 ties for a remarkable .725 percentage, top record ever. He had 213 victories, 104 losses and nine ties in 25 years of coaching in the National Football League.

His teams were noted for being well-coached and sound in fundamentals. His philosophy: "You have to be fundamentally sound, you can't beat yourself."

Many players and coaches benefited from his teaching. He has 15 former players and coaches who have been associated with him in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Hall of Famers who have been touched by the Brown magic are: Doug Atkins, DE, Cleveland 1955-62; Jim Brown, FB, Cleveland 1957-63; Willie Davis, DE, Cleveland 1960-62; Weeb Ewbank, Coach, Cleveland 1949-53; Len Ford, E, Cleveland 1950-57; Frank Gatski, C, Cleveland 1950-56; Otto Graham, QB, Cleveland 1946-55; Forrest Gregg, Coach, Cincinnati 1980-83; Lou Groza, T-K, Cleveland 1950-62; Dante Lavelli, E, Cleveland 1946-56; Mike McCormack, G, Cleveland 1954-62; Marion Motley, FB, Cleveland 1946-53; Bill Willis, G, Cleveland 1946-53; Bobby Mitchell, RB, Cleveland 1958-61; and Len Dawson, QB, Cleveland 1960-61.

Brown has guided the destinies of the Bengals since their start in 1968 and years before that while he was organizing the franchise and working to locate it in Cincinnati.

He was general manager and head coach from 1968 to 1975 when he moved into the general manager's role on a fulltime basis.

The touch of Paul Brown made the Bengals almost an instant success as he guided the young team to three playoff appearances and two American Football Conference Central Division championships in eight years.

It took Brown only three years to win the AFC Central Division title in 1970, quickest ever for an expansion team in the National Football League. His final team in 1975 won another AFC Central crown and finished with an 11-3 record.

Brown was named "National Football League Executive of the Year" in 1981, after directing the Cincinnati Bengals to their first AFC championship and an appearance in Super Bowl XVI.

During his brilliant coaching career, Brown was a part of the "big game" more than any man who ever coached.

He has experienced the championship game feeling many times during his career at every level of competition. His first professional team, the Cleveland Browns, played for the world championship every year during the first 10 years of its existence. Founded for the All-America Conference in 1946, the team won all four championships during that league's history, then came into the NFL under much scorn and derision.

Brown and his Browns responded by thumping the defending champion Philadelphia Eagles, 35-10, in the season's opener to set the stage for things to come. The Browns went on to win the league championship.

He won three NFL titles and seven Eastern Division crowns as coach of the Browns.

"We didn't call it the Super Bowl at the time, of course" said

Brown, "but it was the same thing — the championship game of professional football."

His return to the NFL, following a five-year absence after leaving Cleveland in 1963, coincided with the emergence of pro football as the nation's top spectator sport and he has done much to keep it that way as a member of the NFL's competition committee, the group most responsible for opening the game's offenses during recent years.

He was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1967, his first year of eligibility when he was away from coaching. He also has presented many of his former players for induction.

Brown is the master builder of pro football franchises. He created a dynasty in Cleveland and in 19 years in Cincinnati has given the Queen City three AFC Central Division champions, a "wild card" playoff team, an AFC championship and a Super Bowl team.

Brown is responsible for making pro football coaching the exacting science it is today. When he organized the Cleveland Browns in the All-American Football Conference in 1946, he started doing things no one else had ever done. He made coaching a science.

His success was instantaneous and only when coaches began copying his procedures did the won and lost records start to level off.

He won game after game but his contributions went further than that. The way he went about putting together his teams won't ever be forgotten.

Here, in part is how his citation read when he was inducted into the Professional Football Hall of Fame "... in addition to his great record, Brown is equally respected as a man who brought fine organization to professional football. He was the first to make coaching a fulltime profession, not only for himself, but for a staff of assistants, a practice that has since become universal."

Brown is a friend of coaches on every level of football.

He had a background of exceptional success as a high school, college and military service coach when he was given his first pro assignment with the new Cleveland team. Immediately, he hired a fulltime staff and he instituted a system for scouting college talent on a scale never before imagined by other pro teams.

He became the first to (1) use intelligence tests as a hint to a player's learning potential, (2) use notebooks and classroom techniques extensively, (3) set up complete film clip statistical studies and (4) then grade his own players from what he found. Brown was the first coach to keep his players together at a hotel the night before a home game as well as a road game.

Strategically, he started the practice of calling plays from the sideline by utilizing guards as messengers.

He developed pass patterns for the offense that were designed to pick holes in the defense, but then he devoted his efforts to perfecting the kind of defense that could counteract a pattern passing attack.

Using his personnel to the limit, Brown was the first to switch some fine running backs to the defense because "they were so good I did not want to waste them on offense."

All now are common practice, but they were highly unusual when Brown first employed them 36 years ago.

Brown's coaching resume shows two years at Severn Prep School in Maryland; nine years at Massillon High School in Ohio (Brown's hometown); three years at Ohio State University, two years with the successful Great Lakes Navy team during World War II; 17 years with the Cleveland Browns in the All-America Football Conference and the National Football League and eight with Cincinnati.

Despite his success in the pro ranks, Brown feels the Massillon High School job was the best he ever had.

"The best job I ever had was coaching the Massillon Tigers," Brown says. "That's because I really think I did the most good there."

"The reason is that I was able to send many, many athletes to college through their athletic skills when there was no other way for them to go."

Brown was an excellent athlete himself at Massillon High School where he became a top football player and a state pole vault champion.

When he became head football coach in 1932, he compiled an 80-8-2 record, becoming known throughout the nation in the process. His teams had separate winning streaks of 33 and 26 games.

The Massillon Stadium is named "Paul Brown Tiger Stadium."

Brown's glory at Massillon led Ohio State to offer him the job of coaching the Buckeyes. The offer came in 1941.

He says he was so excited about "getting a chance to coach Ohio State I didn't even ask what my salary was going to be. My doctor advised me: 'Paul don't take that job, you're wound too tight. But I told him the truth, I said I have to go.'"

And the Norwalk, Ohio, native kept right on going, ending up at the highest plateau of the game — the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Among the more significant accomplishments of his teams are a series of Ohio state championships at Massillon which in turn made that school one of America's foremost prep powers, a national collegiate championship at Ohio State in 1942, four straight AAFC championships and seven divisional titles and three NFL championships in 1950, 1954, and 1955 after the Browns had joined the NFL following the breakup of the AAFC. Ironically, it was Brown's overwhelming success — his Cleveland team had a 52-4-3 record in AAFC play — that was probably the major factor in the breakup of that league.

Brown has achieved greatness, but says he's not all that aware of it. His secret might be his perspective.

He recalls something that happened at Massillon.

"Once we were scheduled for a road game against Niles the week before the (Canton) McKinley game, and for one of the few times in my life I became very ill. My doctor told me I'd have to miss the trip, which I just couldn't imagine doing. How could the team win without me?

"But the doctor told me, 'Everyone's useful, no one's necessary,' which I didn't quite believe, but I stayed home anyway.

"That night at home, I waited frantically to get a phone call at halftime to see how we were doing. Finally it rang.

"How are we doing?" I asked. "The voice on the other end said, we're winning 47-0. That was a lesson — and a lesson that put me in my place but good."

Brown has won countless football and civic awards. Among them are the prestigious Ohio Governor's Award from James A. Rhodes; the NFL Alumni Association's Order of the Leather Helmet; the National Football Foundation's "Mr. Ohio Award." He was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame in July.

He also has authored a book — "P.B.: The Paul Brown Story" which tells of his life in football.

Brown played quarterback at Miami (Ohio) University and graduated with a bachelor of arts degree. He has a master of arts degree from Ohio State University.

Paul and his wife, Mary, live in Indian Hill. His first wife, Katie, died in April, 1969. Two of his sons, Mike and Pete, are associated with the Bengal organization as assistant general manager and legal counsel and director of player personnel respectively. Another son, Robin, a former Bengal scout, died in July, 1978.

AUSTIN E. KNOWLTON

Chairman of the Board

Austin E. "Dutch" Knowlton is the chairman of the board of the Cincinnati Bengals and has been a firm supporter from the first day of the franchise's inception.

Knowlton, a well-known builder and sportsman, has been a founder, owner and director since the franchise was begun and often can be found watching his team play at some of the farthest waystops on the NFL map, in addition to his regular attendance at games in Riverfront Stadium.

Knowlton also is an avid sportsman who spends as much of his free time as possible overseeing his second great interest — the breeding and selling of show horses at his Emerald Farm in Delaware County.

Also, during the glorious days of the 70's, Knowlton was the largest owner of the Cincinnati Reds.

Sometimes there is not as much time to devote to these activities as he'd like because of his business interests. A few years ago he organized the ARGA Co. One division, Vesta Construction Company, is engaged in the construction of buildings, leasing of buildings and other endeavors. A division of this company, K Construction Management, is engaged in the construction management business in Ohio and other states.

After receiving a degree in architecture and civil engineering from Ohio State University, Knowlton joined his father's construction company and later assumed ownership of the construction business and operated it under the name of Knowlton Construction Company.

During the expansion of the college program, he designed, built and financed 54 college dormitories and other buildings for various colleges and universities in various states. He built the major portion of Ohio University, Bowling Green State University and many college buildings at Ohio State University, Miami University, Capital University, Otterbein College and numerous other schools and universities.

His offices are in Bellefontaine and Columbus, Ohio, and he resides in Delaware County at Emerald Farms, and in Aspen at Red Mountain Ranch.

JOHN SAWYER

President

John Sawyer, a well-known business executive, has been president of the Cincinnati Bengals since the team was formed in 1967.

Sawyer, along with Paul and Mike Brown, was one of the Bengals founders. He put in many hours of hard work and thousands of miles of travel to bring the NFL franchise to Cincinnati. He is an owner and a member of the team's board of directors.

John, Paul and Mike represented Cincinnati in the many NFL meetings held prior to awarding the franchise. He currently attends all NFL owners' meetings and played a part in the NFL realignment in 1970.

Sawyer, a man constantly on the go, has made every road trip with the Bengals except two since the team began playing in 1968.

John developed and is president of J. Sawyer Company, a multifaceted agricultural concern which has included aviation firms, an automobile agency, a restaurant, an antique shop, a horticultural products company, a commercial feed lot, numerous farms and ranches in Ohio, Kentucky, Mississippi, Florida, Wyoming, Colorado, and Arkansas. J. Sawyer Company is one of the leading farm management and real estate brokerage firms in the midwest.

He is an inductee of Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame, Ohio's highest honor in the field of agriculture, and has been honored for serving Ohio agriculture for more than 30 years as a farmer and innovator. His support and leadership helped greatly in the early development of the American Soybean Association and the Ohio Beef Marketing Program.

As a pilot, he was a pioneer in the aerial application of crop pesticides. He has been a leader in sound environmental management in the livestock industry and has developed a high volume composting system used at the Paygro plant and Ohio Feed Lot in South Charleston, Ohio.

This innovative "Paygro Composting System" has been recognized by the EPA as an effective method of sludge treatment and is being installed in large Ohio cities to help solve the tremendous municipal waste problems.

John has never lost his love of airplanes which began as a B-17 pilot in WWII. He still retains the company's Lear jet which he flew on business trips from Madison Aviation Center which he built in London, Ohio.

Other special interests of John's include the Boy Scouts, Children's Hospital Medical Center, Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, Little Miami Inc., and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center at Wooster, Ohio.

John is a graduate of Princeton University and is the son of the late Charles Sawyer, former Secretary of Commerce. He and his wife, Ruth, live in Indian Hill and have four daughters, Anne Putnam, Elizabeth Selnick, Catherine Ryall, and Mary. They also enjoy three grandsons, John Putnam, William Selnick III and Nickolas Selnick.

MIKE BROWN
Assistant General
Manager,
Legal Counsel

Mike Brown is assistant general manager, legal counsel, an owner and a member of the board of directors of the Cincinnati Bengals.

In these key positions, he has combined with his father, Paul, an owner, vice president and general manager, to give the Bengals one of the finest franchises in the National Football League.

Mike has guided the Bengals from an expansion franchise in 1968 to a Super Bowl team in 1982. The 1981 Cincinnati Bengals' team fulfilled most of his hopes by winning the American Football Conference championship to earn a berth in Super Bowl XVI.

Mike and Paul Brown played major roles in bringing the Bengals to Cincinnati. Their hard work was rewarded in 1967 when the Queen City was awarded a franchise in the old American Football League which merged with the National Football League in 1970.

Mike had visualized Cincinnati as an NFL city long before the franchise was awarded. He conducted a detailed study which showed the potential of the Cincinnati area as a professional football market.

Mike handles player contract matters. He also handles Bengals' contract and negotiations with the City of Cincinnati, works with television and radio outlets involved with the Bengals and administers all the club's legal matters.

He and his father represent the Cincinnati Bengals at all NFL meetings and both played big parts in bringing about the merger of the AFL and the NFL in 1970.

Mike is a member of the NFL Management Council, a group which deals with labor-management decisions within the NFL, and served on a four-man committee of owners that selected future Super Bowl sites.

He is a graduate of Dartmouth where he played quarterback. He received his law degree from Harvard Law School and was associated with a law firm in Cleveland before joining his father with the Cleveland Browns.

Mike and his wife, Nancy, have a daughter, Katie, 20, and a son, Paul, 17½.

PETE BROWN
Director of
Player Personnel

Pete Brown, Paul Brown's youngest son, is the Cincinnati Bengals' director of player personnel.

Brown, very highly-respected throughout the National Football League as a judge of football talent, is in his 19th season as director of player personnel for the Bengals. He served as assistant director of player personnel for one year before moving into the top position in the department.

Brown, whose drafts are annually considered among the best in the NFL, supervises a staff of scouts and also personally scouts a heavy schedule of college games.

He is an owner and a member of the board of directors of the Bengals. He also played a major role in giving the successful and efficient Nautilus program an early introduction to the Bengals.

Pete is a graduate of Denison University.

SAM WYCHE

Head Coach

Sam Wyche has developed the Cincinnati Bengals into the top-ranked offensive football team in the National Football League in just three years.

Wyche, who at 42 is the youngest head coach in the NFL, has put excitement into the Bengals with a skilled, varied attack filled with innovations and surprises.

His never stop offense has rewritten the Bengals' record book and last year was at the top of the NFL Club Rankings by Yards.

Wyche's Bengals gained 6490 yards in 1986—3957 passing and 2533 rushing. The Bengals scored 409 points and averaged 25.6 per game.

Wyche led the team to a 10-6 record, the best for Cincinnati since a 7-2 mark in 1982, and missed a playoff berth the last week of the season. It was the third consecutive year a Cincinnati playoff entry hinged until the final week.

Wyche has made the Bengals an entertaining team with great fan appeal. His high-powered offense is spiced with unusual plays and innovations such as bringing the entire offensive team to the sideline for skull sessions during timeouts, having the offense run without a huddle at times and use of the split huddle.

His football is solid and strong and his offensive philosophies and knowledge of the passing game are unsurpassed.

Wyche played a major role in the development of Cincinnati quarterback Boomer Esiason.

"He has an extreme knowledge of football and has helped me so very much," Esiason said. "We spend a lot of time together."

Wyche has a 25-23 record in his three seasons in the NFL—8-8 in 1984, 7-9 in 1985 and 10-6 in 1986.

Wyche (pronounced like "witch" with a long "i") was named head coach of the Bengals on December 28, 1983, succeeding Forrest Gregg.

Paul Brown wasted no time in signing Wyche as the Bengals' new coach after the opening for the job appeared. In fact, Brown had been thinking about Wyche as a future head coach as far back as 20 years when he was trying out for the Bengals at the team's training camp.

Brown has always kept the playbooks of "players who for one reason or another seemed to stand out in my mind. Sam's was one of those I kept.

"Four years ago I was looking up Mike McCormack's book because I had to nominate him for the Hall of Fame at Canton, and I came across Sam's.

"I know why I kept his. Even when he was a free agent quarterback who we kept on that old 1968 team, he was special. I looked at the book and he had everything in excellent order. This shows that way back then I had a feeling . . . he was a student of the game.

"We kept close track of Sam after he left us and he was the man we wanted when the job in Cincinnati was open," Brown said.

As a coach, Wyche has the perspective of the players since he filled their role for many seasons.

"I have the perspective of the players," Wyche says. "I've sat in the locker room. I've complained about the coach's long practice, stupid sprints and all those kinds of things. So I know what the scuttlebutt will be somewhat.

"Discipline is important, and without it, you collapse. At some point, you find a way to beat yourself without discipline. Discipline, though, is something that can't be dished out all the time. So you create that atmosphere where the players don't want to disappoint you, as opposed to they don't want to do things so that you don't holler at them.

"I hope that I am respected by them. I hope they think of me as a knowledgeable coach, a fair coach."

Wyche was born in Atlanta, Ga., on January 5, 1945, and attended North Fulton High School there.

After graduating from North Fulton High School in Atlanta, he became a "walk-on" quarterback at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in business administration.

Wyche signed with the Wheeling Ironmen of the Continental Football League in 1966 and played for one season before going to the University of South Carolina as a graduate assistant for two seasons and in 1968 earned a M.B.A. degree in Business Administration Management.

In 1968, Wyche was given a try-out with Brown's Cincinnati Bengals, an American Football League expansion team in its initial season. He made the team and was the starting quarterback much of the time. He was a member of Cincinnati's first American Football Conference Central Division playoff team in 1970.

During his first three seasons with the Bengals, Wyche completed 115 of 220 passes (52.3%) for 1743 yards and threw 12 touchdown passes.

In 1971, Wyche was traded to the Washington Redskins where he played for coaches George Allen and Ted Marchibroda. He played on three playoff teams including Super Bowl VII with the Redskins.

Wyche was traded to the Detroit Lions in 1974. His coach there was Rick Forzano. In 1976, Sam began the season with the St. Louis Cardinals where he participated in the first professional football game ever played in Tokyo, Japan. He concluded his playing career in 1976 with the Buffalo Bills.

After retiring from professional football, Wyche and a partner opened a sporting goods store (Sam Wyche Sports World) in Greenville, S.C., and that operation has now grown into a fifteen store chain.

In 1979, Wyche received a call from his former quarterback coach with the Bengals, Bill Walsh, who asked him to join the San Francisco 49er staff as quarterback and passing game coach.

He accepted and coached the passing game of the 49ers from 1979 through 1982 including Super Bowl XVI when San Francisco defeated the Bengals 26-21.

While with the 49ers for four years he was widely credited with developing quarterbacks Joe Montana, Steve DeBerg and Guy Benjamin and receivers Dwight Clark, Freddie Solomon and Renaldo Nehemiah.

Montana says, "Sam Wyche's knowledge of offensive philosophies is unsurpassed." Clark says: "Sam has a great ability for teaching receivers and a special knack for spotting talent in a player and helping him reach his potential—potential he sometimes doesn't know he has. His knowledge of the passing game is unequalled."

Wyche was head coach at Indiana University in 1983 where he compiled a 3-8 record in a rebuilding season.

He has been taught by some of the finest coaches in the game.

"From 1967 until the present, I have either been a teammate of or coached by the following people: Paul Brown, Paul Dietzel, Bill Walsh, Mike McCormack, Bill Johnson, Ted Marchibroda, Rick Forzano, Jack Pardee, George Allen, Maxie Baughan, Don Coryell, Jim Hannifan, Joe Gibbs, Raymond Berry, Jim Ringo, Norb Hecker, Sonny Jurgensen, Billy Kilmer, O.J. Simpson, Jim Hart, Mike White, Denny Green and John Ralston among others.

"I have been fortunate to be around so many fine coaches and players," Wyche says. "My good fortune also included four playoff years as a player, including participation in Super Bowl VII (1972) with the Washington Redskins. I also coached with the 1981 World Champion 49ers in Super Bowl XVI.

"I don't think you are around anyone who doesn't rub off on you," Wyche said.

Wyche is a popular public speaker and is a member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

His hobbies include magic, guitar, tennis and golf.

Sam and his wife, Jane, have two children, Zak, 16, and Kerry, 14.

Bengals' coach Sam Wyche

SAM WYCHE LOOKS AT 1987

"The Cincinnati Bengals were a good team in 1986 with a good record and some tremendous outings during the season, but in order for us to become more than that, a playoff team, several things have to happen," says head coach Sam Wyche.

- (1) "Our high-powered offense that was ranked #1 in the NFL last year can't get fat. We have to understand that last year's performance will not gain us one yard in 1987.
- (2) "Our defense has to play to the level of it's best performance in 1986. The last six games of the 1986 season proved that our defense could perform well enough to take us to the playoffs. In 1987, they have to perform that way week after week from week #1.
- (2) "Our special teams have to respond to the efforts of our new coach, Mike Stock, and not only keep us in ball games, but win two or three games for us in the 1987 campaign.

"In 1987 football will see that the Central Division of the American Football Conference is as fine a division as there is in the game. For that reason, we will have to play even better than we did in 1986 to maintain our record. The coaches are aware of our challenge and have worked hard in the off-season to put the players in a position to be winners. We've been together for four years now and I think the players and coaches are running the same race with full appreciation of each others abilities.

"When the season is over this year, I think the measure of our success or failure will be made in terms of our consistency. Playing consistent football is always important, but in a tough division with improving teams consistency is the difference. Our goal as coaches and players for the 1987 season has to be to play consistent, predictable football, week in and week out.

"Offensively, everyone knows the difference between leading the league in offense and making the big play at the pivotal time during the game. Our offense does have room to improve in terms of detail. We cannot be happy with the number one ranking statistically, but must strive to contribute even more toward victories. In 1987 we will have to be a high-powered, but unselfish offense. We cannot get fat and assume we'll repeat our offensive effort — 1986 statistics will not score one TD in 1987. As it turned out, the 1986 stats were not good enough to put us in the playoffs anyway.

"We are expecting our defense to be more than "better." We expect it to be "good." We have high effort and talented people who are well-trained and well-positioned. The 1987 season should climax a three-year effort to re-establish defensive prowess on this Bengals' team. We don't ask for a number one ranking defensively, but we do expect winning efforts week after week."

"Overall, our 1987 team should be as good or better than our 1986 squad. We were blessed with relatively few injuries, although we had some in 1986. Our 1987 draft is not plentiful in numbers, but we feel that we can add two, possibly three, players in a contributing way from it. Most of the players on this team have been together now for some period of time and they and the coaches feel that our moment is at hand. Our team will be good. Whether we are good enough will depend on the dedication of the squad during the spring and summer months as we prepare for the season. We have proven to be a strong finishing team and a team that builds in confidence as the season goes along. As always, the entire season from game #1 determines our playoff hopes. We will concentrate once again on a fast start and consistent play, realizing that any one game has the potential of putting us in or keeping us out of the playoff picture," Wyche concluded.

JAMES BROOKS

RB 28 5-10 182
Auburn 7

The speedy, talented Brooks had an outstanding season in 1986 and was voted to the AFC Pro Bowl team as a starting running back . . . He was voted the Bengals' Most Valuable Player by his teammates and was named to numerous national All-AFC teams . . . Brooks amassed 1087 yards rushing and 1773 total yards, both club records, in a season in which he went over 100 yards rushing in four games — Cleveland at Cleveland, 118; Houston at Cincinnati, 133; Detroit at Detroit, 120, and New England at New England, 163, another club record. Brooks' 1986 statistics were 1087 yards rushing on 205 carries, 5.3 yards average, and five touchdowns; 47 pass receptions, 14.6 yards average, and four touchdowns . . . Ranked high on the AFC offensive chart . . . Second in total yards and second in rushing . . . Brooks summed up his brilliant season this way: "I really pushed myself this year. Like in the gassers (sprints at the end of practice) I could go easy, but I push myself to run hard. I'm not satisfied to be 'all right.'" The 5-10, 182-pound Brooks says, "I think I've proved I can play with anybody in this league. For a long time, a lot of people said I was too small." . . . Bengals' head coach Sam Wyche comments: "J.B.'s more than a running back. He's also a wide receiver and a blocking back. More important, though, he's a team player. He's a hard worker. He's one of the first on the practice field and one of the last to leave. His teammates respect him and that's one reason they play so hard for him." . . . Brooks has had back-to-back outstanding seasons . . . In 1985 he had a top-flight season when he led the Bengals in rushing, averaging almost five yards an attempt, and was a dangerous pass receiver . . . Used his excellent speed and experience to put together outstanding statistics . . . Flourished in the Bengals' diversified passing attack, and was one of the top all-purpose backs in the NFL . . . Fifth in touchdowns in AFC with 12 . . . Eighth in rushing with 929 yards on 192 carries for a 4.8 average and seven touchdowns . . . Fifth in AFC in total yards from scrimmage with 1505 — 929 rushing, 576 pass receiving . . . "When I'm on the field I feel I can do anything I want to," says Brooks. "That's the kind of confidence I have in myself. If a man can stop me, he's going to be doing his job. Basically, a lot of running backs like to run the ball and don't worry about catching it," Brooks said. "But offenses have opened up so much, you need a back who can catch and do many things." . . . To appreciate Brooks' value to the passing attack, one has to have seen the number of tough catches he has made . . . "J.B. makes catches that running backs just don't make," says quarterback Boomer Esiason. "He's got great hand-to-eye coordination, he's very smooth on his feet, and he knows where he is in relation to where the defenders are." . . . Has good physical strength and combines it with fine quickness and speed . . . A darting runner with explosiveness . . . Can run inside and outside and utilizes his exceptional speed . . . Has many, many talents and could play wide receiver . . . He has 220 career catches for 2050 yards and 14 touchdowns . . . Brooks reads and knows defenses well . . . Superb reactions . . . Came to Cincinnati from San Diego in 1984 in exchange for Pete Johnson . . . Brooks has had excellent statistics and led the NFL in total yards-rushing, receiving and punt and kickoff returns — in 1981 and 1982 while with the San Diego Chargers . . . He had

"He's a good student of the game and sometimes he'll tell us something that might help. A lot of times, I know myself, I get caught up in blocking schemes and forget to look at the whole picture. Boomer's good at overview." . . . Wyche says Esiason is one of the best pure throwing arms in the game . . . "He has a strong arm and is accurate," says Wyche. "He's also very mobile. Boomer proved to be a high-powered, big play quarterback in 1986. Esiason was an outstanding pitcher at East Islip, Long Island, N.Y. High School, posted a 15-0 record in his senior year and was the object of professional and college baseball scouts . . . He wonders how he ended up in football instead of baseball. "I can replay this a million times and I still don't know why," Esiason says. "I signed my letter of intent to Maryland, which was the only major school that recruited me for football, before my senior year in baseball. After my senior year in baseball, every major school in the country wanted to give me a scholarship for baseball. I even had the Seattle Mariners come to my house. I'm saying, but I've already signed a letter of intent to Maryland. What am I supposed to do? I've never been through this before. I decided to honor my decision to go to Maryland, but I thought I was going to be allowed to play baseball there, too. And I wasn't allowed. To this day that was a good decision. But I was really ticked off that I couldn't play." Esiason's high school coach, Sal Ciampi, knew he would make it professionally in one sport or the other. JOE KELLY

LB 22 6-2 227
Washington 2

The Cincinnati Bengals' No. 1 draft choice in 1986 after a brilliant college career at Washington where he was an All-America linebacker . . . Reported to the Bengals in the final week of the preseason . . . Earned a starting berth at midseason and played well . . . Kelly came up with 35 tackles — 25 solos and 10 assists — a pass interception and an enemy fumble recovery . . . Showed speed, toughness and hustle . . . "He has a feel for the ball," head coach Sam Wyche said, "a feel for the game as a rookie. He has special skills that we need to put to use. He's so quick and explosive, and his reactions are exceptional. On his interception against Detroit, he only had a split second to see the ball and then get his hands in position to make a catch. I've seen a lot of balls like that go off a linebacker's shoulder pads. Joe is a top prospect in the NFL and his development is crucial to our playoff hopes." . . . Did not sign until the final week of the preseason and had to work hard to make up for lost time . . . Can read an offensive set and make necessary adjustments . . . "That's usually the hardest thing for a young linebacker," said Dick LeBeau, Bengals' defensive coordinator . . . Kelly started seven games and played in 16 . . . He has a bright future and should become a top-ranked linebacker . . . A first team All-PAC 10 choice and Washington's Player of the Year in 1985 . . . Semi-finalist for the Dick Butkus Award honoring the outstanding college linebacker in the country . . . Three-year starter as an inside linebacker at Washington . . . His father, Joe Kelly Sr., played college football at New Mexico and professional football with the Los Angeles Rams . . . His uncle, Bob Kelly, played for the Bengals and Houston . . . Holy Cross 4

Versatile offensive lineman who won a starting position at left guard last season . . . Had previously had two fine seasons as a back-up . . . Started at guard and center last season . . . "He could play all the positions," Jim McNally, offensive line coach says. "Very intelligent (Kozerski was a physics major and an honor student), quick, tough guy. The mental part is the big thing with him. He uses his head." . . . Kozerski doesn't mind switching from guard to center . . . "If I know my left guard spot, then I know what the center's doing most of the time," Kozerski said. "It's not a mental adjustment as much as it is techniques. Your blocking changes quite a bit because you have a man (the nose tackle) on your head every play. You're not chasing 230-pound linebackers, you're blocking 280-pound linemen. If you don't stay low, they're going to chew you up like a rag doll. The biggest difference is the physical part of it." . . . Kozerski played some center in high school and started at center at Holy Cross . . . Outstanding player with good quickness . . . Can play all three offensive line positions . . . Good punt and kick snapper . . . Has excellent foot speed and good mobility . . . Outstanding strength . . . Ninth round draft choice in 1984 . . . ## TIM KRUMRIE

NT 26 6-2 274
Wisconsin 5

Nose tackle Tim Krumrie was the Bengals' top tackler in 1986 for the second consecutive season . . . The rugged Krumrie had 113 tackles — 70 solos and 40 assists — and a quarterback sack . . . Krumrie led all NFL nose tackles in tackles because he often roams into areas covered by linebackers and strong safeties . . . "Timmy's playing at the top of his game," Bengals' head coach Sam Wyche says, "and I think he's now playing better than he's ever played. The thing is, he wants to get even better. He's not satisfied, by any means, with what he's done. He's an all-pro caliber football player and I don't think anyone who's ever played against him walked off the field with a different opinion." . . . Krumrie was named to several All-AFC teams following the 1986 season . . . "I think I had a real good year, probably a little better than last year," said Krumrie who completed his fourth NFL season. "I think I'm doing a little better job keeping blockers from tying me up. If I can create a little space and see the ball better, I can make more tackles." . . . Cincinnati's top tackle in 1985 with 96 — 68 solos and 28 assists, plus 3.5 quarterback sacks, and two enemy fumble recoveries . . . Voted AFC Defensive Player of the Week after he made nine unassisted tackles, two assists and recovered a fumble in the Bengals 50-24 victory over the Dallas Cowboys . . . Came up the following week against the Washington Redskins and made eight solo tackles and teamed on a quarterback sack . . . Named nose tackle on Sports Illustrated's 1985 All-NFL team selected by "Dr. Z," Paul Zimmerman . . . "It's a compliment to Tim being selected to the Sports Illustrated All-NFL team," said coach Sam Wyche. "Tim Krumrie has been deserving of recognition for more than a year and he's finally getting it. He plays like an All-Pro without All-Pro recognition. He is a 'Joe Hustle' football player that offensive centers dread playing against." . . . Frequently accused of playing with controlled fury . . . "Tim's as good as anybody out there," says center Dave Rimington . . . "He makes our defense go," Ray Horton, cornerback, said. "I haven't seen anyone do the things he does, like the way he can go from sideline to sideline." . . . Quarterback Boomer Esiason comments: "Tim has been underrated for a long time; he's had a great season." . . . Cleveland center Mike

Babb says, "Krumrie is a talent at Cincinnati. He does every segment of the nose guard game outstanding. He does nothing bad. Most guys excel at one part of the game, but have a weakness. Krumrie has no weaknesses." . . . Krumrie was the 10th round draft choice of the Bengals in 1983 after being an All-American at Wisconsin, where he started 46 consecutive games . . . "I suppose I was too short, too slow and too light," says Krumrie who has developed into a tough, highly-respected nose tackle who now is regarded as one of the best in the National Football League . . . "Let's see, I was 6-2, ran the 40-yard dash in about five seconds and weighed about 245 when I first reported to the Bengals mini-camp after I was drafted," recalled Krumrie. "So that probably was why I went so late in the draft," he added, after being projected as an earlier choice when he was a consensus All-American in both 1981 and 1982 . . . Today, Tim Krumrie starts at nose tackle. He's still 6-2, but now he weighs in at about 274, and no one is going to argue about his speed afoot, because it has been more than adequate for the past four seasons . . . "I've been on a good weight program (by strength coach Kim Wood) and I reported to my first training camp at about 262 pounds," Krumrie said. "Since then, I added a few more pounds and I'm about 274 now, which has been my playing weight for some time." . . . Krumrie says he owes much of his success to Rimington . . . "We go at it hard every day in practice," explained Krumrie. "Dave has become one of the best centers in the game and we never let up during the week. No brother-in-law stuff for us, letting the other guy win while we're working out. That's never been the way we've done it, and it never will be, either." . . . Outstanding young nose tackle who also had a big season in 1984 when he ranked second in team tackles with 84 — 57 solos and 27 assists . . . Hard working athlete who goes all out . . . Excellent strength . . . He was one of the most honored defensive linemen coming out of college football in 1983 . . . Semifinalist for the Lombardi Award in 1982 and 1983 . . . Associated Press lineman-of-the-week following Wisconsin's 21-14 upset of Michigan in 1982 . . . Most Valuable Player award winner in 1982 Independence Bowl . . . Excellent heavyweight wrestler at Wisconsin . . . Wisconsin all-state high school linebacker and heavyweight wrestling champion . . . Host for the March of Dimes golf classic in Eau Claire, Wisc. . . . Hobbies are fishing, hunting, motorcycling, participating in road races and canoe triatholons . . . Works for the Principal Financial Group as a broker in the off-season . . . Speaks at schools on the danger of alcohol and drugs and is chairman of the March of Dimes Golf Classic . . . Tim and his wife, Cheryl, have a daughter, Kelly, 3 . . . Born May 20, 1960, in Eau Claire, Wisc. . . . Hometown is Mondovi, Wisc. . . . Lives in Eau Claire, Wisc., during the off-season.

"I believe in my first two or three years, everybody expected me to pancake people. It happened the first two or three years because I outweighed everybody by 10 or 15 pounds. Now they (defensive ends) are just as big as me. They're much bigger and they run just as fast." . . . Anthony says this has made his mental preparation and frame of mind entering each game better than ever . . . Has played in the Pro Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii, six consecutive years . . . Named to consensus 1985 all-NFL team (selected by Associated Press, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Football Writers Association and others) . . . Highly-regarded throughout the league . . . Very likable, hard-working, dedicated player . . . McNally sums up Munoz this way: "Anthony doesn't blow guys off the line like he did when he first came here, but that's only because the game has changed and he's facing defensive ends who weigh as much as he does. He doesn't dominate every play of every game like he did then, but he's still the best athlete I've ever been around. He could be a linebacker or a tight end. I mean, he has outstanding agility and quickness. He may not be the biggest or strongest but he may be the most athletic lineman in the NFL." . . . "Munoz. I couldn't do anything with that guy." Munoz gets top reports from all NFL coaches . . . Bengals' coach Sam Wyche says, "Anthony Munoz is one of the finest tackles in professional football. We are protecting our quarterback from the most dangerous rush in the game with one of the best players in the game." . . . Munoz and his family live in Cincinnati year-round. "You always hope to stay in your hometown, but it was the NFL, an opportunity some others weren't willing to give me. We miss the beach, but I don't know if there's a better place to raise kids than in Cincinnati. It's quiet, conservative, a good family town." . . . ### 20th YEAR AT WILMINGTON

The Cincinnati Bengals will train at Wilmington College in Wilmington, Ohio, for the 20th consecutive year.

The team began training at Wilmington College in 1968, the Bengals first year in the old American Football League which merged with the National Football League in 1970.

The 1987 training camp will open July 26 for rookies and July 30 for veterans. The Bengals will break camp August 21.

"We're happy with our association with Wilmington College and the city," Paul E. Brown, Bengals' vice president and general manager, said.

All outdoor practice sessions at Wilmington College are open to the public without charge.

The football stadium seats 3100 and there is adequate parking.

KEN ANDERSON RETIRES

Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson retired June 2, 1987.

The 38-year-old Anderson, one of the outstanding quarterbacks of alltime, had been the starting quarterback for the Bengals from 1972 until the third game of the 1985 season. He had backed up Boomer Esiason since then.

Anderson came to the Bengals from Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill., as a third round draft choice in 1971.

"He has had a great career and has been a credit in every way to the game, his family and certainly to the Bengals," Paul Brown, vice president and general manager, said. (Brown coached Anderson in 1971-72-73-74 and 75.) "He has his life in good order and we wish him well in every respect. I'm sure we'll be seeing him often at our office and at the games."

Head coach Sam Wyche said he has "mixed feelings about what Anderson's retirement means in terms of the Cincinnati Bengals.

"Kenny has been an important fixture in this organization for one and a half decades.

"He's been a great player and he has been a tremendous example. He's been actively involved in the community. "We'll miss him, but we know he'll be as successful in his next endeavor as he has been in his football career."

The 6-3, 212-pound Anderson holds most of the Bengals' passing records. His career statistics are outstanding: 4475 passes, 2654 completions, .593 average, 32,838 yards, 197 touchdowns and 160 interceptions.

Highlights in his brilliant career include:

1) Passing for 416 yards by completing 30 of 46 passes, two for touchdowns, in a 33-24 victory over Buffalo in a Monday Night Game in Cincinnati in 1975.

2) Passing for more than 300 yards 19 times.

3) Completing 25 of 34 passes for 300 yards and two touchdowns against San Francisco in Super Bowl XVI.

4) Setting the National Football League alltime pass completions percentage with a 70.6 in 1982 to top the old mark of 70.3 which had been held by Sammy Baugh since 1937.

5) Reaching an NFL milestone by completing 20 consecutive passes in Cincinnati's 35-27 victory over Houston in the Astrodome in 1982.

6) Winning the NFL passing crown four times — 1982 (95.5 quarterback ranking), 1981 (98.5), 1975 (94.1) and 1974 (95.1).

7) A 90.1 completion percentage against Pittsburgh in 1974 ranks as an alltime NFL mark of passing excellence.

8) Selected to play in the Pro Bowl five times (1974, 1976, 1977, 1981 and 1982).

Anderson was the consensus All-Pro quarterback and National Football League Most Valuable Player in 1981 when he led the Bengals into Super Bowl XVI. He passed for 29 touchdowns and accumulated 3754 yards on 300 completions of 479 attempts. He threw only 10 interceptions.

1986 CINCINNATI BENGALS

The Cincinnati Bengals put together a 10-6 record in 1986 for their first winning season since 1982 when they were 7-2.

Coach Sam Wyche's Bengals were the top-ranked offensive team in the National Football League and three of the stalwarts — running back James Brooks, tackle Anthony Munoz and guard Max Montoya — were voted starters on the American Football Conference Pro Bowl team. Quarterback Boomer Esiason also was on the Pro Bowl team.

Brooks sparked the high-powered offense by rushing for a club record 1087 yards and adding 686 more on 54 pass receptions for 1773 total yards, tops ever by a Bengal player.

Esiason completed 273 of 469 passes for a club high 3959 yards. He threw 24 touchdowns, a club record five in the 52-21 win over the New York Jets, and 17 interceptions.

Cris Collinsworth had 62 pass receptions for 1024 yards, the fourth time in six seasons he has gone over 1000 yards with receptions.

Nose tackle Tim Krumrie led the Bengal defense with 113 tackles — 73 solos and 40 assists. It was the second straight season he has led the team in tackles.

Linebacker Reggie Williams and safety David Fulcher each had 105 tackles.

Linebacker Emanuel King topped the team in sacks with nine and cornerback Louis Breeden had seven pass interceptions.

CHARITY BEGINS AT THE NFL

Each and every year the 28 NFL teams carry out work that has no bearing on the final standings or the next draft. It's work for charities throughout America.

The club owners decided in 1973 that they should give something back to the local communities which have supported the teams.

Since then it's estimated that more than $7 million has been distributed to various charities.

Last year saw no let-up in the giving as the final figure of $560,000 was announced as the total amount of money donated.

It was the second consecutive season Krumrie has topped Cincinnati in tackles.

Krumrie was followed by linebacker Reggie Williams and strong safety David Fulcher who both were credited with 105 tackles. Linebacker Carl Zander had 97.

Linebacker Emanuel King led the team in quarterback sacks with nine. Defensive ends Ross Browner and Eddie Edwards each had 6½.

Cornerback Louis Breeden came up with seven interceptions to lead in that category, and Fulcher had four.

WHY BOOMER?

His name is Norman Esiason and they call him Boomer. Let his father tell you why. "Our first two children were girls," Norman Esiason Sr., says. "My wife's third pregnancy was so different. The baby was kicking all the time. I said, 'This can't be a girl. It's got to be a boomer because he's kicking too much.' In my day, the punter was always called the boomer. Two or three people overheard me and picked up on it. Whenever they called they'd ask, 'How's Boomer doing?' It's a real life story. He had his nickname before he was born."

BENGALS-FRITO LAY "CHALLENGE FOR CHILDREN"

The Cincinnati Bengals and Frito-Lay, Inc., have been teammates in a joint effort called "Challenge for Children" since 1982.

For every point the Bengals score during regular season, Frito-Lay, Inc., contributes $100 to the Ricky King Fund of Children's Hospital.

The program was expanded in 1984 to feature the weekly Frito-Lay/Bengals Unsung Hero. To honor this new Unsung Hero, Frito-Lay, Inc., donates an additional 10% to the hospital each week.

Frito-Lay, Inc., has contributed over $200,000 to the Ricky King Fund at Children's Hospital since the "Challenge for Children" program began with the Bengals. The total contribution in 1986 was $44,990.

"We are very happy to be associated with Frito-Lay in this most worthy venture," said Paul E. Brown, vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals. "It's a wonderful partnership and we hope it will continue for many years."

BENGALS HISTORY

Paul Brown, who had left the Cleveland Browns following the 1962 season with an NFL record of 115-49-6, seven conference titles, and three NFL championships, had the urge to get back into football. His son Mike did a study on pro football expansion and recommended Cincinnati as a potential site. In 1965, Brown met with Governor James Rhodes and the two agreed the state could accommodate a second pro football team.

1966 Fearful the Reds baseball team would leave town and feeling pressure from local businessmen pushing for a pro football franchise, Cincinnati's city council approved the construction of Riverfront Stadium.

1967 Brown's group was awarded an AFL expansion franchise. Brown called the team the Bengals, the name of the previous Cincinnati AFL franchises in 1937, 1940, and 1941. The Bengals acquired quarterback John Stofa by trading two draft choices to Miami.

1968 The Bengals were awarded 40 veteran players in the allocation draft. In the college draft they selected Tennessee center Bob Johnson as their first pick. Other draftees included running backs Jess Phillips and Essex Johnson, tight end Bob Trumpy, linebacker Al Beauchamp, and tackle Howard Fest. The Bengals lost their first preseason game 38-14 to Kansas City before 21,682 fans at Nippert Stadium. The Bengals played respectably during the regular season, upsetting Denver 24-10 and Buffalo 34-23 in their first two home games. Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing with 1,023 yards and was named rookie of the year.

1969 Brown drafted quarterback Greg Cook of the University of Cincinnati in the first round. The same draft also produced linebacker Bill Bergey. The Bengals jumped to a 3-0 record, but the club finished 4-9-1. Brown was named AFL coach of the year. Bergey was honored as AFL defensive rookie of the year, and Cook won the AFL passing title.

1970 After his arm went bad in training, Cook was placed on the injured reserve list. Virgil Carter, a castoff from two other NFL teams, was signed to play quarterback. The Bengals lost six of the first seven games, then rallied to win the last seven for an 8-6 record. They became the first third-year expansion team to win a division title, the AFC Central. They lost to Baltimore 17-0 in the playoffs.

1971 The Bengals picked up quarterback Ken Anderson and tackle Vernon Holland in the draft, then went 5-0-1 in preseason play. After a 37-14 victory over Philadelphia, the Bengals lost seven in a row on the way to a 4-10 record.

1972 Looking for defensive help, Brown drafted end Sherman White, safety Tommy Casanova, linebacker Jim LeClair, and cornerback Bernard Jackson. Anderson unseated Carter as starting quarterback, and the Bengals won three of their last four to post an 8-6 record. Chip Myers set a club record with 57 pass receptions.

1973 Brown drafted wide receiver Isaac Curtis and runners Boobie Clark and Lenvil Elliott. The Bengals split their first eight games, then swept their last six and won their second AFC Central Division championship. Cincinnati lost to Miami 34-16 in the AFC playoffs. Clark, who finished the year with 988 yards rushing and 45 pass receptions, was named AFC rookie of the year. Essex Johnson led Cincinnati with a career-high 997 yards rushing and Curtis caught 45 passes.

1974 Cincinnati traded Bergey to Philadelphia for two first-round draft choices and third-round pick in 1977. LeClair replaced Bergey at middle linebacker. The Bengals won four of their first five games but couldn't keep pace with Super Bowl-bound Pittsburgh. Anderson won the NFL passing championship and completed a club-record 64.9 percent of his attempts. Cornerback Lemar Parrish led the NFL in punt returns.

1975 The Bengals opened with six straight wins. LeClair preserved a 21-19 victory over Houston, making all four tackles in a goal-line stand. The Bengals won their eighth game in nine starts against Buffalo as Anderson completed 30 of 46 passes for 447 yards, the tenth-highest one-game total in NFL history. Cincinnati scored 27 points in the first quarter to crush San Diego 47-14 and finish 11-3, its best regular-season record. The Bengals qualified as the AFC wild card team for the playoffs, but their losing postseason record continued with a 31-28 setback to Oakland. Anderson won his second NFL passing championship. A serious blow was the loss of defensive tackle Mike Reid, who retired at 26 to pursue a career in music.

1976 Brown announced his retirement after 41 seasons of coaching and named Bill Johnson, his long-time assistant, as the successor. Brown continued to serve as the club's general manager and vice president. The Bengals acquired defensive end Coy Bacon in a trade with San Diego and drafted halfback Archie Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State. The Bengals set a fast pace in the AFC Central Division, winning 9 of their first 11 games. The season came down to games against Pittsburgh and Oakland and the Bengals lost both. Those defeats not only cost Cincinnati the division title but the AFC wild card spot as well. Cornerback Ken Riley led the AFC with nine interceptions.

1977 A loss to Houston in the final game cost the Bengals a spot in the playoffs. The team finished with an 8-6 record. Curtis missed the final six games with a knee injury. Trumpy retired.

1978 The Bengals played the first four games without Anderson. Johnson was replaced as head coach after 0-5 start. Homer Rice took over, but the losing streak continued; the Bengals won only once in the first three months of the season. Wins over Atlanta, Los Angeles, and Cleveland at season's end improved the record to 4-12.

1979 After six straight losses to open the season, the Bengals stunned Pittsburgh 34-10, recovering seven Steelers fumbles. Ray Griffin ran back an intercepted pass a club-record 96 yards in a 26-24 loss to San Diego. Pete Johnson powered his way to 15 touchdowns, but the Bengals struggled to their second successive 4-12 record. Former Cleveland coach Forrest Gregg was named to replace Rice as head coach.

1980 Scoring touchdowns was the major problem for the Bengals, who went 6-10 in 1980. They managed only 244 points, lowest in the AFC. Anderson had a sub-par year with only six touchdown passes. The Bengals won only one of their first five games but upset defending Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh twice. First-round draft choice Anthony Munoz impressed at offensive tackle.

1981 The Bengals unveiled new uniforms with tiger-striped helmets, jerseys, and pants. They had at least a share of the AFC Central lead the entire season, and on December 6 Anderson threw two touchdowns as the Bengals clinched the division with a 17-10 victory over the Steelers. Cornerback Louis Breeden tied an NFL record when he returned a pass interception 102-yards for a touchdown in Cincinnati's 40-17 victory over the Chargers in San Diego. Anderson led the NFL in passing with a 98.5 rating. On January 3, the Bengals defeated the Buffalo Bills 28-21 in an AFC divisional playoff game. A week later, playing in their first AFC Championship Game ever, the Bengals defeated the San Diego Chargers 27-7 in a temperature of nine degrees below zero with a wind-chill factor of minus 59. In Super Bowl XVI on January 24, the Bengals trailed 20-0 at halftime and couldn't make up the deficit, losing to San Francisco 26-21.

1982 The Bengals followed up their Super Bowl season with another strong showing. They finished the strike-shortened season behind only the Raiders with a 7-2 mark. The Jets caught them sleeping in the first round of the playoffs, though, beating them 44-17. Anderson led the AFC in passing for the fourth time as the Bengals boasted the second-best offense in the NFL. Their defense ranked third in the NFL against the run.

1983 The Bengals' season looked promising at the start of 1983, but a horrendous opening brought about a premature ending. Cincinnati started the season by losing six of its first seven games. The Bengals never recovered and finished 7-9. Despite the losing record, the Bengals claimed the top overall defense in the NFL. In the off-season, Gregg resigned as head coach and Sam Wyche was named as his replacement.

1984 Pete Johnson was traded to San Diego for running back James Brooks. The Bengals lost their first five games and then bounced back to win eight of the last 11 and force the AFC Central Division championship race into the final week of the season only to fall a game short of Pittsburgh. Cincinnati finished 8-8.

1985 Wide receiver Eddie Brown from Miami (Fla.) was the Bengals' top draft choice. Wide receiver Isaac Curtis, a premier Bengal for 12 years, retired shortly before training camp opened. Cincinnati got off to another slow start, losing its first four games. The Bengals finished 7-9 and were in the thick of the AFC Central which was won by Cleveland with an 8-8 record. Second-year quarterback Boomer Esiason replaced Ken Anderson. Offensive tackle Anthony Munoz was named to the AFC Pro Bowl team the fifth consecutive time. The Bengals set a club scoring record with 441 points.

1986 Cincinnati's No. 1 selection in the NFL college draft was linebacker Joe Kelly who played at Washington. Wide receiver Tim McGee of Tennessee was drafted later in the first round. Punter Pat McNally retired. The Bengals unleashed a high-powered offense in their battle for the AFC Central Division title and finished 10-6 and narrowly missed a playoff berth. Offensive tackle Anthony Munoz was selected to the AFC Pro Bowl team for the sixth year in a row. He was joined by guard Max Montoya, running back James Brooks and quarterback Boomer Esiason. Linebacker Reggie Williams was selected "One of the Top 10 Young Men In America" by the United States Jaycees and was honored in Tulsa, Oklahoma, January 16 and 17. Later, Williams was selected NFL Man of the Year for his efforts to charity and the community and was honored at the Pro Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii. Munoz was named Seagrams' top offensive lineman of 1986.

1987 Jason Buck, a defensive end and Outland Trophy winner from Brigham Young, was the Cincinnati Bengals' No. 1 draft choice.

BIG TOTALS FOR JAMES BROOKS

Bengals' running back accumulated 1773 total yards in 1986 and earned a starting position in the Pro Bowl.

BENGAL WILLIAMS MAN OF YEAR

Reggie Williams, the veteran outside linebacker and defensive team leader of the Cincinnati Bengals, is the 1986 NFL Man of the Year.

The NFL Man of the Year award, which is administered by the Pro Football Hall of Fame, was created to honor those National Football League players who not only excel on the playing field but also contribute in many meaningful ways to their communities.

Since the award's inception in 1970, some of pro football's most noted stars, including four eventual members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, have been NFL Man of the Year honorees.

Williams was honored at the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl last February 1 in Hawaii. He received the distinctive Gladiator Statue, an original art creation by the noted sculptor Daniel Schwartz. In addition, a $10,000 charity fund provided by the National Football League was donated in Williams' name to the cause of his choice.

In Williams' case, the "cause" is the Reggie Williams Scholarship Fund which has helped more than 100 Cincinnati-area students in their quest for a college education. Williams, who has been the Bengals' NFL Man of the Year nominee for five straight seasons, first instituted the fund with award money from the NFL Man of the Year program. He then solicited additional donations from friends and community leaders. The Williams Scholarship fund has distributed more than $80,000 in the last four years.

"Being named the NFL Man of the Year is a great honor for me," Williams said. "I will use the grant money to help our scholarship fund expand and hopefully grow toward permanency. We are starting to have some college graduates from among those students who received help from our fund. We are also working toward having the Reggie Williams Scholarship Fund become a sanctioned part of the Cincinnati Public Schools scholarship program."

A former Dartmouth star who played his eleventh NFL season in 1986, Williams was named the 1985 Byron "Whizzer" White Humanitarian Award winner by the NFL Players Association for his exceptional participation in community affairs.

Williams is also involved in a wide variety of causes, including the American Cancer Society, American Red Cross, Big Brothers, Big Sisters, the Cincinnati Zoo, United Appeal, Cincinnati Public Schools, Cincinnati's Speech and Hearing Center, Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, and the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce Sports Council.

Reggie has received numerous community honors, the latest of which was his January 17 presentation in Tulsa, Oklahoma, as one of the 10 Outstanding Young Americans of 1987 by the United States Jaycees. He is a two-time winner of the Caring for Kids Award of the NFL Alumni Association and also has received the Distinguished American Award of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Each of the 28 NFL teams nominated one player for the 1986 NFL Man of the Year award. A committee, which included Congressman Jack Kemp, ABC-TV sportscaster Frank Gifford, and former Pittsburgh Steelers defensive standout Joe Greene, studied the qualifications of the 28 nominees and selected Williams as the 1986 winner.

INSTANT REPLAY APPROVED FOR 1987

For the second year in a row, NFL clubs have approved a limited system of Instant Replay on a one-year basis.

The system basically stays the same as in 1986 with the exception that larger monitors will be used by Replay Officials. In 1986, there were 374 plays closely reviewed (defined as a contact to the field, but not necessarily stoppage of play). There were 38 reversals for an average of one reversal in each six games. There were three other rulings (clarification of rules) by Replay Officials.

In 1986, the system was approved by a 23-4-1 vote. In 1987, the vote was 21-7.

The NFL has discussed Instant Replay in some degree or other since the early 1970s. The League experimented in 1976 and 1978 using two basic frameworks—an independent system using cameras, replay machines, and technicians separate from the network covering the game, and a “no frills” approach using existing television coverage.

In 1985, the NFL used the network feed of nine nationally televised preseason games to experiment with the basic system that later was adopted for 1986 and 1987. A total of 28 plays were examined closely in 1985 (17 confirmed call, 4 were inconclusive, 1 was reversed, and 6 had no replay shown).

What is the objective of this system?

The clubs feel that on certain plays the telecast viewed by the general public should be used to correct an indisputable error. The system will be used to reverse an on-field decision only when the Replay Official has indisputable visual evidence available to him that warrants the change.

Is the television network carrying the game part of the review process?

No. Although the Replay Official will be viewing the live network feed, there is no communication to television personnel as to what plays to show or not to show.

What is the step-by-step procedure of play review?

The Replay Official will view game action and a play will be replayed immediately on one of the two monitors, while the other monitor continues to record the live feed.

The Replay Official makes a determination if further study of the play is needed. If not, there is no contact with the field and play continues without interruption.

If the Replay Official believes an error may have been made, the Umpire will be contacted via a headset.

The Replay Official will watch replay(s) on one or both monitors and complete his review within a reasonable period after the play is over.

The Replay Official will inform the Umpire of his decision, and the Referee will make the appropriate announcement on the wireless microphone.

The limited Instant Replay system concentrates on plays of possession or touching (e.g., fumbles, receptions, interceptions, muffs) and most plays governed by the sidelines, goal lines, end lines, and line of scrimmage (e.g., receiver or runner in or out of bounds, forward or backward passes, breaking the plane of the goal line).

However, the Instant Replay system will not include the following fouls: clipping; encroachment and offsides; grasp of facemask; false start; defensive pass interference; offensive pass interference; offensive holding and illegal use of hands; illegal batting or punching ball; illegal block on free kick or scrimmage kick; illegal crackback; illegal motion; illegal use of forearm or elbow; illegal use of hands by defense; illegally kicking the ball; illegally snapping the ball; intentional grounding; member of the punting team downfield early; illegal formation; palpably unfair act; piling on; roughing the passer; running into or roughing the kicker; striking, kicking, or kneeling; unnecessary roughness; unsportsmanlike conduct; and use of the helmet as a weapon.
