BENGAL VOICES

Phil Samp and Jimmy Crum will do the radio play-by-play of all Bengal games for the fifth consecutive season. The Bengal Network originates with WLW in Cincinnati.

PAUL BROWN

Paul Brown, the football genius who is already honored in the Hall of Fame, enters his 38th year of coaching this season.

Brown, a giant among football coaches, has made the young, expansion Cincinnati Bengals competitive on the field in record time and has made the franchise one of the best in professional football in just four years.

It was Brown, of course, who led the drive for a professional football franchise for Cincinnati and a new stadium for the city. Both have materialized, much to the delight of all Cincinnati fans.

"Everything I ever thought about Cincinnati as a sports town has proven true," said Brown whose team plays before "standing room only" crowds in 56,200-seat Riverfront Stadium.

Brown led the Bengals to the championship of the Central Division of the American Football Conference in 1970 and was acclaimed "coach of the year" for the second consecutive year, an honor he had been accorded numerous times while building a dynasty with the Cleveland Browns.

The coaching record Paul Brown has put together on the high school, college, service and professional level is the best in the business by any standard you wish to use. He has a brilliant mark of 315 victories, only 112 defeats and 16 ties.

In addition to his glistening won-loss record, Brown has played a major role in shaping the National Football League and charting the course of professional football. He was one of the guiding forces behind the recent merger which brought the old American Football League into the National Football League.

Pro football for Paul Brown started in Cleveland after World War II. Along with Art McBride, he helped form the Cleveland Browns in the old All-American Football Conference. The Browns won 52, lost only four and tied three in four championship seasons before moving into the National Football League.

Many experts said Brown's Browns couldn't make it in the NFL and the schedule-maker called for an early showdown, matching Cleveland with the Philadelphia Eagles, the defending NFL champions.

Brown's team not only routed the Eagles, 35-10, in that game, but went on to win the world championship in Cleveland's first year in the NFL, beating the Los Angeles Rams, 30-28, in the title game.

Brown's 13-year record at Cleveland after joining with the NFL was a glittering 115-49-6, and only once during that stretch did the Browns ever have a losing year.

Brown's start with the Bengals has, perhaps, been even more impressive.

Starting in the old American Football League in 1968, the Bengals had a 3-11 record, but in the process they scared some teams to death. In 1969 they did more.

In the AFL's final season the Bengals were 4-9-1, and started out by beating Miami, San Diego and the to-be world champion Kansas City Chiefs in their first three games.

In 1970, after the AFL-NFL merger, the Bengals moved into the Central Division of the American Conference and won it by winning seven straight games to finish with an 8-6 record.

A rash of injuries and close losses dropped the club's record to 4-10 in 1971.

Brown is responsible for making professional football what it is today and, of course, is one of the leaders in shaping its future.

Brown made pro football a science, a full-time business with a full-time staff when he began building the Cleveland Browns in 1946. He hired full-time assistants on a year-round basis and scouted college talent on a scale never before imagined by other professional teams.

His innovations include:

- First to employ a year-round coaching staff.
- First to use notebooks and classroom techniques extensively.
- First to set up complete film clip statistical study.
- First to grade players from individual film clips.
- First to keep players together at a downtown hotel the night before home games as well as on the road.
- First to call plays from sidelines by rotating guards as messengers.
- Developed detailed pass patterns which opened specific defense areas.
- Made major contributions to improve science of defensive play to counteract pattern passing by others who followed his lead.
- First to switch some fine running backs to defensive specialists and explained "they were so good, I didn't want to waste them on offense."
- Invented face bars on helmets.
- First to use intelligence tests as a clue to player's learning potential.

After graduating from Massillon High School, Brown enrolled at Ohio State and later transferred to Miami where he became a fine runner and passer.

Brown's coaching career began in 1930 at Maryland's Severn Prep, a Naval Academy preparatory school. In two years his teams rolled up a record of 16 wins, one loss and a tie. Planning on a law career, Brown attended law school for a year and a half while coaching at Severn.

However, in 1932, he returned to his home in Massillon as football and basketball coach.

When Brown arrived at Massillon, the school had a stadium with a capacity of 5000. During his tenure, the school built a new stadium seating 21,000. Eight home games in the 1940 season drew 161,000 people, more than any college team in the state with the exception of Ohio State.

Brown coached the Massillon Tigers to one state championship after another and soon began receiving offers from small colleges throughout Ohio. But he was only interested in one job—head football coach at Ohio State University.

Paul reached his goal in 1941 and guided the Buckeyes to six wins, one loss and a tie. In 1942, he coached Ohio State to the national collegiate championship with a 9-1 record. Then came the war and he went to Great Lakes where he produced several outstanding teams.

He then moved into the pro ranks in Cleveland where he built football's greatest dynasty.

THE 1972 OUTLOOK

The Cincinnati Bengals are counting on an improved defense and another year of experience to turn around their won and loss record of a year ago.

The Bengals head into the 1972 season determined to better their 4-10 mark of 1971 which was misleading because of the close games lost in the final minutes. Cincinnati lost six games by four points or fewer.

"We went into our draft looking for defensive help and I think we got it," says Paul E. Brown, Bengals' general manager and head coach. "You can tell from our choices that we drafted defensively. Our first four picks were defensive players.

"Our feeling was that we needed another big lineman—one who could give us some more pass rush—and we hope we have him in Sherman White.

"We also needed help at safety and we were very surprised to find Tommy Casanova around in the second round," Brown added. "Our third pick was a linebacker, Jim LeClair, and our fourth was Bernard Jackson, a fine runner we are projecting as a defensive back."

"There also were other defensive players picked on down the line," emphasized Brown. "So you see we put the emphasis on defense and we hope it pays off."

Eight of the Bengals' 16 draft choices were defensive players. Cincinnati selected seven offensive players, all after the fourth round, and one specialist.

Many of the problems in 1971 came about as the result of injuries to key players—quarterback Virg Carter, safety Ken Dyer, defensive tackle Steve Chomyszak, receiver Chip Myers and others.

QUARTERBACK—Injuries made the all-important quarterback position a problem spot for the Bengals in 1971. Virg Carter, who missed four games because of a left shoulder separation, is back and ready to go at full tilt again. Carter led the National Football League in passing accuracy in 1971 with a .622 percentage compiled on 138 completions of 222 passes. The experienced Carter has the ability to make the Bengals move.

Young Ken Anderson, a strong-armed, 6-2, 211-pounder from tiny Augustana College, Ill., started four games last year in his rookie season and impressed Bengal coaches with his poise. He appears to have a bright future and lack of experience seems to be the only thing holding him back.

Greg Cook, a rookie sensation in 1969, will try to come back after missing the 1970 and 1971 season because of an injured right shoulder. He has had three operations on the shoulder in the last two years.

Two other quarterbacks—Dave Lewis, the club's punter; and rookie Ron Maciejowski also will be battling for a spot on the roster. Maciejowski is a free agent who played at Ohio State.

RUNNING BACKS—The Bengals are stacked with fine running backs in veterans Essex Johnson, Fred Willis, Jess Phillips, Paul Robinson, Doug Dressler and Ron Lamb. This group rushed for 2142 yards in 1971. Willis and Dressler came on so strong at mid-season they won starting jobs. Willis became the Bengals' top rusher gaining 590 yards on 135 carries for an average of 4.4. Johnson was the club's "Mr. Big Play," coming off the bench and sparking the Bengals with long gainers. Johnson, who gained 522 yards and averaged 6.1 yards per carry, chalked up touchdown runs of 86, 68, 67 and 41 yards, the latter two coming on pass plays. Phillips ran for 420, Robinson 213 and Dressler 204.

Running back was a strong position for the Bengals in 1971 and should be even better this season especially with the experience gained by Willis and Dressler.

"It should be an interesting battle for the starting spots at running back this summer at training camp," commented Paul Brown, Bengals' head coach. "We have some good, solid football players at this position. The competition will be a healthy thing."

RECEIVERS—The Cincinnati receiving corps includes veterans Bob Trumpy, Chip Myers, Bruce Coslet, Speedy Thomas, Ed Marshall and Mike Kelly and rookies Dan Kratzer, Kent Pederson, Steve Porter and John Wiegman. Steve Kingman of Beloit also has been invited to training camp.

Last season, Coach Brown shifted Trumpy, an all-pro tight end, to a wide receiver spot and the club began moving again after a seven-game losing streak.

With Trumpy at 6-6, Myers at 6-5½ and Coslet at 6-3 the Bengals have one of the tallest set of receivers in football.

The Bengals suffered from injuries at the wide receiver spot, especially the one to Chip Myers who was sidelined for four games because of two broken arms. "We're looking for improvement in this area," said Brown. "We feel that Chip will return to his 1970 form now that he has recovered from the broken arms. We're also interested in seeing Bob Trumpy work more at wide receiver as he did late last season. We're also anxious to get a good look at some of our rookie receivers."

OFFENSIVE LINE—Cincinnati's offensive line is headed up by center Bob Johnson, a four-year veteran who is the Bengals' offensive captain. The guards are Pat Matson, who had a fine year in 1971, Steve Lawson, Howard Fest, and Guy Dennis. At the tackle spots are Rufus Mayes and Vernon Holland.

The Bengals took only two offensive linemen in the 1972 draft—center Tom DeLeone, a fifth-round choice from Ohio State, and Stan Walters, a 6-6, 270-pounder from Syracuse, but added free agent Ted Gregory, a 6-3, 253-pound guard from Delaware, and center Dan Novakov of Notre Dame.

In the 1971 draft Cincinnati put emphasis on the offensive line and, at the time, Brown said this may not pay off immediately but that it would in time.

Last year's top choices—tackle Holland and guard Steve Lawson—eventually won starting jobs with the Bengals and near the end of the season showed they have the potential to become solid professional football players.

"I said when we drafted Vern and Steve that the development of an offensive lineman takes longer than any other position except, perhaps, quarterback," Brown pointed out. "We saw a great deal of development in these two young men in 1971 and are looking for more this year."

Overall the offensive line showed improvement, especially late in the season.

DEFENSIVE LINE—The Bengals' defense will probably have some new faces this year but wholesale changes are not in sight. The defense bore the brunt of several of the Bengals' narrow, last minute losses in 1971 and certain spots need to be strengthened. "We're just trying to plug the gaps that are costing us football games" says Brown. "We have some very fine defensive football players but we experienced breakdowns at certain spots and these are the places that concern us."

Heading the Cincinnati defensive line is Mike Reid, an all-American Football Conference defensive tackle in 1971. Reid is paired with big Steve Chomyszak at the tackle spots while Royce Berry and Ron Carpenter were the starting ends most of the last two seasons.

First-round draft choice Sherman White, a 6-5½, 255-pounder from California, has his eyes on one of the starting spots. So do veterans Ken Johnson and Nick Roman. A rookie free agent, John Brandt of Northwestern, also will be in camp.

LINEBACKERS—Cincinnati's linebacking corps has been the same for the last two years—Bill Bergey in the middle and Ken Avery and Al Beauchamp on the outside. This trio will be challenged this year at training camp by veterans Bill Peterson and Doug Adams and rookies Jim LeClair, a third-round choice from North Dakota, and Steve Conley, a running back from Kansas who will be tried as a linebacker. Conley is a seventh-round draft choice. Jim Edwards, a free agent from Morehead, also will get a look as will Ohio State's Mark Debeve, a 1971 draft choice who did not play last year.

The Bengal linebacking corps is young but also experienced. Bergey, who appears destined to be one of the best in football in time, is entering his fourth season, while Beauchamp is in his fifth and Avery in his sixth.

DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD—Cincinnati appears set at the cornerback spots with young and talented Lemar Parrish and Ken Riley. However, a pair of draft choices, fourth-rounder Jackson and Brian Foster, a 10th-round selection from Colorado, will come to training camp listed as corners.

The possibility exists, however, that one of them may be shifted to safety.

"Jackson has fine, fine speed as his running record at Washington would indicate," says Brown. "He gives us the chance to pair him with Parrish on kick returns and this should help a great deal in this very important phase of the game."

Safety was a problem for the Bengals in 1971 after Ken Dyer was injured in the third game of the regular season. Neal Craig, Sandy Durko and Fletcher Smith shared starting assignments after Dyer's injury.

Tommy Casanova, an All-American from Louisiana State, appears ticketed for starting duty at one of the safety slots. Casanova was the Bengals' second-round draft choice. Twelfth-round draft choice Rick Wegis also will come to camp to battle for a safety job. Free agent Pete Watson of Tufts will also be trying for a spot.

THE KICKING GAME—The Bengals potentially have one of the top kicking games in professional football.

Dave Lewis has won the NFL punting championships two years in a row averaging 44.8 yards in 1971 and 46.2 in 1970.

German soccer-style kicker Horst Muhlmann has one of the strongest legs in the game and is particularly effective on field goals from long range. His booming kickoffs frequently go out of the end zone preventing any return.

Michael Brown

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

JOHN SAWYER . . . President

John Sawyer is president and one of the owners of the Cincinnati Bengals.

Sawyer has been a key figure in the Bengals' picture from the very beginning, combining with Paul and Mike Brown to bring the professional football franchise to Cincinnati. Sawyer, along with the Browns, represented the Cincinnati group at the many league meetings held prior to the awarding of the franchise.

The young business executive also played a part in the realignment of professional football, participating in all the National Football League owners' meetings with Paul and Mike Brown.

Sawyer, a member of a prominent Cincinnati family and now a resident of London, Ohio, is a frequent visitor to the Bengals' training camp and attends every game, home and away. On some occasions he flies his own plane to the city in which the Bengals are playing.

Sawyer is president of Orleton Farms and has ranches in Ohio, Florida, Montana and Pennsylvania. He is the son of Charles Sawyer, former Secretary of Commerce.

John and his wife, Ruth, have four daughters—Anne 17, Elizabeth 15, Catherine 12, and Mary 8.

A graduate of Denison University, Pete has played a big part in putting together the Bengals and a major role in the team's four college drafts. He was instrumental in the purchase of the new muscle-building Nautilus machines. Pete is single and lives with his father, Paul, in Glendale.

DOUG HAFNER...Asst. Dir. of Player of Personnel

Doug Hafner is the Cincinnati Bengals' assistant director of player personnel.

RIVERFRONT STADIUM

The Bengals' home is Cincinnati's beautiful Riverfront Stadium, located on the banks of the Ohio River.

The stadium, situated on a 48-acre site bounded by Second Street to the Ohio River and from Elm Street to Broadway, has a seating capacity of 56,200 for football.

The four-level circular stadium has a diameter of 700 feet encompassing approximately eight and a half acres.

The Riverfront Stadium features a complete playing surface of AstroTurf.

Parking facilities on the immediate site will accommodate 4500 autos. Three parking decks plus the plaza level, all 12 acre areas, completely surround the stadium. A total of 75 buses and 100 taxi cabs park on the plaza level. Two four-lane streets run underneath the stadium, adjacent to the parking area. Within a 12-block radius, there are 20,000 parking spaces.

A massive scoreboard, 20 feet high by 180 feet long, contains 24,000 lamps and is capable of displaying scores, messages and cartoons through a computer.

"BENZOO"

The official mascot of the Cincinnati Bengals is Benzoo, a beautiful Bengal tiger.

Benzoo came to the Bengals early in 1968 while still a baby.

He can be seen daily at the Cincinnati Zoo except on those days when he is at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium roaring for the Bengals.

Benzoo appears at all Bengal home games.
