ARTHUR B. MODELL, President

Born: June 23, 1925 at Brooklyn, New York

It's typical that Art Modell is in the vanguard of the parade as pro football in general and the Cleveland Browns in particular move into a new and even more promising era in the 1970's. The energetic owner of the Browns relishes being where the action is.

Modell is an innovator and no better example of his forward-thinking can be cited than his startling offer in the spring of 1969 to move the Browns over to what had been the American Football League side of the fence. That broke the lengthy realignment logjam and untangled the most difficult problem the National Football League encountered in the merger.

It was a forceful action which took courage, since he knew the move would not be popular with some of the Browns' legion of fans at first blush. Subsequent events, highlighted by the results of the last two Super Bowl games, have changed that thinking considerably.

Bold moves are as much a part of the 45-year-old Browns' owner as his vitality, good humor and general awareness of what the fans, players and coaches alike desire and respond to. It was another such move which got Modell into pro football in the first place. That was back in 1961 when he decided to sell his interest in a lucrative New York advertising agency and purchase the Browns.

Since that time, interest in the Browns and attendance at mammoth Cleveland Stadium have soared to fantastic heights. An example is the season ticket sale, which has climbed from 17,000 in 1961 to a record of over 50,000 this year.

At the close of the 1969 season, the Browns had played before 11 consecutive home crowds of more than 80,000. That means standing room only since the stadium has "only" 79,282 seats.

Then there was the novel and daring pre-season double-header idea Modell came up with in 1962. Despite some initial skepticism, the late summer attraction proved an instant success. Eight doubleheaders have drawn well over 600,000 fans and the games have provided an exciting springboard into a new season each year.

It was Modell's decision to name Blanton Collier head coach in 1963 and under their guidance the Browns have regained their position as one of pro football's powers on the field. In the past seven years, the Browns have had one world's championship, four conference championships, three division titles, a second place finish and a tie for second.

Modell's contribution to the continued growth and prosperity of pro football in general has been equally important that same period. He served as president of the NFL from May of 1957 until relinquishing the post in March of this year. He was a major force in implementing the merger and still is active on various committees within the league.

At the same time, Modell has become an important part of the Cleveland community. His prime concern for the fans and their convenience has been evidenced by his continuing efforts to gain improvements at Cleveland Stadium.

And joining Modell in becoming fulltime members of the community has been the former Patricia Breslin of television and movie fame, following their marriage July 25, 1969. They have two sons, John 10 and David 9 from Mrs. Modell's previous marriage. The Modells reside in Shaker Heights.

BLANTON COLLIER, Head Coach

17th Season with Browns, 42nd in Coaching

Born July 2, 1906 at Millersburg, Kentucky

Graduated Georgetown (Ky.) College '27

Blanton Collier is almost unique in this era of head football coaches who in many instances run the operation in similar fashion to heads of large corporations. They make major decisions but leave the day-in, day-out work to other people.

That's not the case with the Browns' head man even though he does have final word on policy decisions regarding the squad. Collier probably does more personalized coaching than any man in the business.

The coach realizes that some performers are endowed with more talent than others. He believes, however, that there is a category of players where much improvement can be made through instructions.

His wide range of familiarity with football, as it's played right in the trenches, becomes evident to any Tuesday visitor to the team's training field and quarters. Collier makes a point of talking to just about every member of the squad in the space of a couple of hours.

One may find him discussing grip on the football with passer Bill Nelsen, the timing of pass patterns with wide receiver Gary Collins and the minute details of a running play with halfback Leroy Kelly. Minutes later he might be found demonstrating a stance to an offensive tackle or showing the basics of protecting the passer to a rookie guard.

This tutoring could be a throwback to his early days as a teacher as well as a coach in Paris, Ky. It has several advantages.

The players — from the top performers to the lowest member of the suicide squads — know that Collier has an interest in them. On occasions the gridders will take advantage of these sessions to ask advice on a personal problem, which might have been bothering them and their performance.

It also points up the fact that the veteran coach is familiar with duties of the various positions. He is not asking for performance if he doesn't think it can be delivered.

This closeness between the coach and his charges also has helped the esprit de corps of the squad. There is much togetherness on the Browns and this was very helpful as the club withstood early injuries in 1969 to go on and win the Century Division title for the third straight season and to repeat as the National Football League's Eastern Conference champion.

The understanding and good fellowship prevalent on Collier's squads came in handy in the opening game of the season in Philadelphia when Kelly limped to the sideline in the first quarter.

"When a man is injured or retires somebody usually is ready to take over the job," Collier has said on several occasions. That was the case at Franklin Field where rookie Ron Johnson assumed the burden of the running and young Reece Morrison filled in well at halfback.

The Browns scored only a few minutes after Kelly left and went on to win. They also held on to defeat the Washington Redskins a week later with Leroy still sidelined by that pulled leg muscle.

Then came a tough loss to the Detroit Lions — a game in which a sizable lead was squandered — but the Cleveland club rebounded for two victories and a tie with St. Louis before a mid-season showdown against the Dallas Cowboys. They beat the Texas team, 42-10, with a beautiful all around performance and made the second half of the season much easier in the Century battling.

That stretch run started inauspiciously with a trouncing by the Minnesota Vikings but saw Collier's team clinch the division crown with a victory over the Bears in Chicago. Three games still remained. There also was a satisfying 20-7 victory over Green Bay in the final tally of 10 victories, three defeats and a tie.

The Cowboys, with so much incentive going for them plus the home field advantage, were favored to win the rematch with the Eastern Conference title at stake. The Browns, playing a near perfect first half, had things under control all the way, however.

Cleveland fell before the powerful Vikings the next Sunday but the Eastern Conference triumph had capped another brilliant coaching year for Collier who had to replace Ben Davis, out with a knee injury all season, at cornerback, and go half the campaign without veteran defensive tackle Jim Kanicki.

That regular season mark of 10 victories, three defeats and a tie hiked Collier's total for seven campaigns as head coach to 69 triumphs, against 27 defeats and two deadlocks. That's a .719 percentage and one of the best in professional football over the period.

The sparkling won-and-lost record has resulted in one National Football League title, four Eastern Conference championships, three Century Division honors and a pair of second place finishes.

Collier takes his team into the new American Conference of the NFL as he begins his 42nd year of coaching. His career began as a high school coach back in Kentucky and includes eight seasons as head coach at the University of Kentucky.

Blanton isn't a dictator as coach. He has good assistants and believes in listening to them.

"I hate to read 'Collier says, Collier says' so much," the coach frequently has repeated. "Give credit to the coaches. They do the work. They're completely dedicated. I can't give them enough credit. This is a joint proposition."

There still is a touch of the south in Blanton's speech and perhaps that makes him seem easy going. He can fire up, however, and players and reporters have learned that he is ready to make a stand behind difficult decisions.

"I'm the world's worst loser," he frequently has said but no matter what the outcome of a game he keeps his poise as he talks to newsmen. And he never places the blame for a defeat on the individuals.

"I never criticize my players publicly," he declares. "I must be loyal to them. I am loyal to them and they know it."

After every game, win or lose, he circles the locker room with a few words here, a pat on the back there and general encouragement for the squad. This has been a factor in the fine team morale, evident throughout Collier's tenure as head coach.

Collier's team over the years have sprung some big upsets. The largest of all, however, was the 27-0 triumph over the Baltimore Colts in the 1964 NFL title game. That was the team's first league title in nine years.

There were 16 years of high school coaching behind Collier and an idea he might move into another field when he went to Great Lakes as an athletic specialist in World War II. It was then that he became acquainted with Paul Brown and the association was to result in his entry into pro football.

Collier was a member of the first Browns' staff. That was back in 1946 when the team played in the old All-America Conference. His primary concern was the defense and the Browns soon became noted as a formidable club in that area.

Blanton also worked with Otto Graham, however, helping refine the skills of the Hall of Fame quarterback. Another extremely important contribution was the installation of a grading system based on a film study he made each winter of each players' game-by-game performance.

The Browns had won all four All-America titles, an NFL crown and had finished on top four times in the Eastern Division when he answered the call from Kentucky. That was in 1954 and Blanton had a creditable 41-36-3 mark with the under-manned Wildcats when he returned to Cleveland in 1962 as an assistant coach.

Collier and his charming wife, Mary Forman, reside in Aurora — a rural retreat some 27 miles southeast of Cleveland. Golf used to be Collier's off-season sport but he and Forman now have taken up tennis.

Grandchildren — six of them — are frequent visitors to the hospitable home in Aurora and to the Hiram College training camp. And three of the most spirited Collier fans are his daughters — Carolyn (Mrs. Sam Ware) of Ashland, Ky.; Kay (Mrs. Robert Slone) of Lexington, Ky. and Jane (Mrs. Robert Hansen) who lives in a Cleveland suburb.

All are football bugs as might be expected with a father who has been drawing O's and X's with such success for 42 years.

HAROLD SAUERBREI, General Manager

Born: March 28, 1916 at Berea, Ohio

With the exception of four years, all of Harold Sauerbrei's adult working life has been spent in association with the Cleveland Browns since they started in 1946.

He had just returned from service with the U. S. Navy to his post as a sports writer with The Cleveland Plain Dealer when he was given the assignment of covering Cleveland's new entry in the All-America Conference.

Since then he has seen every game involving the Browns, a distinction shared only with the team's equipment manager, Morrie Kono.

He covered the Browns during their first eight years of operation in a manner that gained him the respect of his journalistic associates as well as many players and coaches in the All-America Conference and the National Football League. He is still called "Scoop" by many of his friends.

When the Browns needed a public relations director in 1954 to replace Russ Gestner who was advanced to business manager, Sauerbrei was selected for that post by Paul Brown. When Gestner died in 1961, Sauerbrei took over his position and was subsequently appointed general manager in 1963 by Art Modell.

A deliberate, soft-spoken person, Sauerbrei's quarter of a century of close association with pro football has given him a deep insight into the sport and his opinions in matters of import are highly regarded in NFL circles.

A self-made individual whose only association with college was a brief stay at Baldwin-Wallace College in his native Berea, Sauerbrei started out as a columnist for the weekly community newspaper in Berea. One of his columns earned him an award from the Ohio Newspaper Publishers Association in 1940 and two years later he was hired by The Plain Dealer.

With his wife, Virginia, and their three children he resides in Aurora, Ohio, a community about 23 miles southeast of Cleveland. He also has an older son Tom and three grandchildren who now live in Fresno, California.

His consuming hobby is golf where he shoots consistently in the low 80's.

NICK SKORICH

Coach, Over-All Offense

BIRTHDATE—June 26, 1921

BIRTHPLACE—Bellaire, Ohio

COLLEGE—Cincinnati '43

SEASONS IN COACHING—22

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—7

The Browns scored 351 points last season, third highest in the National Football League and bettered only by the Minnesota Vikings and Dallas Cowboys . . . the stepped-up attack the last two years must be credited at least in part to Nick Skorich who will be starting his third campaign as boss of the attack.

Cleveland strategy still stresses a solid running attack as the base of the offense . . . passing emphasis, however, is on short and intermediate tosses which are well suited to the style of quarterback Bill Nelsen . . . Skorich is in an upstairs vantage point during games and consults with his quarterback continually during the afternoon . . . each year some new things are added and Skorich has some surprises in mind for 1970.

Directed the Cleveland defense four seasons before the switch . . . head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles for three years starting in 1961 . . . also served as assistant at Pittsburgh, Green Bay and Philadelphia . . . began coaching in 1949 at Pittsburgh Central Catholic High School . . . switched to Rensselaer Poly in 1953 but moved to the Steelers the next season.

ERICH BARNES — Cornerback

BIRTHDATE—July 4, 1935
BIRTHPLACE—Elkhart, Ind.
HOW ACQUIRED—Trade (see bio.)
COLLEGE—Purdue
HIGH SCHOOL—Elkhart H. S.
HEIGHT—6-3
WEIGHT—212
YEARS PRO—13

PRO: Acquired from the New York Giants in September, 1965, as part of a three-way deal in which Cleveland sent linebacker Mike Lucci to Detroit and the Lions sent quarterback Earl Morall to New York.

Affectionately dubbed "The Old Man" and one of the club's leaders as the regular left cornerback the last five seasons . . . observed his 35th birthday on July 4, but still a fierce competitor and aggressive performer.

"A person's chronological age is just a statistic," says Barnes. "How you feel and react are all that count. I definitely haven't lost any of my enthusiasm for the game. I still feel I'm the best at doing my job. That's not conceit, just confidence in myself."

Lone interception last year was the 40th of his career and a spectacular one . . . went 55 yards to a touchdown to help break open a night game with Pittsburgh . . . boosted his total return yardage to 768.

Has a light-hearted approach off the field and occasionally in practice. "I'd call it a relaxed attitude," says Barnes. "It's not happy-go-lucky, because that applies to an unstable person. The day of a game, for instance, is no time for joking. It's time to play ball."

Chicago Bears drafted him No. 4 in 1958 and traded him to the Giants in 1961 in another three-way deal . . . Los Angeles got quarterback Zeke Bratkowski from Chicago in exchange for passer Billy Wade. New York sent defensive back Lindon Crow to Rams and received Barnes and line-backer John Guzik.

Has appeared in six Pro Bowl games . . . ran back interception 102 yards against Dallas on October 22, 1961, to share NFL record with Detroit's Bob Smith.

PERSONAL: Single, resides in New York . . . heads Barnes Enterprises, a public relations organization which numbers among its clients several large industrial corporations.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (3rd in '67)
COLLEGE—Adams State
HIGH SCHOOL—Fountain (Col.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-1
WEIGHT—190
YEARS PRO—3

PRO: Was the only kicking specialist in the NFL doing both the punting and placekicking last season and it proved troublesome at times . . . led team in scoring with 81 points, but field goal accuracy fell off . . . made good on 12 of 23 after connecting on 18 of 24 the previous year.

Blanton Collier said, "Don is doing one of the most difficult jobs in pro football by both punting and placekicking. Not many men can do both well. I still feel he can handle them, though."

Punting average was 37.5 yards, including one of 55 yards . . . began kicking in first grade of grammar school on the family farm in Wyoming. "I have four brothers and we were kicking all the time — over the barn and out in the fields and pastures," he says. "It was sort of comical. We kicked until the cover would split and the bladder came out."

Blond, boyish looking and is said to resemble entertainer Johnny Carson . . . rather slender in build, but has strong kicking power . . . hampered by sore muscle above right knee in his first year which necessitated his being placed on cab squad . . . came strong in 1968 with a total of 100 points to finish fourth in scoring . . . last year his 45 extra points led the NFL . . . his longest field goal to date is a 50-yarder against St. Louis in 1968.

YEARS PRO—9

PRO: "You know, I really haven't had an outstanding year since 1966. I'm eager to bounce back. I feel I'm one of the best at my position. I've proven that. My record speaks for itself. I have the experience and I have the confidence in what I can do."

So spoke the Browns' veteran wide receiver after missing all but a fraction of the 1968 campaign because of a severe shoulder separation . . . and he made the words come true by leading the Browns with 54 catches last season to finish seventh in the NFL.

Overtook both Ray Renfro (281) and Jim Brown (262) to become the club's all-time leading NFL receiver with 290 catches . . . also moved ahead of Dante Lavelli and into second place with 4,717 yards, behind only Ray Renfro's 5,508 . . . Collins' 63 TD's represent a Browns record for receivers, as do his 13 TD's in one season (1963) and feat of catching scoring passes in seven consecutive games.

"He's an artist, Mr. Clutch," says linebacker Jim Houston. "He says, 'Throw it to me, I'll get it,' and he does" . . . helped beat Pittsburgh last season with seven grabs for 103

PRO: "I don't like to lose. That's what drives me."

The words characterize this rapidly rising young defensive lineman, who has become one of the league's brightest new stars in only three seasons . . . a fulltime regular for the first time in 1969 and promptly was named to the Pro Bowl.

Defensive line coach Dick Modzelewski says, "Jack's not a one-sided player. A lot of ends can rush the passer, but can't play the run. He can do both. He's an overall good end.

"Jack has a lot of confidence in himself and works hard at his job. He uses his hands well and he's awfully quick. Quickness is his biggest asset."

Browns thought so highly of him in college that they drafted him as a "red shirt" in 1965 . . . learned ropes behind now retired left end Paul Wiggin, then moved to right side for second season . . . stepped in when Bill Glass, also since retired, suffered broken ribs in eighth game of 1968 . . . has become a fixture there now.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (5th in '69)
COLLEGE—Arizona State
HIGH SCHOOL—Monrovia (Cal.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-1½
YEARS PRO—2

PRO: "A fine target for the quarterback with his range and speed," is receiver coach Bob Nussbaumer's appraisal . . . another of the rookies with a head start through playing pro style ball in college.

Used sparingly on offense first time around with Browns and finished with two catches for 33 yards . . . made biggest contribution on specialty units . . . should figure more importantly as a pro sophomore.

PERSONAL: Single . . . returned to Arizona State last off-season to continue his studies . . . holds the 120-yard high hurdles record of 13.8 seconds at Arizona State . . . home is in Monrovia, Cal. just outside of Los Angeles.

JIM HOUSTON — Linebacker

BIRTHDATE—November 3, 1937
BIRTHPLACE—Massillon, Ohio
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (1st in '60)
COLLEGE—Ohio State
HIGH SCHOOL—Massillon H. S.
HEIGHT—6-3
WEIGHT—240
YEARS PRO—11

PRO: Has been called upon to make the most important move formulated by the Browns' coaching staff since last season . . . after 10 pro seasons is switching from left to middle linebacker as the answer to a search for a big, knowledgeable and dependable man at the position . . . remindful of Blanton Collier's first decision after becoming head coach in 1963 when he moved Houston from defensive end to left linebacker.

"I was a little startled when Blanton told me of this new move," Houston admitted. "I hope I can contribute what the coaches feel I can there. I don't know whether I can do it, but if they feel it's best for the team then fine, I'm all for it."

This was Collier's thinking: "It will be a new, but not unfamiliar, position for him. And as co-captain we will have the value of his leadership, as well. Jim calls defensive signals and will be better able to position the linemen."

Appeared in his third Pro Bowl game last January after being co-captain of the Browns a second year in a row . . . recovered his ninth fumble last season to go with 13 interceptions . . . has good speed for a man his size and is an inspiration to teammates on and off the field.

Won starting job at defensive end as a rookie . . . missed training camp and all practices in 1962 after being called

YEARS PRO—6

PRO: "There is no luck involved in interceptions," says the free safety who led the Browns with six thefts last season . . . "Quarterbacks throw so perfectly nowadays and they are always throwing to intended receivers. They would rather eat the ball than put it up for grabs."

Now has four-year total of 23 by making the most of his speed, dexterity and leaping ability . . . helped preserve the opening victory at Philadelphia with an end zone interception on last play of the game . . . later saved a game with Chicago by overtaking Bob Wallace after the Bears' receiver had gone 45 yards with a pass . . . named to UPI all-league second team.

"Mike is our centerfielder on pass defense," says Blanton Collier. "And he's one of the best" . . . defensive backfield coach Howard Brinker adds, "There are a lot of good free safeties in the league, but I'll take Mike. In my opinion, he's the best."

Began sophomore season at free safety, but was moved to right cornerback when Walter Beach was injured in third game . . . suffered broken collarbone in January 1968 Playoff Bowl game with Los Angeles . . . surgery repaired the injury . . . returned to safety later that year and helped Browns set team record of 32 interceptions.

PERSONAL: Married Dorothy Lafaye Kimp, June 3, 1967 . . . two children: Michelle Lafaye (2-24-68) and Michael Lionel Jr. (2-1-69) . . . older brother Lane plays tackle for Philadelphia Eagles . . . moved his permanent residence to this area last year, purchasing home in Beachwood, Ohio.

BIRTHDATE—November 13, 1942
BIRTHPLACE—Cincinnati, Ohio
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (2nd in '65)
COLLEGE—California State
 (Los Angeles)
HIGH SCHOOL—Taft H. S. (Cincinnati)
HEIGHT—6-4
WEIGHT—275
YEARS PRO—6

PRO: Kingpin of the Browns' defensive line . . . so strong, determined and dedicated that a teammate once was moved to exclaim, "You have to kill that guy before you can get him out of the lineup."

Defensive line coach Dick Modzelewski says, "I've said it before and I'll say it again — he's the best defensive tackle Cleveland has ever had. He's an exceptionally strong person with amazing speed and lateral movement. He reacts so fast he can get to a runner going through a hole on the other side of center."

Recovered the sixth and seventh fumbles of his five-year career last season . . . ran 12 yards with one of them for a touchdown against New Orleans . . . the play momentarily took him back to his high school days.

"I never really played on the defensive line until I turned pro," says Walter. "I was a fullback from my junior year in high school through the first two seasons in college ball. My last year in college I was an offensive guard and middle linebacker."

Spent rookie year with Browns backstopping Modzelewski and Jim Kanicki . . . became starting tackle in 1966 and now has appeared in last three Pro Bowl games . . . wife, Gayle, is avid fan and Walter says, "She knows how often I dump the quarterback or make a tackle. She also lets me know about the times I blow a play. She doesn't miss much."

Turned in heroic performance in title game against Minnesota . . . continued to play despite suffering frozen fingers in weather eight degrees above zero with a chill factor of 18 below.

PERSONAL: Married Gayle Combs of Cincinnati, June 30, 1962 . . . two children: Jeanne (6-24-64) and Walter Jr. (10-10-65) . . . owns home in Beachwood, eastern Cleveland suburb . . . last off-season served as an assistant director of one of U. S. Census Bureau offices.

HOMER JONES — Wide Receiver

BIRTHDATE—February 18, 1941
BIRTHPLACE—Pittsburg, Texas
HOW ACQUIRED—Trade (see bio.)
COLLEGE—Texas Southern
HIGH SCHOOL—Pittsburg H. S.
HEIGHT—6-2
WEIGHT—215
YEARS PRO—7

PRO: "Going to the Browns is one of the better things that has happened to me," exclaimed Homer Jones shortly after being informed the New York Giants had traded him last January. "It's every athlete's dream to be with a winner." . . . going to New York from the Browns in exchange for Jones were defensive tackle Jim Kanicki, running back Ron Johnson and linebacker Wayne Meylan.

He also said, "I hope I have the feet to fill the shoes," a realistic reference to the fact he has succeeded popular Paul Warfield as Cleveland's wide receiver on the left side . . . all signs indicate Jones not only has the feet, but the talent as well.

Jones, at 6 feet 2 inches and 215 pounds, is larger than his predecessor . . . he also has outstanding speed and has done equally well statistically despite playing with a club which didn't get above .500 since he stepped in six years ago.

The big receiver is the only Giant player besides Del Shofner to gain 1,000 yards in three successive seasons . . . Jones' production dropped off a bit last year, partly because he spent time at tight end after being almost exclusively a deep pass catcher previously . . . "I really don't care which position I play," he says. "I've got a pretty good feel for all three places."

Jones has averaged a remarkable 22.6 yards for each of the 214 passes he has caught as a pro, which emphasizes his ability for coming up with long gainers . . . yet he likes the Browns' philosophy of depending more on short to medium passes with only an occasional long one.

"On a pass over 50 yards I know I have a 50-50 chance, but so does the defensive back of intercepting," he points out. "Then there are wind conditions, footing. All sorts of things can happen on a long pass."

Jones was drafted by both Houston of the American Football League and the NFL's Giants (No. 20) and cast his lot with the former . . . however, Houston released him mid-way through that first training camp in 1963 and he immediately contacted the Giants . . . given a "yes," he rushed to New York only to require minor knee surgery which helped keep him on the taxi squad until the 1964 campaign was in progress.

When Frank Gifford retired in 1965, Jones stepped in and hasn't stopped since . . . he's 29 years old and should be a valuable part of the Cleveland offense for quite a while.

PERSONAL: Married Betty Brown, December 30, 1968 . . . a sprinter on college track team, he has run the 100-yard dash in 9.3 seconds and has a 20.7 clocking for the 220 . . . won a Gold Medal for the U. S. team that defeated the Russians in a dual meet at Los Angeles in 1960 . . . resides in Pittsburg, Texas in the off-season where he pursues his favorite pastime — fishing.

PRO: "Ernie is one of our best tacklers. Here is a fellow looking for people to hit. He's a dedicated football player, a leader."

The words were those of Blanton Collier in describing the Browns' strongside safety in his fourth pro season . . . got off to a slow start after suffering a fractured thumb in pre-season game and upon return to lineup played several times with a cast still on.

Intercepted three passes and ran one back 40 yards to a touchdown to put Cleveland out of Green Bay's reach . . . career total now is 13 . . . signed as free agent in 1965 after being drafted by Dallas and released in final cutdown.

PERSONAL: Single, lives in newly purchased home in Russell, a small community southeast of Cleveland . . . lone member of squad to have been born in Cleveland . . . sales representative in off-season for Milrob Corp. of Cleveland . . . was a fine southpaw quarterback at Miami where he played defense for only three plays of college career.

LEROY KELLY — Running Back

BIRTHDATE—May 20, 1942
BIRTHPLACE—Philadelphia, Pa.
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (8th in '64)
COLLEGE—Morgan State
HIGH SCHOOL—Simon Gratz (Philadelphia) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-0
WEIGHT—200
YEARS PRO—7

PRO: "I've never seen a better all-around player than Kelly," said receiver Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers. "He seems to do everything well — protecting the passer, blocking for the fullback, running up the middle or going wide on sweeps, and catching passes."

It was one All-Pro describing another All-Pro, which made it all the more meaningful . . . Guard Gene Hickerson, a teammate in the same lofty category, added, "Leroy is a great one. He probably is as quick at hitting a hole in the line as any player who ever lived."

Pulled thigh muscle suffered in the first quarter of the season opener prevented Kelly from becoming one of the few rushers in pro history to win the league title three straight seasons . . . finished seventh with 817 yards and now has career total of 4,553, although a regular halfback only four years.

Had biggest day of any NFL rusher in 1969 with 151 yards on 22 carries against Green Bay . . . also gained 124 yards against New York Giants and now is tied with Chicago's Gale Sayers in 100-yard performances . . . each has 20 during his career . . . has carried total of 931 times and boasts sparkling average of 4.9 yards per attempt.

Fine receiver, too, with career figures of 103 catches for 1,334 yards . . . still does occasional kickoff and punt returning . . . everything put together lifts his six-year overall gains to 8,296 yards . . . touchdown total now 62 — rushing 51, receiving 8, punt returns 3 . . . surpassed Ray Renfro's 55 last year and now is second on club's all-time list behind Jim Brown's 126.

Has some of his best games on rainy days and says, "I'd rather run in mud, or at least on a wet field. I know what I'm going to do, the defensive man doesn't. This gives me an advantage" . . . Blanton Collier explains it with, "Leroy has good balance and adjusts himself well to conditions. He has a sort of flat-footed style of running."

Except for the muscle pull, Kelly has been amazingly durable considering his size and the punishment he takes. "I give our offensive line a great deal of credit," he says.

"The Browns have always had tremendous lines and they have protected the backs about as well as anyone could. I try to keep in top physical shape all the time, too. And you can't forget luck, either."

There seemingly is no end to Kelly's talents . . . he has thrown 11 passes, including two for touchdowns, and even has done some emergency punting . . . tossed a 36-yard scoring pass against St. Louis last season . . . spent first two years on Browns' specialty teams and led NFL in punt returns in 1965 . . . gained starting assignment when Jim Brown retired prior to 1966 campaign.

Named first team on NEA poll conducted among NFL players and second team in UPI, AP and Hall of Fame voting . . . also gained Pro Bowl berth fourth consecutive year, gained 45 yards rushing and scored one TD.

PERSONAL: Single, resides in East Cleveland, Ohio . . . his favorite hobby is listening to records and playing golf with Browns' teammates . . . younger brother Pat is regular outfielder with Kansas City Royals of American League . . . comes from a large family most of whose members reside in Philadelphia.

DALE LINDSEY — Linebacker

BIRTHDATE—January 18, 1943
BIRTHPLACE—Bedford, Ind.
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (7th in '65)
COLLEGE—Western Kentucky
HIGH SCHOOL—Bowling Green (Ky.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-2½
WEIGHT—225
YEARS PRO—6

PRO: Returned to right linebacker post this year after moving over to the middle in an emergency last season and doing a magnificent job . . . a rugged, hard-hitting tackler at any position despite not being exceptionally large.

"Dale swears he was 225 pounds when he returned home to Kentucky after last season, but I never asked him while we were playing," says Blanton Collier. "I was afraid what the figure would be. He really is more qualified to play outside."

Described as a "worry wart" and although building up to 235 for training camp, frets and works off pounds as the season progresses . . . originally recruited by Collier at the University of Kentucky and reunited with the coach in pro ball . . . starred on specialty units until earning a starting assignment in 1967, a move that led to the trading of veteran Vince Costello to the New York Giants.

Came back strongly in 1969 from mid-winter knee surgery and recorded his fourth interception . . . highlight of career was interception of a Don Meredith pass on first play of third quarter in 1968 conference playoff with Dallas . . . ran 27 yards to break a 10-10 tie and started the Browns on the way to a 31-20 upset.

PERSONAL: Married Pam Jacobi of New Albany, Ind., July 25, 1962 . . . three children: Blanton (9-6-63), Jennifer (3-6-65) and Kimberley (7-19-67) . . . lives in Bowling Green, Ky. in off-season where he did graduate work at Western Kentucky for his master's degree and was in real estate.

Glad of the chance for a fresh start after encountering difficulties that led to his benching last season . . . "The bench is the worst thing that can happen to you," he says. "Football is my whole ambition. It's not easy sitting there on the bench every week, I'll tell you that. It was a hard pill to swallow to be told to sit down."

Was a valuable member of the specialty units as a rookie in 1967 and became starter second year when Johnny Brewer was traded and Dale Lindsey moved from the middle to right linebacker . . . recovered four enemy fumbles in 1968 and has three interceptions to his credit.

PERSONAL: Married Pam Hamby of Boone, N. C., June 17, 1967 . . . expecting their first child late this summer . . . Bob's father, retired dentist, was All-Southern wrestling champion at Duke . . . resides in Cleveland suburb of Mayfield Heights.

MILT MORIN — Tight End

BIRTHDATE—October 15, 1942
BIRTHPLACE—Leominster, Mass.
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (1st in '66)
COLLEGE—Massachusetts
HIGH SCHOOL—St. Bernard H. S.
 (Fitchburg, Mass.)
HEIGHT—6-4
WEIGHT—240
YEARS PRO—5

PRO: Made a miraculous recovery from back surgery to play an important role in the Browns' march to division and conference title last season . . . was operated on June 25 for a herniated disc and still played in the season opener less than three full months later . . . was a relief for everyone when he exclaimed after that game at Philadelphia, "You know, everything hurts except my back."

Went on to make 37 catches for 495 yards with only occasional relief at tight end . . . saved his only touchdown grab for the conference playoff victory over Dallas . . . took a six-yarder from Bill Nelsen to give Cleveland a 14-0 lead late in the first half . . . finished day with seven catches for 101 yards.

Still wasn't satisfied with season-long work, however . . . "I'm capable of playing better ball," he said. "I feel I fell far short of what I hoped I would do. I know I can do a lot more. It's such a complex position. It requires a lot of concentration for a long time. Physically, I know I can do it. But I've got to stay mentally alert the whole game."

Admits the original shock of discovering he required surgery so close to training camp time was one of the worst blows of his life . . . "I panicked," he recalls. "I went straight to a calendar and counted the weeks until the season opener. I was very discouraged. When the doctors told me I probably would be able to play by mid-season, I went from a state of total depression to hope."

Set a club record with an 87-yard catch against Philadelphia in 1968 . . . named to Pro Bowl squad after 1968 season after gaining honorable mention on UPI all-league team . . . rookie year was hampered by leg injury in ninth game and a knee injury kept him out of first eight games in 1967 . . . was completely healthy during 1968 campaign.

PERSONAL: Married Ellen Lyons of Cambridge, Mass., August 21, 1965 . . . son, Monte (11-8-66) . . . was one of eight children . . . field representative for Allied Chemical Co. in off-season . . . owns home in Mentor in neighboring Lake County just east of Cleveland.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (3rd in '68)
COLLEGE—SW Texas State
HIGH SCHOOL—San Marcos
 (Texas) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-1
WEIGHT—205
YEARS PRO—3

PRO: Added fullback experience to his fine halfback work this season, a move some fans called for while the Browns were trying to come up with a suitable running mate for Leroy Kelly in 1969 . . . "Fullback requires a little more blocking and most of Morrison's college experience was at halfback," Blanton Collier explained. "It didn't seem smart to change him in the middle of the season."

Had little opportunity behind Kelly as a rookie in 1968, but roared into prominence in last year's opener when Kelly went to the sidelines with a pulled leg muscle late in the first quarter . . . carried 16 times for 48 yards and a week later against Washington gained 131 yards in 24 trips, and added another 39 yards on passes.

Later against Pittsburgh ripped off a 54-yard run, longest by a Cleveland ball carrier all last season . . . hard, strong runner and finished year with 60 carries for 301 yards and six catches for 71 yards.

"I scouted him for three years and liked the fact he was always fighting for those extra yards, not running for the sidelines," says Browns' assistant coach Bob Nussbaumer. "He also veered away from tacklers, which is a natural instinct and can't be taught."

PERSONAL: Married Beverly Ann Posey of San Marcos, Texas, May 31, 1968 . . . son, Preston Reece (2-4-70) . . . attended Southwest Texas State past off-season and finished educational courses for his teaching degree . . . needs only to fulfill practice teaching requirement for teacher's degree . . . makes his home in San Marcos.

BILL NELSEN — Quarterback

BIRTHDATE—January 29, 1941
BIRTHPLACE—Los Angeles, Cal.
HOW ACQUIRED—Trade (see bio.)
COLLEGE—Southern California
HIGH SCHOOL—El Rancho (Cal.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-0
WEIGHT—195
YEARS PRO—8

PRO: Acquired from Pittsburgh Steelers in May, 1968 in what has become one of the more important trades in Cleveland history . . . Browns sent quarterback Dick Shiner and defensive tackle Frank Parker to Steelers and also received defensive back Jim Bradshaw.

"Nelsen is one of the best leaders I've ever been associated with," says offensive tackle Dick Schafrath, who helped provide the quarterback with some of the best protection in the league last year. "You've got to play your heart out for a guy like that."

Browns' President Art Modell says, "Bill is a great leader and he has done a great, great job for us. He is our bread and butter man" . . . and veteran receiver Gary Collins says of his teammate, "Bill is a very underrated quarterback. He's very easy to work with. A gifted passer like Bill knows defenses and throws to the receiver the defense dictates. It's the mark of a good quarterback."

Last season was Nelsen's first full one as the Browns' regular passer . . . he originally was promoted to No. 1 for the fourth game of the 1968 campaign . . . since then, Cleveland has won 19, lost 5 and tied one in regular season games . . . the team also has captured two straight division titles and twice in a row defeated Dallas in the conference playoff . . . only disappointments were losses in the last two NFL title games.

Nelsen boosted his completion average to a fine 54% last year and finished sixth in the league's quarterback ratings . . . his 23 touchdown throws were just one short of Roman Gabriel's league high . . . only three quarterbacks threw for more than Nelsen's 2,743 yards.

Had the fourth and last knee cartilage removed early last year and admits the knees are a mental and physical problem . . . "I'm too occupied in a game to be worried and most of the time off the field I can put it out of my mind," he says. "But, yes, I have a definite fear of hurting them more."

"The knees ache all the time. I have trouble walking on Monday and Tuesday after a game and after an hour and a half of practice. Last year was a complete challenge . . . it's faith in the blocking ability of my front line and faith in myself that probably keeps me in this thing."

Pittsburgh drafted him in the 10th round in 1963 and he replaced Ed Brown as starting quarterback two years later . . . injuries plagued him and he missed portions of the next three seasons . . . had knee surgery twice in that time . . . last year an occasional problem was a pinched nerve in the right shoulder, but still came through with his best year.

Finest hour in 1969 was in leading the team to a 38-14 triumph over favored Dallas in the conference playoff . . . fired six third-down passes for first downs in the opening half and finished with 18 completions in 27 throws for 219 yards and one TD.

Named to the Pro Bowl for the first time and completed 12 of 21 for 98 yards and one TD...now has thrown 69 scoring passes as a pro . . . tied NFL record with Pittsburgh by completing 13 consecutive passes (Dec. 18, 1966, 11 vs. Atlanta, and September 17, 1967, 2 vs. Chicago) . . . set league records of only one interception in 1966 and lowest percentage of passes intercepted, 0.89, same year.

PERSONAL: Married Susan Rew Peters of Alhambra, Cal., September 11, 1963 . . . three children: Keith (4-1-64), Deborah (10-13-65) and Timothy (12-30-67) . . . purchased home last fall in Chagrin Falls, Cleveland suburb . . . had his own radio show each Monday morning during 1969 football season and was sports commentator on local television program past off-season.

PRO: If they gave medals for courage in pro football, Schaftrath would rate one of the first ones struck for his performance far beyond the call of duty in 1969 . . . played three months with an agonizingly painful elbow injury, which included a torn tricep muscle.

"It was the greatest burden of my life," he admitted. "And it was the longest season I ever went through. My weight dropped from 255 to 228 and during the final month or more I had to sleep half sitting up in a chair because I couldn't stand to have the elbow touch anything."

The veteran left tackle also was forced to pass up most contact work in practice, but still managed to keep sharp and do an efficient job on Sundays . . . also suffered extreme heat exhaustion in turning in a spectacular effort against gigantic defensive end Doug Atkins at New Orleans early in the season.

One of the hardest working, most conscientious men in pro ball and a major reason for the Browns' strong running game year after year . . . excellent pass protector . . . Cleveland's regular left tackle since his second pro season in 1960.

Reported as a 220-pound rookie and started out as a defensive end . . . missed many practices but only one game in 1961 and 1962 while on active duty with the Ohio National Guard . . . named All-Pro in 1964 and 1965 . . . has appeared in six Pro Bowl games.

PERSONAL: Married Judith Ann Grimm, July 7, 1968 . . . one daughter, Heidi (5-26-69) . . . resides in Euclid, Ohio and is associated with International Management Corp. of Cleveland in off-season . . . was one of 27 pro football players who visited U. S. troops in Viet Nam in 1969.

PRO: "We've found our starting fullback," exclaimed Browns' offensive coach Nick Skorich after Scott carried nine times and gained 85 yards in the final regular season game last year . . . Scott then proved him right by scoring twice in the conference playoff victory over Dallas.

Making the switch from the Canadian League, where he had been the leading rusher four straight seasons, to the National Football League style of play proved difficult in 1969 . . . as a result, Scott saw only occasional action at fullback until the late stages and finished with 44 carries for 157 yards.

Major contributions most of the season were running back kickoffs . . . he finished third in the league with a club record 28.9-yard average . . . total of 722 yards also was new

1969 REVIEW

Sunday, Sept. 21 Browns 27, Eagles 20 (60,698) at Phila.

Undaunted by the loss of Leroy Kelly who went to the bench in the first quarter with a pulled hamstring muscle, the Browns led all the way in defeating the Eagles. It was only three plays after Kelly left that Bill Nelsen hit Gary Collins with a 35-yard pass to open the scoring.

With Kelly out of action the burden fell on Ron Johnson. The rookie from Michigan came through in fine style, carrying the football 17 times for 118 yards. He rammed one yard for a touchdown and raced 48 for another as the Browns moved to a 20-7 lead in the third quarter.

Don Cockroft booted extra points after the three scores and the kicking specialist also clicked for field goals of 22 and 37 yards.

The Eagles scored a touchdown in the first half after recovering a field goal attempt. Defensive back Erich Barnes had leaped high to deflect the ball while stationed under the goal post. The other two Philadelphia touchdowns came in the last quarter when the Eagles kept things in suspense by twice recovering onside kicks.

Sunday, Sept. 28 Browns 27, Redskins 23 (82,581) at Cleve.

The young and injury-riddled Browns beat the clock, what had seemed to be a Vince Lombardi hex, a home opener jinx and the Redskins. Substitute halfback Reece Morrison, playing in place of injured Leroy Kelly, led the Cleveland infantry charge with 131 yards on 24 carries. Gary Collins shook loose in the end zone with just over a minute remaining to take a 15-yard pass from Bill Nelsen for the winning points.

Cleveland trailed by three points with only 4:20 remaining. The Browns needed only seven plays to travel 75 yards with Gary Collins beating defensive back Pat Fischer, an old nemesis, to score the touchdown.

Ron Johnson tallied twice for the Browns — from one yard out in the second quarter and on a draw play good for 17 yards in the third period.

Once again Don Cockroft came through with the extra points. He also added field goals of 41 and 23 yards. The Browns' offensive line opened big gaps for Johnson and Morrison in this 11th straight regular season victory over the Redskins.

Sunday, Oct. 5 Lions 28, Browns 21 (82,933) at Cleve.

One play seemed to be the turning point in this first 1969 loss of the Browns. Cleveland had a two-touchdown bulge midway in the third quarter with Don Cockroft stepping into position for a 21-yard field goal attempt.

The football, centered by Fred Hoaglin, sailed back over the heads of Cockroft and Bill Nelsen, the holder. It finally was recovered by Detroit's Mike Weger at the Cleveland 49. Elated by the break, the Lions moved for a touchdown and the game's momentum swung toward the visitors.

Leroy Kelly was back in action but still appeared to be bothered by the pulled hamstring muscle received two weeks earlier. And the Browns didn't help their cause by three times turning over the ball on fumbles.

Bill Nelsen passed for all three touchdowns — to Paul

Warfield and twice to Gary Collins — but also had three intercepted.

Sunday, Oct. 12 Browns 27, Saints 17 (71,274) at New Orl.

Two fumble recoveries were the primary difference in this game which saw the Browns bounce — but not very high — after the loss to Detroit. With Cleveland leading 10-7 in the second quarter, defensive tackle Marv Upshaw knocked the ball from the hand of Saints' passer Bill Kilmer. Defensive tackle Walter Johnson scooped up the free ball at the New Orleans 12 and went in for the touchdown.

It was only seconds later that Kilmer fumbled again while trying to throw the football. This time the Browns settled for Don Cockroft's 30-yard field goal and a 20-7 halftime lead.

Cockroft was only two for five on field goals for the day, also connecting on one of 28 yards. Best news for the Browns in the game was the return to form of Leroy Kelly who scored two touchdowns and gained 57 yards, all of the tough variety.

The Browns played errorless ball with no fumbles and no interceptions. In contrast, the Saints were genial hosts turning over the ball three times on fumbles. And Cleveland's Mike Howell also intercepted a pass, his fourth theft of the year.

Saturday (N), Oct. 18 Browns 42, Steelers 31 (84,078) at Cleve.

The Steelers proved more generous in this game of "turnovers" as the Browns made it a fifth straight victory over the visitors from Pittsburgh. Cleveland had a 14-10 lead at the half but intercepted four passes after the intermission.

Rookie defensive back Walt Sumner returned one of those thefts 40 yards for a touchdown while Erich Barnes, the veteran cornerback, raced 55 yards for six points. Gary Collins shook free for two touchdown passes and grabbed seven passes in all during the evening.

Rookie Reece Morrison broke loose for a 54-yard gain from scrimmage in the last quarter. He was downed at the one but took the ball in on the next play.

The wild last period saw each team put 21 points on the board.

Sunday, Oct. 26 Browns 21, Cardinals 21 (81,186) at Cleve.

A long march in the last two minutes saw St. Louis score the seven points needed to tie the Browns. The Cards took over on their 29 and led by quarterback Charley Johnson threw up an aerial barrage. The tying touchdown was on a 15-yard pass from Johnson to John Gilliam. Jim Bakken, who missed field goal tries of 47, 38 and 20 yards, kicked the extra point.

The Browns had taken the lead in that last quarter on a 12-yard pass from Bill Nelsen to Gary Collins in the end zone. The big flanker made the grab with defensive back Roger Wehrli all over him. Gary came back to make the fine catch after leaving the game two plays earlier with an ankle injury.

Leroy Kelly fired a 36-yard pass to Paul Warfield for Cleveland's opening score. And Leroy hit the line for two yards and six points in the second period.

Despite the deadlock the game still left the Browns in good shape in the Century Division. They remained two games ahead of the Cards.

Sunday, Nov. 2 Browns 42, Cowboys 10 (84,850) at Cleve.

The third largest crowd ever to watch the Browns in Cleveland saw them score on their first offensive play. And they went on to hand Dallas its first defeat with one of the best all around efforts in the team's history.

Bill Nelsen fired five touchdown passes in one of his finest efforts. The quarterback connected with Paul Warfield for 48 and 21 yards, to Gary Collins for 10 yards and seven yards and to rookie receiver Chip Glass for 10 yards and the last touchdown. Provided excellent protection, Nelsen clicked on 18 of 25 passes for 225 yards.

They fumed Dallas defense, which had thrown opposing passers 30 times, breathed heavily on Bill occasionally. It failed to down him before he unloaded the football, however.

In contrast, the Browns' less publicized line got to passer Craig Morton of the Cowboys five times. Roger Staubach, his replacement, was sacked once.

Underdogs at the kickoff, the Browns recovered three fumbles, intercepted three passes and took full advantage of these breaks. And with the halfway point of the season reached they found themselves two and a half games ahead of New York's Giants and three games in front of St. Louis in the Century race.

Sunday, Nov. 9 Vikings 51, Browns 3 (47,900) at Minn.

It was an almost unbelievable about-face for the Browns just a week after their upset of the Dallas Cowboys. The Minnesota defensive line had received most of the pre-game publicity but it was the Vikings' offensive unit that ripped holes in the Cleveland defense.

Lone Cleveland points came in the second quarter when Don Cockroft kicked a 28-yard field goal. The winners already had a 17-0 lead at that point.

One-sidedness of the game perhaps was best illustrated by the fact that the Vikings had the ball 10 times during this painfully long afternoon for the Browns. They put points on the board nine times — six touchdowns and three field goals by Fred Cox.

The Browns received a scare in the second quarter when quarterback Bill Nelsen went to the sideline holding his shoulder. He later returned to the game but it was a nerve injury that was to bother him off and on for the remainder of the season.

Sunday, Nov. 16 Browns 24, Steelers 3 (47,670) at Pitt.

The Browns, rebounding after that loss to Minnesota, practically assured themselves of a Century Division title. It was the sixth victory of the season for Blanton Collier's club and came on an afternoon at Pitt Stadium when both the Cardinals and Giants were losing.

Paul Warfield provided the main Cleveland heroics. The swift wide receiver pulled down five passes for 132 yards. Just about all of them came at the most opportune times for the Browns.

Warfield took one pass of 12 yards for a touchdown and had two others called back because of penalties. Bill Nelsen, who finished with 18 completions on 32 throws for 290 yards, reinjured that nerve in his arm and suffered bruised ribs.

Leroy Kelly gained 97 yards for his best production to date. Gary Collins caught six passes for 91 yards and gathered in one of 26 yards for a touchdown. The Browns pulled away in the final quarter after nursing a 10-3 bulge at the three quarter pole.

Sunday, Nov. 23 Browns 28, Giants 17 (80,595) at Cleve.

The Browns made certain of a Century Division tie with this victory but it didn't come easily. The triumph was sparked by Leroy Kelly's great effort. He scored three touchdowns on gains of one, 23 and 30 yards, and gained 124 yards on 18 carries.

John Garlington saved the victory with a last quarter end zone interception. The Browns were only 11 points in front and the Giants had a second down on the Cleveland one when the linebacker pulled down Fran Tarkenton's pass.

It was an afternoon when the Browns proved to be opportunists. Defensive back Walt Sumner stole two passes and three of the Browns — Jim Kanicki, Bo Scott and Bill Andrews — recovered fumbles. Tarkenton had come into the game with only four interceptions all season.

Gary Collins took a 24-yard touchdown pass from Bill Nelsen early in the fourth quarter. It was the 11th touchdown pass of the season for the big flanker.

Sunday, Nov. 30 Browns 28, Bears 24 (45,050) at Chi.

The Browns came back from a 14-point deficit to defeat the Bears and clinch the Century Division title. Gary Collins was presented with the game ball after catching six passes for 126 yards. He had gains of 12 yards and 34 yards enroute to the winning touchdown.

The game ended with a flourish. Safetyman Mike Howell had to run down Bob Wallace who had shaken loose to take a pass from quarterback Bobby Douglass.

Bill Nelsen, sore ribs and all, put things together after a slow start. He had 16 completions in 30 attempts for 290 yards and two touchdowns. Defensive end Ron Snidow played a strong game and helped place considerable pressure on the rookie Douglass.

Ron Johnson scored two touchdowns. Slot end Chip Glass counted for the second time as a pro with a one-handed grab of a 24-yard pass from Nelsen. That third quarter touchdown evened the count at 21-all. Then came the Browns' 90-yard scoring drive in eight plays with Johnson circling end for the last seven yards and the winning points. It came after Mac Percival put the Bears ahead at 7:05 in the period with a 10-yard field goal.

Sunday, Dec. 7 Browns 20, Packers 7 (82,137) at Cleve.

The Browns had lost to Green Bay eight straight times before beating the Packers in the mud and rain at the Stadium. Leroy Kelly, who has shown a certain fondness for an off-track, skidded for 151 yards to pace the first regular season victory over the Packers since 1956.

Don Cockroft, who had been in something of a place-kicking slump, snapped out of it with field goals of 20 and 45 yards. He also lofted a 55-yard punt.

The Cleveland defense gave one of its strongest performances of the season. It had a shutout going into the final two minutes.

Paul Warfield and Ernie Kellermann scored the Cleveland touchdowns. The wide receiver made a great leaping catch for 30 yards and the Browns' first touchdown in the second quarter. Kellermann stole a pass by Don Horn and returned 40 yards for a touchdown in the third period.

Sunday, Dec. 14 Browns 27, Cardinals 21 (44,924) at St. Lou.

The Browns registered their fifth straight victory and at the expense of a team that has been something of a jinx for them. It was in this game that they were aided by an unusual fourth quarter penalty against St. Louis which was called for kicking a free ball.

This penalty came after a punt by Don Cockroft, kicking from his six-yard line, was blocked. Rookie Chip Healy of the Cards inadvertently kicked the free ball. So Cleveland had an automatic first down and was able to run out the clock and save the victory.

It was the 10th victory against two defeats and a tie for the Browns who moved out to a 27-7 lead on touchdowns by Leroy Kelly and Paul Warfield in the third quarter. Warfield's six points came in collaboration with Bill Nelsen on an 82-yard play.

The Browns' substitutes took over with the lead hiked to 20 points and the Cards mounted their comeback with Charley Johnson at quarterback.

Sunday, Dec. 21 Giants 27, Browns 14 (62,977) at New York

An all-out blitz by the Giants was a big factor as the Browns fell in their final regular season game. The New York team utilized a variety of red-dogging and threw Bill Nelsen four times for losses of 44 yards.

The Giants also used the I-formation on attack and Cleveland, perhaps looking ahead a week to Dallas and the Eastern Conference title game in the Cotton Bowl, had some problems on defense.

One of the encouraging things was the running of Bo Scott. The former Canadian League star gained 85 yards and had a 9.4 average in this second starting assignment.

A pass from Bill Nelsen to Paul Warfield for 40 yards accounted for Cleveland's first touchdown. Leroy Kelly scored the other in the third quarter on a two-yard sweep.

Sunday, Dec. 28 Browns 38, Cowboys 14 (69,321) at Dallas

The Browns made this pretty much a no-contest with a near perfect performance in the first half. Coach Blanton Collier termed it a "team triumph" but the game had its particular hero.

Bill Nelsen finished the damp day in the Cotton Bowl with 18 completions in 27 attempts for 219 yards. He threw a six-yard touchdown pass to Milt Morin and had no interceptions.

The Californian called a remarkable game and received excellent protection from the offensive line. Paul Warfield was his favorite target and the end caught eight passes for 99 yards despite considerable double coverage.

Bo Scott scored twice on two-yard smashes. Don Cockroft clicked on a 29-yard field goal to give the winners a 17-0 halftime lead. Walt Sumner intercepted a pass and went 88 yards for a touchdown. Jim Houston also made a big third quarter theft when the Cowboys seemed to have caught fire.

The Cleveland defense also put the heat on Craig Morton and the quarterback clicked on only eight of 24 passes in this Eastern Conference title bout.

Sunday, Jan. 4 Vikings 27, Browns 7 (47,900) at Minn.

The Browns fell 14 points back almost before they could become accustomed to the field and the extreme cold. Walt Sumner and Erich Barnes slipped and went down to allow Gene Washington to make two big first quarter pass catches. Quarterback Joe Kapp went seven yards for the first Minnesota score and Kapp and Washington clicked on a 75-yard play for the second.

Cleveland had trouble stopping the rugged running of Dave Osborn who finished with 108 yards. Bill Nelsen injured his arm in the second quarter and wasn't able to throw accurately through most of that period.

The Browns performed better after the intermission and outscored the Vikings, 7-3, but it was too little and too late in the National Football League title bout at Bloomington.
