ARTHUR B. MODELL, Owner

Born: June 23, 1925 at Brooklyn, New York

Art Modell, one of the truly activist owners in the National Football League, is in his 14th year at the helm of the Browns. The period of his leadership takes in almost half of the history of the team, and through it the club has been a success on the field and at the box office.

The Cleveland owner seems to thrive on challenges. One of the most recent has been to take over management of Cleveland Stadium. As landlord, he already has started on a $10 million refurbishing program. He plans not only to make the ball park look better but also to bring in a variety of events, including some college football games.

Main thrust for Modell in the year of 1974, however, will be to see his team regain the playoffs. The team didn't fulfill that ambition in 1973 and finished with a 7-5-2 mark and in third place in the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

Modell, who has had an active role in the negotiations with the Players Association, has been an innovator since taking the reins of the Browns in 1961. A master showman, he introduced the pre-season doubleheader to Cleveland.

The format was changed in 1973 and two games—on separate dates—were presented to the fans. They were successful enough so that the Browns are doing the same thing in 1974. Charities of the two Cleveland newspapers—The Plain Dealer and The Cleveland Press—will benefit again from these two pre-season games.

Reacting to the changing times is customary for Modell. Back in the spring of 1969 he made one of his biggest switches. That's when he cracked a deadlock among the owners during the meeting on the NFL-AFL merger in New York City.

Art agreed to shift the Browns, one of the nation's top drawing cards, to what had been the American Football League. This was a daring and almost completely unexpected move and, as expected, met with mixed reaction from the media people and long-time followers.

So the deadlock on which teams should be in which divisions was broken. Once Modell had made his decision, the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Baltimore Colts agreed to go along. The problem of realignment, one that had been the major roadblock in the negotiations, was solved and the remainder of the work on the merger went along smoothly.

Now the AFC has produced the last two Super Bowl champions in the Miami Dolphins. Some of the fine young players, particularly at quarterback, are in the Conference and there certainly are no regrets now about Modell's daring decision.

Modell has been a mover on the Northeastern Ohio scene in many ways other than football but his activity has not been confined to the area scene. Art also has been in an important role in the growth and prosperity of the National Football League. He served as president of the NFL from May of 1967 until March of 1970.

Modell has made Cleveland his home since the purchase of the club. Joining him in community efforts has been the former Patricia Breslin, prominent in her own right as a film and television actress.

Art and Pat were married on July 25, 1969. They have two sons, John, 14, and David, 13, from Mrs. Modell's previous marriage. The Modell family resides in the Cleveland suburb of Shaker Heights.

NICK SKORICH, Head Coach

11th Season with the Browns, 26th in Coaching

Born: June 26, 1921 at Bellaire, Ohio

Graduated University of Cincinnati, 1943

Nick Skorich entered his fourth season as head coach of the Browns feeling optimistic about the future of the team. Despite the fact that his 1973 squad finished out of the playoffs for the first time since he took over as head coach, Skorich believes that the team can move up again this season.

"The schedule caught up with us in 1973," said the coach. "The switch of games that had us playing the second game in Cincinnati because of the earlier baseball playoff may have made a difference.

"Also, in the last half of the season we ran into division winners or contenders week after week. And the only game we had at home was the one with Pittsburgh.

"It's difficult to keep emotionally high each week. This is particularly true for young ball players—and we have a lot of them."

The Browns played six of their first seven games at home including a victory over Cincinnati. That game was shifted to Cleveland when the Cincinnati Reds made the baseball playoffs and needed the Riverfront Stadium.

It meant that six of the last seven games were in foreign territory. And the road stretch included games against Oakland, Kansas City and Los Angeles as well as the Bengals, all contenders.

Despite the killing schedule the Browns moved into the second last game against Cincinnati still with a chance for the Central Division title in the American Football Conference or a wild card spot in the playoffs.

Skorich's team ran out of miracles in that game, however. The defense failed to stop the passing of Ken Anderson and the catching of Isaac Curtis and lost by a 34-17 score.

Those young ball players mentioned earlier are one reason for the optimism of Skorich.

"This youth should be a real strength of our team over the next few years," declared the coach. "We have so many people with one, two, or three years of pro ball.

"Many of them are just beginning to get the feel of things. They should be so much better this season and that is one of our strengths."

The Browns opened the 1973 season with a victory over Baltimore at home but then were soundly thrashed by the Steelers in Pittsburgh. Skorich regrouped his forces in time to upset the New York Giants who had beaten Cleveland in a pre-season game a few weeks earlier.

The team was 3-1 for the season after beating the Bengals the next weekend but then fell before the Miami Dolphins, 17-9, in a Monday night game. A victory over Houston and a tie with the San Diego Chargers saw the team at 4-2-1 at the halfway mark of the season. Then came that rugged stretch on the road mentioned by Skorich.

Injuries hurt the Browns in 1973 as they had the previous year. Rookie Pete Adams seemed to have a starting position clinched at guard until a knee buckled during the exhibition victory over Atlanta. Knee surgery eventually was required and he was out for the season.

Fullback Bo Scott also saw only occasional action because of a knee problem. Offensive tackle Doug Dieken remained in the lineup but was bothered by a knee injury that required off-season surgery.

The Cleveland attack was not up to par in 1973. Skorich sees several reasons for believing that the club now can put more points on the board.

One would be the return to action of Adams. The Southern Cal product is expected to take over the post held by the retired Gene Hickerson.

Another plus for the future is the presence of Greg Pruitt. The little flyer from Oklahoma continued to get better as the 1973 season progressed. He proved he is a running threat from scrimmage and on kick returns and may turn into the biggest crowd pleaser the Browns have had in many years.

Mike Phipps didn't make quite as much progress as hoped for in his second full season but Skorich retains full confidence in the quarterback.

"Mike will be one of the very good ones in football," the coach maintained. "He is improving all the time."

"Mike is a threat as a runner. He's learning more about defenses and made good progress in calling his own game. This could be the season when he really blossoms out."

The coach generally was pleased with the work of the defense which did well most of the time even though a heavy burden was placed on it in some games. He believes that Walter Johnson and Jerry Sherk are the "best tandem of tackles in the NFL" and also feels that the linebacking, with Babich beefing up the middle, is solid.

There will be even more emphasis on youth in the defensive backfield since Ben Davis, a starter most of the season, has been traded to the Detroit Lions.

Cliff Brooks, a Tennessee State product who will be in his third year with the club, is expected to get first crack at the cornerback spot vacated by Davis. The other corner is manned by Clarence Scott rated as one of the best in the conference and a Pro Bowl choice.

Van Green, a rookie from Shaw University, also came fast in 1973 as a safety. And Thom Darden did well at safety.

Immediately after the season, Skorich also made some changes on his coaching staff. Some new men were added and there was a switch in duties for others.

On offense, Forrest Gregg, who gained fame as one of the top members of the offensive line of the Green Bay Packers, took over as offensive line coach. After studying films of the Browns, Gregg gave the opinion that the material was good enough to win.

"My feeling is that we have the talent here," he said.

Dick Wood, former quarterback for the New York Jets and ex-aide with the Oakland Raiders, takes over as coach of the over-all offense. He also will work closely with Phipps.

Fran Polsfoot remained as tutor of the ends and Al Tabor took on added duties as coach of the running backs when John David Crow moved to the San Diego Chargers. Tabor continues as coach of the specialty teams.

Richie McCabe had been defensive backfield coach. He now moves up to coach of the over-all defense. Dick Modzelewski signed a new two-year contract as defensive line coach and Dale Lindsey, just retired as a player, was hired as coach of the linebackers.

Nick is a low key man who has an excellent knowledge of football. He believes that a team must be in top physical shape and works the Browns hard during training camp and at the practices during the week in preparation for regular season games.

Skorich, who devotes full-time to football most of the year, manages to relax in the off season by gardening and fishing. Wife Teresa and daughters Joanne Marie and Paula Jean often accompany him on those fishing expeditions and also are the Browns biggest fans.

The family lives in the Cleveland suburb of Brecksville where Paula attends high school. Joanne is in her sophomore year at the University of Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.

Skorich really can appreciate football and the good life that it has meant after coming up the hard way. Peter, his father who was a coal miner for 35 years, suffered a disabling leg injury when Nick was a high school sophomore. As the second of nine children, the coach took over much of the burden of providing for the family.

His athletic ability enabled him to go to college. He was a guard at Cincinnati at 195 pounds after playing for the Bellaire (Ohio) High School team. Nick was team captain and an All-Ohio performer at Cincinnati and also gained All-America mention. Following three years of Navy duty during which he won a commission, he played for the Steelers through three seasons.

Then came the start of his coaching career. First it was at Pittsburgh Central Catholic High School. Then came the head coaching job at Rensselaer Poly in 1953. From 1954 through 1957, he was line coach for the Steelers.

There were stretches as Green Bay offensive line coach and head of the over-all defense and tutor of the Philadelphia Eagles' running game in 1959 and 1960. In 1961 he became head coach of the Eagles.

A change of owners ended the Philadelphia story after the 1963 season. That winter he had several offers but accepted one from Art Modell to become an assistant to Collier.

Skorich coached the defensive line for four years before heading the over-all defense. When Collier retired after the 1970 season, Skorich was tapped as head coach.

HAROLD SAUERBREI, General Manager

Born: March 28, 1916 at Berea, Ohio

Harold Sauerbrei, who has been with the Browns since their very beginning, has had a lengthy recuperation from major surgery performed last November. Sauerbrei covered the team for eight years as a sports-writer for The Cleveland Plain Dealer. Then he joined the front office force and served as publicity director and business manager before taking the reins as general manager.

Until his illness, he had seen every game either as a reporter or as a member of the organization.

When he took over as public relations director before the 1954 season he succeeded the late Russ Gestner who moved up to business manager. Upon the death of Gestner, Sauerbrei became business manager. Then in 1963 he was appointed general manager and now also serves as one of the team's vice presidents.

A Navy veteran, Sauerbrei began his newspaper career with a weekly paper in Berea after attending Baldwin-Wallace College. In addition to covering the Browns for The Plain Dealer, he also handled the scholastic beat.

The general manager resides in the Cleveland suburb of Aurora with his wife, Virginia, and three children. An older son, Tom, and three grandchildren live in California.

BOB NUSSBAUMER

Vice-President-Player Personnel

BIRTHDATE—April 23, 1924

BIRTHPLACE—Oak Park, Ill.

COLLEGE—Michigan

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—10

It has been a most busy year for Bob Nussbaumer, Browns' director of player personnel who was promoted to vice-president-player personnel this past winter.

During the lengthy illness of general manager Harold Sauerbrei, Nussbaumer, in addition to his duties, has helped owner Art Modell in the area of player signings and trades.

Nussbaumer has served in the NFL as a coach and personnel man for more than two decades and is one of the most respected executives in the league. He spent 12 years as a coach and scout with the Detroit Lions before joining the Browns in the player-personnel department in 1965.

However, he was quickly shifted to the coaching staff as receivers coach, a post he held through the 1971 season when he was appointed director of player personnel, succeeding Paul Bixler.

Nussbaumer was a three-sport star at Michigan following his graduation from Oak Park (Ill.) High School. As a rookie with the Washington Redskins in 1946, he caught 47 passes. Two years later as a defensive back for the then Chicago Cardinals, he intercepted 12 passes.

Bob and his wife, Marie, have a son, John, and reside in Aurora. John is a student at the University of Michigan Law School. His wife is a columnist for The Ravenna Record.

THE COACHES

FORREST GREGG

Coach, Offensive Line

BIRTHDATE—Oct. 18, 1933

BIRTHPLACE—Birthright, Texas

COLLEGE—Southern Methodist

SEASONS IN COACHING—5

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—1

One of the NFL's all-time great offensive linemen, Forrest Gregg, who starts his first season with the Browns, already believes his charges should be an effective group.

At the time of his appointment in January, he did not hesitate to give his opinions of the Browns' offensive line personnel for whom he had high regard before joining the club.

A bulwark of the powerful Green Bay Packer teams of the mid-1960's, Gregg was an eight time All-pro during his 15-year career. His final season in 1971 was with Dallas. He earned three Super Bowl rings, twice with Green Bay, once with Dallas.

In 1969 and 1970, his final seasons at Green Bay, he was a player-coach. He coached at San Diego in 1972 and 1973 before coming to the Browns.

He and his wife, Barbara, have two children — Forrest Jr. and Karen. The family resides in Brecksville.

DALE LINDSEY

Coach, Linebackers

BIRTHDATE—Jan. 18, 1943

BIRTHPLACE—Bedford, Ind.

COLLEGE—Western Kentucky

SEASONS IN COACHING—1

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—10

Dale Lindsey was once described as a dedicated athlete whose knees couldn't match his intensity as a player through eight seasons of football with the Browns.

His perseverance, devotion to the game, and his football savvy make him a likely candidate for success in coaching, which is the area he always planned to pursue following his retirement as an active player.

Although somewhat small as a middle linebacker by pro standards, Lindsey was a hard-hitting player. He displaced Vince Costello as a regular in 1967 and was in the middle for the Browns through 1972. Last September he was released, joined New Orleans for a brief spell and then returned to Cleveland as linebacker insurance when Billy Andrews required immediate surgery. He was not on the active roster in 1973.

Dale, his wife Pam and their three children reside in Berea. Son Blanton was actually named after former Browns' coach Blanton Collier who recruited Lindsey for Kentucky before returning to Cleveland. When Collier left Kentucky, Lindsey enrolled at Western Kentucky.

RICHIE McCABE

Defensive Coordinator

BIRTHDATE—March 12, 1934

BIRTHPLACE—Pittsburgh, Pa.

COLLEGE—Pittsburgh '54

SEASONS IN COACHING—11

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—4

In his fourth season with the Browns, Richie McCabe will assume the responsibilities of defensive coordinator and will continue to coach the defensive backs.

Under his tutelage, Clarence Scott and Thom Darden have become starting regulars and rookie Van Green made great progress in 1973. With veteran cornerback Ben Davis traded to Detroit, McCabe must come up with a replacement from the youngsters on the roster.

Known as an intense player during his six years as a defensive back in the pro game, Richie brings the same attitude to his coaching. Head coach Nick Skorich first encountered McCabe while coaching at Central Catholic High School in Pittsburgh. Richie was a star performer at the rival North Catholic School.

A knee injury cut short his playing days after service at Pittsburgh, Washington and Buffalo. He started his coaching career at Carnegie Tech in 1964. Two years later he joined the Buffalo Bills' staff and then transferred to Oakland in 1969.

Richie and his wife, Judith, have a daughter Kelly Kathleen, born in 1970. The family lives in Solon, Ohio.

DICK MODZELEWSKI

Coach, Defensive Line

BIRTHDATE—Feb. 16, 1931

BIRTHPLACE—West Natrona, Pa.

COLLEGE—Maryland '53

SEASONS IN COACHING—7

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—10

With defensive tackles Walter Johnson and Jerry Sherk leading the way, the Browns' defensive line continues to display the same strength and stubbornness at yielding ground as did defensive line coach Dick Modzelewski in his playing days.

Mo has proved to be an excellent teacher, respected by his pupils as one who has been down in the trenches himself with a good knowledge of what defensive line play is all about.

Dick joined the Browns for the last three years of his pro career. His performance was a big factor in 1964 as the team went on to the Eastern Conference and NFL titles. Modzelewski had been obtained from the New York Giants.

The Washington Redskins drafted Dick out of Maryland in 1953. Two years later he went to Pittsburgh and a year later it was on to the Giants where he found a home for 11 campaigns. Those were strong New York teams and Dick was a member of the "Fearsome Foursome" defensive line that was so important in keeping the team consistently in contention.

Modzelewski came to Cleveland in a swap for Bobby Crespino, a receiver. When Mo retired after the 1966 season, his consecutive game playing streak was at 180. Brother Ed Modzelewski had preceded him with the Browns as a full-back from 1955 through 1959.

Dick and his wife, Dorothy, have four children: Mark, Laurie, Terrie and Amie. The Modzelewskis make their home in Cleveland Heights.

FRAN POLSFOOT

Coach, Receivers

BIRTHDATE—April 19, 1927

BIRTHPLACE—Montesano, Wash.

COLLEGE—Washington State '50

SEASONS IN COACHING—21

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—3

This season marks Fran Polsfoot's 21st year in coaching, 13 of them in the National Football League. During his stints at St. Louis and Houston, he developed such fine receivers as Sonny Randle, Billy Gambrell, Bobby Joe Conrad, Alvin Reed, Charlie Joiner and others.

Many of these players caused Cleveland teams much trouble over the years and now as he starts his third season with the Browns, Polsfoot is developing receivers that give his former clubs headaches.

Fran was an All-Pacific Coast Conference end himself at Washington State where he also was a top hurdler. He played three years for the Cardinals and one season at Washington before a knee injury forced his retirement. His first coaching job was at Wisconsin State. He was there from 1954 until 1962 when he joined the Cardinals.

Fran and his wife, Mary, have a 17-year-old daughter, Sally, and 15-year-old son, Tommy. They reside in Broadview Heights, Ohio.

ALVA TABOR, JR.

Coach, Specialty Teams and Running Backs

BIRTHDATE—Oct. 16, 1925

BIRTHPLACE—Savannah, Ga.

COLLEGE—Tuskegee Institute '48

SEASONS IN COACHING—22

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—3

In addition to continuing as coach of the specialty units, Al Tabor will also be responsible for directing the running backs in his third season with the Browns.

Tabor is credited with a major share of the success that placekicker Don Cockroft has enjoyed in the past two years. Subscribing to the theory that kickers need someone to watch them and talk to them, Tabor did just that. As a result Cockroft won the Golden Toe Award as the NFL's best kicker in 1972 and had the best field goal percentage in the American Conference in 1973.

During eight years as a coach at Southern University, from 1962 through 1966 and from 1969 through 1971, Tabor taught many players who went on to NFL stardom including Frank Pitts, Rich Jackson, Isiah Robertson, Al Beauchamp and Pete Barnes.

He also has coached at Texas Southern, Wiley College, Ft. Valley State plus four years of high school coaching in Port Arthur, Texas. In 1967 and 1968, he scouted for the New Orleans Saints.

He and his wife, Ernestine Rounette, have three children. There are the twins: Reginald and Regina, who are 11, and 10-year-old Alvin. The family resides in Elyria.

DICK WOOD

Offensive Coordinator

BIRTHDATE—Feb. 29, 1936

BIRTHPLACE—Lanett, Ga.

COLLEGE—Auburn

SEASONS IN COACHING—7

SEASONS WITH BROWNS—1

Malcolm Richard "Dick" Wood, who with Forrest Gregg and Dale Lindsey starts his first season on the Browns' staff, has a very simple explanation of what is his assignment as offensive coordinator.

"My task is simply to devise ways of how our running and passing can master the enemy's defenses," Wood states.

An outstanding quarterback at Auburn, where his teams had a 26-3-1 mark in three seasons, Wood had seven years as a quarterback in both the AFL and NFL. He understudied Johnny Unitas at Baltimore in 1960-61; was a regular at San Diego in 1962 and at the New York Jets in 1963-64. Bad knees hampered him in his final two seasons at Oakland and Miami.

After his retirement, Wood was an assistant at Georgia in 1967-68, then joined the staff of the Oakland Raiders for 1969-70 where he worked with Richie McCabe, currently the Browns' defensive coordinator. At Oakland he is credited with helping the development of Daryle Lamonica and Ken Stabler.

For the past three seasons Wood was quarterback-receiver coach at Mississippi. He and his wife, Peggy, are parents of two children, Bart 16 and Rhonda 14. The family lives in Brecksville.

ED ULINSKI
Film Coordinator

BIRTHDATE—December 7, 1919
BIRTHPLACE—Pittsburgh, Pa.
COLLEGE—Marshall
SEASONS WITH BROWNS—21

This is the fourth year for Ulinski as an administrative aide to Coach Nick Skorich. Ed has put together what could be the most extensive film library in pro football.

A tireless worker, Ed expedites the film exchange with other teams. He is in charge of all of the film work.

Ulinski is one of the original Browns, playing at guard from 1946 through 1949 when the team was in the All-America Conference. He then coached at Santa Clara and Purdue University before rejoining the Browns in 1954. Proving his versatility in the coaching ranks, he served in a number of positions on the staff before moving in as the full time film coordinator.

Ed is married to the former Gerry Kelly. They live in Cleveland Heights with their two children.

LEO MURPHY, Trainer

BIRTHDATE—October 24, 1923

Has been as high as 230 pounds as a pro, but usually winds up a season about 215 . . . "Playing pro ball was a longtime drive of mine, but it seemed kind of doubtful at times that I'd make it," he says. "I was always smaller than the other players. I weighed only 160 when I was given a college scholarship" . . . was named Browns' defensive player-of-the-year by Cleveland Touchdown Club in 1971.

BOB BABICH — Linebacker

BIRTHPLACE—Youngstown, Ohio

HOW ACQUIRED—Trade (see bio.)

COLLEGE—Miami, Ohio

HIGH SCHOOL—Campbell (O.) H. S.

HEIGHT—6-2

WEIGHT—231

YEARS PRO—5

PRO: Acquired by Browns 10 days before the start of the 1973 regular season in the club's most important deal in many years . . . immediately solved a long-standing middle linebacker problem Cleveland had struggled with for nearly a decade.

"He's the big answer to help us against the run," said Nick Skorich at the time of the swap with San Diego. "With Bob in the middle, the rest of the things will fall in place."

They did, too . . . the Browns' defense showed instantaneous improvement and led not only the American Conference, but the entire league, at times in the first half of the season . . . the price was steep, a first-round draft choice in 1974 and a second in 1975, but Skorich said, "He was worth it. We'd been looking year after year in the draft for a middle linebacker and never got one. We felt this was the best way to solve the problem."

Bob, a native of nearby Youngstown, Ohio, said, "It's like going home in several ways. I'm back in Ohio and I'm back in the middle" . . . although drafted No. 1 as a middle linebacker out of Miami of Ohio in 1969, he had been shifted to the outside after several years . . . "I think I wasted my time playing the outside," he said. "I'm better suited playing sideline to sideline. Besides, it's a little dull on the outside."

A heavy hitter with a nose for the ball, Bob made his presence felt on the Browns' side of the scrimmage line throughout the 1973 season . . . he proved a capable pass defender, too, and recorded the Browns' longest interception return of the season in a hard-fought 17-9 loss to Miami . . . ran ball 48 yards.

Defensive end Bob Briggs, reunited with Babich in Cleveland after an association on the San Diego team, said, "He's fantastic. He's hard-nosed, a 110 percent player, and a full-speed hitter. Offensive backs don't drive him, he sends them over backwards. He's remarkably strong. He bench presses 435 pounds, he's so massive in his upper body."

Bob was chosen the top defensive player in 1969 College All-Star Game after being All-Mid-American Conference two years and the MAC's Lineman of the Year in 1968 . . . named on several All-America first teams and played in Coaches All-America, North-South, and Senior Bowl games.

Knee injury in a pre-season game against Cleveland cost Bob his rookie year, but surgery corrected the problem . . . had two torn cartilages removed after 1973 season . . . set Charger record with 194 tackles in 1971, an average of 14 per game . . . also led team in 1970 with 173.

"Babich is strong against the running game and plays the passing game well," says Skorich. "He has the size and dimensions you like in a middle linebacker."

PERSONAL: Married Teri Compas of Arcadia, Calif. on June 23, 1973 . . . is employed by BankAmericard during the off-season . . . resides in San Diego but plans to settle in Cleveland area in off-season.

DON COCKROFT — Kicker

BIRTHDATE—February 6, 1945
BIRTHPLACE—Cheyenne, Wyo.
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (3rd in '67)
COLLEGE—Adams State
HIGH SCHOOL—Fountain (Col.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-1
WEIGHT—195
YEARS PRO—7

PRO: Has led the Browns in scoring the last five seasons and says, "You have a different feeling every year as a pro. Each year you mature a little more, mellow a bit with age."

And if you are a sound, dependable kicker like Don, you also keep going up and up in the record book each autumn . . . he now is fourth on the club's all-time scoring list with 514 points . . . those ahead are Lou Groza with 1,349, Jim Brown 756, and Leroy Kelly 540 . . . last year's total of 90 points was seventh-best in AFC.

Greatest single-game contribution in 1973 came in kicking four field goals for all of Cleveland's points in 12-10 victory over the Giants . . . also matched a personal distance mark with 71-yard punt against Kansas City.

Don has been the only specialist in pro football to consistently handle the difficult assignment of both punting and placekicking . . . "There is some satisfaction in being successful and knowing that no other kicker is doing what you're doing," he says. "In athletics, that's part of the challenge."

Set club record with 82 punts in 1973, and moved ahead of Gary Collins and Horace Gillom with career total of 414, greatest in the team's history . . . also needs only 88 yards to top Gillom's career high of 16,872 yards punting.

Had no competition on the team in his specialties last year and said, "It was personally rewarding knowing that just by kicking the way I can, I could have the job. Before I'd come to camp, and even though I might be kicking well, I never was really sure what to expect. I always felt I better be kicking well right now, or I might be in trouble."

Has shown marked improvement since Alva Tabor was hired as assistant coach in 1972 to work closely with Don in addition to overseeing all of the Browns' specialty units . . . won Thom McAn Golden Toe Award, including a handsome trophy and a $1,000 cash prize, for his work in 1972 . . . led league in field goal accuracy with 22 of 27, and set Browns' record with a 57-yarder against Denver, second longest in NFL history.

"In 1972 I learned to care a little less, not get too tied up in what I was doing," he says. "I relaxed a lot more. I knew the Browns weren't real happy with me after 1971, and I went to camp telling myself I was still the kicker and to let what comes come without worrying about anything. I did give serious thought to maybe deciding to give it up if I didn't do well in '72. I'd rather be an asset than a liability."

Cleveland Touchdown Club named him the Browns' offensive player of the year in 1972, and a vote of NFL players selected him as the kicker on the All-Pro team.

PERSONAL: Married Dianna Gayle Heikes of Fountain, Col., December 19, 1964 . . . two daughters: Michelle Lee (9-7-70) and Melinda Gale (2-12-73) . . . is a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes and does much public speaking in connection with this group . . . named in 1969 as Colorado's Pro Athlete of Year by State's Sports Hall of Fame . . . resides in Fountain.

PRO: Could be an important year for Jim, now all the

Had just won the starting center job two years ago when struck down in the season opener . . . "It was the first time any injury put me down for an entire year and I was very low," he admitted . . . dedicated himself to regaining strength and mobility during the off-season.

Spent first four years with the Browns in a supporting role, then became the starting center when Fred Hoaglin was injured midway through the 1971 season . . . Nick Skorich says, "Jim is intelligent, strong physically and seldom makes mistakes, even in practice."

Pass-blocking has been one of his strengths from the start . . . "Jim could pass-block as a rookie, and it helped him stick," recalls Skorich. "He was ahead of the other kids in camp."

BIRTHPLACE—Sandusky, Ohio
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (1st in '72)
COLLEGE—Michigan
HIGH SCHOOL—Sandusky H. S.
HEIGHT—6-2
WEIGHT—195
YEARS PRO—3

PRO: A key member of the Browns' secondary from the time he reported after being drafted in the first round two years ago . . . only interruption came last season when a severely contused hip suffered in a fall in the Houston Astrodome sidelined him three games.

Most dramatic moment of 1973 campaign came in early moments of second half against New York Giants . . . stepped in front of intended receiver Bob Grim to pick off a Norm Snead pass and return it 36 yards . . . play turned Browns around and they went on to overcome 10-0 deficit and eventually win, 12-10.

Had another dramatic theft in 1972 . . . intercepted a pass in the Cleveland end zone to preserve a 27-20 triumph over Denver with one minute left . . . was club's second busiest punt returner in 1973 . . . ran back nine for 51 yards and made 10 fair catches . . . has handled 41 enemy punts in two seasons with his sure hands.

Defensive backfield coach and over-all defensive coordinator Richie McCabe says, "Thom is a real hitter, and has all the physical equipment."

Thom (he prefers that spelling) admits he found it difficult his rookie year after missing early weeks of Browns' camp while with the College All-Stars . . . "I knew the coverages, but not the intricate details," he says.

"I played quite a bit on my instincts. To tell the truth, I don't think I ever did catch up all season. Last year, I still had things I was trying to rectify. I concentrated on my job as my rookie season went along, but I didn't have a true concept of the whole defense."

The situation improved rapidly for Thom last year and he said, "Now I know the weakness of the defense in certain coverages and can be aware of them because any smart quarterback knows them, too."

Was a Consensus All-American in 1971 after winning berths on Associated Press, United Press and Sporting News teams . . . All-Big Ten as a junior and senior at Michigan and was named on the Hula Bowl team . . . played in Rose Bowl in 1969 and 1972, and gained additional fame by breaking up a critical pass play in 1971 Ohio State game.

Returned 24 punts in 1971 to set Wolverine record . . . also credited with 48 solo tackles and 19 assists . . . two of his four interceptions resulted in touchdown runs of 92 and 60 yards . . . won All-State honors at Sandusky High School in football and basketball.

"When I was in high school they said I was too small and too slow to play in the Big Ten," he says. "When I was in college the pro scouts said I was too small and too slow to play pro ball. If you know the fundamentals, you can play football."

PERSONAL: Married Sherry Sutler of Cleveland, July 5, 1972 . . . earned a real estate license during the off-season . . . resides in Warrensville Heights, Ohio.

PRO: Drafted by the San Diego Chargers in 1973, he finished the year by playing semi-pro . . . work at rookie week-end was impressive, but no surprise to line coach Forrest Gregg, who tutored Darrow at San Diego . . . played guard for Montana but will work at tackle for the Browns.

BOB DE MARCO — Center

BIRTHDATE—September 16, 1938
HOW ACQUIRED—Trade (see bio.)
COLLEGE—Dayton
HIGH SCHOOL—St. Mary's (Rutherford, N. J.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-2
WEIGHT—248
YEARS PRO—14

PRO: Kingpin of the Browns' offensive line the last two seasons and a true pro football craftsman . . . "Bob is a solid center," said Nick Skorich. "His experience in there has been invaluable to us."

Has started every game since being acquired from Miami in late September, 1972, after Jim Copeland was lost for the season with a dislocated hip . . . now in his 14th season and says, "When I started in pro ball I said that five years would be enough. Then at the end of that time the money was getting bigger so I said 10 years. Now it's 14 and I don't know when I'll call it a career."

Admits that odd-man defenses now in vogue make his job more difficult but says, "You either adapt, or you don't play. The center is at a disadvantage at the snap of the ball because that fraction of a second gives the tackle on your nose an edge. If you snap and move, you're lost. It has got to be a simultaneous motion."

Named by the Cleveland Touchdown Club as the Browns' offensive player of the year in 1973, Bob said, "I haven't been honored like this since I was in college" . . . has appeared three times in Pro Bowl games since being a 14th-round draft choice by the St. Louis Cards in 1961 . . . was switched from defensive end to guard and then to center in the first weeks of training camp and says, "In my first practice I felt like I'd played center all my life."

Traded to Pittsburgh in 1970, but was moved along to Miami before season began and wound up in the Super Bowl with the Dolphins . . . left the Miami squad the summer of 1972 when replaced by younger Jim Langer and considered himself retired until the Browns called.

"When I'm preparing to go against an especially quick tackle I try to lose about three pounds," says Bob. "It doesn't seem like much, but it can mean a step, or so. I really enjoy the game. I love the competition."

Enrolled at Indiana after completing high school at St. Mary's in Rutherford, N. J., but transferred to University of Dayton and captained the team as a defensive end his senior year.

PERSONAL: Married Judith Bradt of Hyde Park, N. Y. on July 9, 1966 . . . four children, Anita (10-22-63), from wife's previous marriage, Jennifer (1-19-67), Debra (11-2-69) and Jason (7-25-72) . . . resides in St. Louis . . . is a sales supervisor for KOLD-Draft Inc., a commercial refrigeration company.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (6th in '67)
COLLEGE—Louisiana State
HIGH SCHOOL—LaGrange (Lake Charles, La.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-3
WEIGHT—246
YEARS PRO— 8

PRO: Underwent off-season shoulder surgery to repair a torn muscle that troubled him throughout the entire 1973 season . . . despite the painful injury, John still performed in the determined, competent manner that has been a trademark of his gridiron career.

One of the more versatile offensive linemen in the game, he's capable of playing any of the five internal positions . . . almost had to, too, in 1972 when a siege of injuries led to John's playing left guard, right tackle, and right guard at various times in the season . . . "I don't know what we would have done without him," said head coach Nick Skorich.

Prefers working at guard, especially on the right side where he has done most of his playing through seven years of pro ball . . . admits the position probably is somewhat more difficult than a few others, mostly because of the running involved.

A weightlifting program has boosted John's strength in recent years . . . played most of his college career on the defensive line, but has worked so hard on pass protection since joining the Browns that it has become one of his chief attributes.

PERSONAL: Married Barbara Salter of Lake Charles, La., July 16, 1966 . . . three children: John Paul (1-13-68), Rebecca Ann (1-13-69) and David Jared (3-21-71).

Played tight end in college at Illinois, but was converted to tackle upon reporting to the Browns' rookie camp in 1971 . . . admits he didn't expect to make the team at first and even kept suitcase in his car for a week while waiting to be sent home . . . "I'd played only a quarter of a game at tackle in my life before 1971," he says. "That was in the Blue-Gray game the previous winter."

"He's a good run-blocker," says Skorich. "When that ball is alive and moving, here comes Dieken. That's the mark of a good lineman. He's been a very pleasant surprise from the beginning.

"Doug and Bob DeMarco were our most consistent linemen all season. Doug was the one lineman we allowed to carry the job alone against Pittsburgh, and he did fine work against Cincinnati's Sherman White and Miami's Bill Stanfill" . . . weighed 236 pounds when drafted, but quickly went up to 254 and has been holding that figure as a tackle.

YEARS PRO—7

PRO: After five years in supporting roles, came into his own last season as a fulltime performer on the right side . . . "We felt John had too much ability not to be playing regularly," said Nick Skorich. "We needed his speed."

"John is very deceiving. He weighs only 218 to 220 pounds, but has the strength of a man much bigger. And he has the speed to go with that strength. His pursuit has been great, and he did a fine over-all job."

Had an interception against Houston, the seventh of his career, and recovered a fumble against Pittsburgh to set up the Browns' winning touchdown five plays later.

Can handle either outside linebacker post, despite having had no experience in those areas in college . . . played defensive end at Louisiana State . . . was in 1968 College All-Star game . . . has the nickname "Junior" . . . quiet, modest by nature and regarding his work last year says, "I don't know whether I played better, or if it was the team."

PRO: One of the hardest hitting defenders on the team . . . sums up his aggressive attitude by saying, "I like to play defense. You can take it to the other guy."

Although a vigorous, bone-shaking tackler on the field, Charlie is one of the gentlest, most pleasant personalities imaginable out of uniform . . . part of it shows in off-season work he has done as a teacher's aide on the elementary level in his home town of Houston.

"I worked with the slow learners, helping them in math and reading," he says. "It was a new experience and a lot of fun. I really enjoyed it."

Became the Browns' regular left linebacker at the start of 1972 season and says, "It took me a while, but I'm used to that left outside post and feel at home there now" . . . was a fullback in high school, went to college as a basketball player, and later played defensive end at the University of Houston before shifting to linebacker.

Has good range, quickness, and remarkable stamina . . . admits "Pass defense was my strong point in college. Learning to meet the run has been more of a problem for me because I'm tall."

Admires Dick Butkus "because he's so vicious against the run" and also Willie Lanier "because of the way he moves around. That's the way I'd rather play defense."

Shocked Browns' coaches by reporting at 205 pounds for annual Rookie Day in May, 1971, but was up to 220 pounds by start of season and last year once got up to 232. "That's about as much as I've ever weighed," he says.

PRO: It's a fresh start on a bright future for the promising wide receiver after a difficult year of adjustment from college to pro ball.

"The way I feel about last year is that I've been to summer school," says Steve. "I learned the basic fundamentals. I'll remember that part, but that's all I'll think about regarding 1973. I'm going to work, but I won't worry."

Although chosen in the first round as only the 16th collegiate player drafted in the entire nation last year, Steve was mostly an observer on game days until the season finale when he caught his only three passes of the campaign for 27 yards.

"Sitting on the bench didn't make me mad," he says. "It did make me think, though. I realized that we always seemed to be in crucial games and that I couldn't get a chance. I was disappointed, but I have no particular reason for not doing better. There were a lot of little things.

"It took a long time coming, but that final game in Los Angeles made me feel better. I want to start. I'm really looking forward to 1974" . . . he's expected to work more on the right side, his area in college, after operating on the left side as a rookie.

PRO: Saw little action his first season with the Browns in 1973, but provided valuable backup insurance for Mike Phipps with his quarterbacking experience . . . threw eight times and completed four, including one for a touchdown.

Acquired early in 1973 after two seasons with the Denver Broncos, who had obtained him in a 1971 trade with Green Bay . . . had lost starting role at Denver in 1972 while recovering from knee surgery and a shoulder separation.

Drafted in the first round in 1967 and broke in behind Bart Starr . . . military service cost him most of 1968 season, but started last four games of 1969 while Starr was hurt and guided Packers to three victories . . . set club records in last game against St. Louis by completing 22 of 31 for 419 yards and five TD's.

Denver traded defensive end Alden Roche and the two clubs exchanged first-round draft picks in the trade for Don . . . he was passing at a 51.4 per cent clip and had 1,056 yards when injured in the ninth game of 1971 season.

"I've had my ups and downs and I've gotten discouraged at times, but like Vince Lombardi used to say it doesn't matter how many times you get knocked down, only how many times you get up," says Don . . . while adjusting to the Browns' methods last year he said, "Nick Skorich is the fifth head coach I've had in five years. There have been so many different theories and terminologies that I have to stop and concentrate before doing things on the field" . . . the latest adjustment was completed by the season's start, however.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (2nd in '65)
COLLEGE—California State—
 Los Angeles
HIGH SCHOOL—Taft (Cincinnati) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-4
WEIGHT—265
YEARS PRO—10

PRO: "Walter is one of the great defensive tackles in pro football today," says head coach Nick Skorich . . . this year will round out a decade of sound, determined play by the fine lineman.

Was the foundation upon which the Browns have built a strong defensive unit . . . now stands as the elder statesman of the group despite having no experience on the line before turning pro . . . played fullback in high school and the early years of college before shifting to offensive guard and middle linebacker.

"My first year with the Browns I used to sit there at the line reading plays," admits Walter . . . at the same time, however, he was learning from one of the masters the correct way to play defensive tackle . . . the man ahead of him when he broke into pro ball in 1965 was Dick Modzelewski, now coach of the Browns' front four.

Walter was promoted to a regular his second season after Mo retired, and the native of Cincinnati, Ohio, has been a fixture ever since . . . again went nearly the entire season without relief last year, a common practice for him . . . "Walt has been bruised up quite a bit, but he's never missed a game in all those years," says Mo.

It took a siege of pneumonia to put Walter on the bench at all, and that was for less than three quarters against Minnesota after he had spent the preceding week in the hospital . . . it was on the same field in Bloomington, Minnesota, that Walt insisted on playing the entire 1969 title game despite suffering frozen fingers in eight-degree weather with a chill factor of 18 below zero.

Quick off the ball and has become one of the better pass rushers in the game, not an easy accomplishment for an internal lineman . . . "Johnson and Jerry Sherk do a great job flushing out the quarterback," says Mo.

Career work has been spiced by a pair of touchdowns on fumble recoveries against New Orleans, and two pass interceptions . . . after starring at Cincinnati Taft High School and New Mexico State, transferred to Los Angeles State and gained some 700 yards rushing his first year.

"We had some real fast backs and a good running attack, so I did a lot of blocking, too," he recalls. "I was able to help out on a lot of sweeps. They switched me to the offensive line when a regular guard was hurt."

PERSONAL: Married Gayle Combs of Cincinnati, June 30, 1962 . . . two children: Jeanne (6-24-64) and Walter Jr. (10-10-65) . . . owns home in Beachwood, eastern Cleveland suburb . . . wrestles professionally in off-season, last year went on tour of Orient.

JOE JONES — Defensive End

BIRTHDATE—January 7, 1948
BIRTHPLACE—Dallas, Texas
HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (2nd in '70)
COLLEGE—Tennessee State
HIGH SCHOOL—Dalworth (Grand Prairie, Texas) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-6
WEIGHT—250
YEARS PRO—4

PRO: One of his better games last year was in a 7-3 victory over Oakland and later one of the Raiders commented, "He's as quick as any big man I've seen. He looked like a young Deacon Jones out there."

The words paid tribute to Joe's metamorphosis from a one-sided performer used chiefly on third down pass rushing situations in his early pro years to a more complete player.

"He's concentrating more now than ever before," said defensive line coach Dick Modzelewski, who deserves much of the credit for helping Joe to start fulfilling his potential as a well-rounded end. "He's working more at his job, too. Joe's asking more questions, trying to learn."

Came back all the way last season after missing the entire 1972 campaign due to knee surgery required after the fifth pre-season game . . . claimed the anchor job on the left side at the outset of training camp and kept it throughout the 1973 season.

Slam-bang style of play and displays of enthusiasm captured the fans' fancy after Cleveland made Joe a second-round draft choice in 1970 . . . had a great deal to learn about the art of becoming a quality pro end, however, and it took time and experience . . . Mo now says, "Joe's improved too much for that third down business now. He plays the run too well for that. He's also handling the traps better all the time."

Step-brother of Washington Redskins' Charley Taylor . . . college coach John Merritt rates Joe the most outstanding in a long list of defensive linemen he has sent to the pros.

PERSONAL: Married Bobbie Edwards of Dallas, October 26, 1971 . . . daughter Shannon Renee (5-1-73) . . . resides in Dallas.

PRO: Rugged approach to the game is typified in this self-analysis—"When I catch the ball in the open field I try to make it a physical thing.

"I try to run right at 'em up to a point. When a big man tries to run away from pass defenders, they cut him off. Running away is useless. I figure I'm getting the yardage gained going at them, plus anything else that comes after that."

Used the formula to bowl over several defensive backs and complete a 51-yard pass play to give Cleveland a 20-20 tie with Kansas City in the closing minutes last season . . . longest pass play of the season for Cleveland.

His 417 yards topped all Browns' receivers, and average gain of exactly 16 yards also was best of the team . . . now has career totals of 243 catches for 3,859 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Has what most regard as best hands on the club and says, "Pass receiving comes naturally for me. The blocking is something I really have to concentrate on, though. If I relax at all, that's the part which suffers. Tight end calls for versatility. That's perfect for me. I'd be just one of a thousand tackles, or a slow wide receiver. I found my place in pro football."

Has had his share of physical problems, including a foot injury as a rookie in 1966 and a ligament torn away from the bone in his knee the following season . . . biggest obstacle, though, was undergoing surgery for a herniated disc in June, 1969, and recovering in time for the regular season opener 88 days later.

Milt's 87-yard catch against Philadelphia in 1968 still stands as a club record . . . He says, "I know on certain pass routes over the middle I'm going to get killed, really wiped out, but I'm getting paid to take that kind of risk."

. . . Participated in Football Players Olympia in Florida Orange Bowl last winter along with teammate Greg Pruitt and other NFL stars.

MIKE PHIPPS — Quarterback

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (1st in '70)

HIGH SCHOOL—Columbus (Ind.) H. S.

YEARS PRO—5

PRO: Has guided the Browns to 17 victories and a pair of ties against eight losses for a fine .680 average since stepping into the starting quarterback assignment the second game of the 1972 season.

Encountered his share of problems along with the entire offense last year, but owner Art Modell says, "Nothing that happened has changed my mind about Mike. I'm still convinced he will be a premier quarterback in the National Football League."

Mike realized one of his objectives in 1973 by boosting his completion percentage to 49.5 . . . fell short in some other areas, but did gain a vast amount of experience in only second full season of playing on a regular basis.

"A young quarterback learns from being in the furnace," says Nick Skorich . . . comments Mike, "I believe I'm doing a lot of things better now. The play calling, for example. I really hadn't done much of it before, now I'm having a greater opportunity to do it. My over-all knowledge has increased."

Finest moment last year came on an almost unbelievable play that led to a 21-16 upset of Pittsburgh . . . although completely surrounded by charging Steelers, somehow escaped to throw a desperation 42-yard third down pass to Greg Pruitt . . . "It was the biggest play Mike ever made for the Browns," exclaimed veteran guard Gene Hickerson.

Skorich describes incidents like that as "educated scrambling" . . . "I want him thinking pass first, then run," says the coach. "You hope to get the big gain, one for 20 or 30 yards, on the pass. If that doesn't come, then you try to take whatever you can running with a minimum exposure to injury."

Phipps was second only to Ken Brown in team rushing yardage with 395 last season, and led the club with a 6.6-yard per carry average . . . longest run was 27 yards against Cincinnati, but also had a 25-yarder in the final game at Los Angeles for the biggest ground gain given up by the Rams all season.

Best game in 1973 was a 13 of 26 performance for 171 yards against Kansas City . . . included was a 51-yard scoring pass to Milt Morin to complete a remarkable Browns' comeback for a 20-20 tie.

Regarding doing his own play calling, Mike says, "It's a great feeling to make just the right call on your own and to know you're in complete harmony with the thinking of the coaches."

After two years of mostly watching from the bench, Mike took over starting assignment from Bill Nelsen on September 24, 1972 at Philadelphia and led Cleveland to 27-17 victory . . . Browns went on to win 10 of 13, including six in a row at one stretch, and qualify for playoff against Super Bowl champion Miami . . . barely edged by the Dolphins, 20-14.

Most spectacular play that year was 38-yard TD strike to Frank Pitts to complete a 64-yard drive in 41 seconds and give Cleveland 21-17 decision over San Diego.

"You earn loyalty," says Mike. "You have to show your teammates you can win. Success brings friends and togetherness" . . . the learning process continues, but he appears poised for his best year yet as a pro.

PERSONAL: Married Carole Cota, January 24, 1970 . . . son Ryan Michael (12-5-72) . . . resides in Northfield, Ohio . . . in off-season is member of commercial and industrial development division of Bishop Realtors.

Was Purdue's Most Valuable Player and honorary tri-captain in 1969 and named All-America by American Football Coaches' Assn., UPI, Sporting News and New York Daily News . . . was second in Heisman Trophy voting.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (2nd, 1st selection in '73)
COLLEGE—Oklahoma
HIGH SCHOOL—Elmore (Houston) H. S.
HEIGHT—5-10
WEIGHT—190
YEARS PRO—2

PRO: "Greg is a game-breaker with his fantastic speed and ability. He keeps you on the edge of your seat all the time."

Nick Skorich said it and anyone who saw the Browns' new mighty mite in his rookie campaign as a pro readily agrees . . . club owner Art Modell describes Greg as "one of the most exciting runners Cleveland has had."

His immediate contributions after spending the early part of the summer with the College All-Stars were returning kickoffs and punts . . . was so effective with his darting, jet-like bursts that he led the Browns in both departments.

His 28.3-yard average on kickoffs was third best in AFC and fourth in entire NFL . . . also second-highest in Cleveland history . . . included were returns of 54 and 47 yards . . . punt return figure of 11.3 was fourth in AFC, fifth in NFL and included a 46-yarder.

Greg was used sparingly in the backfield through the first 11 games, then was unleashed and exploded against Kansas City for 110 yards . . . it was his 65-yard dash that ignited an amazing Browns' rally for two touchdowns in the last six minutes for a 20-20 tie.

The previous week he had returned a kickoff 38 yards, gained 42 yards on a miraculous pass play by Mike Phipps with two minutes left, and scored the winning touchdown two plays later on a 19-yard sweep to upset Pittsburgh, 21 to 16 . . . also ripped off a 53-yard TD run against Houston.

Greg's 65-yard dash was the longest by a Cleveland ball carrier since Leroy Kelly went the same distance against New Orleans in 1968 . . . Browns trailed K.C. 20-6 at the time and tight end Milt Morin later said, "When you feel nothing is going well and see a play break big like that you realize a lot of them can go that way. A play like that picks up everyone's morale."

Veteran center Bob DeMarco, charged with the job of helping open cracks for Greg, commented, "It's exciting blocking for a guy like him. All he needs is a shield and he's gone." . . . combined yardage by all methods as a rookie was excellent 976.

Admits he had a great deal to learn his first year and says, "Sometimes I was a week behind in my plays" . . . clocked at 4.5 seconds for 40 yards by Browns . . . was drafted early in second round.

"A little guy has more incentive," says Greg. "He has to go harder all the time. It has developed my style of running, which is to keep moving. I was 4-ft., 3-in. when I started sports in junior high school. By the time I got to Oklahoma, I was 5-7½. Now I'm 5-9¾ and hope I'm still growing."

Was runner-up to Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers in balloting for 1972 Heisman Trophy after outstanding career at Oklahoma . . . rushed for 1,665 yards in 1971 (9.4 average), and 938 yards in 1972 despite having opponents keying on him . . . chosen All-Big Eight, Consensus All-American, and Player of the Year by Washington Touchdown Club . . . named outstanding player in the Hula Bowl, also played in Sugar and Bluebonnet bowls . . . scored career total of 40 TD's in college . . . played as tight end in high school and caught over 80 passes in senior year.

Majored in journalism and was outstanding trackman at Oklahoma . . . drives car with "Super Sport" lettered in gold leaf on the back.

BIRTHPLACE—Canton, Ohio
HOW ACQUIRED—Free Agent
COLLEGE—Ohio State
HIGH SCHOOL—McKinley (Canton) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-3
WEIGHT—244
YEARS PRO—5

PRO: Originally signed as a free agent during a rash of team injuries at defensive end in 1972, and goes into this season with 20 consecutive starting assignments . . . says Nick Skorich, "He's an excellent competitor who doesn't know how to spell the word 'quit'."

Although originally drafted by Cincinnati in the 10th round of 1970 draft for use primarily in passing situations because of his rushing ability, has become a dependable performer in all phases of play.

"I never really felt I had a chance to show what I could do in Cincinnati," says Nick. "I felt I had the potential to play, but became discouraged. Everything's a matter of chance and opportunity in pro football.

"Experience is the best thing going for you and I never got it until I joined the Browns. Now I feel I'm closer to being an all-round player, although you're never really a complete player from the time you start to the time you stop."

Knee surgery cost him a season at Ohio State and he insists the leg hasn't bothered him for years, although his hobbling gait keeps people wondering . . . "I've always walked like a farmer and people think I'm hurting when I'm not," he says.

Was released by Cincinnati in the summer of 1972 and spent a short spell with Atlanta before coming to Cleveland . . . scored his first touchdown since high school with an interception and 36-yard run against Buffalo in 1972.

PERSONAL: Has become year-round resident of Cleveland area, residing in Shaker Heights . . . married Barbara Klein of South Euclid, Ohio, March 11, 1973 . . . works as insurance representative for MONY in Cleveland.

Became first player in school's history to gain more than 1,000 yards in both rushing and receiving . . . came to Browns somewhat concerned about being switched to defense, but said, "I do have the advantage of knowing a lot of the techniques of offensive players. It helps me in my reactions."

sionally went in as a fourth linebacker in passing situations.

HOW ACQUIRED—Draft (1st in '71)
COLLEGE—Kansas State
HIGH SCHOOL—Trinity
 (Decatur, Ga.) H. S.
HEIGHT—6-0
WEIGHT—180
YEARS PRO—4

PRO: "Clarence is a sure tackler, a great competitor, and the most consistent member of our secondary," says Nick Skorich . . . "He did as good a job as any cornerback we played against or saw on film, and he's better than most."

Others agreed, as evidenced by Clarence being named to the American Conference All-Star Team and voted by the coaches to the AFC squad in the Pro Bowl . . . also honored along with Bob Babich and Bob DeMarco by Cleveland Touchdown Club as club's outstanding players in 1973.

Led Browns in interceptions with five, including a 45-yarder for a touchdown in 24-14 opening day victory over Baltimore . . . reminiscent of 1972 opener in which he grabbed a blocked field goal kick and ran 55 yards against Green Bay for his first TD as a pro.

"Clarence was good in 1972, but he's even better now," says Skorich. "He's become much smarter in his play. It's hard to fool him now."

Despite rather frail appearance, he is one of the hardest-hitting, most effective tacklers on the team . . . "Tackling is really mental," he says. "It's mostly desire rather than technique. In a game situation with everything coming at you full speed, if you want to tackle you will. If not, the effort won't be there."

"Tackling those backs isn't as bad as the average person thinks. Actually, I can inflict more damage on them than they can on me. I'm aware of the injury possibility, but I protect myself. I haven't had a really bad experience yet."

Not that Clarence is made of iron . . . he admits, "The time I feel it is Monday morning. I'm pretty sore in the shoulders and upper body where the contact is made. But the running game has sort of taken dominance over the passing game and I realize I must be that much stronger against the run. Forcing and making tackles can be as important as knocking down a pass or making an interception."

PRO: Anxious to make up for an almost totally lost season in 1973 due to a series of injuries and a bout with pneumonia . . . carried only 34 times for 79 yards, and caught six passes for 23 yards . . . underwent knee surgery at season's end.

"It was such a helpless feeling with all my problems," he says. "I never experienced anything like it. If any of it had been my fault, something I might have controlled, I'd have felt differently."

Troubles began almost immediately with an Achilles tendon problem in training camp . . . just when that finally cleared up, Bo injured a knee . . . then came the pneumonia . . . his absence took away an important part of the club's attack.

Nick Skorich calls him, "The complete back, he does it all" . . . that includes rushing with power, catching passes, and blocking . . . has gained 2,038 yards on the ground, 804 in the air, and 722 returning kickoffs since joining the Browns from the Canadian Football League in 1969.

Originally drafted by Cleveland in the third round in 1965, but elected to go first from the Ohio State campus to Ottawa because the Browns already had Jim Brown and Ernie Green . . . led CFL in rushing in 1967 and gained total of 2,993 yards in four seasons . . . earned berth on Canadian All-Star team three times.

anybody on the squad."

PRO: "Jerry and Walter Johnson have been the heart of our defense," says Nick Skorich. "You hear all that talk about Joe Greene of Pittsburgh, but the attention should be going to Jerry."

Played in first Pro Bowl game last winter after another outstanding season on Browns' line . . . although quiet and gentle by nature, admits he relishes sacking quarterbacks . . . "It would be silly for any defensive lineman to say he doesn't," says Jerry. "You like to see them get up slow, and sort of shake their head as they go back to the huddle. I would never want to maim them, but I've put a few out of games."

Jarring tackle on Mike Garrett shook the ball loose and helped set up a late touchdown in 16-16 tie with San Diego last season . . . Says Jerry, "You must be an offensive defensive player at all times."

Line coach Dick Modzelewski says, "Jerry and Walt work together as a team, more now than ever before. Both of them even practice at full speed. There is no loafing and it sets a good example for the younger players on the line and on the team."

Drafted second by Cleveland in 1970 and was the club's only rookie starter that season . . . honored by the Cleveland Touchdown Club as the Browns' outstanding defensive player in 1972 . . . Johnson had won the award the previous year . . . triggered the trade of Marvin Upshaw to Kansas City with work in rookie camp . . . Browns used the draft choice for Upshaw to select linebacker Charlie Hall the following winter.

Was outstanding wrestler in high school, junior college, and won Big Eight heavyweight title at Oklahoma State . . . "Defensive play is a lot like wrestling," he points out. "There is so much jerking and pulling. A defensive tackle has the equivalent of a takedown in wrestling. You never really throw an offensive lineman down, but you do throw him out of your way. It's really an art."

Jerry adds, "Mo seems to be letting me develop my own style" . . . says Mo, "All I do is correct him now and then. He's a veteran now."

PERSONAL: Single, resides in Cleveland suburb of Westlake.

1973 REVIEW

Sunday, Sept. 16 BROWNS 24, Colts 14 (74,303) at Cleve.

Frank Pitts took passes from Mike Phipps for the first and last touchdowns as the Browns opened with this victory over Baltimore. First of the grabs came in the first quarter on a 26-yard effort and the second in the third period of an eight-yard aerial.

The Cleveland defense dominated this game which saw Bert Jones, a rookie, making his debut at quarterback for the Colts. It was a rough afternoon for the son of former Browns' star Dub Jones. He hit on only six of 22 tries and his 56 yards were almost nullified as he was thrown five times for losses of 52 yards. That meant four net yards passing.

Baltimore was held to a total of 129 yards as the Browns rolled up 297. Phipps clicked on 12 of 26 passes for 150 yards and two touchdowns. He also was the Browns' leading ground gainer with 55 yards and a 7.9 average.

Sunday, Sept. 23 Steelers 33, BROWNS 6 (49,396) at Pitt.

It was another unhappy afternoon in Three Rivers Stadium for the Browns who had scored only 18 points in three previous appearances at the downtown ball yard. Cleveland's points came on field goals of 43 and 28 yards by Don Cockroft.

Roy Gerela doubled that number with successes of 12, 40, 26 and 44. The defending champions in the AFC's Central Division got three touchdowns, two of them coming on catches by Frank Lewis.

The Browns had the football for 15 more plays than the Steelers, 68-53, but had an average gain of 3.1 yards to seven yards a crack for the home club. Pittsburgh scored the victory without the services of Franco Harris who was sidelined with a knee injury.

Mike Phipps completed 15 of 29 passes but had three intercepted. He was under constant pressure with tackle Ernie Holmes leading the charge.

Sunday, Sept. 30 BROWNS 12, Giants 10 (76,065) At Cleve.

The Browns came back from a 10-0 halftime deficit to upset the Giants on four field goals by Don Cockroft. New York, which had swept through the exhibition season undefeated with the Browns as one of the victims, opened the scoring on a 20-yard field goal by Pete Gogolak. Then Norm Snead connected with Bob Tucker on a 20-yard pass for a touchdown.

Cleveland didn't show much offense after the intermission but did get close enough for the Cockroft efforts of 11, 27, 30 and 10 yards. Three of Snead's passes were intercepted and the big steal was made by Thom Darden on the third play of the second half. The safety returned 36 yards to the Giants' seven and set up the first score for the home club.

Coach Nick Skorich called the defense "the story of this game." He said, "It gave us the shutout we had to have in the second half." And all members of the unit received game balls.

Sunday, Oct. 7 BROWNS 17, Bengals 10 (70,805) at Cleve.

This game was to have been played in Cincinnati but was shifted when the Reds got into the baseball playoffs. Leroy Kelly, who has had good success against the Bengals over the years, scored on runs of three and seven yards but it was teammate Ken Brown who paced the Cleveland ground game with 93 yards on 26 carries.

1973 REVIEW

Mike Phipps hit on half of his eight passes. The quarterback also kept the ball four times and rolled for 52 yards. One of those gains was for 27 yards.

The Browns had no fumbles and didn't give up any interceptions while the Bengals lost the ball three times, twice on fumbles and once on a theft by Clarence Scott. That was the main difference in the game.

Monday, Oct. 15 Dolphins 17, BROWNS 9 (72,070) at Cleve.

The Browns went into this nationally televised game as nine-point underdogs but held a 6-3 lead at the intermission. That margin came on 30 and 44-yard field goals by Don Cockroft who outkicked Garo Yepremian, two to one.

The swarming Cleveland defense gave Bob Griese a rough time. He completed only three of 11 passes and there were interceptions by Ben Davis and Bob Babich.

Larry Csonka and Mercury Morris managed to roll, however. The former scored twice from two yards out in the second half and totaled 114 yards. Morris, who gained 94 yards, raced for 70 of those on one third-quarter play from scrimmage that set up Csonka's first six-pointer. Cockroft's third field goal was the only Cleveland score of the second half.

Sunday, Oct. 21 BROWNS 42, Oilers 13 (61,146) at Cleve.

The Cleveland offense took advantage of a visit by the Oilers to finally get untracked. It rolled for 366 yards. There were 264 net yards rushing as the Browns had the ball for 79 plays to 43 for the Texas team.

The Browns had a 28-0 lead at the half and then added 14 more points in the final quarter after failing to score in the third period when Houston got its 13 points. Mike Phipps threw for two touchdowns and replacement Don Horn for another with Fair Hooker, Frank Pitts and Bo Scott taking the touchdown passes.

Cleveland's six touchdowns were one more than the total for the five previous games. There also were two touchdowns by the home club nullified on penalties.

Sunday, Oct. 28 BROWNS 16, Chargers 16 (68,244) at Cleve.

The Browns, favored by 12 points in this one, came from a seven-point deficit in the third quarter to take a 16-13 lead early in the final period. There were less than five minutes left when San Diego again got the football but that was enough for the Chargers to move into range for the tying field goal by young Raimund Wersching.

Wersching, whose 16-yard effort evened the count, had two other successes. That total was matched by Don Cockroft with boots of 40, 17 and 42 yards.

Mike Garrett had seen little action previously for the Chargers but he was tough on the soggy Stadium field. He raced 68 yards in the third quarter to set up a field goal and averaged 6.8 yards per carry and a total of 130 yards.

Leroy Kelly was out of action with a pulled hamstring and the Browns rushed for only 118 yards. So the team reached the halfway mark of the season with four victories, two defeats and a tie. And six of the last seven games were to be on the road.

Sunday, Nov. 4 Minnesota 26, BROWNS 3 (45,590) at Minn.

The Vikings and Browns exchanged field goals in the first quarter. After that it was all Minnesota although the Cleveland defense proved very stubborn until it finally wore down in the second half. The entire defensive line had been bitten by the flu bug during the week but it was the attack that seemed to need the penicillin.

1973 REVIEW

The Browns had only four first downs as compared to 23 for the undefeated winners. They also totaled only 145 yards as compared to 353 for the Vikings. And Minnesota had 77 offensive plays to 41 for Cleveland.

Sunday, Nov. 11 BROWNS 23, Oilers 13 (37,280) at Houston

A name that could become very big in Cleveland headlines over the years was mentioned most frequently after this Cleveland victory in the Astrodome. Darting Greg Pruitt dashed 53 yards for a touchdown and averaged 11.2 yards a carry in the second victory of the season over the Oilers.

The little man from Oklahoma also raced 75 yards with a punt in the third quarter but a penalty nullified all but 46 yards of that gain. It did set up a field goal by Don Cockroft, however. Don also was successful from 30 and 22 yards out.

Mike Phipps showed improvement in this game. The quarterback scored on a one-yard sneak and hit on eight of 17 passes for 132 yards. He also had a 47-yard collaboration with Chip Glass.

Sunday, Nov. 18 BROWNS 7, Raiders 3 (53,889) at Oakland

Defensive ends Nick Roman and Joe Jones came through with a strong pass rush as the Cleveland defense held Oakland without a touchdown and but 172 yards of total offense. The Raiders' Ken Stabler went into the game as the leading passer in the AFC but he totaled only 75 yards on his 17 completions. He also was sacked five times and hurried on most other occasions.

Fair Hooker took a seven-yard pass in the end zone from Mike Phipps for the game's lone touchdown and all the points the Browns needed. That came in the second quarter and saw Hooker lined up one-on-one against Willie Brown, the veteran cornerback. Phipps lobbed the ball over Brown's head and reached Hooker in the corner of the end zone.

The Browns might have had an easier triumph except for a case of butterfingers. Cleveland had five fumbles and the ball was turned over three times.

Sunday, Nov. 25 BROWNS 21, Steelers 16 (67,773) at Cleve.

Gregg Pruitt dashed around his left end for 19 yards and the winning points as the Browns upset the Steelers and kept their title hopes alive on a wet day at the Stadium. The exciting little rookie also had put six points on the board in the second quarter by taking a 15-yard pass from Mike Phipps.

The Steelers bounced out to an early lead on Joe Gilliam's nine-yard pass to Ron Shanklin. Gilliam had entered the game when Terry Hanratty, subbing for the injured Terry Bradshaw, went out with damage to his ribs. Shanklin's touchdown was the lone one for the visitors who were helped by Roy Gerela's three field goals.

Cleveland's opening touchdown was scored by Phipps on a one-yard sneak. The quarterback also came through with the big play that set up Pruitt's winning score. It was third-and-nine on the Cleveland 40 when Mike, flushed from the pocket, evaded a big rush and clicked to Pruitt. The pass and run was good for 42 yards to set up Greg's second score.

Sunday, Dec. 2 BROWNS 20, Chiefs 20 (70,296) at Kan. City

The Browns again showed the ability to come from behind in this game. They trailed the Chiefs, 20-6, going into the fourth quarter but two long strikes brought touchdowns and the tie.

Greg Pruitt hit off right guard, moved to the outside and went down the sideline for 65 yards and a touchdown. The next time the Browns got the ball, Mike Phipps passed to Milt Morin for 25 yards and the big tight end then fought off two tacklers and went 26 more yards for the six points.

Pruitt totaled 110 yards rushing in the game. Phipps hit on 13 of 26 passes for 171 yards and that touchdown to Morin. Mike, however, was sacked seven times for losses totaling 50 yards.

Sunday, Dec. 9 Bengals 34, BROWNS 17 (58,266) at Cin.

The Browns ran out of miracles at Riverfront Stadium and faded from the playoff picture in losing to the Bengals. Isaac Curtis befuddled what had been believed to be a tough Cleveland pass defense. He took passes for nine, 70 and 20 yards in a brilliant first half scoring splurge that just about put the game out of range of the Browns.

Don Cockroft's 40-yard field goal provided the only first half points for the Browns. Then in the third period, Cleveland got 14 quick points. Gloster Richardson took a six-yard pass from Mike Phipps and Van Green recovered a fumble and went 21 yards for a score.

That closed the gap to seven points but the Bengals, enroute to just about wrapping up a division title, weren't to be denied. Boobie Clark went one yard for a touchdown and Horst Muhlmann added a 45-yard field goal for insurance.

Sunday, Dec. 16 Rams 30, BROWNS 17 (73,948) at Los Ang.

The Browns knew before the kickoff in the Coliseum that they were dead as far as the playoffs were concerned. And the host Rams already had clinched a division title.

Los Angeles, sharpening for the post season games, played an alert game. Cleveland lost the ball three times on first quarter fumbles by Steve Holden, Ken Brown and Leroy Kelly. That put the pressure on the defense which finally wilted in the bright sun and 80-degree temperature.

The Browns' touchdowns came on a 25-yard sprint by Mike Phipps and a Phipps-to-Frank Pitts pass for 14 yards. So the Browns ended with a 7-5-2 record and third place in the Central Division.
