Team History

Washington was selected as one of eight teams to participate in the NWSL's inaugural season in 2013. In December 2012, the team's name was announced as the Washington Spirit.

After joining the club as a minority investor in 2021, health information technology visionary Michele Kang became the majority owner of the Spirit prior to the 2022 season.

Since its start in the NWSL, the Spirit has participated in all ten seasons of the league, with its best result coming in 2021 when Washington defeated the Chicago Red Stars to win its first-ever NWSL Championship.

The Spirit began playing select games at Audi Field in Washington, D.C. during the 2018 season and set a still-standing attendance record on August 24, 2019 when the club hosted 19,871 fans in a 2-1 win over the Orlando Pride.

Effective at the start of 2023 season, the Spirit will play all home matches at Audi Field as part of Michele Kang's vision to build a 'premier, professional and proudly DC' women's soccer team.

Majority Owner Michele Kang

A visionary in the field of health information technology, Michele founded Cognosante in 2008 to disrupt and challenge the status quo in the U.S. healthcare system. Leveraging a unique set of business, data, and technical expertise in a fundamentally different way, Cognosante began by providing solutions central to carrying out national healthcare transformation. Under Michele's leadership, Cognosante has grown rapidly, and emerged as a trusted provider of innovative health and safety solutions for key Federal health, military, and intelligence agencies as well as state health and social services agencies.

To further her goal of transforming the healthcare system, Michele established Cognosante Ventures to fuel promising health IT startups. By investing in and mentoring these companies, Cognosante Ventures supports the development of technologies that will fundamentally change the way U.S. citizens experience public services and programs.

Michele's commitment to equity, inclusion, and opportunity for all is reflected in Cognosante's culture and the philanthropic initiatives she established. Her efforts promote economic sustainability through entrepreneurship and focus on increasing opportunities for Veterans, under-resourced young adults, and persons with disabilities. With a mission to promote the dignity of work, the Cognosante Foundation, established in 2012, focuses on supporting members from underserved communities as they pursue financial independence through meaningful careers. In 2021, Michele launched Cognosante's HBCU Partner Alliance, a new program built through a targeted collaboration with Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). The HBCU Partner Alliance prepares students of color for promising careers in IT and government contracting. Michele is also actively engaged in promoting Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) studies and careers for girls and women.

In recognition of her entrepreneurial success and philanthropic efforts, she has received numerous accolades including the Palm Beach Atlantic University 2019 American Free Enterprise Medal, the 2015 EY Entrepreneur of The Year® for the Washington, DC region, and the U.S. Award for Services. She was elected along with U.S. senators, high-ranking government officials, and top executives of Fortune 500 companies as an inaugural member of 100 Women Leaders in STEM in 2012 and one of the "Top 100 CEO Leaders in STEM" in 2016.

In 2020, Michele laid the groundwork for women's ownership of major sports franchises by becoming the first female co-owner of a National Women's Soccer League club, the Washington Spirit. In March 2022, Michele became the club's majority owner, committing to substantial investments in culture and infrastructure for the team's growth and success. Michele is also an active supporter of the arts and technology; she is a Trustee on the Boards of the Washington National Opera and the Norton Museum of Art, and the Northern Virginia Technology Council. Michele earned a bachelor's degree in economics from The University of Chicago and a master's degree in public and private management from Yale School of Management.

MARK PARSONS
Head Coach

Mark Parsons returns to the Spirit as Head Coach after his most recent tenure as the manager of the Netherlands Women’s National Team. Parsons previously held the role of Head Coach for the Washington Spirit from 2013 to 2015, his first managerial position in the NWSL.

Since managing the Spirit in 2013, Parsons established himself as one of the top coaches in professional women’s soccer. In 2015, he became head coach of Portland Thorns FC where he led the team to two NWSL Shields (2016, 2021), an NWSL Community Shield (2020), an NWSL Challenge Cup Championship (2021) and an NWSL Championship (2017). In his six years as head coach in Portland, the Thorns made every available post-season and did not finish worse than the NWSL Semifinals. He was named the 2016 NWSL Coach of the Year.

Following his stint with Portland, Parsons was named the manager of the Netherlands Women’s National Team in 2021, before returning to the Spirit in November of 2022.
