MATCH PREVIEW

El Paso Locomotive FC (5-6-1, 16 pts., West-6) takes on the defending USL Championship Title-Winners, Orange County SC (3-3-3, 12 pts., West-10) at Championship Soccer Stadium on Saturday, May 21. Kickoff from Irvine, California is set for 8:00 p.m. MT and will be broadcast live on ESPN+.

Saturday night will see El Paso Locomotive finish out a tight schedule filled with quick turnarounds. The two three-week matches left the El Paso Locomotive playing six games within a 21-day span. The Locos have made the most of their tight schedule, coming away with four wins and one loss and will look to walk away with three points in the sixth game. Most recently, Locomotive continued it's hot run of form, downing Sacramento Republic FC on a 1-0 victory to leap into playoff positioning. Now with the Locomotive fortunes seeming to be looking up, the club will travel to California.

The Locos have traveled to Championship Soccer Stadium for the last three meetings with Orange County. The two sides split the points on a 2-2 draw and 0-0 draw in 2021 and 2020, respectively. In 2019, Orange County claimed the full points in California off a 2-0 win. As the two sides enter their fourth straight match in the Golden State, Locomotive will be eager to build off its league-best 25 goals and claim the full three points. Meanwhile, Orange County is building up momentum earning two of its three wins in its last three games to right the ship on its title-defending year.

QUESTIONABLE:

PREVIOUSLY VS OPPONENT

Locomotive claimed a point on the road with its last visit to Championship Soccer Stadium with a 2-2 draw against Orange County SC.

Locomotive opened up the scoring early in the 20th minute, with a goal from Nick Ross, maintaining control throughout the first half to enter the break 1-0. In a complete reversal of the first half, Orange County took control, finding two goals within minutes of each other. In the 61st minute Ronaldo Damus equalized the scoring while Sean Okoli provided Orange County the advantage in the 67th minute.

Locomotive made tactical changes in the later stages of the second half, opening up the game for Leandro Carrjio to find a goal at the 89th minute to salvage a point at the death.

Starting in 2006, Ricardo worked in the National Football League (NFL) with the Detroit Lions, then moved on to Major League Baseball (MLB) to work with the New York Mets in 2008 and the LA Dodgers starting in 2011.

In 2013, Ricardo returned to the Southwest desert, working as the Head Trainer at New Mexico Highlands university for three years before joining Locomotive in 2020.

Ricardo is joined in El Paso by his wife of 11 years and have two kids - a son (6) and daughter (9)

SAUL SOTO strength & conditioning coach

Born and raised in El Paso, Saul Soto attended East Yselta High School, lettering in six different sports (football, basketball, track, cross country, soccer, and baseball). Making sports his entire life, Saul would go from one practice to the next.

Post high school, Saul began going to college, enrolling in a bridge program to coaching sports. He started at 18, coaching middle school sports before coaching high school from 1997 to 2002. After his high school coaching career, Saul moved to Boston where he did a stint in the corporate world working in security and anti-fraud with the Bank of New York. Even while away from coaching, Saul never left sports, working with a non-profit organization called Sports for Kids in Boston. Saul soon moved back to El Paso, joining Locomotive as the strength coach and eventually adding the title of player operations.

Saul holds several degrees including a Bachelor's in Mathematic Statistics, a Master's in Math, a Master's in Education and a Master's of Science in Kinesiology, all which he earned from Univeristy of Texas El Paso, where he also teaches part time.

Saul has an adopted Doberman named Jerome.
