K. S. "Bud" ADAMS, JR.

Owner-President

Kenneth Stanley Adams, Jr. was one of the conceivers and founders of the American Football League, and his Houston Oilers were organized in 1959 as a charter member of that group.

Few fans at that time had little hope that the newborn league, or the Oilers, would be around long enough to reach adolescence, much less adulthood. How wrong they were is now a matter of history, and the success of both the league and the team can be attributed in no small part to the energy and perseverance of Bud Adams.

Football is only one of his many successful endeavors, however—he heads a business complex of some 30 companies engaged in the oil business, farming and ranching, automobile sales, real estate, securities, isotonic beverages, and several other related enterprises.

He came to Houston following service as a naval air force engineering officer in World War II and founded Ada Oil Company, still the keystone of his operations. His businesses have expanded continuously, both in size and scope.

At the same time he was building his business empire, however, he was also building a solid background in the sports field. His interest in sports came naturally, since he had been a football letterman at Culver Military Academy, Menlo College, and later at the University of Kansas. So it was not long after he went into business that he fielded the Ada Oilers, who came to be perennial powers in the National Industrial Basketball League. During subsequent years he was involved in professional boxing and basketball, and was one of the original owners of the Houston major league professional baseball entry, now the Houston Astros of the National League.

The organization and operation of the Houston Oilers, however, he considers by far the most important of his many sports involvements. He went into the business looking for a winner, and got it the very first year when his Oilers won the AFL championship in 1960. Since their inception, the Oilers have been Eastern Division champions four times and AFL champions twice.

In recognition of his knowledge and experience, he was recently named to the board of trustees of the Professional Football Hall of Fame at Canton, Ohio. He participates in a wide range of civic and charitable activities, and has been honored as Houston's "Salesman of the Year", "Sportsman of the Year", and "Westerner of the Year."

John P. Collins

Executive Vice President

Following the 1969 season, the Oilers' front office organization was restructured to separate player and field activities from the purely business operations of the club, and the position of "general manager" was abandoned.

Executive vice president John Collins continues to have overall management responsibility for Oiler operations, reporting directly to Owner-President Adams.

Responsible to Collins, in turn, are heads of the club's three functional divisions. Head Coach Wally Lemm is in charge of all matters related to operation of the team on the field—coaching training, scouting, community relations, and negotiation of player contracts. Wayne Fisher, vice president and secretary-treasurer, handles financial and tax planning, and also supervises accounting, office services, travel arrangements, ticket sales, and sales promotion functions. Director of Public Relations John Breen supervises publicity, press box operation, film programs, and pre-season game scheduling.

In addition to the administrative responsibilities which he has exercised with the Oilers since the club's organization in 1959, Collins has also been intimately involved in the management of the other Adams sports interests, including boxing, baseball, and basketball.

A native Houstonian, Collins worked his way through the University of Houston, graduating with a degree in business administration in 1955. He joined the Adams organization very shortly thereafter, and rose rapidly to his present top management position, where he has responsibility, as executive vice president of the parent Ada Oil Company, for operations of all of the 30 companies which compose the Adams business interests.

Collins is a low-handicap golfer, and until just a few years ago was active in amateur basketball.

John and his wife Jo Ann, have two sons, Steve and Mike.

WAYNE FISHER

Vice President, Secretary-Treasurer

Longtime chancellor of the exchequer of the Adams enterprises, Fisher has been looking after Oiler corporate financial matters since the club's formation in 1959. He is now responsible for the club's financial and tax planning, accounting, office services, travel arrangements, ticket sales, and ticket sales promotion.

A native of Cedar Bayou, Texas, Fisher holds a BBA degree in accounting from Texas A&M University. He joined Ada Oil in 1949 after several years of experience with major industries and accounting firms. Since that time he has had responsibility for a wide range of administrative and management functions within the Adams corporate organization. He is currently an officer and/or director of all of the Adams companies.

He and his wife, Audry, have two sons, David and Dean.

Wally Lemm – Head Coach

Wally Lemm, one of the most dedicated men in football, begins his sixth season as head coach of the Houston Oilers and his 27th year in the coaching ranks.

The intense, soft-spoken Lemm has compiled a record of 35 wins, 30 losses and three ties as head coach of the Oilers including winning the American Football League title in 1961 and the Eastern Division crown in 1967.

Lemm first took over the Oiler reigns during the 1961 season when he guided the Oilers to ten straight victories and the AFL championship. His feat gained Coach of the Year honors. Soon after the end of the '61 season, he seized the opportunity to become head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals—a life-long dream.

After four seasons with the Cardinals, Lemm returned to Houston in 1966 and although the Oilers had their poorest record in history, great strides were made toward rebuilding the pride, desire and positive attitude needed for a championship team.

Lemm's '67 Oilers became the first team in history to go from last place to a division title and it was done with Houston's youngest team ever. No less than 15 rookies were on the squad which lost to Oakland in the AFL title contest. Injuries played a key factor in the Oilers finishing as runnerup to the World Champion New York Jets in 1968.

Although Lemm is a demanding coach, he's fair, honest, well organized and ambitious. It doesn't take any of his associates long to detect his one purpose—to win. "I can't stand a good loser," says Lemm.

Lemm, 50, attended Carroll College where he was a halfback under Oilers' Director of Public Relations John Breen. He made his coaching debut there in '42 but entered the Navy in '43. He rejoined the Carroll staff in '46 and his first head coaching job came at Waukesha High School in '48. The following year, he rejoined Breen at Lake Forest College and remained until 1964.

Lemm was named head coach at Montana State in '54 and moved into the pro ranks in '56 as defensive backfield coach of the Chicago Cardinals. His defensive secondary led the NFL in most categories that year with the most interceptions (33) and set a modern pro record in allowing just nine TD aeri-als.

It was back to Lake Forest in '57 as athletic director and head coach, a position he remained at until rejoining the St. Louis Cards in '59. Lemm's first acquaintance with Houston was in '60 when he served as defensive backfield coach on Lou Rymkus' first Oiler staff. He resigned after the '60 season to enter private business only to come out of retirement five games deep in the '61 season when the Oilers beckoned.

In nine years as a head coach in the pros, Lemm has a record of 63 wins, 56 defeats and 6 ties and a winning percentage of .529. Lemm's '67 Oilers became the first AFL team to limit the opposition to less than 200 points (199) in one season. The '67 Oilers also permitted only 18 touchdowns and set an AFL record in allowing only 10 TD passes. The '68 Oilers led the AFL once again, allowing only 13 TD passes.

Lemm and his wife, Mary Ann, have two children—daughter Debbie, a junior at Trinity University and son Mike, a Carroll College grad.

TOM WILLIAMS
Assistant to the Head Coach

The man of many talents—Tom Williams—moved into a newly created position in 1970 when he was named Assistant to the Head Coach.

In his new position, Williams will assist Head Coach Wally Lemm in contracts with other professional teams as well as work with the playing personnel of the Oilers. He will also continue to perform his duties in scouting, community relations and player negotiations.

A head track coach at Grambling College for ten years, Williams joined the pro ranks in 1966 as Assistant Director of Player Personnel. He is considered one of the outstanding judges of talent in the business.

Williams played one year of pro ball as a defensive back with the Los Angeles Rams before entering coaching. He began coaching at Prairie View A&M and after three years moved to Grambling.

Tom and his wife Faye have three children, daughter Jackie and Allete and Tom Jr.

DAN DOWNS
Ticket Manager

A thorough knowledge of what it takes to make ticket buyers happy has been the prime asset of Ticket Manager Dan Downs since he joined the Oiler organization in 1966.

Downs had a sound working knowledge of ticket operations when he came to the Oilers after working for several years in the Los Angeles Dodgers ticket office.

He is continually striving to improve customer services and has installed several popular programs including ticket outlets outside the city of Houston and a handy new charge account program.

The youthful and energetic bachelor begins his fifth season as head of the Oiler ticket operations.

JOHN W. BREEN
Public Relations Director

Since moving into a new position—Director of Public Relations—in 1966, John W. Breen has done an outstanding job for the Houston Oilers.

Breen was the first employee ever hired by Oiler owner K. S. (Bud) Adams, Jr. in 1959 when the American Football League was formed. Breen's first duties with the Oilers was as Director of Player Personnel and player selections played a major role in the Oilers' early success. With Breen rounding up the best talent available, the Oilers captured three Eastern Division titles and two AFL championships in the first three years of the teams' existence.

Breen heads up the Oilers' public speaking program and is considered one of the finest after dinner speakers to be found. With the merger of the AFL and NFL, Breen has taken on added duties of lining up top-flight pre-season opposition for the Oilers.

Football has been Breen's life and he has been in pro football since 1942. He coached Oiler head coach Wally Lemm in college at Carroll College and began his pro career with the Chicago Cardinals.

Breen and his wife Betty live in Champions Colony in Houston and have three children, John, Jr., Ann and Andy.

JIM McLEMORE
Publicity Director

Starting his tenth season with the Oilers will be Publicity Director Jim McLemore, a native Texan and former sportswriter for the Austin American-Statesman.

McLemore joined the Oilers in '61 as Assistant Publicity Director and Promotions Director and was elevated to Publicity Director in '66.

McLemore is the Oilers' contact man with the members of the news media, does all the advance road work on out of town trips and handles the arranging of all halftime shows for Oiler home games.

Currently a director for the Football Writers Assn. of America and a past secretary of the Texas Sportswriters Association, McLemore was honored as Sportswriter of the Year by the Texas High School Coaches Assn. in 1960-61.

McLemore is a graduate of Irving (Texas) High School, Chaffey Junior College (Calif.) and the University of Texas in Austin. He and his wife Harriet live in the Westbury area in Houston and have two children, Margaret Ann and Scotty.

THE ASSISTANT COACHES

JOE CHILDRESS
Offensive Backfield

One of the all-time great fullbacks in pro ball during his playing days with the Chicago and St. Louis Cardinals, Joe Childress has done an outstanding job tutoring the Oilers' corps of young running backs.

Childress joined Lemm's staff in 1966 after retiring from active play following the '65 season. Childress has developed such Oiler running backs as Hoyle Granger, Roy Hopkins and Woody Campbell while making the Oiler running game one of the best in the league. The Oilers led the AFL in rushing in 1967.

A former All-American fullback during his college days at Auburn, Childress was the number one draft choice of the Chicago Cards in 1956. Oiler coach Wally Lemm was a member of the Cardinal coaching staff when Childress was a rookie.

Childress played ten years with the Cardinals before retiring in '65 to join Lemm's staff in Houston.

Joe was born Dec. 26, 1933 in Robertsdale, Ala. He and his wife Bonnie live in Humble, Texas and have four children, Darrell, Callie, Carla and Mark.

F. A. DRY
Offensive Line

In just four years in professional coaching, F. A. Dry has established himself as one of the outstanding offensive line coaches in the league.

Dry has molded Houston's offensive line into one of the top groups in the league. He has developed a forward wall which is well-versed in all the techniques and fundamentals necessary for stellar offensive line play. F. A. is especially strong in developing young linemen and has done exceptional work with such youthful Oilers as Glen Ray Hines, Bobby Maples, Tom Regner, Jim LeMoine and Elbert Drungo.

ry built up quite a reputation while in the college ranks at the University of Tulsa, before joining the Oilers in 1966. At Tulsa, Dry was one of the prime reasons for the Hurricanes leading the nation in passing offense for several years.

An honorable mention All-American at Oklahoma State, Dry was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1953 but service obligations knocked him out of a chance at playing pro ball. He began his coaching career in the high school ranks in Tulsa and moved to the University of Tulsa in 1961.

Dry was born on Sept. 2, 1931 in Fairland, Okla. He and his wife Jan live in Houston and have three children, Diane, Mike and Rebecca Lynn.

WALT SCHLINKMAN Defensive Backfield

One of two Native Texans on the Oiler coaching staff, Walt Schlinkman begins his tenth season with the Oilers and has been with the club since its inception in 1960 except for the 1964 season.

Originally an offensive backfield coach, Schlinkman took over the defensive backfield chores in 1966 when Lemm returned to the Oilers and has made the Oiler secondary one of the best in the pro ranks.

Schlinkman's secondary, which features outstanding young players such as Zeke Moore, Ken Houston, Johnny Peacock, Leroy Mitchell and John Douglas, has been at the head of the league in most categories for the past three seasons.

The Dumas, Texas native is one of the All-Time great running backs in Texas Tech history and was the number one draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 1946. He played with the Packers from 1946 to '50.

Schlinkman began his coaching career as an assistant at Lake Forest College in 1951 before moving on to Marquette as an assistant in '54. He joined Lou Little's staff at Columbia in '56 and made his debut in the pro ranks at Vancouver in '58 before joining the Chicago Card staff in '59. Walt was on the first Oiler staff in '60 and except for the '64 season in St. Louis, he has been with the Oilers ever since.

Walt was born in Channing, Texas on May 2, 1922. He and wife Pat live in the Memorial area in Houston and have three daughters, Kelly, Holly and Penny.

LEWIS (Bud) McFADIN
Defensive Line

When they started looking for one of the All-Time great defensive linemen in college or pro ball, one of the first names mentioned is always Big Bud McFadin.

Bud, who joined the Oiler coaching staff in '66 following an illustrious playing career, is rapidly becoming one of the outstanding defensive line coaches in the business. An expert at defensive line techniques himself, McFadin has done a masterful job of transmitting his wealth of knowledge to the Oilers' fine young trenchmen—Elvin Bethea, Tom Domres, Carel Stith, George Rice and Willie Parker.

The name McFadin had become a by-word in defensive line play during his playing days with Los Angeles, Denver and the Oilers before he retired in '66. The native-Texan from Iraan is still considered one of the all-time greats to ever come out of the Southwest Conference where he was an All-American at the University of Texas.

Following his graduation from Texas in '51, McFadin played with Los Angeles from '53 to '56 before retiring. He came out of retirement to play with Denver from '60 to '63 and closed out his career with the Oilers in '64 and '65.

Bud was born in Rankin, Texas on July 28, 1928. He and his wife Patsy live on a ranch just outside New Caney, Texas and have two sons, Mark and Lewis Pate Jr.

HUGH DEVORE
Linebackers

One of the truly great men in professional football and a veteran of 36 years of coaching in Oiler linebacker coach Hugh Devore, who joined Coach Wally Lemm's staff in 1966.

Devore works with the Oilers fine corps of linebackers headed by All-Pro George Webster, Garland Boyette, Olen Underwood, Ron Pritchard and Loyd Wainscott.

Hugh has had invaluable experience in the coaching ranks, both in college and professional.

He began his coaching career as an assistant at Fordham, moved to Holy Cross and into the pro ranks with the Green Bay Packers. Hugh's first head coach job was at Providence and from there he moved to St. Bonaventure New York University, Dayton and back to the pros again with the Philadelphia Eagles. He was also an assistant coach at his Alma Mater, Notre Dame.

After serving several years as assistant athletic director at Notre Dame, Devore joined the Oiler staff in 1966. Hugh was an outstanding end during his undergraduate days at Notre Dame.

Hugh was born on Nov. 25, 1910 in Newark, New Jersey. He and his wife Madeline live in Houston and have seven children.

FRAN POLSFOOT Receivers

Houston has one of the youngest corps of receivers in pro football and the man responsible for their tremendous development is Fran Polsfoot, who starts his third season on Coach Wally Lemm's staff.

A great receiver himself before injuries cut his career short, Polsfoot has done an outstanding job with such Oiler receivers as Alvin Reed, Mac Haik, Charlie Joiner, and Jim Beirne. Fran starts his tenth season in the coaching ranks and developed such receivers as Sonny Randle, Billy Gambrell, Bobby Joe Conrad and Dave Williams while with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Polsfoot spent seven seasons with Cardinals, four of which were spent under Wally Lemm, who was then head coach at St. Louis. One of the all-time great receivers for the Cardinals during his short career from 1950 to 1952, Polsfoot saw a knee injury shorten his active days. He finally retired after spending the '53 season in Washington.

Polsfoot was an All-Pacific Coast Conference end at Washington State and was also a top-notch hurdler during his undergraduate days.

His first coaching job was at Wisconsin State in 1954 where he remained until joining the Cardinal staff in 1962.

Fran was born in Montesano, Washington on April 19, 1927. He and his wife Mary live in the Memorial area in Houston and have two children, Sally and Tommy.

BROWN

BOBBY BROWN Trainer

A veteran of 21 years as an athletic trainer, Bobby Brown has been the only trainer the Oilers have had since the team was formed in 1960.

A graduate of Lamar High School in Houston and the University of Houston, Brown started his career as an assistant at the University of Houston in '46 before moving into the pro ranks as an assistant with the Buffalo Bills of the All-American Conference.

Brown's first head job was with the Ottawa Rough Riders and later with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. He returned to Houston in '54 to become head trainer for the Houston Independent School District and was grabbed by the Oilers when the team was formed in '60.

Brown was secretary of the Professional Football Trainers Society in 1968 and served as President of the organization in '69 and '70. He is now on the advisory board and assistant sales manager of QuicKick, Int., popular new isotonic beverage.

JOHNNY GONZALEZ Equipment Manager

Johnny Gonzalez, starting his sixth year with the Houston Oilers, is the Oiler equipment manager and received his early training under Trainer Bobby Brown while both were working for the Houston Independent School District.

Gonzalez is a graduate of Jeff Davis High School in Houston and Kilgore Junior College. He does double duty for the Oilers, handling all the equipment, supervising the maintenance of the practice field and also assisting Brown in the training room when needed.

Johnny and his wife Henrietta live in Houston and have five children.

BOB SKELTON Asst. Equipment Manager

Newest member of the Oiler training room staff is 67-year old Bob Skelton, who was an Olympic gold medal winner in the 1924 Olympics in Paris in the 200-meter breaststroke.

Skelton joined Bobby Brown's staff in '69 after retiring from the sporting goods business. He was a teammate of famed Johnny Weismuller at the Illinois Athletic Club when both performed for the United States in the Olympic Games. Skelton won six national titles in the breaststroke and held all the world records from 100 to 400 yards at one time.

He retired from competitive swimming in '26 and developed the two-count kick in the breaststroke. Some of his records stood up for over 28 years.

CHARLIE HALL
Director of Player Personnel

The success of any professional team rests in the ability of its scouting department to keep a steady influx of new talent coming to the club. Since joining the Oilers in 1966, Charlie Hall and his staff has done an outstanding job.

A graduate of Dallas Highland Park High School, Hall attended Texas A&M briefly before entering the service. After his discharge, he entered Whittier College in Calif. and received his master's degree in physical education.

Charlie's coaching experience includes high school and junior college work in California before becoming an assistant at the University of Southern California.

Since joining the Oilers in '66, Hall and his staff have brought in such outstanding young players as George Webster, Woody Campbell, Roy Hopkins, Tom Regner, Ken Houston, Zeke Moore, Carel Stith, Ron Pritchard, Jerry Levias, Mac Haik and Jim Beirne.

Hall and his wife Joy live in the Memorial area in Houston and have two daughters, Catherine and Jennifer.

JORGE

DAVE SMITH
Full-Time Area Scouts

The Houston Oilers scouting department, under the direction of Player Personnel Director Charlie Hall, now has four full-time area scouts.

John Math, who has been with the Oilers as a full-time area scout since 1967, will work the West Coast, Washington and Oregon areas. A graduate of the University of California, Math served as an assistant coach at Glendale Junior College (Calif.) and later was an assistant at Utah State.

Ernie Jorge, a veteran of 31 years of coaching, joined the Oilers' scouting force in 1969 and will cover the Big Ten, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, West Virginia and Carolinas. Jorge served as head coach at the University of Pacific and held an assistant's job at Pacific, the Naval Academy, Maryland and in the pros with the Chicago Cardinals.

MATH

Former Oiler fullback Dave Smith begins his first year with the Oilers as a full-time scout after serving in a similar capacity with the New Orleans Saints the past three years. Smith, who was the All-AFL fullback in '60, played ball at Ripon College. Dave will scout Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky.

Twelve-year pro quarterback King Hill retired from the active ranks following the '69 season and joined the Oiler scouting staff in '70. Hill was the number one draft choice of the St. Louis Cards in '58 following an outstanding career at Rice University. King's 12-year career included stints with the Cardinals, Philadelphia Eagles, Minnesota Vikings and back with the Cardinals again in '69. Hill's scouting territory will include Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Business Manager

One of the key behind-the-scenes administrators in the Houston Oiler organization is Business Manager Lewis Mangum.

Mangum, who was an accountant for Oiler Owner K. S. (Bud) Adams' Ada Oil Co. for six years, begins his fourth season with the Oilers. Mangum's duties include arranging for all accommodations, travel and lodgings for the ball club in addition to the general operating procedures of the front office.

His administrative ability has proven a real asset in the Oilers' front office operations.

Lewis and his wife LaVerne have three children, Lucy and Laura, twin girls, and Larry.

GORDON JOHNSON
Asst. Business Manager

Johnson joined the Oilers' front office in 1968 and his vast accounting knowledge is of utmost value to the ever-growing Oilers' operations.

A Look At the Offense

QUARTERBACK—Wally Lemm got the man he wanted in a trade which sent Pete Beathard and Miller Farr to the St. Louis Cardinals for quarterback Charley Johnson and wide receiver Bob Atkins. With Johnson now wearing the Columbia Blue and White, the Oilers have their first really experienced quarterback since George Blanda departed after the '66 season. Johnson, a veteran of nine seasons in the NFL, ranks in the top 15 all-time quarterbacks in the game. During his career Johnson has completed 50.3 percent of his passes, hitting 1,030 of 2,047 attempts for 14,918 yards and 108 touchdowns. Not only does Johnson give the Oilers an outstanding passer but his field leadership can certainly fill a void the Oilers have had the past few seasons. And with the merger now a reality, Johnson's vast knowledge of NFL teams will prove invaluable. Johnson, who will receive his doctor's degree in chemical engineering this summer, won't be slowed with the move to a new team since he ran Lemm's offense when the two were together for four years at St. Louis. In addition to Johnson, the Oilers acquired another solid NFL signal caller during the off season in a trade which brought Jerry Rhome from the Cleveland Browns. Rhome played with the Dallas Cowboys for four seasons before being traded to Cleveland in '69. Thus in Rhome's five seasons, he played with three championship teams in Dallas and one with Cleveland. Johnson's and Rhome's NFL experience could be an even bigger factor in '70 for the Oilers since at least thirteen opponents will be teams from the NFL. Rookie Bob Naponic, who spent the '69 season on the cab squad, will battle the two veterans. Naponic, who played in the Texas Professional League on weekends, impressed the Oiler staff with his strong arm, enthusiasm, drive and determination. His weekend play earned him All-League honors in the TPL last season.

RUNNING BACKS—Lemm feels that his running back spot has to be greatly improved in '70, mainly due to the fact that Woody Campbell will be around for his first full season of football since his rookie year in '67. Campbell played only on weekends in '68 and missed the bulk of the '69 season while fulfilling his military obligations in Viet Nam. Campbell's return will give the Oilers the benefit of his excellent running, blocking and pass receiving. Lemm considers Campbell one of the best backs he has ever coached when it comes to running in goal line or short yardage situations. Campbell's running mate will be four-year veteran Hoyle Granger, who has carried 681 times for 3,170 yards and a 4.6 average and 17 touchdowns during his career. Lemm is confident that Granger can return to his 1,000-yard status if he can avoid the nagging injuries which plagued him in '69. Granger has excellent strength, is a good blocker and one of the better pass receiving fullbacks in the game. The 6-1, 225-pound Granger has excellent balance and has become a fine run-to-daylight ball carrier. One of the most versatile backs on the squad is Roy Hopkins, 6-1, 215, who can perform with equal ability at either backfield spot. Hopkins led the Oilers in touchdowns rushing in '69 with four and is the fastest of the veteran ball carriers. Two rookies in '69 who performed well were Mike Richardson and Rich

Johnson. Both were used mainly on special teams when they did carry the ball, showed excellent signs. Rookie Bill Dusenbery of J. C. Smith could give the Oilers their first outside running threat in years. Dusenbery, 6-2, 195, has run a 9.6 and has all the tools to become a fine back with experience. Joe Dawkins, a 6-2, 218 pound rookie from Wisconsin, could be a real sleeper. Dawkins came on strong both as a running back and pass receiver in the latter part of the '69 season. Another running back hopeful will be Billy Alsbrook, who came to camp in '69 as a defensive back, but who will be given a try at running back in '70. Alsbrook has fine speed and good hands and was a fine running back in college. His outside speed could give the Oilers a real boost.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Experience alone should make the Oilers' fine wide receiver corps stronger in '70. Last year, Lemm and receiver coach Fran Polsfoot had two second-year men—Mac Haik and Jim Beirne—along with a trio of rookies—Jerry Levias, Charlie Joiner and Paul Zaeske. Nevertheless Beirne and Levias finished among the top ten receivers in the AFL and combined with tight end Alvin Reed to give the Oilers three receivers in the top ten. Levias and Beirne each caught 42 passes. Levias' catches went for 696 yards, a 16.6 average and five TD's. Beirne's grabs totaled 540 yards for 12.9 average and four TD's. Haik, bothered off and on by injuries, caught 27 for 375 yards and one TD while Joiner caught seven for 77 yards and was just beginning to come along when he was sidelined with a broken arm. The trade with the Cardinals brought Bob Atkins to the Oilers and the 6-3, 215 pound former Grambling star could be the big, fast wide receiver the Oilers have been searching for. Atkins was used as a defensive back during his two seasons with the Cardinals but was an outstanding receiver in college. Joiner, Atkins, Haik and Levias all have the speed to deep.

TIGHT END—In the space of three seasons, big Alvin Reed, 6-5, 230, has established himself as one of the premier tight ends in pro ball. A superb blocker, Reed has now developed into an excellent receiver. He led all tight ends in the AFL in '69 with 51 catches for 664 yards and two TD's. His work was good for fourth place among the AFL's top receivers. He has been on the Eastern Division All-Star team for the past two years and begins his fourth season as a starter at tight end. In three seasons, the free-agent from Prairie View has caught 108 passes for 1,545 yards and eight TD's. Behind Reed will be a battle between Ed Carrington, Donnie Davis and rookie Richard Dawkins. Carrington, 6-4, 225, is an excellent blocker but his progress as a receiver was slowed in '69 while he was coming off a knee operation. Carrington should have regained his speed and mobility in '70, enabling him to make a strong bid for the tight end spot. Davis, a veteran of Canada, was on the cab team in '69 and it enabled him to improve his blocking techniques. Davis, 6-3, 225, has good hands and excellent speed. Dawkins, a 6-4, 226-pounder from J. C. Smith, was impressive in films as a receiver and appears to have the tools to become a good tight end.

SUMMATION—Overall the Oilers should be greatly improved in the offensive backfield with Johnson and Rhome adding leadership and experience at quarterback. Their experience, along with Campbell's return should give added emphasis to the running game. Houston's passing game should be more potent with Johnson's proven ability to spot defensive weaknesses in addition to the added year's experience in one of the youngest groups of wide receivers in pro football.

TACKLES—Lemm considers the Oilers' offensive tackle corp one of the club strong points. Starters Walt Suggs and Glen Ray Hines are proven warriors and second-year man Elbert Drungo has outstanding potential. Suggs, 6-5, 260, is the veteran of the Oilers offensive line and one of the finest all round tackles in the game. An excellent pass blocker as well as man-on-man blocker, Suggs begins his ninth season and eighth as a starter. Hines, 6-5, 265, has outstanding quickness and was named to the Eastern Division All-Star team for the second straight year in '69. Drungo, 6-4, 250, did a fine job when called on to perform in the offensive line in '69. His speed and quickness make Drungo a great prospect and work on special teams in '69 was excellent. Two big rookies, Dave Sharp of Stanford and Mike McClish, have good potential. Sharp, 6-4, 245, and McClish, 6-5, 270, are both big and strong with good quickness but will be battling for positions at a spot where the Oilers are exceptionally strong.

GUARDS—Tom Regner and Sonny Bishop are the incumbents at the all-important guard spots. Although several other guards in the league have received more rave notices, Lemm feels that Regner is the finest young guard in the game. He is an excellent pass protector, a strong pulling guard and handles man-on-man assignments with authority. Regner is in his fourth season while Bishop, if he decides against retiring, will be starting his ninth season. Should Bishop, who is one of the steadiest guards in the league, decide to hang 'em up, fourth-year man Jim LeMoine would move into the starting role. LeMoine, 6-2, 245, is exceptionally strong and performed very well in pre-season play in '69. Two of Houston's top five draft choices, including number one, were guards. The Oilers' first selection was 6-2, 245 pound Doug Wilkerson of North Carolina Central. Wilkerson was considered the best interior lineman in the country among collegians '69 and has exceptional potential. Michigan State's 6-2, 235-pound Ron Raul, Houston's fifth round choice, was an All-American in '69 and has always been a tremendous competitor. Another rookie, Claire Rasmussen of Wisconsin State, has the size, 6-3, 245, and could figure in the overall picture.

CENTERS—Four-year starter Bobby Maples, 6-4, 245, has to rank as one of the strongest all-round centers in the league. Maples has good quickness, maneuverability and is a fine snapper on field goals and punts. Second-year man Hank Autry displayed good ability as a long snapper as a rookie in '69 and the year's experience should give him an edge over rookie hopeful Bob Morris, a 6-4, 220-pounder from Duke.

THE KICKING GAME—The Oilers ranked ninth in '69 in punting but Lemm hopes the problem was corrected in the draft. The Oilers drafted two of the top collegiate punters around in Georgia's Spike Jones and Mississippi's Julian Fagan. Jones was second in the nation in '69 with a 43.5 average and his career output shows a 41.5 average on 194 punts. Fagan had a career total of 199 kicks for a 41.6 average. Roy Gerela will be coming off a good rookie season in which he set new team record for field goal attempts (40) and fields goals made (19) in one season. The soccer-style kicker from Canada tried place kicking and punting in '69 but will concentrate entirely on place kicking in '70 and it should make him even more effective. Gerela's booming kickoffs enabled the Oilers to set new team records for fewest kickoffs returned (38) in a season and fewest total yards allowed (792) on kickoff returns.

SPECIAL TEAMS—The Oilers got outstanding performances from their special teams in '69 and Lemm hopes it can continue. Houston ranked number one in the AFL against kickoff returns and number two against punt returns. Rookies like Loyd Wainscott, Rich Johnson, Elbert Drungo, and Hank Autry did excellent work on the special units. On the offensive side, Jerry Levias added a new dimension to the Oiler punt and kickoff return units. The former SMU All-American set a new AFL record for combined punt and kickoff returns in a season with 73 in addition to his duties as a wide receiver.

SUMMATION—Houston's offensive fortunes figure to be much improved in '70 with added experience among the wide receivers, Woody Campbell's return to full-time status and the leadership and knowledge which quarterback Charley Johnson will bring to the club. The Oilers' offensive line has to rank with the best in the league and it should be even better in '70. The front line of Suggs, Regner, Maples, Bishop, Hines and Reed will be starting their fourth year together and this experience means a lot. Also the offensive line has more depth than in past with young veterans and talented rookies expected to wage a real struggle. The rookie linemen appear to have more size and speed than previous groups.

THE DEFENSIVE OUTLOOK

ENDS—The Oilers have very capable performers in starters Pat Holmes and Elvin Bethea. Holmes, 6-5, 255, is the 'old pro' of the defensive linemen and will be starting his seventh season. A very steady player who still has room for improvement, Holmes and Bethea give the Oilers good outside pass rush. Bethea, 6-3, 250, completed his first full season as a starter and did an excellent job. Bethea led the Oilers in getting to the passer '69 and the added year's experience should make him even better in '70. Bethea's play in '69 earned him Eastern Division All-Star honors in his second season as a pro. Lemm looks for depth at the end positions from two second year men in Glenn Woods and Ben Mayes, both of whom saw only limited duty on the active roster in '69. Woods, 6-3, 250, and Mayes, 6-4, 265, both have good size and speed. Strong challenges are also expected to come from rookies Charles Blossom, 6-4, 270, of Texas Southern, and Lafayette Robinson, 6-3, 265, of Norfolk State. Blossom was a three-time All-Conference player and was named to the Little All-American squad in '69. Blossom could be even more valuable since he has played offensive guard during his college career.

TACKLES—The Oilers operated most of the '69 season with possibly the youngest set of defensive tackles in the AFL. Carel Stith and Tom Domres were both second year men and both enjoying their first season as starters. Both Stith and Domres are big and strong and were most impressive against the running game where they displayed excellent pursuit. The major weakness was the pass rush which could easily be attributed to their inexperience. Stith, 6-5, has trimmed down from 275 to 265 and the former Nebraska performer should have more quickness and agility. Domres, 6-3, 260, showed consistent improvement. Behind Stith and Domres, Lemm has two veterans with excellent potential in Willie Parker and George Rice. Parker was never in good condition last season but if he comes to camp in good shape and ready to go at a playing weight of 270, he could be one of the best. Rice underwent a second knee operation ing the '69 campaign and has yet been unable to show his true potential for a full season. Rice, 6-3, 260, can be the 'quick' defensive tackle the Oilers have been seeking and early indications are that his knee will be okay. Two rookies—Leo Brooks of Texas and Ed Duley of Northern Arizona—were drafted in the second and fifth rounds respectively by the Oilers and both have ideal size and are reputed to have the quickness needed at defensive tackle. Brooks is 6-5, 255, and Duley is 6-5, 272. Another rookie who could be a surprise is John Gregory, a 6-3, 250 pound free agent from Wichita State. Gregory is said to have excellent quickness and strength.

SUMMATION—There is plenty of youth and potential in the Oilers' defensive line corps. Holmes is the oldest of the lot with six years experience. Holmes and Bethea provide good pressure from the outside and if Lemm can come up with a better inside pass rush from Stith, Domres, Rice, Parker, Brooks, Duley or Gregory, the Oilers can be very tough. The added year's experience alone should mean a great deal to Stith, Domres, Rice and Parker and with good competition from Brooks, Duley and Gregory, the Oilers could have strongest tackle corps in the club's history.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS—You have to start with unanimous All-Pro George Webster on the left side. Webster has been phenomenal in his three seasons as a pro and continues to amaze not only the Oiler coaching staff but the opposition as well. The 6-4½, 225 pound Webster is one of those rare athletes who comes along every few years and in his three campaigns has already established himself as the finest outside linebacker in pro football. Webster has been a unanimous All-AFL choice for the past three years and has been named to the Pro team picked from players of both leagues the last two years. Following the '69 season, Webster was named to the All-Time AFL team. Quite an honor for a third-year pro. On the right side, Lemm anticipates a battle royal between five-year vet Olen Underwood and the Oilers' first round draft choice in '69 Ron Pritchard of Arizona State. Pritchard, 6-1, 235, was brought along slowly as a rookie in '69 but it'll be a head to head battle with Underwood, 6-1, 230, when the Oilers open training camp. Underwood is one of the most underrated linebackers in the league and displayed exceptional consistency in '69. Another outside linebacker in his second year is 6-4, 220 pound Ed Watson, who spent most of the '69 season on the cab squad. Watson showed enough in '69 to be considered a prime contender in '70.

MIDDLE LINEBACKER—Garland Boyette, 6-1, 240, is the incumbent at the middle spot and the nine-year vet from Grambling seems to get better each year. Boyette will be starting his fourth season as the Oilers' middle man after playing several positions prior to '67. Blessed with exceptional strength, Boyette has the quickness and speed needed in the middle. Behind Boyette, Lemm has a second year man in Loyd Wainscott and rookie Jess Lewis of Oregon State. Wainscott was an All-American defensive tackle at Texas and made giant strides as a rookie last year when Lemm moved him to the middle spot. Although most of his playing time came on special teams, Wainscott, 6-2, 230, displayed excellent potential and can become a good middle linebacker with more experience. Lewis, 6-1, 230, is a two-time NCAA and AAU wrestling champion and should give depth in the middle with his tremendous strength and quickness.

SUMMATION—Lemm feels that Houston's lineback will stack up against any in professional football. Webster has already reached Super Star status. Webster, Boyette and Underwood will be starting their fourth season as a unit and Pritchard has shown the equipment to move in as a starter.

CORNERBACKS—Although All-Pro Miller Farr will be missing on the left side following an off-season trade, Lemm feels that cornerback will be one of the Oilers' strongest positions and sites two big reasons why. First, third-year pro Zeke Moore, 6-2, 195, had a great year in his first season as a starter and secondly Leroy Mitchell, who the Oilers acquired in a trade prior to the '69 season, will be coming off an injury and will replace Farr on the left side. Mitchell, 6-1, 185, was an excellent cornerback with Boston in '68 but missed all of the '69 season with a fractured vertebra. Moore intercepted four passes in '69 and returned them 71 yards including one 51 yards for a TD. John Douglas, 6-1, 190, was a two-year regular for New Orleans and joined the Oilers in '69. However Douglas was bothered by a bad back most of the season. Douglas has excellent ability and will certainly give the Oilers added depth and experience. Although Bob Atkins will be tried first as a wide receiver on offense, he will give Lemm added depth at cornerback. Atkins could easily be a two-way performer since he was an outstanding cornerback during his two seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals. Rookie help should come from speedster Benny Johnson, 6-0, 185, from J. C. Smith and free agent Bobby Holley, 6-0, 185, of Texas Southern. Johnson has great speed with a legitimate 9.4 clocking in the 100 to his credit and a 4.3 in the 40-yard dash. Holley is a versatile athlete with excellent potential. Wide receiver Charlie Joiner doubled as a cornerback in '69 and could do the same in '70 if needed.

SAFETY—Two-time Eastern Division All-Star K. Houston is a fixture at strong safety. A punishing tackler and excellent on coverage, Houston, 6-3, 195, has picked off 13 passes for 398 yards and five TD's in three seasons. It appears to be only a matter of time before Houston ranks with the best strong safeties in the game. Pushing Houston will be Bob Smith, who was on the cab squad in '69 after getting a late start due to military obligations and Mike Barnes, 6-3, 200, a two-year veteran of NFL play with the St. Louis Cardinals. Barnes can play either free or strong safety and could give either starters a run for their money. At free safety, Johnny Peacock became a starter at mid-season and showed great promise after replacing veteran W. K. Hicks, who went to New York in an off-season trade. During his rookie season, Peacock showed real aggressiveness on running plays, good ability to quarterback the secondary and good range at free safety which enabled him to do a good job in helping cover the secondary. Rookie Charles Olson of Concordia (Minn.) is a 6-2, 200 pounder who could also double as a wide receiver but will be given first shot as a free safety.

SUMMATION—One of the Oilers' real strong points. Lemm's defensive secondary has exceptional speed, size and has led the league in defense against TD passes two of the past three seasons. There's youth galore, with Moore, Houston and Douglas the oldest of the group with three seasons under their belts. Overall the Oilers should be improved on defense, mainly through the added year's experience of playing together and the improved pass rush which is expected to come from Stith, Domres, Rice, Parker and the talented rookies. The Oilers defensive unit had an average of 3.7 years playing experience in '69 and was one of the youngest in the game.

CAPSULE OF THE 1969 SEASON

OAKLAND 21, HOUSTON 17—The Oilers opened the season against the defending Western Division champion Oakland Raiders and came within a hair of pulling off a big upset. Only a dropped pass preserved Oakland's 21-17 triumph.

Two first quarter pass interceptions staked the Raiders to a 14-0 lead but the Oilers battled back to make it 14-3 at halftime on Roy Gerela's 28-yard field goal.

Houston cut the Raider margin to 14-10 in the third quarter on Hoyle Granger's one-yard plunge and with 8:35 gone in the final quarter went ahead 17-14 on a 15-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Jerry Levias. The Raiders came right back on a 64-yard scoring pass from Daryle Lamonica to Warren Wells with 9:32 gone in the quarter.

With less than two minutes to play, Beathard found Levias all alone behind Oakland safety Dave Grayson but the Oiler rookie couldn't hold on to the pass for the TD.

HOUSTON 17, BUFFALO 3—The Oilers continued their mastery over the Buffalo Bills with a 17-3 triumph in Buffalo's aged War Memorial Stadium. It was Houston's fifth straight decision over the Bills and marked the fourth time in the last five games that the Bills had failed to score a touchdown.

Roy Hopkins sparked an Oiler ground game with 66 yards on 15 carries while Pete Beathard completed 10 of 20 passes for 140 yards. Hopkins also caught one pass for 56 yards to complete his finest day as an Oiler.

After Buffalo took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter on Bruce Alford's 14-yard field goal, the Oilers took the lead to stay in the second quarter on Beathard's 12-yard TD pass to tight end Alvin Reed. Roy Gerela's 21-yard field goal and Hoyle Granger's one-yard scoring run capped the Oiler scoring.

HOUSTON 22, MIAMI 10—Houston made its first regular season appearance in the Astrodome and rode Roy Gerela's record-setting five field goals to a 22-10 triumph over the Miami Dolphins.

Gerela's five goals of 39, 17, 17, 31, and 30 yards wiped out the Oiler record of four in one game set by George Blanda in 1965 against Buffalo. Miami actually held a 10-0 lead in the second quarter on a 17-yard field goal by Karl Kremser and Bob Griese's nine-yard scoring pass to Howard Twilley.

But the Oilers used Gerela's first two field goals to cut the margin to 10-6 at halftime and then capitalized on a vicious defense in the second half to gain the victory. Houston's only TD came on Roy Hopkins' six-yard run in the third quarter.

HOUSTON 28, BUFFALO 14—The Oilers took their sixth straight triumph over the Buffalo Bills, 28-14 to run their season's record to 3-1. Buffalo scored two touchdowns against the Oilers and it was only the Bills second and third TD's against the Oilers in the past six meetings between the two clubs.

The Oilers led all the way and built up a 21-0 lead before the Bills got on the scoreboard. Pete Beathard sparked the Oilers to a 14-0 first half lead as he passed three-yards to Roy Hopkins for one TD and run three yards to paydirt for a second.

Ken Houston's 51-yard TD run with an intercepted pass made it 21-0 in the third quarter before Max Anderson's six-yard run gave the Bills a TD. Hoyle Granger's one-yard plunge hike the Oiler advantage to 28-7 and Jack Kemp passed 26 yards to Marlin Briscoe for the final Buffalo score.

KANSAS CITY 24, HOUSTON 0—In a pouring rain, the Oilers couldn't do anything right. Two early fumbles on punting attempts gave the Kansas City Chiefs a 14-0 first quarter edge and the Chiefs went on to a 24-0 shutout, thus handing the Oilers their first whitewashing in 78 games.

A total of 14 fumbles further marred the contest as the Oilers could muster only a total offense of 101 yards. Second-year quarterback Mike Livingston sparked the Chief victory with eight completed passes in 15 tries for 61 yards and with three runs for 51 yards.

The Oilers recovered six KC fumbles but it did no good the big Chief defense kept the Oilers bottled up the entire afternoon.

NEW YORK 26, HOUSTON 17—Joe Namath and the New York Jets utilized a poorly conditioned Shea Stadium turf to hit two long bombs to Don Maynard and go on to a 26-17 triumph over the Oilers in a contest moved to Monday night due to the World Series.

Jim Turner gave the Jets a 3-0 lead in the first quarter with a 17-yard field goal, his first of four during the night. The Oilers took a brief 7-3 lead in the second quarter when Zeke Moore picked off a Namath pass and returned it 51 yards for a TD. But then Namath struck on the long bomb to Maynard, first for 57 and then 54 yards and on both TD's, Oiler defensive backs slipped on the loose turf.

After Beathard hit Mack Haik with a 15-yard TD pass in the third period, it cut the Jets lead to 17-14. Turner and Roy Gerela swapped field goals and Jets led 20-17 going into the fourth quarter.

Turner added two more field goals in the final period for the Jets and Houston's only serious threat was nipped by a pass interception. The game was played before a record 63,841 fans.

HOUSTON 24, DENVER 21—The Oilers won their thirteenth straight game in the Astrodome with a 10-point fourth quarter and a 24-21 come-from-behind triumph over the Denver Broncos.

Denver took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a Steve Tensi to Mike Haffner pass for 13-yards but Pete Beathard, Roy Hopkins and Jerry Levias ignited two TD drives in the final three minutes of the first quarter. Hopkins scored on a one-yard plunge and Levias took a 43-yard scoring toss from Beathard for the other score.

But then the Broncos dominated the game for the next two periods and TD runs of one-yard by Tom Smiley and three-yards by Floyd Little put Denver ahead, 21-14 at the start of the fourth quarter.

Hopkins got the equalizer for the Oilers on a beautiful 43-yard burst up the middle for a score and Roy Gerela got the winning margin on a 22-yard field goal with 8:44 gone in the final quarter. Denver blew a chance to tie in the final minutes when Bob Howfield missed a 21-yard field goal. Hopkins had his greatest day as an Oiler with 107 yards on 14 carries and two TD's and also caught two passes for 29 yards. Levias hauled in four passes for 122 yards and a TD and Beathard completed eight of 16 for 168 yards.

Boston's Mike Taliaferro hit 12 of 22 passes for 191 yards and two TD's with rookie Ron Sellers grabbing four passes for 124 yards and both touchdowns. Patriot rookie running back Carl Garrett rushed for 94 yards on 14 trips.

HOUSTON 20, DENVER 20—For the second straight week, the Oilers battled to a tie game, this time coming up with 17 points in the final seven minutes to gain a 20-20 deadlock with the Denver Broncos.

Quarterback Pete Beathard and wide receiver Jerry Levias led the Oilers' great rally along with a tough defense led by Tom Domres, who ignited the Oiler rally with a 30-yard TD run with a fumble.

Beathard hit 20 of 41 aerials for 338 yards including an 86-yard bomb to Levias which turned out to be the longest TD pass of the season in the AFL. Levias grabbed seven passes for 150 yards, ran back five punts for 68 yards and one kickoff for 26.

Following Domres' 30-yard gallop with the Bronco fumble to cut the Denver lead to 20-10 with 6:13 left to play, the Oilers made it 20-17 with 2:42 left on the 86-yard strike to Levias and then as time ran out, Roy Gerela booted a 19-yard field goal to gain the tie. A 42-yard pass from Beathard to Mac Haik had set up Gerela's kick.

HOUSTON 32, MIAMI 7—The Oilers combined the running of Hoyle Granger, the passing of Pete Beathard, and the receiving of Jerry Levias with a bone-rattling defense to stymie the Miami Dolphins, 32-7 in the Orange Bowl.

The Dolphins scored first when defensive end Bill Stanfill picked off a Beathard pass and returned it 17 yards for a TD but after that it was all Houston. The rugged Oiler defense picked off five Dolphin passes and nailed the quarterback four times with Elvin Bethea, Tom Domres and Garland Boyette leading the way.

Beathard hit 14 of 34 passes for 258 yards and two TD's while Levias grabbed four for 101 and one TD including a beautiful 21-yarder which he crawled the final five yards after making a diving one-handed catch. Granger rushed for 92 yards on 14 carries. Running back Woody Campbell made his first appearance of the '69 season after a tour in Viet Nam.

FACTS ABOUT ASTROTURF

Professional football got its first taste of AstroTurf during the 1968 season when the Houston Oilers moved their home games to the Astrodome.

Just what is AstroTurf? AstroTurf is a revolutionary man-made turf, especially engineered for athletic and recreational systems by the Chemstrand Company, a division of Monsanto Company.

It is made of a combination of chemical textile fibers, about 85 per cent of nylon. The fiber matting is about $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thick and the 'pile' is about a half inch tall. It has much the same texture as a stiff, thickly bristled nylon hair brush.

AstroTurf comes in 14-foot wide strips, connected on the underneath side by metal zippers. The longest zippered section extends 227 feet long, and is the longest zipper ever made. The AstroTurf is anchored by pulling it over the edge of the ground and attaching it by steel springs to a concrete curb installed a foot under the ground.

LEVIAS, Jerry—WR—23—5-10—175—So. Methodist—2nd Year—Born: Sept. 5, 1946—Joined Oilers: D2-1969

The most exciting player to play for the Oilers in the club's history. After a fabulous career at SMU where he rewrote the record books, had an outstanding rookie season in the pros. Set new AFL record for combined punt and kickoff returns in one season with 73. Was one of three Oiler receivers to finish in top 10 in the AFL with 42 receptions. MAPLES, Bobby—C—28—6-4—245—Baylor—6th Year—Born: Dec. 28, 1942—Joined Oilers: D4-1965.

One of the better centers in pro football after only four seasons at the position. Joined the Oilers in '65 as a linebacker but lack of speed sent him to center where his quickness and agility excell. Learned the position in the heat of battle and has become a powerful blocker. Named to East All-Star squad in '68. Has never had a bad snap on punts or field goals. Excellent pass protection blocker. Was a great high school quarterback at Mt. Vernon, Tex. and was All-Southwest Conference as a freshman at Baylor at QB. Moved to linebacker as a soph and became one of the best in SWC. Married and has two children.

MAYES, Ben—DE—24—6-5—265—Drake—2nd Year—Born: March 16, 1945—Joined Oilers: FA-1969.

Was a 5th round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in '69 but was signed by Oilers as free agent after being cut by Bills. Had played against Oilers in pre-season game and impressed coaches. Has excellent size and strength and with experience could become good defensive end. Spent most of '69 on cab squad.

MITCHELL, Leroy—CB—25—6-1—190—Texas Southern—3rd Year—Born: Sept. 22, 1944—Joined Oilers: Trade 1969.

Came to Oilers in off-season trade in '69 from the Boston Patriots but was sidelined entire season when injured on second day of training camp. Suffered a broken neck, should be fully recovered for '70 season. Will likely be starting left cornerback. Was Boston's 11th round draft choice in '67 and was a starter for two years with Pats. Considered one of the best young cornerbacks in the game. Came to Oilers in the trade which sent Charlie Frazier, Ron Caveness, Sid Blanks and Larry Carwell to Pats. Named Boston's Most Valuable Player in '68 and picked on the Eastern Division All-Star squad. Has good speed (9.7) and was in the same backfield with Oiler teammates—Roy Hopkins and John Douglas—in college at Texas Southern. Hometown is Wharton, Texas. Originally signed as flanker by Patriots but was so impressive on defense that he was switched to corner. Has a knack of going for the ball. Married.

The Fabulous Astrodome

The Astrodome is more than a Stadium—it's a way of treating people. Sparkling like a rare jewel on a one-time Houston swamp, the Astrodome is the Taj Mahal of all stadia.

This colossal amphitheatre, built at a cost of $38,000,000, is located seven miles from downtown Houston, and is served by a radius of roads making it easily the most accessible stadium in the world.

It's the first all-purpose, weather-free, combined sports stadium and convention hall and is etched 208 feet against the Texas sky. The Astrodome is tall enough to contain the 18-story Shamrock-Hilton Hotel in Houston, or the Atlantic City Convention Hall, or the San Francisco Cow Palace with room to spare.

The patrons of the Astrodome sit in almost regal splendor, in plush-type opera seats, protected overhead by a permanent translucent roof with 4,596 plastic skylights and in a temperature of 72 degrees controlled by 6,600 tons of air conditioning.

The Astrodome has 45,000 seats for baseball, 52,000 for football, 60,000 for conventions and 66,000 for boxing matches. The Astrodome attracts more than 4 million persons annually.

The Astrodome has the world's largest electrical scoreboard and features all pertinent sports information plus an electrical show that lasts over 40 seconds when the home team scores. The scoreboard is adaptable to all spectator sports and is 474 feet long and four stories high, and weighs 300 tons.

Built at a cost of $2 million, the scoreboard has 50,000 electric light bulbs and is controlled by a 25-ft console board in the press box, operated by a staff of six technicians and a producer.

There is parking for 30,000 cars and eight traffic arteries radiate from the circular stadium in every direction.

The Astrodome is the nation's only stadium with lights continuously around the perimeter of the structure. There are 1906 standard floodlights of 1,500 watts each, mounted on a catwalk circling the inner rim of the dome, 145 feet above the playing field.

Restaurant facilities in the Astrodome surpass anything ever before incorporated in any stadium in the world. There are five separate restaurants, exclusive of the concession stands, capable of handling 3,280 persons at one sitting. Two of the five are private clubs and the other three are open to the general public. In addition there are 49 concession stands, clearly marked and evenly distributed on the six seating levels of the stadium.

1960 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

JEPPESSEN STADIUM—HOUSTON, TEXAS

SUNDAY, JAN. 1, 1961

HOUSTON 24, LOS ANGELES 16—With 32,000 fans looking on at Jeppesen Stadium, the Houston Oilers captured the first American Football League championship. It took the play of the year in the AFL to give the Oilers the title. Quarterback George Blanda and halfback Billy Cannon, named the Outstanding Player in the game, teamed up on a tremendous 88-yard touchdown pass play that put the game out of reach for the Chargers in the final quarter.

Los Angeles had gone ahead 6-0 at the end of the first quarter on two field goals by Ben Agajanian for 38 and 22 yards. Houston scored on a 17-yard pass from Blanda to fullback Dave Smith in the second quarter to go ahead, 7-6. The half ended with Houston leading 10-9 after Blanda's 18-yard field goal and Agajanian's 27-yard three pointer.

A seven-yard pass from Blanda to Bill Groman sent Houston ahead, 17-9 early in the third quarter but LA bounced back on a two-yard burst at left tackle by All-AFL halfback Paul Lowe. The third quarter ended with Houston ahead 17-16.

Facing third and nine from his own 12, Blanda uncorked his game-clinching aerial to Cannon early in the fourth quarter. Los Angeles got to the Oiler 35 and to Houston 22 but a determined Oiler defense stalled both bids in the final quarter.

1961 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

BALBOA STADIUM—SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

SUNDAY, DEC. 24, 1961

HOUSTON 10 at SAN DIEGO 3—One of pro football's roughest contests of all time decided the 1961 American Football League championship as 13 players were assisted to the sidelines with injuries. At one point the Oilers were without both Hennigan and Groman, the most feared pass receiving combo in the league. In the fourth period, the Oilers' Hogan Wharton put the Block-of-the-Year on "Bigger than Big Daddy". Ernie Ladd on a peelback block that later hospitalized the 6-foot, 9-inch and 317-pound tackle.

Midway of the third Houston drove 80 yards to score. From the 35-yard line, Blanda set up a triple wing formation and hit Cannon down the middle. Cannon's leaping catch at the 17 was followed by McLeod's block on Charley McNeil, at safety, and Cannon was free to stroll in for the game's only TD.

Just 39 seconds deep in the 4th, George Blair kicked a 12-yard field goal for SD to narrow the count to 10-3 and Oilers battled viciously to protect the margin until the game's final gun.

1962 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

JEPPesen STADIUM—HOUSTON, TEXAS

SUNDAY, DEC. 23, 1962

DALLAS 20 at HOUSTON 17—The longest football game in history decided the 1962 American Football League championship. The regulation game ended in a 17-17 deadlock, and 2 minutes, 54 seconds elapsed in the sixth period of play before Tommy Brooker's 25-yard field goal removed Houston from the AFL throne for the first time in history.

George Blanda's game-opening kickoff was at 2:11 p.m. and Brooker's field goal passed through the uprights at 5:05 p.m. ending football's longest day.

A sellout crowd of 37,981 saw Dallas build up a 17-0 half-time lead on Brooker's 16-yard field goal in the 1st, and two Abner Haynes TDs in the second. One was a 2-yard slice through the line and the other a 28-yard pass reception from Lenny Dawson.

Blanda's 31-yard field goal early in the fourth was followed with a 51-yard drive midway of the quarter and Charley Tolar blasted it over from the two to tie the game.

Dallas never set foot in Houston territory in the second half of regulation play. In the fifth, they reached the Houston 37, but were shoved back to their own 49 before punting.

1967 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Oakland Coliseum—Oakland, California

Sunday, December 31, 1967

OAKLAND 40, HOUSTON 7—The powerful Oakland Raiders brought an abrupt end to the greatest Cinderella story in professional football with a 40-7 walloping of the young Houston Oilers before a record crowd of 53,330 in the Oakland Coliseum.

With quarterback Daryle Lamonica, fullback Hewritt Dixon and a powerful defensive line led by Ben Davidson and Tom Keating, the Raiders broke the ball game open in the second quarter and went on to capitalize on Houston mistakes.

Houston's powerful ground game which had averaged over 150-yards a game during the regular season, could never get untracked and was limited to only 38 yards in 22 rushes.

Oakland on the other hand rushed for 263 yards with Dixon picking up 144 and Pete Banaszak adding 116. Lamonica passed for two touchdowns and former Oiler George Blanda booted four field goals.

Houston's only score came in the final quarter on a five-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Charles Frazier. But it was still a great season for Coach Wally Lemm's youthful Oilers, who became the first team in pro football history to go from last place to first place in one season.
