MLS AGAINST INTERNATIONAL CLUBS

Following back-to-back MLS All-Star wins over the LIGA MX All-Star team in 2021 and 2022, the 2023 MLS All-Star Game marks the 17th time MLS welcomes an elite international club for the midsummer showcase. The MLS All-Stars have previously faced clubs from the English Premier League, as well as clubs from Italy's Serie A, Germany's Bundesliga, Spain's La Liga, the Scottish Premiership, and Mexico's LIGA MX. The MLS All-Stars' most recent wins over European opponents came against Premier League giants Tottenham Hotspur (2015) and 32-time Bundesliga champions Bayern Munich (2014), with MLS greats Kaká and Landon Donovan earning MVP honors in those wins, respectively.

THE REFEREES

Ted Unkel will referee his first All-Star game when MLS All-Stars take on Arsenal at Audi Field on July 19. He will be joined in the capital by assistant referees Ian McKay and Jeffrey Greeson, with Rubiel Vazquez named as the fourth official. Geoff Gamble and TJ Zablocki will provide support from the Video Operations Room, and Lyes Arfa has been selected as the reserve assistant referee.

Unkel made his MLS debut in June 2013 and has now officiated more than 160 regular-season games. He retired from the FIFA international panel at the end of 2021, and last year saw him take charge of 23 MLS regular-season games, the second-best tally of his career so far.

While this is his first major assignment in MLS, he has plenty of experience with showpiece games having refereed the 2014 NASL Soccer Bowl and then the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup Final a year later. In 2017, he was invited to China, where he took charge of the second leg of the Chinese FA Cup Final, and in 2021, he refereed the MLS Eastern Conference Final.

Ian McKay, the 2019 USL Assistant Referee of the Year, is approaching 100 MLS regular-season games and was AR for the USL Championship Final last year. Greeson steps up after being the reserve assistant referee for both MLS All-Star and MLS Cup in 2022, and FIFA official Arfa will provide support as the reserve assistant referee.

While this will be Vazquez's first MLS All-Star appearance, he was fourth official for the 2019 MLS Cup and refereed the 2021 USL Championship Final. Gamble has been named as VAR and Zablocki as AVAR, having worked a combined total of 38 MLS games from the booth already this season.

This will be the second time Arsenal have featured in this game having beaten MLS All-Stars 2-1 in 2016, and the first time the All-Stars have played foreign opposition in Washington, D.C. The RFK Stadium previously hosted All-Star games against USMNT in 2002 and the last meeting between East and West in 2004.

RULES OF COMPETITION

All players in the squad for both teams are eligible to play. At the end of 90 minutes, if the teams are tied, no extra time will be played and the game will be decided by kicks from the penalty mark.

MLS ALL-STAR TEAM SELECTION

The 2023 MLS All-Star team was selected through a combination of a vote of MLS players, fans, and media, selection by MLS All-Star head coach Wayne Rooney (D.C. United) and by MLS Commissioner Don Garber. A total of 28 players were named MLS All-Stars.

Players were selected in seven specific positions: goalkeeper, right back, center back, left back, defensive midfielder, attacking midfielder, and forward/winger. MLS reviewed performance metrics from the current 2023 season to categorize players in the positions where they are most utilized.

The breakdown of the MLS All-Stars selected was:

- 12 were determined by a vote of MLS players, fans, and media. Each of the three voting groups will represent one-third of the combined vote.
- 14 were selected by MLS All-Star head coach Wayne Rooney of host team, D.C. United
- Two were selected by MLS Commissioner Don Garber.

Players, fans and reporters cast their votes for 11 players: one goalkeeper, one right back, two center backs, one left back, one defensive midfielder, two attacking midfielders and three forwards/wingers. The top players in each position from the combined vote were named All Stars. The 12th player honored was the one with the next-highest total number of votes overall. To qualify for the ballot, players must have appeared in at least 50 percent of matches this season at the time the ballot was created on May 18. Players who did not qualify for the ballot were eligible for selection by Rooney or Commissioner Garber.

WAYNE ROONEY AT THE HELM OF MLS ALL-STAR TEAM

The MLS All Stars will be coached D.C. United head coach Adrian Heath, who will be joined by his technical staff as assistant coaches. In his second year as head coach, Rooney, who twice played in the MLS All-Star Game, will be coaching his first MLS All-Star team.

Rooney officially arrived as D.C. United's head coach on July 12, 2022, after a season as the manager of Derby County. He was appointed as the full-time manager of Derby County in January 2021 following a successful stint as interim player-manager, where he navigated the club from the bottom of the English Championship table to safety, avoiding relegation by three points. Prior to his first full season in charge of Derby County, the club were given a 21-point deduction by the Football Association for admitting to breaches of Profitability and Sustainability. Despite this disadvantage, Rooney guided the club to a record of 14-13-19, totaling 55 points, which would have been enough to secure safety in the Championship for another season if not for the point reduction.

As a professional, Rooney's playing career began in the English Premier League on August 17, 2002 when he made his senior debut for Everton FC and assisted a goal helping the Toffees to a 2-2 draw against Tottenham Hotspur. After two seasons with Everton and at just 18 years old, Rooney joined Manchester United in a record transfer deal ($35 million) where he played 13 seasons and scored 208 Premier League goals in 491 appearances, which is second best all-time, only behind Alan Shearer (260). During his time in Manchester, Rooney captured 16 major trophies, including five Premier League titles, the UEFA Champions League in 2008, and the FA Cup in 2006. On the international stage, Rooney holds the record for the most-capped field player in England history (120) and is also the all-time leader in goals for The Three Lions (53). He appeared in three World Cups (2006, 2010, and 2014), as well as three UEFA European Championships (2004, 2012, and 2016), and captained his country 24 times across all competitions.

Rooney joined D.C. United in June 2018 as a Designated Player. During his time with the Black-and-Red, Rooney appeared in 48 matches, scored 23 goals and assisted 15 others. He was voted MLS Best XI in 2018, an All-Star in 2019, and was an MLS MVP finalist in 2018. Rooney also played against the MLS All-Stars while with Manchester United in the 2011 MLS All-Star Game at Red Bull Arena.
