LAST GAME (7/21/23)

TROY, NY - The Tri-City ValleyCats (35-23) won the series opener 5-2 over the New York Boulders (33-23) on Friday at Joseph L. Bruno Stadium.

Pavin Parks greeted July Sosa with a single in the first. Cito Culver cranked a two-run tater of the year to provide the ValleyCats with a 2-0 lead.

New York cut the deficit in half in the second. Matt McDermott hit a solo homer off Jhon Vargas to make it a 2-1 game.

Tri-City extended its lead back to two runs in the bottom of the third. Culver singled, and went to second on a groundout from Jakob Goldfarb. Oscar Campos then laced an RBI double to put the ValleyCats on top, 3-1.

Culver collected his third two-homer game of the year with a roundtripper in the fifth to pull the Cats ahead, 4-1. It was his ninth long ball of the season.

The Boulders trimmed the deficit to two in the sixth. Tucker Nathans walked. Pat Kivlehan singled Nathans to third. Thomas Walraven picked up a RBI single to make it a 4-2 affair.

Tri-City delivered an insurance run in the seventh. Culver and Goldfarb both worked one-out walks off Ryder Yake. Culver swiped third, and Campos lifted a sac fly to give the ValleyCats a 5-2 lead.

Vargas (5-4) hurled six frames in his Tri-City debut, yielding two runs on four hits, walking two, and striking out a ValleyCats season-high 10 batters.

Sosa (4-2) went five innings, allowing four runs on seven hits, walking two, and striking out three.

Blake Workman bridged the gap to Coleman Huntley with two perfect frames. Huntley recorded his second save of the year after tossing a scoreless ninth, giving up a hit, walking none, and striking out one.

HEAD TO HEAD: Tri-City goes for its 11th straight series victory at home in 2023, and take its lone series at "The Joe" facing New York.

CUP O' JOE: RHP Shawn Dubin made his MLB debut for the Houston Astros against the New York Mets at Citi Field on June 19. He made a spot start and lasted three innings for the Astros. Dubin was selected by Houston in 13th round of the 2018 Draft out of Georgetown College and signed for $1,000. He made his professional debut for the ValleyCats in 2018. Dubin is a New York native that is from Allegany and he also played college ball at SUNY Buffalo.

THESE CATS ARE PRETTY GOOD: Jeremy Pena ('18) went 2-for-4 with two runs scored in the Houston Astros 6-4 victory over the Oakland Athletics last night at Oakland Coliseum.

COACHES SECTION

PETE INCAVIGLIA, FIELD MANAGER

Pete Incaviglia, a native of Argyle, Texas (a half hour north of Fort Worth) returns to lead the ValleyCats for his third season. As the skipper of the 'Cats over the last two seasons, Incaviglia has amassed a 102-86 record. In his second season at the helm of the ValleyCats, Incaviglia became the third manager in team history to eclipse the 100-win mark, joining Ed Romero and Gregg Langbehn. The infamous power hitter who was named the NCAA Player of the Century with a .464 batting average, 48 HR, and 143 RBI in 78 games with Oklahoma State during the 1985 season and mashed 100 homers in 213 collegiate games. His 100 career homers at the college level, as well as his HR, RBI, 285 total bases, and 1.140 SLG are all NCAA records from that 1985 season. He coached Tri-City hitters to a Frontier League-leading 162 home runs, and a .288 team batting average, the third best in the league in 2022. Before his coaching career, he played for the Rangers, Tigers, Astros, Phillies, Orioles, and Yankees over a 12-year MLB career spanning from 1986-1998. Overall, he batted .246 and mashed 206 homers in the big leagues while racking up 655 RBIs in nearly 1,300 games played. Incaviglia was selected by the Expos in the 1985 draft and asked to go straight to the Majors. The Expos did not want this, so was traded to the Rangers, and began his professional career in the Majors during the 1986 season. For about 30 years there was the Pete Incaviglia rule where teams could not trade a drafted player unless he's been on the team for one calendar year. This rule lasted until 2015 and from then on drafted players can be traded the day after the conclusion of the World Series... per a 1986 article by The Sun Sentinel written by Andy Cohen, he impressed the Rangers after smoking a ball to the outfield on a day with 20 mph wind through the left field wall with an inch thick of plywood. At Oklahoma State, pitchers were afraid of him since he cranked a ball through the screen. He also played the 1995 season with the Chiba Nippon Ham Fighters of the NPB (Japan's baseball league)... per a Ken Rosenthal article in 1997 with The Baltimore Sun, his legacy had humble beginnings, and battled asthma as a kid where he would need to go to the hospital and get a shot of adrenalin after playing sports. However, weight lifting at the age of 10 helped improve his stamina during an era where pumping iron was frowned upon. He would have 3 a.m. emergency room visits at the hospital and an allergic reaction to fish at age four nearly killed him... he has over 35 years of professional baseball experience, Pete Incaviglia enters his third season at the helm of the Tri-City ValleyCats. Since 2001, Incaviglia has held a variety of coaching and managing positions within professional baseball. This includes championships as a Field Manager in the Atlantic League (2018) and American Association (2015, 2011). His coaching experience also includes time as the hitting coach for the Erie SeaWolves (the Detroit Tigers Double-A affiliate) from 2004-2006. Incaviglia's most recent tenure was with the Sugar Land Skeeters, formerly of the Atlantic League. After serving as the team's Field Manager since November of 2017, he became the Director of Baseball Operations for the Constellation League in Sugar Land, Texas... famous managers such as Johnny Podres, Jim Leyland, and HOF Sparky Anderson believed in Incaviglia's managerial capability... in a 2018 interview with SportsRadio 98.9 FM, Incaviglia Compares American Association to Double-A, and the Atlantic League to Triple-A. Was on the 1993 Phillies, knew the team was special in Spring Training, lot of blue collar men with a lot to prove. Lots of loose cannons led by Darren Daulton, Larry Bowl, John Vukovich, and Jim Fregosi that had a loose clubhouse. Had the Phils won game six, Incaviglia believes they would have won the championship. Had more memories of his time with the Phillies, than with any other team in his career. When Incaviglia was traded to the 1996 Orioles because Fregosi wanted to give him a chance on another contender and do right by him... On the Z104.5 podcast in 2007, Incaviglia talked about how OSU and his coach, Gary Ward, gave him the recipe for success to excel at the Major League level. Ward was adamant about the art of a baseball swing, taught hitters how to have a plan before they need an at bat, nobody was going to out prepare or outperform Ward during the game. Him and Coach Ward speak often. Wore OSU shirts all throughout his MLB career. Thought about being a coach at OSU in the past... born on 4/2/1964 (59).

BROOKS CAREY, PITCHING COACH

Brooks Carey joins the ValleyCats after spending the past 4 seasons as the New Jersey Jackals Field Manager. Over the course of his time at the helm of the Jackals, Carey captured a 2019 Can-Am League championship, and became the franchise's second-winningest manager of all-time, with 182 wins. Prior to joining the Jackals, Carey was the skipper of the Normal CornBelts, a former member of the Frontier League, from 2013-17. Carey led the franchise to their first-ever winning season, and in amassed a record of 248-230. Prior to his time as a manager, Carey served as the Pitching Coach for the Sussex Skyhawks (2008 & 2009), the Normal CornBelts (2010 & 2011), and the Evansville Otters (2012). Before pursuing coaching in the world of professional baseball, Carey led Key West High School, his alma mater, to a 1998 Florida state title. Carey, a starting pitcher drafted by the Baltimore Orioles in the 10th round of the 1978 MLB Draft out of Florida State University, reached Triple-A in both the Baltimore Orioles and Cincinnati Reds organizations. Over the course of his five-year professional playing career, Carey tallied a 3.75 ERA in 683.2 innings pitched... born on 3/8/55 (67)

THOMAS INCAVIGLIA, THIRD BASE AND BENCH COACH

The nephew of manager Pete Incaviglia, Thomas Incaviglia enters his third season as the Third Base and Bench Coach for the Tri-City ValleyCats. Incaviglia played professionally for the Grand Prairie AirHogs of the American Association from 2009-10, and played collegiately at Oklahoma State, Texas, and Cal State Monterey Bay, winning a NCAA Division I National Championship with the Longhorns. His father, Tony played alongside Ozzie Smith in college Cal Poly. Thomas has spent the offseason gaining managerial experience in the California Winter League, the Official Winter League of the Frontier League... From a 2004 article written by John Hersey in the Oklahoman. Thomas ran around the Rangers locker room, had a catch with Lenny Dykstra before the game once. He wanted to go wherever his uncle went which is one of the reasons why he played at Oklahoma State University. He doesn't shy away from having the same namesake and thinks it's pretty fun to be related to his uncle. Pete gave Thomas advice and believed in him when he was nearly redshirted as a freshman at OSU... born on 9/5/84 (38).

 6/15 1 G (0 GS), ND, 2.1 IP, 2 H, 1 R, 1 ER, 2 BB, 2 K vs. Quebec Capitales

NOTES:

Dietz received more reps as a starter towards the end of his tenure in Joliet, and was handed the ball to open the game in three of his last four outings with the Slammers. Dietz had a brief two game stint with Florence last season...played five years at Chestnut Hill College from 2018-2022 out in Philadelphia. He was a two-way player in his last four years; the Griffins are a DII program in the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference...

2022 HIGHLIGHTS:

- Made his professional debut against his future team in Joliet on August 31. Tossed four innings in relief for the win.
- Followed up on his last performance with a scoreless inning in relief gainst the Evansville on the last day of the season.

CAREER NOTES:

2023: Dietz was traded alongside left-handed reliever Caden O'Brien to the ValleyCats in exchange for Zach Biermann on July 16, the latter of whom was in his third stint with Tri-City after playing in New York's Capital Region in 2019 and 2021. Biermann was traded to Evansville in 2022 where he was an All-Star. Despite not making the All-Star team this year, Biermann was the everyday first baseman that slashed .258/.355/.429 with 8 HR, and 39 RBI in 51 games. The plan of this trade was for the ValleyCats to receive some fresh arms, and to trade from area of strength: the offense. Tri-City will have to make decisions about some of its starters, as Dietz is one of six starters that the ValleyCats currently have at their disposal; in the meantime Dietz is a great swingman option. Stats with Joliet: 10 G (3 GS), 2-1, 38.0 IP, 2.37 ERA, 1 SV, 22 K/19 BB, 1.11 WHIP.

2022: Stats with the Florence Y'all: 2 G (0 GS), 1-0, 5.0 IP, 4 ER, 2 K/1 BB

2018-2022 (before pro ball): Dietz had a terrific 2022 campaign at Chestnut Hill, hurling a conference-high five games...was a two-way player on the Richmond Jazz in the Great Lakes Summer Collegiate League in Richmond, Indiana.

Altherr was a six-year Major Leaguer, he played with Philadelphia from 2014-2018, and split the 2019 season between the Phillies, San Francisco Giants, and the New York Mets. He was drafted by the Phillies in the ninth round (287th pick overall) of the 2009 draft out of Agua Fria High School (the same high school that football Hall of Famer Randall McDaniel went to) in Avondale, Arizona for $150,000. Altherr received a scholarship to play baseball at Arizona State and even had some offers to play basketball elsewhere at the D1 level. A couple career highlights include hitting an inside-the-park grand slam against the Rays in his rookie season in 2013, which is the first time a Major Leaguer accomplished that feat since October 3, 1999 by Randy Winn for the then-Tampa Bay Devil Rays. Altherr is the only player to hit a grand slam off Clayton Kershaw. The latter came on September 18, 2017. Incidentally, 2017 was Altherr's best year and slashed .272/.340/.516/.856, setting career-highs in games (107), homers (19), and RBI (65). He was pushed for playing time with Nick Williams in 2018 after Rhys Hoskins was sent to the outfield following the signing of Carlos Santana in 2018. Then, in 2019 the Phillies signed Andrew McCutchen and Bryce Harper, and Altherr was later DFA'd by Philadelphia the same year. He only had one at bat with the Giants, who held on to him for a week and the Mets, who barely started him in 2019. He was later DFA'd by both of those teams...career MLB stats: 359 G, .219/.307/.401/.708, 37 HR, 150 RBI, 110/332 K, 21/31 SB...Altherr played in the Korean Baseball Organization in 2020 and 2021 with the NC Dinos, winning the 2020 KBO championship and taking home more than $2.3 million according to MLB Trade Rumors... KBO stats: 279 G, .275/.355/.528/.882, 63 HR, 192 RBI, 42/50 SB, 103 BB/305 K. Per a May 2023 Times Union article from Mark Singelais, Altherr was able to enjoy his time with his wife Samantha and their newborn child, Isaiah, born in April 2022, in their home in Scottsdale, Arizona. Altherr wanted to play last year, but didn't find the right place to play. He wants to play again in affiliated ball, so that's why he didn't return to South Korea for a third year. Altherr played for the German national baseball team last year and in 2012 during the WBC Qualifiers. Germany's team fell to the Canada in this year's WBCQ...Altherr was born in Landstuhl, Germany on January 14, 1991 (32) and spent his first six months of his life living in Germany before spending most of his childhood moving frequently, but spending the majority of his time in Kansas and Arizona...His mother, Michelle, is from Baltimore, and was stationed as a member of the United States Air Force, while his father, Frank, was a former professional soccer player for FC Kaiserslautern in Germany...he played against Cito Culver when he was coming up through the Minors.

Bagnieski was selected 12th overall in this year's Frontier League draft...he played with the Lake Country DockHounds in the American Association last season. The DockHounds were originally supposed to join the Northwoods League in 2021, but COVID-19 halted their construction of a new stadium, so they pivoted and joined the AA. Lake Country's management is run by the likes of Tom Kelenic (Jared Kelenic's father), and Sonny Bando (Sal Bando's son. Sal was a 4x All-Star and 3x World Series champion for the Kansas City/Oakland A's, and also played on the Milwaukee Brewers)...2022 stats: 9 G, .421 (8/19), 1 XBH (1 3B), 3 RBI, 8 R, 7 BB/7 K, 2/3 SB...teammates with Lamar Briggs, and Francisco Jimenez — both of whom have been on the ValleyCats 2023 roster...Bagnieski was with the Birmingham-Bloomfield Beavers in the United Shore Professional Baseball League in 2021. The Beavers are located in Utica, Michigan, and were founded by New York settlers from Utica, NY, who decided to name their founding of the city after their homet. 2021 stats: 24 G, .346/.480/.474/.954, 7 XBH (1 HR), 9 RBI, 18 R, 19 BB/12 K, 10/12 SB. He was described by DockHounds manager Jim Bennett as being a sparkplug at the top of the lineup for the Beavers." Bagnieski played at Radford University in 2021; the Highlanders play in the D1 Big South Conference. He was at Florida Southwestern State College (JUOCO program located in Fort Myers) from 2019-2020; the Buccaneers are in the Suncoast Conference. Bagnieski spent a year redshirting at State College of Florida, Manatee-Sarasota (another JUOCO program) in 2018; the Manatees are a D1 JUOCO program in the Florida College System Activities Association...he originally committed to Chicago State University for the 2019 season, but did not play for them. The CSU baseball program was shutdown for good in June 2020, and was announced first on Twitter after a month of protests from the baseball team. According to Baseball America, CSU baseball team was replaced with men's soccer to "...help the department cut costs and improve its competitiveness...from Green Bay, Wisconsin, and was born on 1/31/1997 (26).

Culver signed a contract extension with the ValleyCats on 2/28/23...2022 stats with Tri-City: 37 G, .329/.413/.557/.970, 6 HR, 18 RBI, 30 R, 22 BB/30 K, 3/5 SB. 2022 stats between Sussex County and Tri-City: 87 G, .262/.376/.424/.800, 8 HR, 36 RBI, 56 BB/69 K, 59 R, 3/5 SB...Nine-year MiLB stats: 902 G, .231/.304/.328/.632, 43 HR, 329 RBI, 347 BB/897 K, 75/107 SB...Career Indy ball stats: 302 G, .268/.362/.398/.760, 18 HR, 141 RBI, 160 R, 152 BB/243 K, 15/24 SB...Culver, a native of Rochester, NY, joined the ValleyCats on 7/17/22 after being claimed off of waivers from the Sussex County Miners, where he had a .196 batting average with 10 XBH (2 HR), and a .638 OPS in 50 games. Following the pick-up, he hit .329 with 22 XBH (6 HR), and a .970 OPS in 37 games...earned the Can-Am League's Defensive Player of the Year award in 2019 between the then-Rockland Boulders and the Miners. Besides his time with the Miners from 2019-2022, he was with the Fargo-Moorhead RedHawks in the American Association in 2020...Culver brought a veteran plate approach and presence to a young ValleyCats lineup, and immediately succeeded out of the leadoff spot for the 'Cats. His stellar approach, team-first mentality, and gold glove-caliber defense were all major factors in the team's second-half success, falling just short of a postseason appearance. ValleyCats Vice President and General Manager Matt Callahan said of Culver, "Cito will be a key leader for our ballclub as we pursue a Frontier League Championship this season." In 2010, Culver was drafted in the first round (32nd overall) out of Irondequoit High School by the New York Yankees in the MLB Draft and signed for $954,000. Culver spent 8 seasons in the Yankees organization, including two in the New York-Penn League with the Staten Island Yankees. During his time in pinstripes, Culver reached as high as Triple-A Scranton Wilkes-Barre before his release at the end of the 2017 season. Culver spent the 2018 season with the New Orleans Baby Cakes, the former Triple-A affiliate of the Miami Marlins, before embarking into the realm of independent professional baseball in 2019 with the Miners and the Boulders...per an article from the County Miners, in affiliated ball, he was asked only to hit right-handed and kept it that way until 2019 when he had a dry spell at the plate. Bobby Jones asked him to try hitting from the left side and he went 1-for-4, the next day he went 3-for-4 with a triple. In an article last year written by Mark Singelais in the Times-Union newspaper, Culver was once viewed as Jeter's replacement and grew up a Jeter fan too...He went to Irondequoit High School... Craig Jones, the Irondequoit High School Assistant coach for Culver during high school and in seventh grade said that Culver's athletic ability, speed, and overall, general understanding of the game stood out to him. Culver did his best to lead by example, use his ability and knowledge of the game and teach that to others and point. Jones remarked that Culver had to be very selective getting good pitches because pitchers and coaches less likely to pitch to him. He also used him as the closer. Eventually, Culver made three pitching appearances in pro ball and while trying to make a comeback to the Minor Leagues the Yankees gave him a tryout as a pitcher, but he didn't make it since he could not touch 90 on the mound. He was happy and thought it was surreal to see Culver get drafted, go as the first pick for the Yankees...Irondequoit High School Baseball Coach Tim Mabbs, who spent 33 years in the district as a coach, said that he brought Culver out from eighth grade year to the varsity level. He started on the varsity team in eighth grade, had a solid year, and held his own. Culver had to pass a NY State test to join varsity, and he was able to. This was a physical test that had a shuttle run, number of pull ups, setups, run a mile in a certain amount of time, and run a physical exam with a doctor. By ninth grade, he was a captain and coach on the field. Culver's work ethic, and determination stood out to him. During the summers, Culver and his family would travel down south and play for these high power teams, compete with kids 3-4 years older than him. This took his skillset to the next level. For the most part, Culver and his family went in a travel trailer and went from tournament to tournament mostly in Florida and Georgia. Scouts often wanted Culver to hit after his high school games and up to 22 MLB teams watch him hit. Sometimes it was a distraction, game ends, and then you have to take BP after the game ends. During the 2011 draft, Mabbs thought he was getting in the 3rd or 4th round and turned off the TV. The Yankees were the frontrunners, had the most contact with them, but the Reds were talking to him too. Mabbs also mentioned that Culver had a full ride to Maryland, and made the tough choice to go the professional route right away and begin playing rookie ball as a 17-year old. He still keeps in touch with Mabbs, who traveled to see him play in the Batavia about 25-30 miles away from Rochester along with Kim Bartella, his former math teacher and someone that was like a second mother to him. Culver gives back to his former high school and throughout his career has gone back to Irondequoit for Saturday morning practices to hit and help out the baseball players...A couple of other players from Irondequoit high school played professionally; Matthew Tone, LHP, 2009-2011 in the Minors drafted by the Twins in 14th round and reached High-A Fort Myers also played with Culver. Mike Zaccardo reached Low-A Williamsport in the Phillies organization in 2008...Culver will be trying out with Baseball United in Dubai in November. This program has Hall of Famers Mariano Rivera and Barry Larkin in its front office along with Adrian Beltre and Felix Hernandez. Baseball United will be having its first season next year. They are recruiting professional baseball players around the world to join the first professional baseball organization in the Middle East and Indian Subcontinent. This area is home to Bat and Ball sports, and has tens of millions of baseball fans. If Culver performs well in the Dubai Showcase he could get drafted into this league...born on 8/26/1992 (30).

Goldfarb will be in his second stint with the ValleyCats after playing one game on 6/14/22, going 1-for-3 with a sac fly and throwing out a runner at third. His short tenure with the 'Cats was because he signed a minor league deal with Pittsburgh. According to Times Union writer Mark Singelais, he had connections on last year's team as he went to high school with 2B Brantley Bell, played in Ogden with Pavin Parks, and played at the University of Oregon with Brac Warren; Ducks are in the PAC-12 Conference and Goldfarb holds the program record with 14 outfield assists. He was originally drafted by the White Sox in 2019 in the 24th round (710th pick overall) for $2,500. He was only in the White Sox organization for the 2019 season, spending time with both rookie ball affiliates before his release on 5/21/20. Goldfarb went hitless in a four-game stint with the Chicago Deep Dish, a team in the City of the Champions Cup, which was an indy ball league in Joliet, Illinois that only existed in 2020. Goldfarb tore up the PBL with the Ogden Raptors in 2021, leading the league in runs and steals...2021 stats: 88 G, .342/.461/.661/1.122, 24 HR, 90 RBI, 116 R, 30 2B, 5 3B, 50 BB/78 K, 45/53 SB. He parlayed his impressive season into a minor league contract with the Pirates in 2022, reaching Single-A for the first time, and heading right to Bradenton. After being released by the Pirates on 6/7/22, he signed a minor league deal with the Diamondbacks on 6/16/22, and spent the next two months in rookie ball before his release...career MiLB stats: 61 G, .225/.395/.326/.711, 4 HR, 27 RBI, 32 BB/64 K, 10/13 SB...Goldfarb played in three games in this year's WBC and went 1-for-4 with an RBI and a walk, all of which came against Venezuela. It was the only run Israel would score in that game...went to Desert Mountain High School, which is where 10-year MLB veteran (2010-19) Peter Bourjos (pronounced Borjiss) went to his freshman year...from Scottsdale, Arizona and was born on 6/23/96 (26)...Goldfarb started looking into studying law in 2020 during the pandemic. Him and his fiancé are studying law at the University of Washington in Seattle. For Goldfarb, he is studying remotely. Goldfarb not sure what type of law he wants to get into but he's interested in Anti-Trust law, and injury personal. He will be taking the BAR in February. The ValleyCats have been very accommodating with his studies. During the road trip to Washington Wild Things near Pittsburgh, Goldfarb had his own room to take his finals.

Terrific story by Mark Singlelakis of Albany Times Union on John Mead...Mark Mason informed him he would be released from the Greys to add more pitching, despite hitting .264 with six homers. Mead went to say goodbye to Marshall, whom he played travel ball with at 14-years old. He asked Marshall if he could speak to the ValleyCats manager Pete Incaviglia. Mead said to Pete that there are only two outfielders on the team, and if there was a spot on the club. Pete called Mason and said he would like to acquire Mead to complete a previous trade. Mead gave Pete a hug, and his locker is next to Marshall. Used to traveling around as he was with four colleges. With the Greys, the travel was hard, and after his release, he thought back to how in the offseason he worked for AT&T to help people switch carriers which he was not a fan off. His parents named him Pavin after seeing the golfer walk into a restaurant they were at in Akron, Ohio. Singelais wrote that Parks was dealt to Tri-City because shortstop Ogden manager Kash Beauchamp had another shortstop he liked on the team. Furthermore, the Pete Incaviglia had a hand in his recruitment as he is good friends with Beauchamp and personally reached out to Parks in February 2022 about joining the Frontier League. Parks has enjoyed both indy ball leagues, but claimed the FL to be a slightly higher league with a higher level of play. Since Parks has performed in the FL, and could return to affiliated ball one day, he was one of reasons why Cito Culver was picked up on waivers from the Sussex County Miners in 2022, so that the ValleyCats can add to their infield depth...Parks was a three-sport star in basketball, football, and baseball at Manchester High School...born in Akron, OH on 12/24/1996 (26).

Dietz was traded alongside left-handed reliever Caden O'Brien to the ValleyCats in exchange for Zach Biermann on July 16, the latter of whom was in his third stint with Tri-City after playing in New York's Capital Region in 2019 and 2021. Biermann was traded to Evansville in 2022 where he was an All-Star. Despite not making the All-Star team this year, Biermann was the everyday first baseman that slashed .258/.355/.429 with 8 HR, and 39 RBI in 51 games. The plan of this trade was for the ValleyCats to receive some fresh arms, and to trade from area of strength: the offense. Tri-City will have to make decisions about some of its starters, as Dietz is one of six starters that the ValleyCats currently have at their disposal; in the meantime Dietz is a great swingman option...stats with Joliet: 10 G (3 GS), 2-1, 38.0 IP, 2.37 ERA, 1 SV, 22 K/19 BB, 1.11 WHIP...stats with the Florence Y'alls, in 2022, Dietz's first professional season: 2 G (0 GS), 1-0, 5.0 IP, 4 ER, 2 K/1 BB...played five years at Chestnut Hill College from 2018-2022 out in Philadelphia. Jimenez was a member of the ValleyCats pitching staff in 2021 during their inaugural season in the FL. Jimenez was one of three ValleyCats pitchers to combine to no-hit the Sussex County Miners on June 22, 2021 at "The Joe". The right-hander flawlessly bridged the gap between starter Parker Kelly and closer Trey Cochran-Gill, retiring all six batters he faced, including setting down 4 consecutive batters on strikes. The historic occasion was the third no-hitter in the franchise's history, and the first home no-hitter for the ValleyCats.
