LAST GAME (5/18/23)

Augusta, NJ - The Tri-City ValleyCats concluded their three game road trip with a 9-2 loss to the Sussex County Miners on Thursday at Skylands Stadium. The Miners struck first. Edwin Mateo greeted Dwayne Marshall with a leadoff knock. Mateo stole second, and came around on a Gavin Stupienski single to pull Sussex County ahead, 1-0. The Cats evened up the game in the fourth. Zach Biermann launched an opposite field homer, his first of the season, off Alex Hart to get Tri-City on the board.

Marshall was asked to come out in the sixth inning after throwing nearly 100 pitches through the first five frames. He allowed a solo homer to Juan Santana to give the Miners a 2-1 lead, but set down the last two hitters to work his way out of the inning. Marshall had a runner in scoring position in three different innings, and also set down 11 in a row. The ace of the staff tossed six innings, giving up two runs on six hits, walking two, and striking out six across 115 pitches in a no-decision effort. Hart went toe-to-toe with Marshall in a pitching duel. The southpaw picked up a no-decision, hurling six innings, yielding one run on four hits, walking one, and striking out seven. Biermann continued his hot hitting in the seventh. He lifted a solo shot that just sneaked its way over the right field fence off of Billy Parsons to tie the ballgame, 2-2.

For the second straight night, the Miners took advantage of the free passes from the ValleyCats bullpen. Brac Warren issued a leadoff walk to Mateo, who stole second and advanced to third on an error from Cito Culver. Will Zimmerman ripped an RBI triple to retake the lead. Jason Agresti walked, and Jawaun Harris then singled in a run. Jackson Valera reached on a fielder's choice, and everybody was safe as Pavin Parks had a throwing error that took Trey Hair off the bag at second. With the bases loaded, Santana brought in Agresti on a sac fly. Harris and Valera advanced to second and third, respectively, on a pitch in the dirt before Jakob Goldfarb threw the ball away, allowing Harris to score, and provide Sussex County with a 6-2 advantage.

Michael Losak began the eighth inning, and was unable to record an out. Willie Escala hit a single as Mateo and Zimmerman worked back-to-back walks to load the bases. Stupienski singled in Zimmerman, and Losak walked Agresti who scored Mateo. Harris followed suit with an RBI single to knock Losak out of the game and pull Sussex County ahead, 9-2. Parks, who has pitched professionally for the Detroit Tigers rookie ball affiliate, and with the Ogden Raptors in the Pioneer Baseball League, entered in place of Losak, stranding the bases loaded, and struck out two batters.

Parsons (1-0) earned the win. He went three innings, giving up one run on two hits, walking none and striking out one. Warren (0-1) received the loss. He pitched an inning, yielding four runs (two earned) on two hits, walking two, and striking out two.

2023 SCHEDULE: Barring inclement weather, each series against an opposing team will be three games each and there will be a day off every Monday. The first three series consist of three-game homestands and three-game road trips. From May 23 to June 18, each homestand and road trip will be six games each. From June 20 to the end of the regular season on September 3, each homestand and road trip will be three games each with the exception of a six-game homestand from July 21-27 and from August 18-24. The lone six-game road trip after June 11 will be from August 4-10. The ValleyCats play nine games against each division rival this year. Besides Empire State, Tri-City will play the majority of the intra-divisional series at home against the Sussex County and Trois-Rivieres. Tri-City will play at least three games against each team in the West division. The only three games versus the Schaumburg, Joliet, and Florence this year will be play at "The Joe". The ValleyCats take on the Washington, Evansville, and Lake Erie in a six-game season series, with a three-game trip on the road, and another three games at home.

Troy Native to Pitch for the ValleyCats on May 19th

'Cats Sign Mets farmhand to One-Day Contract for LLS Event

Troy, NY - The Tri-City ValleyCats announced on Tuesday that they will sign Eric Beaulac to pitch an inning at Joseph L. Bruno Stadium against the Washington Wild Things on May 19. His appearance will help raise awareness and funds for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society.

Beaulac is originally from Troy, and is an alumnus of Troy High School. He was selected by the New York Mets in the ninth round of the 2008 MLB Amateur Draft out of Le Moyne College in Syracuse, New York. He played seven seasons in Minor League Baseball, and independent league baseball from 2008-2014. Beaulac was in the Mets organization from 2008-2011, and was in the Baltimore Orioles organization from 2012-2013. He accrued 30 days of Major League service time with the Orioles in 2012 and was on their playoff roster as well as their 25-man roster. In 2014, Beaulac spent his lone year in indy ball with the New Jersey Jackals, and the Québec Capitales, both of whom are now rivals of the ValleyCats in the Frontier League. Across 387 professional innings, he compiled a 3.56 ERA along with 21 wins.

Beaulac is a candidate for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Visionary of the Year and will be partnering with the ValleyCats to support that mission at this game. Fundraiser tickets are available for a special pre-game event in the Picnic Pavilion at The Joe or in a selected Reserved Box section of seats. This event will also include concourse tables with information regarding LLS and first pitch opportunities to raise awareness. Tickets for the Picnic Pavilion are $30 with $10 from each ticket donated back to the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society. Click here for more information or to purchase. Reserved box tickets are $11 with $2 from each ticket donated back to the LLS campaign. Click here for more information or to purchase.

In addition to his work with LLS and his achievements on the diamond, Beaulac is also a founder of the Troy Baseball Expo, a nonprofit organization that provides free baseball instruction, academic advising, and workforce development programs for students. Away from the field, Beaulac works as a wealth advisor associate at Wilmington Trust. Altherr was a six-year Major Leaguer, he played with Philadelphia from 2014-2018, and split the 2019 season between the Phillies, San Francisco Giants, and the New York Mets. He was drafted by the Phillies in the ninth round (287th pick overall) of the 2009 draft out of Agua Fria High School (the same high school that football Hall of Famer Randall McDaniel went to) in Avondale, Arizona for $150,000. Altherr received a scholarship to play baseball at Arizona State and even had some offers to play basketball elsewhere at the D1 level. A couple career highlights include hitting an inside-the-park grand slam against the Rays in his rookie season in 2013, which is the first time a Major Leaguer accomplished that feat since October 3, 1999 by Randy Winn for the then-Tampa Bay Devil Rays. Altherr is the only player to hit a grand slam off Clayton Kershaw. The latter came on September 18, 2017. Incidentally, 2017 was Altherr's best year and slashed .272/.340/.516/.856, setting career-highs in games (107), homers (19), and RBI (65). He was pushed for playing time with Nick Williams in 2018 after Rhys Hoskins was sent to the outfield following the signing of Carlos Santana in 2018. Then, in 2019 the Phillies signed Andrew McCutchen and Bryce Harper, and Altherr was later DFA'd by Philadelphia the same year. He only had one at bat with the Giants, who held on to him for a week and the Mets, who barely started him in 2019. He was later DFA'd by both of those teams...career MLB stats: 359 G, .219/.307/.401/.708, 37 HR, 150 RBI, 110/332 K, 21/31 SB...Altherr played in the Korean Baseball Organization in 2020 and 2021 with the NC Dinos, winning the 2020 KBO championship and taking home more than $2.3 million according to MLB Trade Rumors...KBO stats: 279 G, .275/.355/.528/.882, 63 HR, 192 RBI, 42/50 SB, 103 BB/305 K. Per a May 2023 Times Union article from Mark Singelais, Altherr was able to enjoy his time with his wife Samantha and their newborn child, Isaiah, born in April 2022 in their home in Scottsdale, Arizona. Altherr wanted to play last year, but didn't find the right place to play. He wants to play again in affiliated ball, so that's why he didn't return to South Korea for a third year. Altherr played for the German national baseball team last year and in 2012 during the WBC Qualifiers. Germany's team fell to the Canada in this year's WBCQ...Altherr was born in Landstuhl, Germany on January 14, 1991 (32) and spent his first six months of his life living in Germany before spending most of his childhood moving frequently, but spending the majority of his time in Kansas and Arizona...His mother, Michelle, is from Baltimore, and was stationed as a member of the United States Air Force, while his father, Frank, was a former professional soccer player for FC Kaiserslautern in Germany...he played against Cito Culver when he was coming up through the Minors.

Following the pick-up, he hit .329 with 22 XBH (6 HR), and a .970 OPS in 37 games...Earned the Can-Am League's Defensive Player of the Year award in 2019. Culver brought a veteran plate approach and presence to a young ValleyCats lineup, and immediately succeeded out of the leadoff spot for the 'Cats. His stellar approach, team-first mentality, and gold glove-caliber defense were all major factors in the team's second-half success, falling just short of a postseason appearance. "We are excited to have Cito Culver returning to Tri-City for the 2023 season," said ValleyCats Vice President and General Manager Matt Callahan. "He is a consummate professional and strong veteran presence both on the field and in the clubhouse. Cito will be a key leader for our ballclub as we pursue a Frontier League Championship this season." In 2010, Culver was drafted in the first round (32nd overall) out of Irondequoit High School by the New York Yankees in the MLB Draft and signed for $954,000. Culver spent 8 seasons in the Yankees organization, including two in the New York-Penn League with the Staten Island Yankees. During his time in pinstripes, Culver reached as high as Triple-A Scranton Wilkes-Barre before his release at the end of the 2017 season. Culver spent the 2018 season with the New Orleans Baby Cakes, the former Triple-A affiliate of the Miami Marlins, before embarking into the realm of independent professional baseball in 2019...Per an article from the County Miners, in affiliated ball, he was asked only to hit right-handed and kept it that way until 2019 when he had a dry spell at the plate. Bobby Jones asked him to try hitting from the left side and he went 1-for-4, the next day he went 3-for-4 with a triple. In an article last year written by Mark Singelais in the Times-Union newspaper, Culver was once viewed as Jeter's replacement and grew up a Jeter fan too...He went to Irondequoit High School... Craig Jones, the Irondequoit High School Assistant coach for Culver during high school and in seventh grade said that Culver's athletic ability, speed, and overall, general understanding of the game stood out to him. Culver did his best to lead by example, use his ability and knowledge of the game and teach that to others and point. Jones remarked that Culver had to be very selective getting good pitches because pitchers and coaches less likely to pitch to him. He also used him as the closer. Eventually, Culver made three pitching appearances in pro ball and while trying to make a comeback to the Minor Leagues the Yankees gave him a tryout as a pitcher, but he didn't make it since he could not touch 90 on the mound. He was happy and thought it was surreal to see Culver get drafted, go as the first pick for the Yankees...Irondequoit High School Baseball Coach Tim Mabbs, who spent 33 years in the district as a coach, said that he brought Culver out from eighth grade year to the varsity level. He started on the varsity team in eighth grade, had a solid year, and held his own. Culver had to pass a NY State test to join varsity, and he was able to. This was a physical test that had a shuttle run, number of pull ups, setups, run a mile in a certain amount of time, and run a physical exam with a doctor. By ninth grade, he was a captain and coach on the field. Culver's work ethic, and determination stood out to him. During the summers, Culver and his family would travel down south and play for these high power teams, compete with kids 3-4 years older than him. This took his skillset to to the next level. For the most part, Culver and his family went in a travel trailer and went from tournament to tournament mostly in Florida and Georgia. Scouts often wanted Culver to hit after his high school games and up to 22 MLB teams watch him hit. Sometimes it was a distraction, game ends, and then you have to take BP after the game ends. During the 2011 draft, Mabbs thought he was getting in the 3rd or 4th round and turned off the TV. The Yankees were the frontrunners, had the most contact with them, but the Reds were talking to him too. Mabbs also mentioned that Culver had a full ride to Maryland, and made the tough choice to go the professional route right away and begin playing rookie ball as a 17-year old. In high school. He still keeps in touch with Mabbs, who traveled to see him play in the Batavia about 25-30 miles away from Rochester along with Kim Bartella, his former math teacher and someone that was like a second mother to him. Culver gives back to his former high school and throughout his career has gone back to Irondequoit for Saturday morning practices to hit and help out the baseball players...A couple of other players from Irondequoit high school played professionally; Matthew Tone, LHP, 2009-2011 in the Minors drafted by the Twins in 14th round and reached High-A Fort Myers also played with Culver. Mike Zaccardo reached Low-A Williamsport in the Phillies organization in 2008...Culver will be trying out with Baseball United in Dubai in November. This program has Hall of Famers Mariano Rivera and Barry Larkin in its front office along with Adrian Beltre and Felix Hernandez. Baseball United will be having its first season next year. They are recruiting professional baseball players around the world to join the first professional baseball organization in the Middle East and Indian Subcontinent. This area is home to Bat and Ball sports, and has tens of millions of baseball fans. If Culver performs well in the Dubai Showcase he could get drafted into this league...born on 8/26/1992 (30).

COACHES SECTION

PETE INCAVIGLIA, FIELD MANAGER

Pete Incaviglia, a native of Argyle, Texas (a half hour north of Fort Worth) returns to lead the ValleyCats for his third season. As the skipper of the 'Cats over the last two seasons, Incaviglia has amassed a 102-86 record. In his second season at the helm of the ValleyCats, Incaviglia became the third manager in team history to eclipse the 100-win mark, joining Ed Romero and Gregg Langbehn. The infamous power hitter who was named the NCAA Player of the Century with a .464 batting average, 48 HR, and 143 RBI in 78 games with Oklahoma State during the 1985 season and mashed 100 homers in 213 collegiate games. His 100 career homers at the college level, as well as his HR, RBI, 285 total bases, and 1.140 SLG are all NCAA records from that 1985 season. He coached Tri-City hitters to a Frontier League-leading 162 home runs, and a .288 team batting average, the third best in the league in 2022. Before his coaching career, he played for the Rangers, Tigers, Astros, Phillies, Orioles, and Yankees over a 12-year MLB career spanning from 1986-1998. Overall, he batted .246 and mashed 206 homers in the big leagues while racking up 655 RBIs in nearly 1,300 games played. Incaviglia was selected by the Expos in the 1985 draft and asked to go straight to the Majors. The Expos did not want this, so was traded to the Rangers, and began his professional career in the Majors during the 1986 season. For about 30 years there was the Pete Incaviglia rule where teams could not trade a drafted player unless he's been on the team for one calendar year. This rule lasted until 2015 and from then on drafted players can be traded the day after the conclusion of the World Series...per a 1986 article by The Sun Sentinel written by Andy Cohen, he impressed the Rangers after smoking a ball to the outfield on a day with 20 mph wind through the left field wall with an inch thick of plywood. At Oklahoma State, pitchers were afraid of him since he cranked a ball through the screen. He also played the 1995 season with the Chiba Notte Mariners of the NPB (Japan's baseball league)...per a Ken Rosenthal article in 1997 with The Baltimore Sun, his legacy had humble beginnings, and battled asthma as a kid where he would need to go to the hospital and get a shot of adrenalin after playing sports. However, weight lifting at the age of 10 helped improve his stamina during an era where pumping iron was frowned upon. He would have 3 a.m. emergency room visits at the hospital and an allergic reaction to fish at age four nearly killed him...he has over 35 years of professional baseball experience, Pete Incaviglia enters his third season at the helm of the Tri-City ValleyCats. Since 2001, Incaviglia has held a variety of coaching and managing positions within professional baseball. This includes championships as a Field Manager in the Atlantic League (2018) and American Association (2015, 2011). His coaching experience also includes time as the hitting coach for the Erie SeaWolves (the Detroit Tigers Double-A affiliate) from 2004-2006. Incaviglia's most recent tenure was with the Sugar Land Skeeters, formerly of the Atlantic League. After serving as the team's Field Manager since November of 2017, he became the Director of Baseball Operations for the Constellation League in Sugar Land, Texas...famous managers such as Johnny Podres, Jim Leyland, and HOF Sparky Anderson believed in Incaviglia's managerial capability...in a 2018 interview with SportsRadio 98.9 FM, Incaviglia Compares American Association to Double-A, and the Atlantic League to Triple-A. Was on the 1993 Phillies, knew the team was special in Spring Training, lot of blue collar men with a lot to prove. Lots of loose cannons led by Darren Daulton, Larry Bowl, John Vukovich, and Jim Fregosi that had a loose clubhouse. Had the Phils won game six, Incaviglia believes they would have won the championship. Had more memories of his time with the Phillies, than with any other team in his career. When Incaviglia was traded to the 1996 Orioles because Fregosi wanted to give him a chance on another contender and do right by him...On the Z104.5 podcast in 2007, Incaviglia talked about how OSU and his coach, Gary Ward, gave him the recipe for success to excel at the Major League level. Ward was adamant about the art of a baseball swing, taught hitters how to have a plan before they need an at bat, nobody was going to out prepare or outperform Ward during the game. Him and Coach Ward speak often. Wore OSU shirts all throughout his MLB career. Thought about being a coach at OSU in the past...born on 4/2/1964 (59).

BROOKS CAREY, PITCHING COACH

Brooks Carey joins the ValleyCats after spending the past 4 seasons as the New Jersey Jackals' Field Manager. Over the course of his time at the helm of the Jackals, Carey captured a 2019 Can-Am League championship, and became the franchise's second-winningest manager of all-time, with 182 wins. Prior to joining the Jackals, Carey was the skipper of the Normal CornBelters, a former member of the Frontier League, from 2013-17. Carey led the franchise to their first-ever winning season, and in amassed a record of 248-230. Prior to his time as a manager, Carey served as the Pitching Coach for the Sussex Skyhawks (2008 & 2009), the Normal CornBelters (2010 & 2011), and the Evansville Otters (2012). Before pursuing coaching in the world of professional baseball, Carey led Key West High School, his alma mater, to a 1998 Florida state title. Carey, a starting pitcher drafted by the Baltimore Orioles in the 10th round of the 1978 MLB Draft out of Florida State University, reached Triple-A in both the Baltimore Orioles and Cincinnati Reds organizations. Over the course of his five-year professional playing career, Carey tallied a 3.75 ERA in 683.2 innings pitched...born on 3/8/55 (67)

THOMAS INCAVIGLIA, THIRD BASE AND BENCH COACH

The nephew of manager Pete Incaviglia, Thomas Incaviglia enters his third season as the Third Base and Bench Coach for the Tri-City ValleyCats. Incaviglia played professionally for the Grand Prairie AirHogs of the American Association for two seasons, and played collegiately at Oklahoma State, Texas, and Cal State Monterey Bay, winning an NCAA Division I National Championship with the Longhorns. His father, Tony played alongside Ozzie Smith in college Cal Poly. Thomas has spent the offseason gaining managerial experience in the California Winter League, the Official Winter League of the Frontier League...From a 2004 article written by John Hersey in the Oklahoman. Thomas ran around the Rangers locker room, had a catch with Lenny Dykstra before the game once. He wanted to go wherever his uncle went which is one of the reasons why he played at Oklahoma State University. He doesn't shy away from having the same namesake and thinks it's pretty fun to be related to his uncle. Pete gave Thomas advice and believed in him when he was nearly redshirted as a freshman at OSU...born on 9/5/84 (38).
