Lee Wilson

Ken Biley

John Engskov

Clint McDaniel

He played in 30 games in 1994 (3.4 ppg) and averaged 7.2 points and 4.2 rebounds as a senior in '97. He has been playing professionally in Poland, averaging 8.4 points and 8.3 rebounds last year for Spojinia Stargard.

"Winning the national championship was probably the best feeling I've ever had. I love those guys like they are my brothers. I wish I could relive those days right now, but I know I'm doing my thing and they're doing their thing."

He started the championship game in '94 (2.8 ppg) and guarded Grant Hill. He went into management at Wal-Mart, Inc., that year and is the manager of a Wal-Mart in Minneapolis.

"It meant a lot then and it means a lot now. It took a lot of hard work and dedication, and people understanding their role. I can really relate to that now working in retail management."

Engskov lettered from 1994-96. A vice president in the private client division, he has worked at Merrill Lynch since.

"Most people still remember the championship and still want to talk about it. It doesn't seem like it's been 10 years."

McDaniel was solid in 1994 (8.1 ppg, 2.8 rpg) and in '95 (11.5 ppg, 3.1 rpg). He has played professionally in Hungary, playing for Kecskemeti Univer KSU in 2003 (17.2 ppg, 3.8 rpg).

"It was very special for me, my teammates and the people in the state of Arkansas. It will always be special because it was the first one. Hopefully they will be able to do it again soon."

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Reggie Merritt

Dwight Stewart

Scotty Thurman

Gorliss Williamson

Merritt lettered from 1993-96. He is with the Little Rock School District as the safe and drug-free schools coordinator where he is responsible for violence and drug prevention education and training for students and staff at more than 40 schools.

"I still run into people who recognize my name. It's great to be able to say I was a part of that team. It's not often you can say you were a part of history."

A center, he created mismatches with his outside shot in 1994 (8.0 ppg, 5.0 rpg) and '95 (7.3 ppg, 4.7 rpg). He has played professionally since, helping Atlantic City win the 1999 USBL championship. He has spent the last two years in Spain, playing for Etnos Murcia in 2002 (11.3 ppg, 7.3 rpg) and for Union Baloncesto La Palma in '03 (13.1 ppg, 5.6 rpg).

"We had a great team with good chemistry. We had great fans and a lot of people supported us. It meant a lot to play for Arkansas and represent the state."

Thurman hit "the shot" against Duke and earned honorable mention All-America honors in 1994 (15.9 ppg, 4.5 rpg) and '95 (15.4 ppg, 3.9 rpg). He has played professionally since, spending time in Italy and Greece, among others. He is in his fourth year in Lebanon after recently signing with Champville.

"To be on that team was an honor. Winning the national championship was a life-long dream. It's something I'll never forget."

Williamson earned All-America honors in 1994 (20.4 ppg, 7.7 rpg) and '95 (19.7 ppg, 7.5 rpg), and was named the Most Outstanding Player of the '94 Final Four. The 13th pick in the first round of the NBA Draft by Sacramento following his junior season, he has been with the Detroit Pistons since 2001. He won the NBA's Sixth Man of the Year award in 2002 (13.6 ppg, 4.1 rpg).

"Coming from the state of Arkansas as a home-state boy, and to grow up and win a national championship with your home school is a great feeling. It meant a lot and I'm glad we were able to bring a championship to the state of Arkansas."

ARKANSAS' GREAT TRADITION

Since 1958, the Razorbacks are 436-124 at home, a .779 winning percentage

Since 1977, Arkansas has recorded 21 20-win seasons

Since 1977, Arkansas has earned 22 NCAA Tournament bids

Since 1978, UA has been to the Final Four four times, to the Elite Eight six times and to the Sweet 16 10 times

Since Dec. 4, 1976, every ticket for each regular-season on-campus home games has been sold

RAZORBACK GAME DAY

Entering the 2004 season, Arkansas has sold out 334 consecutive regular-season, on-campus home games

Since Bud Walton Arena opened in 1994, more than 2.9 million fans have attended games for an all-time average attendance of more than 17,900 per game. The Razorbacks have ranked in the top 15 in national attendance every year.

Since 1958, the Razorbacks are 436-124 at home, a winning percentage of .779. Since moving into Bud Walton Arena, UA is 132-30 at home (.815).

With a capacity of 19,200, Bud Walton Arena is the fifth-largest on-campus arena in the nation.

UA has had 66 games televised over the last three years with 39 of those, 13 each season, at home.

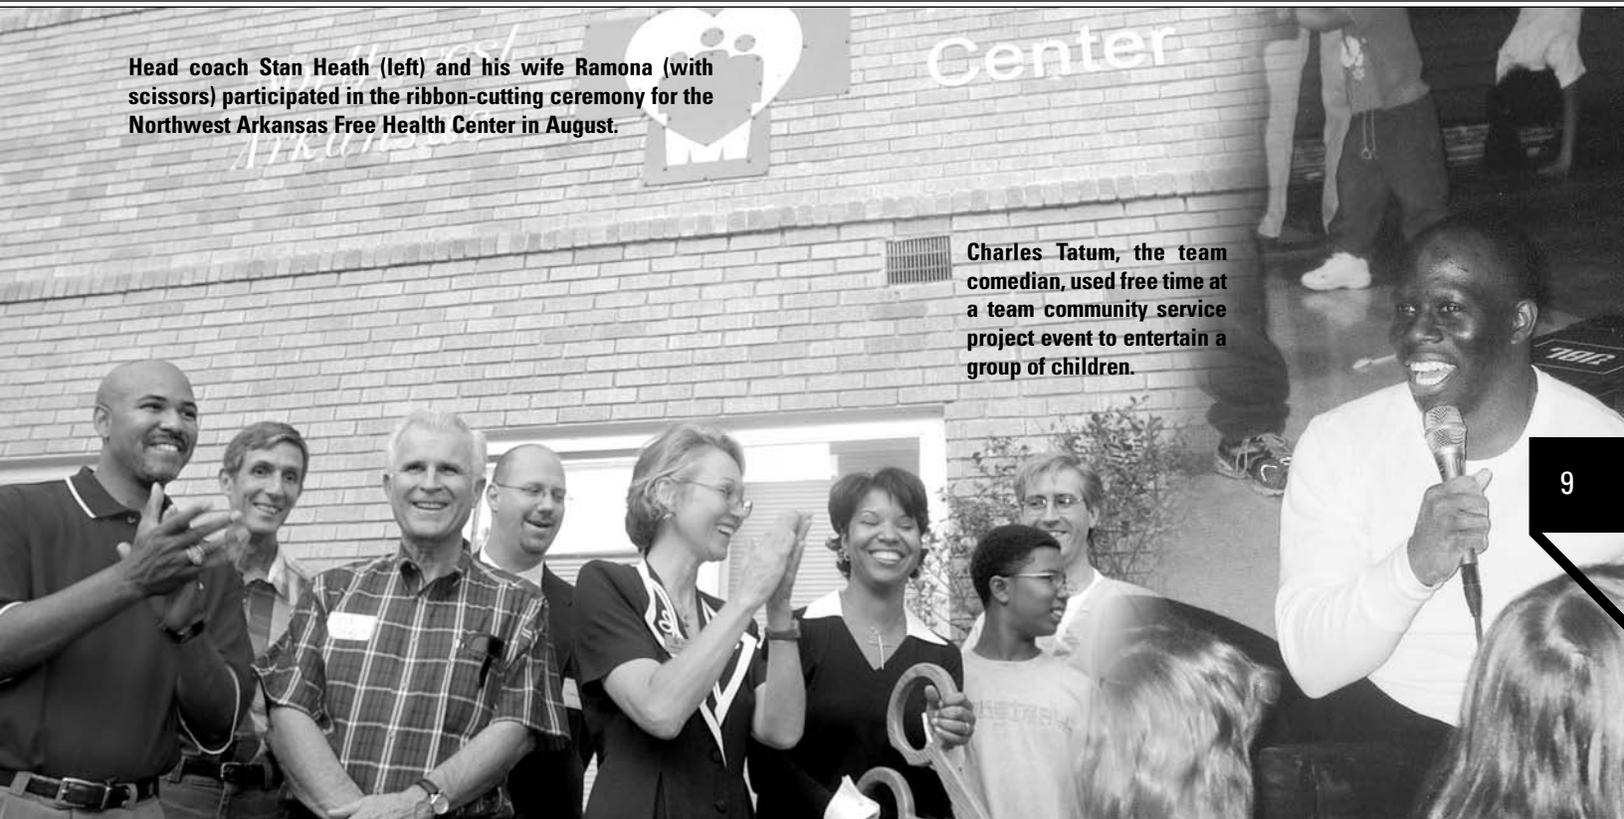

Every year, former Razorback All-American and current Detroit Piston Corliss Williamson puts on a clinic in Little Rock for area children. He is the benefactor of the "Legends in the Rock" charity basketball game and the "Corliss Williamson Charitable Fund," which aids several organizations throughout the state.

Billy Pharis and other players showed their moves during an Arkansas Athletes Outreach clinic the Razorbacks put on for children from Youth Bridge.

Razorbacks Jamar Blackmon, Wen Mukubu, Eric Ferguson, Alonzo Lane, Kendrick Davis and Jonathon Modica (left to right) participated in a "Feed the Families" program last spring.

Charles Tatum, the team comedian, used free time at a team community service project event to entertain a group of children.

The Northwest Arkansas area ranked No. 3 in the nation in Forbes magazine's 2003 list of "best places for business and careers" among cities with a population of less than 300,000.

The nearby Buffalo River in the Ozark National Forest was America's first nationally designated scenic river.

NORTHWEST ARKANSAS

The Walton Arts Center, on Dickson Street in Fayetteville, has played host to recent performers such as Bill Cosby and B.B. King, and touring productions of "A Chorus Line," "Evita" and "Chicago."

Fayetteville is ranked by Forbes as the 23rd-best place to live in the nation.

Shopping opportunities include many nationally-known chains such as The Gap, Eddie Bauer, Barnes & Noble, Abercrombie & Fitch, Banana Republic, Old Navy, Kohl's, Target, Dillard's, Pier One, Circuit City, American Eagle, Best Buy, Home Depot, Office Depot, Lowe's, SAM's Club and Wal-Mart Supercenters. Other intriguing, locally owned shops are at the Northwest Arkansas Mall, Village on the Creeks and Steele Crossing, while the area also includes assorted other retail districts with an eclectic mix of fashionable and classic offerings.

THE

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

The University of Arkansas was established at Fayetteville in 1871 and opened its doors to students on Jan. 22, 1872.

There were few facilities and practically no money for the beginning of that first academic year more than a century ago, but the new institution had one advantage which has been of increasing importance throughout the years. It was established under provisions of the Morrill Act as both the State University and the Land-Grant College of Arkansas, which gave it an academic heritage from the universities of the past and at the same time bestowed upon it the educational responsibilities in "agriculture and the mechanic arts."

The location of Fayetteville for the university was determined as the result of an election held in counties, cities and incorporated towns. The purpose was to generate voting bonds or subscriptions to support the establishment of the university, with the largest bid coming from the County of Washington and the City of Fayetteville for a combined total of $130,000. To this amount and the Congressional land grant of 150,000 acres, the state added an appropriation of $50,000 for the benefit of the institution. The 160-acre homestead of William McIlroy was selected as the site at a purchase price of $12,000. The McIlroy home was converted into classrooms, and a new two-story frame building was constructed with one classroom on each floor.

THE CAMPUS AND ITS ENVIRONMENT

The university is located in Fayetteville, a city of nearly 60,000 residents. Fayetteville is at the southern tip of a metroplex that runs northward for 25 miles along I-540 through Washington and Benton counties in Northwest Arkansas and ends in Bella Vista, an upscale retirement community near the state's northern border.

The Northwest Arkansas metroplex, from Fayetteville northward, also includes Springdale (home of Tyson Foods, the world's largest meat producer), Lowell (home of J.B. Hunt Trucking), Rogers and Bentonville (home of Wal-Mart Stores Inc., the world's largest corporation).

The Fayetteville-Springdale-Rogers metropolitan area is ranked by the U.S. Census Bureau as being the sixth fastest-growing metro area in the nation. From 1990 to 2000, the metropolitan area grew 47.5 percent, from 210,908 to 311,121. In 2002, Northwest Arkansas was ranked 23rd among the top 269 metro areas considered as the "Best Places for Business and Career," according to Forbes magazine and the Santa Monica-based Milken Institute. The rankings were based on job growth and salary growth, plus high-tech growth.

Situated on the Ozark Mountain Plateau, Northwest Arkansas offers friendly people, beautiful scenery, a moderate climate, excellent school districts and a robust economy in which the unemployment rate runs well below national averages.

In 2002, Business Week magazine ranked Fayetteville as one of the "Dazzling Dozen" small cities in the United States, on the basis of low unemployment and the ability to create jobs during the past year. In 2001, Fayetteville was one of only 23 locales and the only Arkansas location to be included in the book The Most Beautiful Villages and Towns of the South (New York: Thames and Hudson). In 2000, The Searchers, a St. Louis-based data research company, ranked Fayetteville as one of the

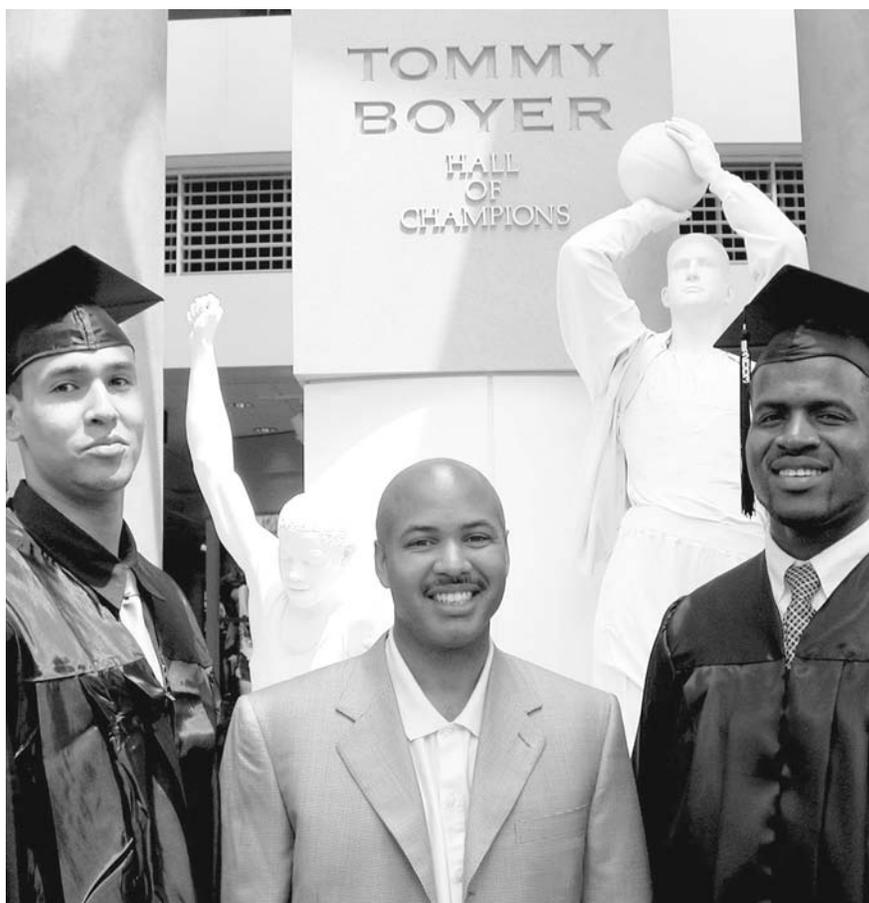

The original building of Arkansas' campus, Old Main, completed in 1876, symbolizes a connection to the past and the focus on the future, which presently come together at UA. Old Main was actually a copy of a building on the University of Illinois campus. The building at Illinois was eventually destroyed. Legend has it the only difference between the two buildings is the UA's north tower, which is higher than the south tower, which was symbolism for the Civil War since the lead engineer was a northern veteran.

The University of Arkansas is the only remaining university in the nation to etch the names of its graduates into the campus' sidewalks. Senior Walk stretches for more than five miles. When the costs of hand-etching names into concrete forced other universities to give up the practice, UA's physical plant and engineering school grads created a computerized sandblasting machine – the SandHog, which each summer adds that year's graduating class. Since the university's founding, the names of all 120,567 graduates have been etched into the sidewalks, their names arranged by year of graduation.

THE $300 MILLION GIFT AND ITS USES

In April 2002, the University of Arkansas announced the largest gift in the history of American public higher education — a $300 million commitment from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation of Bentonville, Ark., to establish and endow an undergraduate honors college and endow the graduate school. The funds from this commitment are being transferred to the University during the 2002-03 academic year, to be used in ways that enable the University to serve as an engine of economic development and cultural and social progress for the state of Arkansas.

The $200 million for the Honors College is being apportioned thus:

For student support, $113 million as follows:

- $75 million in endowment to support annually 300 Honors College Fellows, who qualify with an ACT score of 32 or higher.
- $24 million in endowment to support annually 300 Honors College Academy Fellows, who qualify with an ACT score of 28 or higher.

- $10 million in endowment to support undergraduate research.
- $4 million in endowment to support international study experiences.

For faculty support, $58 million as follows:

- $30 million to establish 20 endowed chairs.
- $15 million to create a matching fund for endowed faculty positions.
- $10 million to establish 20 endowed distinguished professorships.
- $3 million for an endowed chair for the Honors College dean.

For library and technology support, $29 million as follows:

- $24 million for the library, including $5 million for immediate acquisitions and $19 million for an acquisitions endowment.
- $5 million for a technology upgrade fund.

The $100 million for the Graduate School is being apportioned thus:

For graduate students, $64 million as follows:

- $24 million in endowment to establish 60 distinguished doctoral fellowships, each with a stipend of $30,000 per year.
- $40 million for a graduate fellowship endowment fund, to increase stipends for approximately 500 talented graduate students each year.

For faculty, $24 million

- $24 million will endow eight new graduate faculty endowed research chairs, each funded with a principal of $3 million. These will be used to recruit new faculty who have been elected to various national academies or equivalent organizations.

For library and research support, $12 million

- $8 million to endow a graduate student research fund.
- $4 million for a library endowment to support graduate education.

The Arkansas Union serves as the community center of the university. It provides services, conveniences and amenities to the campus community. It houses meeting, reception and banquet rooms, lounges, game rooms, a ballroom, a theatre, a video theatre, an art gallery and a food court. It also includes the University Bookstore, a U.S. Post Office, a hair salon, the Quick Copy Center, the Razorback Shop, a computer store and a travel agency.

157 best places to retire in the United States.

The campus comprises 130 buildings on 345 acres. It rests upon a former hilltop farm that overlooks the Ozark Mountains to the south; at the time of the university's founding, the site was described as "second to none in the state of Arkansas."

TEACHING AND LEARNING

As research universities go, the University of Arkansas, with 16,449 students, falls toward the smaller, more intimate end of the spectrum. The faculty-student ratio is 16 to 1. More than 70 percent of all undergraduate class sections have 29 or fewer students.

Despite the intimate instructional environment, the university has more academic programs than many larger universities: 208 academic degree programs at the baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels.

STUDENTS

The University of Arkansas is working to increase the size and quality of its student body and is seeing success on both counts.

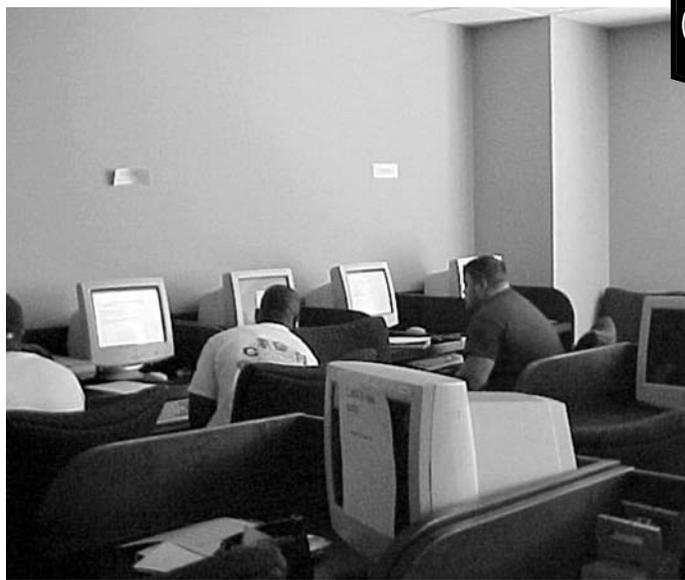

Total enrollment has increased 11.5 percent since 1997-98, when it was 14,740, to 16,449 in 2003-04.

Quality of the undergraduate student body has increased even more dramatically. In 1997, the average ACT score of the freshman class was 23.5. By 2002, it had risen to 25.0 (the national average is 21.0 on a scale of 1 to 36). Further, the average high school grade point average of the freshman class increased from 3.40 in 1997 to 3.55 in 2002. The proportion of entering students from the top 10 percent of their high school class has increased from 28 percent in 1997 to 35 percent in 2002.

CAMPUS LIFE

The university offers a vibrant campus life for its mainly full-time, residential undergraduate student population. University residence halls accommodate approximately 3,200 students, and the rest live in and about the city of Fayetteville.

Students have 230 registered student organizations at their disposal, including special interest organizations, religious organizations, international and cultural organizations, honorary and professional service organizations, student government and more. Greek life is robust as well: In 2001-02, 14 percent of male and 19 percent of female undergraduates belonged to the 15 fraternities and 12 sororities on campus.

The Bob and Marilyn Bogle Academic Center provides Arkansas' student-athletes with a computer lab, study areas, tutor rooms, Internet access, student life and career development resources, and a multi-purpose classroom.

Each semester overflows with faculty and student musical performances, theatre productions, art exhibits, concerts, poetry readings and visiting speakers — both on campus and at the adjacent Walton Arts Center. In fall 2002, for example, the University Speakers series brought together for the first time the former prime minister of Pakistan, Benizir Bhutto, and the former prime minister of Israel, Erud Barak, for a discussion on the United States and world affairs. The Arkansas Union Society stirs lively student debate on topical issues several times a semester.

UA'S COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

DALE BUMPERS COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURAL, FOOD AND LIFE SCIENCES

Enrollment in the fall of 2001 was 995 undergraduate students and 297 graduate students as the college offered degree programs allowing for concentration of studies in disciplines related to the production, processing and marketing of food and fiber; environment and natural resources; and human resources. Most of the college's faculty are also research scientists in the statewide UA Division of Agriculture. They bring to the classroom a wealth of experience and knowledge of current issues. Students have opportunities to work with their professors as research assistants.

SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

The University of Arkansas School of Architecture has the only accredited architecture and landscape architecture programs in Arkansas.

Whether students choose a bachelor of architecture, bachelor of landscape architecture, or bachelor of science in architectural or environmental studies, they will gain professional experience in unique programs like the Rome Study Center or the University of Arkansas Community Design Center (UACDC).

Recently, students have designed and constructed homes for low-income families, created a peace garden from the interpretation of different cultures, developed long-term habitation modules for NASA to use on Mars, designed and constructed a pavilion for an elementary school and provided low-cost planning to communities throughout Arkansas.

J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES

The Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences, named after former University President and United States Senator J. William Fulbright, offers premier programs in the liberal arts. Consisting of 19 academic departments, the college offers degrees in the arts, humanities, sciences and social sciences.

Graduates enjoy rewarding careers as U.S. district judges, diplomats, corporate leaders, broadcasters, scholars, psychologists, scientists and performing artists.

Mission: Fulbright College takes its mission from the Fulbright legacy: to cultivate the free and inquiring mind, and promote an international perspective through a strong grounding in the liberal arts.

Innovative Programs: The College's Programs in Creative Writing and Translation are ranked among the best in the country. Outside evaluators consistently give high marks to the English and history departments. Research programs in chemistry and physics are nationally competitive, and the college is building equally strong programs in the other sciences. Students enrolled in the interdisciplinary doctoral program in environmental dynamics receive training in geographic information systems at the innovative Center for Advanced Spatial Technologies.

SAM M. WALTON COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

The Walton College was founded in 1926 in response to a growing demand for commercial education. Initially, designated as a "School," the college consisted of four professors, and offered thirty-six courses in business administration, economics and sociology. Academic programs have undergone continuous expansion (see list of majors on page 15).

The Walton College now has one of the most advanced computing instructional and research centers in the country with a state of the art multi-media lab, four computer labs for undergraduate students and a separate computer lab for graduate students.

In 1997, the Walton College and the Department of Accounting were reaccredited by the AACSB — The International Association for Management Education. With the opening of the Donald W. Reynolds Center for Enterprise Development in 1998, the Walton College added state of art facilities for students and faculty. Students now have the advantage of classrooms and facilities in a building which the AACSB accrediting team designated as prototypical for collegiate schools of business.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION AND HEALTH PROFESSIONS

The teacher education program at the University of Arkansas is accredited by the State Board of Education. Students who complete any of the programs as outlined are eligible to receive licenses to teach at the grade level or in the fields for which they have made preparation upon application and presentation of acceptable scores on the PRAXIS I (formerly the National Teacher Examination).

The teacher education program is accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education for the preparation of pre-kindergarten and elementary school teachers, secondary school teachers and school services personnel including administrators and school counselors, with approval through the doctoral degree.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

The University of Arkansas College of Engineering is a comprehensive college of engineering that adds personal, social and economic value through four programmatic areas (Undergraduate Education, Graduate Education and Research, Continuing Education and Technology Transfer, and Technology-based Business Incubation and Job Creation) focused in six areas of emphasis (Biological, Chemical and Food Processing; Database and Telecommunications; Electronics Manufacturing; Environmental and Ecosystems Analysis; Materials and Manufacturing; Transportation, Logistics and Infrastructure).

The college contributes to Arkansas' economic development and seeks to improve the state's per capita income and economic competitiveness. The College of Engineering works to incubate and enhance technology-based businesses, and assists in job maintenance and new job creation.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Graduate education plays a major role at the university. The faculty of the Graduate School confer degrees in 34 doctoral programs and 85 master's programs.

The Graduate School is benefiting from a new $100 million endowment, part of the historic $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation announced in April 2002. The gift will support endowed fellowships for graduate students, an endowed research fund for graduate students, funds for library support to the Graduate School, and eight new endowed faculty research chairs.

THE HONORS COLLEGE

In 2002, the University of Arkansas Honors College was established, courtesy of the $300 million gift from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation. Of that sum, $200 million is being used to endow Honors College Fellowships and

DON'T JUST TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT!

The Princeton Review raised the academic rating of UA to 80 from 78 and from two stars to three in the 2003 edition of "The Best 345 Colleges." Among other things, the results of a student survey showed the following:

- Everyone loves the Razorbacks
- Ethnic diversity on campus
- Great food on campus
- Campus easy to get around
- Lab facilities are great
- Almost everyone plays intramural sports

The university is No. 6 on the list of "America's Most Fashionable Colleges," according to the industry's No. 1 trade magazine, Women's Wear Daily.

UA is included in The Unofficial (Biased) Insider's Guide to the 320 Most Interesting Colleges, which based its choices on student surveys that identified the "best values," "hidden treasures," "hot schools" and "other top-choice lists." It also listed UA under the category "Changed for the Better," praising the university for its low cost and the range of activities in Fayetteville.

UA is No. 23 on Outside magazine's list of the "Best College Towns" in the country. Requirements to be on the list are to "turn out smart graduates with top-notch academic credentials, a healthy environmental ethos and an A+ sense of adventure." It went on to say "pretty much any outdoor activity that doesn't require snow can be found within a 20-mile radius of the university."

For the third year in a row in 2003, UA set an all-time record for enrollment. Arkansas went from 15,795 in 2001 to 16,035 in 2002 and now 16,449 in 2003.

Honors College Academy Scholarships for exceptionally talented students, to establish up to 100 endowed faculty chairs and professorships, and to endow special funds to support study abroad and undergraduate research opportunities.

When fully operational, the Honors College will enroll more than 2,000 high-achieving students. In fall 2000, the inaugural freshman class numbered more than 400. Honors College freshman live in the newly renovated Honors Residence Hall, the Pomfret Center. Honors College study lounges have been created on the fourth floor of the Administration Building, where the Honors College Dean's Office is located.

The UA Honors College serves all undergraduate majors. Honors students enjoy small classes, priority registration, special housing, increased interaction with faculty and enhanced opportunities for hands-on research.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

The learning experience at the UA School of Law involves the fostering of a sense of community among students, faculty and staff. Comfortable study areas, easy access to resources, and friendly interaction between members of the law school community in and outside the classroom are essential to providing a positive and effective learning environment. Being a small school allows the interaction with students on a more personal level, thus creating that sense of community.

The Leflar Law Center facility includes Waterman Hall, which also houses the Young Law Library, includes courtroom space, classrooms and seminar rooms, student lounges, space for student organizations, and offices for faculty and staff, and the Law Programs Center, which houses the legal clinic, the National Center for Agricultural Law Research and Information, and the Arkansas Law Review.

Special collections in the David W. Mullins Library include papers from former U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright, former chief of staff and special assistant to the President Thomas "Mack" McLarty, retired U.S. Senators David Pryor and Dale Bumpers, architect Edward Durell, civil rights activist Daisy Bates and composer William Grant Still.

HOME OF CHAMPIONS

Note: UA has separate men and women's departments. Only men's sports are included in this publication.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS // HOME OF CHAMPIONS

In four of the 12 years the Hogs have been members of the SEC, they have won four league championships. In the eight other years, Arkansas has won at least two, including three overall titles and one Western Division championship in 2002-03. No other SEC school has won so many league championships in men's athletics during the past 12 years.

During UA's time in the SEC, the Hogs have produced 26 national championship teams. The other SEC schools combined have won 21 NCAA crowns in men's sports, meaning Arkansas has won five more national titles than the rest of the league combined. LSU is the closest to matching UA's national title total, but the Razorbacks have a 26-6 lead over the Tigers.

Overall, Arkansas has won 40 men's national championships in its athletic history, all but one since 1984. LSU is next with 15, followed by Tennessee with eight, and Alabama, Kentucky, Florida and Georgia with seven each.

Here's the breakdown on Arkansas' national titles: 17 in indoor track, 11 in cross country, 10 in outdoor track, one in football and one in basketball.

In 12 years, Arkansas has won 37 SEC championships, including 12 in cross country, 11 in indoor track, 10 in outdoor track, two in basketball, and one each in baseball and golf. The Hogs have also won three Western Division titles in football and four in basketball.

FOOTBALL

Arkansas (9-5) won its last six regular-season games to capture the SEC Western Division title, played in the SEC Championship Game for the second time and advanced to a bowl game, the Music City Bowl, for the fifth straight year.

UA led the SEC in rushing (218.9 yards per game) with tailback Fred Talley recording the eighth 1,000-yard rushing season in school history (1,119 yards). Offensive tackle Shawn Andrews became the first sophomore in school history to earn first-team All-America honors, making teams compiled by the Football Writers Association of America, the American Football Coaches Association and The Sporting News, among others.

- Five bowl games in five years
- Best overall record in the SEC West over the last five years
- Three New Year's Day bowl games in the last five years
- Twenty bowl games in the last 28 years and 32 overall
- 1964 national champion

BASKETBALL

UA had big wins over No. 22 Alabama and No. 20 Mississippi State, but playing the second-toughest schedule in the nation proved daunting for an all-freshman backcourt. Freshmen guard/forward Jonathon Modica led the team in scoring (11.5 ppg) and earned all-freshman honors from the SEC and CollegeInsider.com.

- Twenty-six NCAA Tournament appearances
- Six Final Four appearances – 1994 national champion, 1995 runner-up
- Fifteen national postseason tournament appearances in 17 years
- Home attendance annually ranks in the top 10 nationally

TRACK

Outdoors, Arkansas, led by All-Americans Daniel Lincoln and Alistair Cragg, captured its 10th NCAA outdoor national championship. Indoors, UA won its 17th NCAA crown. In cross country, Arkansas won its 12th straight SEC title and its 29th consecutive conference championship before finishing sixth at the NCAA meet where Cragg came in second.

- Seventeen indoor NCAA titles since 1984; 22 conference titles since 1979
- Ten outdoor NCAA titles since 1985; 19 conference titles since 1982
- Eleven cross country NCAA titles since 1984; 29 conference titles since 1984
- Twenty-two Olympians, 555 All-America selections, 89 NCAA individual event championships

BASEBALL

In Dave Van Horn's first year as head coach, the Razorbacks (35-22) were ranked most of the season and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the sixth time in nine years. Arkansas won SEC series at No. 6 South Carolina and at No.

5 Auburn, and won a game in the NCAA Tournament at the Austin, Texas, regional. First baseman Haas Pratt (.429) and second baseman Scott Bridges (.556) earned NCAA all-region honors. Outfielder Ryan Fox (.288, 19 HR, 49 RBI) earned first-team All-SEC honors.

- Four College World Series and 15 NCAA Tournament appearances
- Twelve 40-win seasons since 1979
- Baum Stadium rated the top college facility in the country by Baseball America in 1996

GOLF

In his second year as head coach, former Razorback Mike Ketcham was named South Central Regional Coach of the Year by the Golf Coaches Association of America and guided Arkansas to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1999. UA finished seventh at the NCAA Central Region tournament and 27th at the NCAA Championships. Junior Andrew Dahl tied for 10th and earned second-team All-America honors.

- Finished in the top 11 at the NCAA Tournament six times in 16 years
- Finished in the top 20 at the NCAA Tournament eight times
- Twenty-six tournament titles in the last 16 years

TENNIS

Arkansas won the Region V championship, advanced to the Intercollegiate Tennis Association indoor national tournament and earned an NCAA Tournament bid for the third straight year. Head coach Robert Cox, who claimed his 200th win at UA during the year, had his team overcome injuries to finish 11-15, and end the year ranked No. 39 in the nation and No. 2 in the region.

- 2002 ITA Region V champion
- Seven NCAA Tournament appearances in 10 years
- NCAA regional finals in four of last five appearances
- Eight No. 1-ranked players since 1980 and 29 All-America selections
- Five ITA national champions

Jonathon Modica led the Razorbacks in scoring (11.5 ppg) last year as a true freshman.

ARKANSAS RAZORBACK STUDENT-ATHLETE SUPPORT SERVICES

SUPPORT SERVICES MISSION STATEMENT

The primary focus of the Razorback Support Program is to provide the student-athlete with the opportunity to develop the skills necessary to be a success in college and in life. This is accomplished through competent academic counseling, life skills training and preparation to enter the job market upon graduation.

Academic Support

The University of Arkansas Academic Support Center serves as the liaison between the athletic department and all faculty, staff and university personnel regarding academic concerns and procedures.

The Academic Support Center is committed to providing the Razorback student-athletes with the tools and resources they need to succeed in the competitive academic environment at the University of Arkansas, ultimately leading to graduation.

Support services include a mentoring program, monitored study hall, tutorial services, a computer laboratory and referrals to other campus support services.

UA's Academic Game Plan for Graduation

Student-athletes are expected to meet specific academic criteria in order to maintain their eligibility. This can be easily achieved by following the Academic Game Plan set out by the Academic Support Center.

The support center staff has designed programs and set specific goals to help student-athletes achieve academic success. One such goal is each student-athlete enroll and successfully complete 30 hours of coursework each academic year. By maintaining this course load, they will not only be on track to graduate in four years, but will easily meet eligibility requirements set by the NCAA.

Study Hall and Tutors

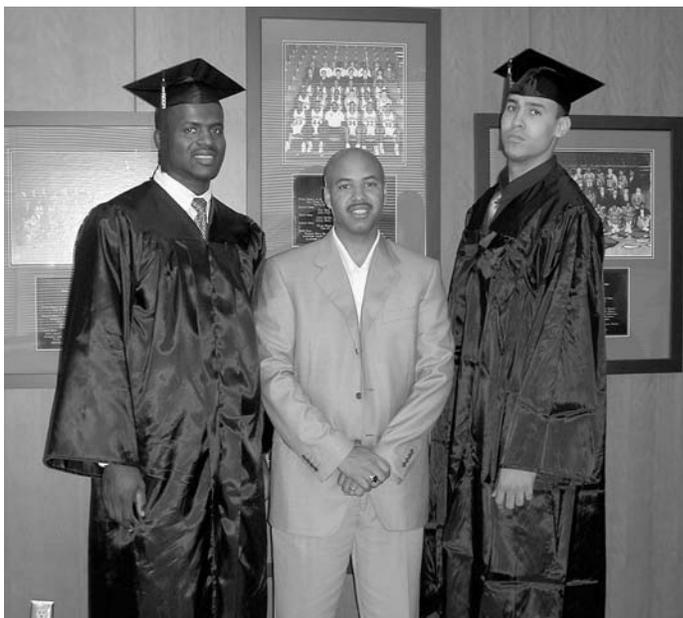

Study Hall is a quiet setting for uninterrupted study and is required for all scholarship student-athletes until a 2.5 GPA or better is achieved. The use of tutors is highly encouraged, if not required for some student-athletes.

Honors and Awards

- SEC Academic Honor Roll (3.0 GPA or above for two consecutive semesters)
- Lon Farrell Award (3.0 GPA for one or both semesters during academic year)
- Hard-Working Hog (30 hours of coursework in one academic year)

Class Attendance

- Student-athletes are expected to attend all classes unless previously excused
- The Academic Support Staff regularly checks attendance
- If traveling with a team, student-athletes notify instructors early each semester regarding assignments and/or test(s)

The Razorback Program for Student-Athlete Success

The Office of Student Support Services of the University of Arkansas Athletic Department was established to assist student-athletes in their efforts toward attaining specific academic and life goals as well as graduation.

Recognizing the difficulty of being both a student and an athlete, the office seeks to help students develop appropriate skills, which will allow them to maximize their individual potential while participating in intercollegiate athletics.

The University of Arkansas is a participant in the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills Program. This program addresses the needs of student-athletes in five primary areas: Academics, Personal Development, Career Development, Community Service and Athletic Excellence.

Student Life

The University of Arkansas is as concerned about the personal and social development of our student-athletes as it is their academics and athletics.

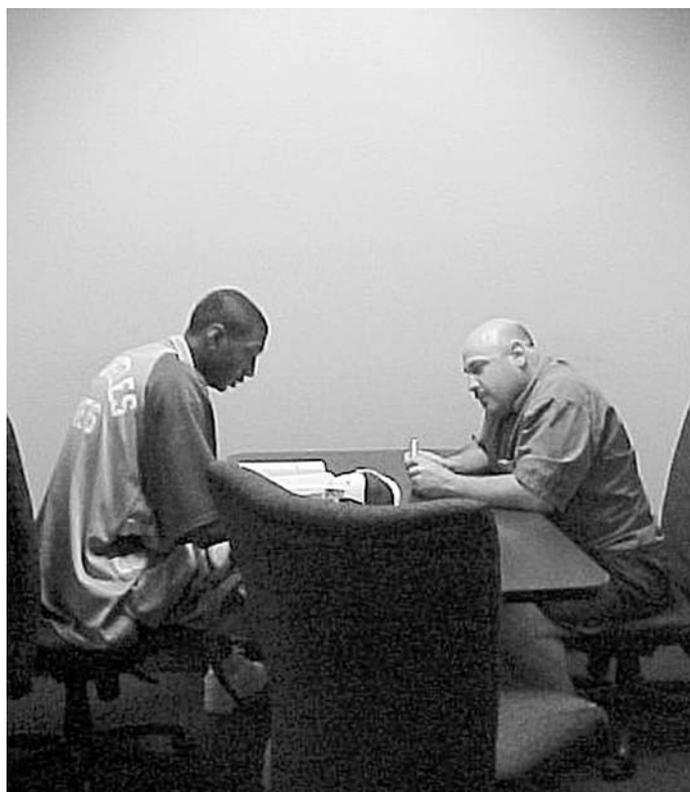

The Office of Student Life focuses on the personal development and community service components of the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills program. Training is provided in a wide variety of areas such as financial planning, drug and alcohol education, time management, study skills and developing community service activities.

Career Development

The purpose of the Career Development Program is to assist student-athletes in making a smooth transition into the world of work. This process begins in the freshman year with a one-hour course in which career options are explored.

Workshops are also held to provide student-athletes training in resume writing, interviewing skills and etiquette. Individual assistance with locating summer internships and job placement helps give the student-athlete a head start in his or her career.

Participation in athletics enables individuals to develop the personal qualities that are in high demand in the business world today.

Located on the East side of expanded Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium, the Bob and Marilyn Bogle Academic Center provides both male and female student-athletes with a state-of-the-art academic support facility second to none. Approximately 15,000 square feet, the center includes a computer lab with 36 stations, formal and informal study areas, 14 individual tutor rooms with computers, Internet access, student life and career development resources, and a multi-purpose classroom. The center is open from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. and provides Razorback student-athletes with academic counseling, tutorial services, academic skill development, life skills training and career development opportunities.

GLEN ROSE SCHOLARSHIP

Glen Rose was the only coach to ever serve two tenures at Arkansas. In fact, he did just about everything possible as a Razorback. He was the Hogs' first All-American basketball player (1928) and was All-Southwest Conference three times. He was an All-SWC end in football in 1927.

He spent nearly the rest of his life coaching at Arkansas. He became head basketball coach in 1933 and led the Razorbacks to a nine-year record of 157-47 (.766). He coached the football team for a year during World War II and also worked as an administrator in the athletic department before leaving for 10 years.

Rose returned to Fayetteville in 1952 and spent 14 more seasons as head basketball coach. During his second stint, the Hogs were 171-154. His overall mark was 325-201.

A member of the Razorback Hall of Honor, Rose passed away Sept. 3, 1994. In his honor, Arkansas presents the Glen Rose Award to the Razorback basketball player who attains the highest academic achievement during each school year.

"We want to honor the memory of Glen Rose by saluting one of our athletes," said Athletic Director Frank Broyles. "He gave his life to Razorback athletics and it is only appropriate we name this academic achievement award after him."

Before War, Qatar a Positive Experience for Sorenson

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS // STAFF FEATURE

March is the month of madness for college basketball fans in America, but this past March, it was madness of a different sort in the Middle East.

General Tommy Franks called the shots for "Operation Iraqi Freedom" from Central Command in Doha, Qatar, a place Arkansas' Darren Sorenson knows well.

He called jump shots there just over three years ago, from April through November of 2000, as head coach of Qatar's 18-and-under junior national team, and as an assistant coach of the 21-and-under national team and the pro team.

Qatar borders Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf. Except for the capital city of Doha, it's mostly a barren desert covered with loose sand and gravel. No bigger than the state of Connecticut, Ca-tar or Cutter, whichever you prefer, has limited natural fresh water, and dust and sandstorms are common. It's 95 degrees by 7 a.m. and temperatures routinely reach 120, but Sorenson jumped at the chance to go.

Actually, while talking to Ed Andrist, his college coach at Mount Senario College in Ladysmith, Wis., where he played from 1991-95, he deprived someone else of the opportunity.

"I was working at Georgia State, and Ed had been hired and he called me to talk about it," UA's director of basketball operations says. "He was going to ask another guy to go and, just joking, I said, 'Oh, you didn't want me to go with you.' He said he didn't think I would want to go since I was working full-time at Georgia State. I took an eight-month leave of absence and went."

"I had talked to two other former players before I talked to Darren," Andrist, who is now the head coach at the University of Wisconsin-Stout, says. "The first two guys were a little hesitant and Darren said 'Hey, I'll go.'"

The pluses were obvious. Sorenson's goals were and are to be a Division I coach. He broke in as an administrative assistant at UCLA in 1999 and was the director of basketball operations at Georgia State where Lefty Driesel's team went 29-5 and reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament in 2000. Per NCAA rules, those positions are prohibited from on-the-floor coaching.

Sorenson was responsible for all aspects of the 18-and-under team. As the assistant on the other teams, he was responsible for the offense, individual workouts, all conditioning and working with the post players.

"I was able to spend all day coaching basketball," Sorenson, who helped Andrist and Mount Senario win the 1994 National Small College Athletic Association national championship, says. "I didn't have to worry about kids going to class or getting ready for camps. Personally, it was great to get back on the floor. I'm always up for something new. It was a job coaching basketball, which is what I wanted to do, and I was getting paid."

During the preseason, each team lifted weights for an hour in the morning, had individual workouts for an hour in the middle of the day and practiced two hours in the afternoon and evening. During the season, they practiced every afternoon and had occasional meetings during the day.

Other than being far from home, the drawbacks weren't too bad.

"No matter where you go in the world, some people understand English," he says. "Those guys had played basketball for a while and had played for American coaches. Each pro team can have one American player and then you can have three African players, as long as they're under 18 years of age. There are six or seven club teams in Qatar. They go to Africa and bring these kids over that are 15, 16 and 17 years old, so they have all these good players. All the African players speak English, Arabic and French. They're all really bright kids."

The African and American players may have understood, but that didn't help with the other players on the 14-man roster. Andrist and Sorenson used their manager, Rashed Al Takrooni, who served as the team's interpreter, to get their point across to the players.

Sorenson could have used Takrooni with the 18-and-under team. The manager was bitter over not being named head coach, and he undermined Sorenson's authority by telling players what he wanted them to do instead of what Sorenson had instructed.

"There was this kid in the stands watching us practice who could speak English," Sorenson says. "One day he told me the manager was telling the players the wrong things. I wondered why we were struggling so much. I ended up firing the guy so they switched him to this fifth and sixth-grade team."

When it came to actually playing, their teams were very good, mostly due to the African players. The 21-and-under team won the Asian League for Young Men championship and the pro team won the Gulf Coast Countries title. The 21-and-under team beat favored China and the pro team upset Saudi Arabia.

Sorenson still has contact with several people in the area, including the pro team's best player, Yaseen Mamoud, who once told him: "A basketball is a small ball, but it can take you around the world."

"They call him the 'Michael Jordan of Asia,'" Sorenson says. "He's really good. He's 6-7 and was the dunk champion. He played in the Asian all-star game with Yao Ming. He would have been drafted by the NBA, but he came over and played in the NBA developmental league one year and didn't like it, so he went back home."

Soccer is king in Qatar, where only 25 percent of the population of 800,000 is made up of Qataris. The rest are Pakistanis, Indians, other Arabs and Iranians, but they did get into hoops, maybe a little too much.

"We played the under-21 championship at our place," Sorenson says. "Our fans played these drums all the time, like bongos. There would be a timeout and they would get going really good and we couldn't hear. It was actually a disadvantage."

There was also plenty of media coverage, but in a land where English is the second language to Arabic, Sorenson can only assume it was positive.

"We had press conferences and reporters traveled to the games," he says. "I have a bunch of newspapers from over there with my picture in them, but I don't know what they say."

Sorenson, who joined Stan Heath's Arkansas staff in 2002 following a year as the director of basketball operations at Jacksonville (Ala.) State, never felt he was in any danger, but he knew there was always that chance.

"As an American, you stand out over there," he says. "If somebody wanted to make a statement, you're a target. They took care of me, but you just never know."

Sorenson had one brush with death while overseas, but it had nothing to do with the bombed out buildings he saw in Beirut, Lebanon, where his team played in a tournament with barbed wire wrapped around the building and troops with rifles were positioned at the top of the gym.

Instead, it was a trip he didn't take to meet his team.

"My team was in Egypt for a tournament and I was excited about going to Cairo and seeing everything there is to see there," he says. "I was going to fly to Egypt at a later time and meet my team, but they decided I should stay with the national team. The plane I would have been on left Bahrain and crashed. Everybody died."

Gulf Air flight No. 72 crashed into the Persian Gulf on Aug. 23, 2000, off the coast of Manama, Bahrain, killing all 135 passengers and eight crew members.

The most danger Sorenson was in may have been after winning the Asian League title. "After they win a championship over there, it's tradition that everybody form a circle and throw the coach up in the air," Andrist says. "After we won, they threw me, Darren and Rashed up in the air a good 10 times. They were pretty excited. You don't know when you come down if they're going to be there to catch you or not."

In a country where 95 percent of the people are Muslim and where Amir HAMAD bin Khalifa Al Thani ousted his own father in 1995 to become chief of state, Sorenson was told, just to be safe, to never speak about religion or politics.

"Sports almost separate politics," he says. "It's strange. It's almost like a different population. My trainer was from Iraq. He was a great guy. He would tell me 'My country is beautiful' and would tell me Iraqis like Americans. Iraq is a country that, if the right people are running it, has enough natural resources to get back to where it was economically."

Qatar bases its economy on oil, natural gas and fish, and is a member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) as well as the Arab League and the United Nations. Oil accounts for 90 percent of Qatar's exports and government income.

Sorenson says he and Andrist still get offers to go back as pro coaches.

"If you've ever been overseas for a while, you just want to be around people that speak your own language," he says. "When you get a long weekend, it's not like you can fly home and see your family. I wanted to be a Division I college coach. I probably should have done it, but I was just going in a different direction."

Now, so is that part of the world.

"When I see the news and updates on TV, I know how hot it is and what the humidity is like," Sorenson, who still has his Qatari drivers license, says. "When YOU watch it, you just see the pictures. I went to a place where people are scared to go and don't really know a lot about. I understand what it's like to be over there."

Even if just a little, we do, too.

COACHING STAFF // HEAD COACH STAN HEATH

When Stan Heath became Arkansas' 10th head basketball coach on March 28, 2002, he accepted the job with a reputation as a great recruiter and a great coach.

His first Razorback squad finished 9-19, but his reputation has only been enhanced. When he took the job, the Hogs had no experienced guards, but he quickly recruited and signed a point guard and a shooting guard, and followed that up by landing a consensus top 10 recruiting class for this season.

The 9-19 record of 2003 isn't what Heath and staff had in mind, but Arkansas, which returned just a combined 25.1 points and 16.8 rebounds from the previous season, showed steady improvement with an all-freshman backcourt and playing against the second-toughest schedule in the nation.

The Razorbacks enthusiastically bought into Heath's system and the results were evident, especially on defense and in rebounding. Heath's emphasis on defense resulted in UA holding opponents to 66.5 points a game, the lowest total since 1988 when the Razorbacks limited teams to 64.9 points.

The 2003 Hogs really made their mark on the boards. After ranking 12th in the Southeastern Conference in 2002 with a -8.7 rebounding margin, 10th with 8.0 offensive rebounds and 11th with 32.1 boards per game, Arkansas was the top rebounding team in the league last year with 38.0 per game. The Hogs were also first with 14.54 offensive rebounds a game and third with a +5.5 rebounding margin.

Heath came to Arkansas after a record-setting season as the head coach at Kent State University. In 2001, his first year as a head coach, he led the Golden Flashes to a 30-6 record and to the Elite Eight in the NCAA Tournament.

Before going to KSU, he was an assistant for five years under Tom Izzo at Michigan State. He helped the Spartans advance to the Final Four three straight years, win the 2000 national title, make another appearance in the Sweet 16 and go a combined 132-37.

On March 19, 2001, Sports Illustrated featured "five college coaches waiting in the wings." Heath was on that list, along with assistant Leonard Perry of Iowa State, Florida assistant John Pelphey, head coach Jeff Ruland of Iona and Hofstra assistant Jay Wright.

A month later, he was the head coach at Kent State.

Under his guidance, the Golden Flashes won the Mid-American Conference regular-season and tournament titles, and came within a victory of reaching the Final Four before falling to Indiana in the South Region finals.

Along the way, Kent set school and MAC records for wins (30), breaking the record of 29 set by Ball State in 1989; became the first MAC team to reach the Elite Eight since Ohio University in 1964; recorded a league-record 21-game winning streak, including a 17-1 mark in conference play; beat three ranked teams in the NCAA Tournament, including No. 20 Oklahoma State, 69-61, No. 8 Alabama, 71-58, and No. 9 Pittsburgh, 78-73 in overtime, before losing to Indiana, 81-69; went 12-0 at home with an average attendance of 4,928, Kent's best since 1970; led the MAC in scoring defense (64.0 ppg), scoring margin (+11.9 ppg), field goal percentage defense (.418), rebounding margin (+5.0 rpg) and assist-to-turnover ratio (1.24) while also ranking second in three-point field goal percentage defense (.326) and turnover margin (+2.78); and suffered its five regular season losses by a total of 15 points.

What Michigan State Head Coach Tom Izzo Says About Stan Heath

"Arkansas has made a great selection in making Stan Heath its next head coach. In his five years at Michigan State, he was a part of four straight Big Ten championships, three straight Final Fours and a national championship, so he has a blueprint and an understanding of what it takes to be successful. He took over a Kent State program that had high expectations, yet he found a way to exceed the expectations by winning championships and advancing to the NCAA Tournament Elite Eight."

"Stan has a great basketball mind and relates very well with kids. He's a people person, while also being well organized with an understanding of what he needs to do to accomplish his goals. I've watched him grow this year and I know he is ready to take over a tradition-rich Arkansas basketball program."

Individually, Heath's 30 wins ties for the third-most by a first-year head coach in NCAA Division I history with John Warren of Oregon (1945). Only Bill Guthridge of North Carolina (34 in 1998) and Bill Hodges of Indiana State (33 in 1979) won more. The Detroit native was also voted the MAC Coach of the Year and named the national Rookie Coach of the Year by both CBSSportsline.com and CollegeInsider.com.

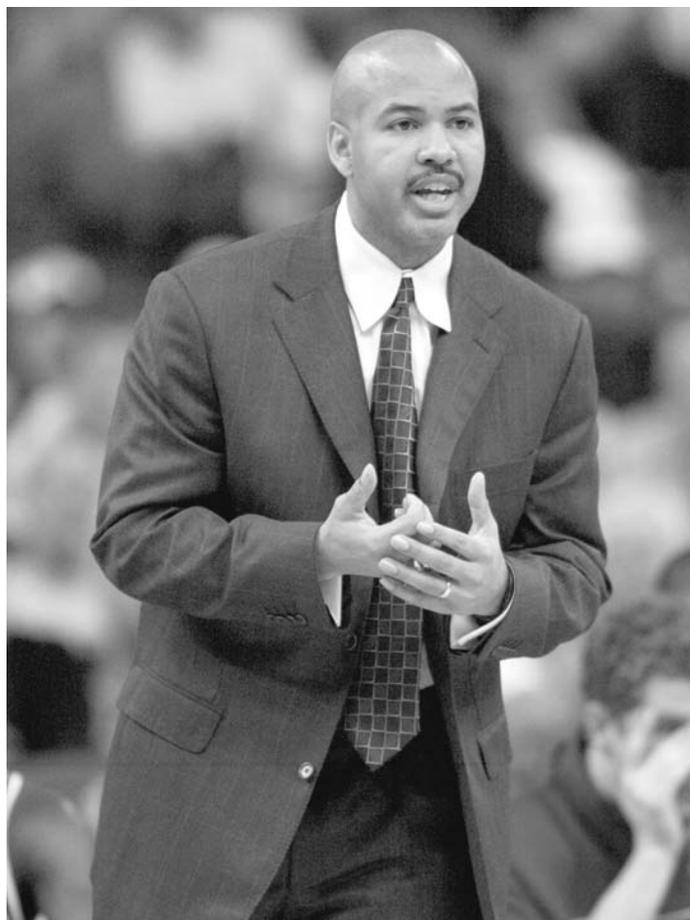

Before going to Kent, the three-year letterman from Eastern Michigan helped Izzo and the Spartans post records of 17-12 in 1997, 22-8 in 1998, 33-5 in 1999, 32-7 in 2000 and 28-5 in 2001. In addition to the three trips to the Final Four, MSU also reached the Sweet 16 in 1998 and the second round of the NIT in 1997.

Heath, who earned his bachelor's in social science from Eastern Michigan in 1988 and his master's in sports administration from Wayne State (Detroit, Mich.) University in 1993, began his collegiate career at Hillsdale (Mich.) College in 1989 as an assistant. After one season, he moved to Albion (Mich.) College where he was an assistant and the junior varsity head coach for two years. He worked at Wayne State in Detroit the following three years, including serving as associate head coach in 1994 when WSU set a school record for victories (25-5), helping the Tartars win two Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles with a trip to the Division II Final Four in 1993.

After two seasons as an assistant at Bowling Green State University, he joined Izzo at Michigan State. He began his coaching career on the prep level, working as assistant varsity and head freshman coach at Lincoln High in Ypsilanti, Mich.

An all-state performer at Catholic Central High in Detroit, he lettered in 1985, '86 and '87 at Eastern Michigan.

He is married to the former Ramona Webb and they have two sons, Jordan (11) and Joshua (eight).

COACHING STAFF // HEAD COACH STAN HEATH

ASSISTANT COACH ROB FLASKA

In his second season as an assistant at Arkansas, Rob Flaska brings a wealth of experience to the Razorback staff. His experience includes eight years as a highly successful college head coach at two schools and 10 years as a Division I assistant coach, most recently at TCU from 1999 to 2002.

Flaska, who serves as UA's recruiting coordinator, has been listed by Hoop Scoop magazine as one of the top assistant coaches in college basketball.

At TCU, he worked under Billy Tubbs, helping lead the Horned Frogs to four of the 10 winning seasons in the school's history with records of 21-11 in 1999, 18-14 in 2000, 20-10 in 2001 and 16-14 in 2002. TCU finished first or second in the nation in team scoring average each of his four seasons in Forth Worth.

Flaska helped put together recruiting classes at TCU which were ranked four straight years as the best in the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) by all major recruiting rating services and magazines, including Basketball Times, Basketball News, Street & Smith's, The Sporting News and Dick Vitale's. The 1998 class was voted as high as 12th-best, the '99 class 13th-best and the '01 class 34th-best in the nation.

As a head coach, Flaska led programs for three seasons (1996-98) at Florida Community College in Jacksonville, Fla. (FCCJ) to a record of 64-31. He was also the head coach at Mott Community College in Flint, Mich., for five seasons (1986-91), posting a record of 121-44. At FCCJ, his team earned top 20 national rankings and reached the Region XII finals in 1997. At Mott, his teams won the Michigan Eastern Conference Championships in '89, '90 and '91, the state title in 1990, and a Region XII championship with a national finalist finish in 1991. He was voted conference coach of the year in '89, '90 and '91, state coach of the year in 1990 and Region XII coach of the year in 1991.

Flaska, who earned a master's in business administration (MBA) from Michigan Tech University in 1984, has had more than 50 players earn scholarships to four-year schools. At FCCJ, he signed the school's all-time leading scorer and only player ever to be named to the NJCCA All-America team. At Mott, 16 of his last 17 players graduated.

He also served as an assistant coach at Trinity Valley Community College (1992-95) for Hall of Fame Coach Leon Spencer, where he recruited five first-team All-Americans. Prior to Trinity, he served as an assistant coach and assistant athletic director at Texas-Pan American (1991-92), where he recruited Grey Guy, the 1993 NCAA Division I scoring champion.

Flaska prepped at Glen Lake High School in Maple City, Mich., under Hall of Fame Coach Don Miller and led his team to the 1997 state championship while earning all-state honors. He played at Michigan Tech, leading the team to its first four winning records in school history and setting school records for assists and steals along the way.

He began his coaching career as an assistant coach at Indiana State University (1982-84) and as an assistant at the University of Detroit (1984-86).

Flaska is married to Joni Montgomery of Fort Worth and has a son, Charlie (14).

ASSISTANT COACH ORONDE TALIAFERRO

A former player for Stan Heath, Oronde Taliaferro is beginning his third season as an assistant under his former head coach, including his second at Arkansas.

After playing for Heath at Wayne State University in Detroit, Taliaferro, following a very successful prep coaching stint, also in Detroit, was a part of Heath's staff at Kent State and the great run the Golden Flashes had in the 2002 NCAA Tournament.

Taliaferro helped guide the Golden Flashes to a 30-6 record, a berth in the Elite Eight and within one win of the Final Four, and the Mid-American Conference regular-season and tournament championships as Kent led the MAC in scoring defense (64.0 ppg), scoring margin (+11.9 ppg), field goal percentage defense (.418), rebounding margin (+5.0) and assist-to-turnover ratio (1.24) while also ranking second in three-point field goal percentage defense (.326) and turnover margin (+2.78).

Taliaferro followed Heath to Arkansas after the 2002 season at Kent State.

He went to KSU after five years as the boys varsity head coach at Detroit Central High School where his teams posted a combined record of 101-25. During the 1998 season, he guided Central to a 23-4 record and the Class A state championship in earning Detroit News & Free Press "Dream Team" Coach of the Year honors.

A two-time Public School League Coach of the Year, he also coached Central to the state semifinals in his first season (1997) while the 2001 squad went 20-4 for his second 20-win season in five years.

As a player, he led Wayne State to three Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference titles, three NCAA Division II Sweet 16 appearances and a combined record of 71-20. He helped the Tartars reach the Final Four in 1993 and set a school record for victories in 1994 (25-5).

Heath originally recruited Taliaferro to Albion (Mich.) College, where he was an assistant in 1990 and 1991. Taliaferro played at Albion as a freshman before transferring to Wayne State.

Taliaferro prepped at Detroit Mumford High School where he was an honorable mention all-city selection as a senior after helping his team reach the city playoffs for the first time in 24 years. His coach at Mumford was the late Jim Boyce, the former Eastern Michigan University coach who recruited Heath to EMU in the mid-1980s.

Taliaferro and his wife, Kim, are the parents of three daughters, Errin, Kaela and Lynsey.

HEAD BASKETBALL TRAINER

In his 20th year as a member of the Arkansas training staff, Dave England is in his 15th season as the head trainer for basketball and baseball.

England also worked at Arkansas as a student and graduate assistant trainer. He returned to Fayetteville following a stint in the St. Louis Cardinals baseball organization.

He handles all training duties for Razorback basketball and baseball, and was honored in 2000 as the Arkansas Athletic Trainers' Association Trainer of the Year.

A 1980 graduate of Arkansas with a bachelor's of science degree in education, England worked the 1976 Cotton Bowl and 1978 Orange Bowl football games as a student trainer. He was a graduate assistant for Dean Weber in 1980-81 and went with the Hogs to the 1980 Hall of Fame Bowl. He also worked with baseball during those days and went to the 1979 College World Series where the Razorbacks finished second.

He then accepted an offer to work with the Cardinals. After spending some time in the lower levels of the organization, he worked his way up to the position of head trainer for the Cardinals' Double-A team in Little Rock. He returned to Arkansas in the fall of 1984 as assistant trainer and was elevated to head trainer in 1989.

In working with Razorback basketball, England has been to 15 NCAA Tournaments and two NITs. He's made three trips to the Final Four and worked with the 1994 NCAA champions and the 1995 national runner-up. He returned to the College World Series with the baseball Hogs in 1985 and 1987 while the 2002 club advanced to a Super Regional. While working with football he has been to the Liberty and Cotton bowls twice, and the Orange, Holiday and Hall of Fame bowls.

England was inducted into the AATA Hall of Fame in 1999.

He and his wife, Linda, have two daughters, Jennifer, 20 and a student at UA, and Alyson, 11.

with basketball and football in 2000, and then as a graduate assistant from 2001 until the fall of 2003.

His responsibilities include assisting with the design of the strength and conditioning program, including speed, plyometrics, flexibility, strength and nutrition, and the implementation for basketball, football, golf and tennis. The Hampton, Ark., native is in charge of the basketball program's daily workouts and updates.

A 1999 graduate of Central Arkansas with a bachelor's in kinesiology with an emphasis in athletic training, he earned his master's in sport management from UA during the summer of 2003. A member of the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association, he is the first person in his family to earn a master's degree.

Lambert, who has also helped the Razorback football team reach the Cotton Bowl in 2001, the Las Vegas Bowl in 2001 and the Music City Bowl in 2002, graduated from Hampton High School in 1994.

TERRY MERCER
OFFICE MANAGER

A major component of the University of Arkansas basketball program, Terry Mercer is in her 26th year as the office manager for Razorback basketball. Her friendly demeanor welcomes visitors to the basketball offices at Bud Walton Arena.

She handles all correspondence and helps with the administrative details of the Stan Heath Razorback Basketball Camp. Her behind-the-scenes contributions include coordinating Heath's hectic schedule.

Mercer has enjoyed the success of the Razorback program, making four trips to the Final Four and 20 NCAA Tournament excursions.

A native of Saratoga, N.C., where she graduated from high school in 1972, she worked for Southern Piping Company in Wilson, N.C., for six years before her husband, Elton, was transferred to Fayetteville.

She and Elton have a daughter, Heather, 24, a son, Jacob, 18, and a granddaughter. Heather is married to Dennis Starr, and they are the parents of Caitlyn, one.

Personal Setbacks Can't Keep Tatum Down

For a guy who smiles so much, Charles Tatum knows a lot about pain.

Physically and mentally, he's been through more than most.

The fifth-year senior at the University of Arkansas should have completed his career last year, but he's still a point guard after missing the 2003 season to rehab what trainer Dave England calls "the worst knee injury I've seen."

He's also dealt with the loss of two family members, the team's struggles on the court and the coaching transition from Nolan Richardson to Stan Heath. Through it all, Tatum has been the resident team comedian, keeping teammates loose and laughing.

"I think you should be happy that you're as blessed as you are," he says. "I don't take my college education or anything for granted because there are a lot worse things that could be happening to you."

He didn't feel that way midway through the 12-month rehabilitation process of his right knee. Following the 2002 season, in April, he tore three ligaments and one cartilage after coming to a jump-stop in a pickup game.

"He had a complete dislocation of the knee and his kneecap slipped off to the side," Dr. John Park, one of UA's team physicians and Tatum's surgeon, says. "You usually see something like that only in car accidents. His chances of coming back and playing college sports were extremely rare."

Park rebuilt two of Tatum's ligaments with the Achilles tendon from a cadaver and his anterior cruciate ligament from Tatum's hamstring. The ligaments were so tight he couldn't bend his leg.

"We started rehabbing in June and by October I had seen little improvement," Tatum says of loosening the adhesions to regain his range of motion. "I couldn't be optimistic about something I couldn't see. Dave kept telling me it was getting better. He said 'Look, Chuck, look, and I'm looking, but I'm not seeing any improvement. It was really discouraging to sit there and try so hard, and sweat and cry and see an inch-worth of improvement."

He never thought it would come to that. Basketball was the most important thing in his life, until his freshman year when he lost his first cousin, Ben Foster Jr., in January and then his grandfather, Dan Johnson, in February. Foster grew up in the same house with Tatum and his five sisters in Midland, Texas, and Johnson was also the pastor at his church.

"It was tough because those people were really, really close to me," he says. "My cousin was my best friend in the world. He was like the brother I never had. My Grandfather always lived five houses down and had really been the only father figure I had known. He was everything to me. I lost some really, really important people."

Suddenly, "Chuck" changed his outlook on life. His priorities changed from basketball, God and family to God, family, school and basketball.

"I love the game and I've been playing for a long time, but I started playing because it's fun," he says. "I try to keep in perspective that this is a game. It's sad that it takes something that tragic, but I had to put my priorities back in order. I think that's why I'm like I am. That's why I don't take things that don't have to be taken seriously as serious as others because you can always be in a worse situation."

Prior to the knee injury, the worst thing that had happened to the communications major on the court was a rolled ankle, so he felt confident about a quick recovery.

"When it happened, there really wasn't any pain," Tatum says. "I hobbled in and Dave called Dr. Park. I went in for an MRI the next day. Dave called me down and said 'Chuck, you've torn three ligaments. You're going to have surgery and we're going to rehab. It's going to be a 12-month process.'"

Tatum had to ice the knee for more than a week to get the swelling down for the operation. The surgery lasted seven hours, and then he realized what was in for.

"They put me to sleep at about 11 in the morning," he said. "When I woke up, it was dark, and I'm getting out of an ambulance (after being transferred from the surgical center to the hospital). That's when it hit me. The pain just shot through my body and that's when I realized it was going to be a problem."

He was supposed to be in the hospital overnight, but the pain kept him there for five days.

"His injury is the worst I've seen," England, who has been at Arkansas 20 years, says. "I saw one in football that was about as bad, but as far as basketball is concerned, his is the worst knee injury I've seen. A lot of guys wouldn't make it back. It's been a trying period for Charles. It was such a devastating injury and he had never really had an injury before. His knee was completely dislocated and torn up."

"It looked like a grenade had gone off in there," Dr. Al Gordon, another one of UA's team physicians, says. "Right after the injury, I gave him a 10 to 15 percent chance of coming back."

He was released on a Sunday and began his rehab on Tuesday. It was no problem waking up for those sessions because he couldn't sleep.

"I would always wake up early," he says. "I watched 'Scooby Doo' at 5, 'Saved By The Bell' at 5:30, 'The Cosby Show' at 6 and 'A Different World' at 6:30. I would go back to sleep, wake up and then try to do something. I would leave for two hours for rehab and go back. I was alone for the rest of the day."

He was alone because going to class was practically impossible. Initially in a wheel chair, he was on two crutches for two months and one crutch for another month. His professors gave him incompletes and he completed his courses from the spring semester by November. Meanwhile, his rehab escalated.

"You would never think lifting your leg would be so hard," he says. "I used to sweat and grind my teeth, just trying to lift my leg up off the training table. It just wouldn't move."

Around this time is when he doubted he would make it back.

"There was a long period there where I don't think he thought, in his heart, he would be able to come back and play," England says.

Michael Jordan ended up being an inspiration — not to play, but to walk.

Charles Tatum has undergone 12 months of rehab to play as a senior for the Razorbacks.

"In June and July, I was still on one crutch," he says. "One day I got up and the new Jordans (shoes) had come out, and I wanted a pair. I was driving at this point. I could bend my leg enough to get my foot on the pedals. I decided I was going to try to walk without the crutches."

He drove to the mall, parked as close to the door as possible and walked inside. It took nearly 15 minutes to make what would normally be less than a five-minute walk, and he was dripping with sweat by the time he made it, but he did make it. Then it was time to go back to his car.

"I paid for my shoes and stood there leaning against the counter just thinking about the walk back," he says.

By November, he had lost about 25 pounds because he quit eating. His right leg was significantly smaller than his left, even with a portion of his rehab devoted to maintaining muscle mass. Then Heath called him in for a meeting.

"We had a lot of talks about him being involved in practice and about him being a guy that communicates with his teammates and expressing his thoughts on what they needed to do," Heath says.

"Coach Heath told me I was a team leader," he says. "I'm all about the team, so I did what I could do to help."

He was doing what he could to support his teammates, but he still wasn't progressing. Then he talked to his sister, Dana. She told him God was on his side and he couldn't lose. Tatum got motivated.

"That's when I got serious about the rehab," he says. "I closed my eyes, gritted my teeth and cried. Dave would say 'Yes, it's going to hurt, but I'm not going to kill you.' I nicknamed him the 'Dungeon Master.' Some days I would walk in and I could see his eyes glowing red and he would ask me if I was ready. I started coming in early and running stairs and jumping rope, and doing other things on my own that I needed to do that I hadn't been doing."

By January, he was back on the floor. He wasn't close to being 100 percent, and may never be, but he participated in limited drills and ran the scout team offense. He was there for his teammates and they were there for him.

"It takes endless encouragement, but honest encouragement," Park says. "Dave had some great ideas as far as getting him on the floor to do his exercises, wearing his practice jersey and participating in some team drills. It fed him and still made him a part of what was going on."

"Once he started seeing some progress and getting back on the court and participating in practice, even though he was only about 80 percent, that really helped," England says.

Tatum got more involved as a team leader. From the bench, he saw games from a different perspective and relayed what he saw to the players.

"Things are different when you look at them from a coaches' perspective," he says. "When you're on the court, you're playing. If you have a shot, there may be a guy in the corner that has a better shot. A coach may say 'You should have made the extra pass instead of shooting.' I can see somebody thinking I have a good shot, but somebody else has a better shot. If it's a better shot, it's better for the team. It's not about individual statistics. I learned a lot sitting there observing the players on the court, the coaches, and the reactions between the two. I can understand what the coaches were trying to tell them seeing it from the coaches' perspective on the bench, and I could relay it to them as a player."

Arkansas finished 14-15 in 2002 and Richardson's contract was not renewed. UA was 9-19 in 2003, a far cry from the program Tatum signed with in 2000. The Razorbacks have been to the Final Four four times since 1978, and made 22 appearances in the NCAA Tournament and recorded 21 20-win seasons since 1977.

"What got me was how we were losing," Tatum says. "We had a bunch of freshmen that needed guidance and we had a bunch of older guys that needed guidance, so it was like the blind leading the blind. Nobody stepped up and took the bull by the horns to lead the team, and that really bothered me. All those guys wanted to win, but nobody wanted to step on anybody's toes."

Tatum could have made a difference. A veteran with 84 games played, he would have been the only returning guard on a club with five other seniors. Instead, UA played the second-toughest schedule in the nation with an all-freshman backcourt.

"If I had played last year, I think we would have done better and I wouldn't have had a knee injury," he says. "I also think everything happens for a reason. God has a plan and he wanted it to work out this way, so I'm not going to question it. Of course I want my old knee back, but I can't have it so I'm just going to go along with it and play hard with the knee I have."

He got his first test over Labor Day weekend when the Razorbacks played four exhibition games in Cancun, Mexico.

In those games, two against a club pro team and two against a university squad, he averaged 8.8 points and 2.8 assists, helping Arkansas win three times. He shot 54.5 percent from the field (12-22), including 55 percent on three-pointers (11-20).

"Charles is a special human being," Heath says. "I think a lot of us know all the difficulties he's gone through, but he always has a smile on his face. For someone who has overcome so much adversity and still has a positive outlook on life, that says a lot about who he is."

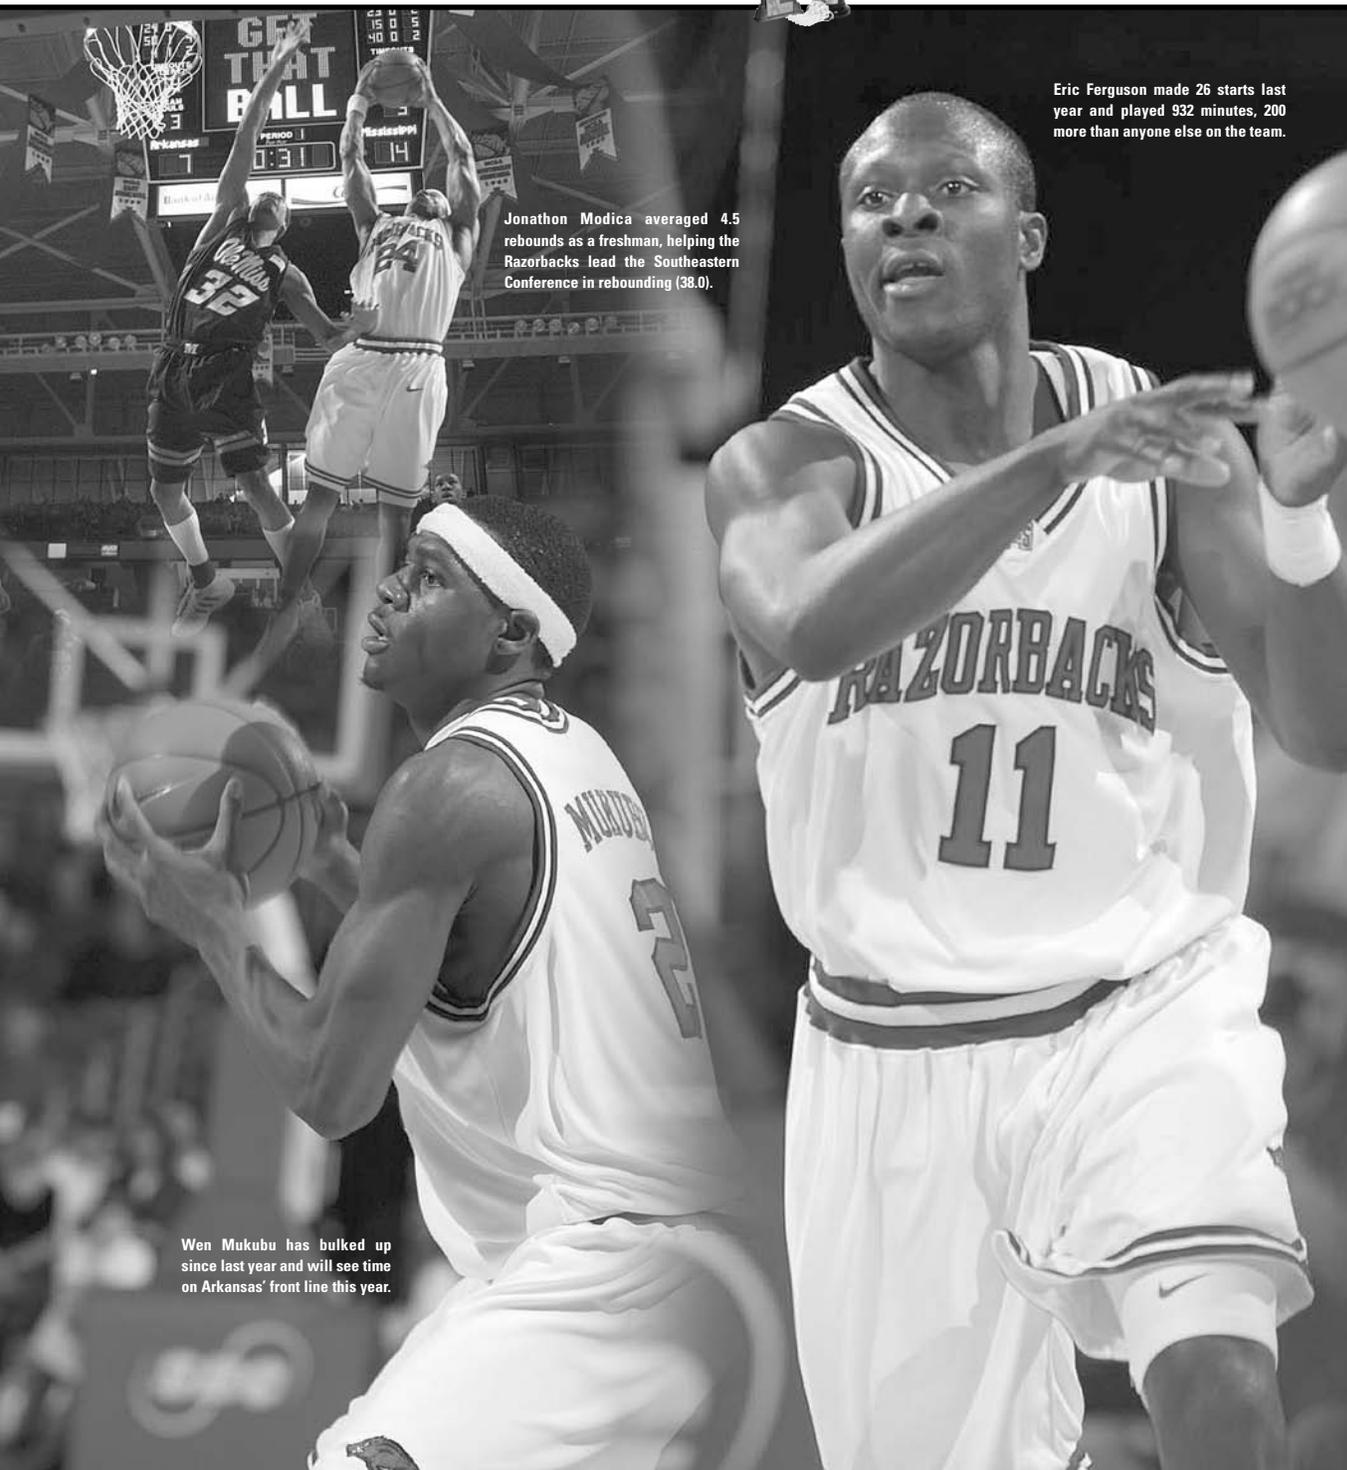

And who is Charles Tatum?

"He's a breath of fresh air," Heath says. "He's fun to be around. In some ways, he's the entertainment for the players. He does a lot of things to get the guys together. Some of those things are small and little, but they go a long way in building chemistry on the team. To do those things after all he's been through — he's special."

"Charles Tatum is the most happy-go-lucky guy you'll ever meet," Tatum says. "I should be more serious about things, but I like to joke about them."

That brings a smile to everyone's face.

Eric Ferguson made 26 starts last year and played 932 minutes, 200 more than anyone else on the team.

Jonathon Modica averaged 4.5 rebounds as a freshman, helping the Razorbacks lead the Southeastern Conference in rebounding (38.0).

Wen Mukubu has bulked up since last year and will see time on Arkansas' front line this year.

#12 KENDRICK DAVIS

Guard - 6-4 - 181 > Sophomore - 1L > Houston, Texas > (Clements HS)

2003-04 Preview:

A candidate for a starting spot at shooting guard, Kendrick Davis can also play point guard. A good shooter, he is counted on for scoring. He improved his strength during the summer.

In four games against a club pro team and a local university on UA's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, he averaged 10.3 points while shooting 51.6 percent from the field (16-31). He led the team with 21 points in the 108-56 victory over La Salle.

As a Freshman in 2002-03:

UA's third-leading scorer (10.3 ppg), his biggest shot was the driving layup with 25 seconds left that gave the Razorbacks the 53-51 win over No. 20 Mississippi State. His three with two minutes left got UA within three.

Davis averaged 2.0 rebounds and 1.4 assists per game while shooting 37.9 percent from the field, 33.9 from three-point and a team-best 79.1 percent (53-67) from the line.

He led the team in scoring eight times, was in double figures 18 times, had a pair of 20-point games and led the team in assists five times.

Over the last six games of the year, he averaged a team-best 12.8 points while making 16 of 37 threes (.432).

He began his career with a 13-point effort in the season-opener against Jackson State (11/22) and followed with a 23-point effort at Oral Roberts (11/26). He was the top scorer in each game, becoming the first UA newcomer to score game highs in his first two games since junior Jesse Pate in 1996.

He had 16 points on six of 10 shooting, including three of six threes, against Louisiana Tech (12/10), joining Jonathon Modica (19), Eric Ferguson (16) and Rashard Sullivan (10) in double figures. That game marked the first time four UA freshmen scored in double-digits in the same game since Philip McKellar, Mario Credit, Ron Huey and Cannon Whitby pulled it off in a 93-76 loss to SMU on March 1, 1987.

He scored 14 points and added four rebounds, three assists and two steals against No. 20 Illinois (12/7). Against Southwest Texas (12/21), he led the team with 22 points, including hitting four of nine three-pointers.

He made three of five three-pointers and had a team-high 13 points at No. 4 Alabama (1/8). Davis scored 15 points, all in the second half, and had four rebounds against No. 20 Georgia (1/18).

He missed the first half of the LSU game (1/22) for disciplinary reasons and played just 58 minutes over the next five games. He came off the bench in the game against LSU (2/22) and led the team with 16 points on six of 12 shooting. Coming off the bench again, he scored a team-high 16 points against Ole Miss (3/8), and added three rebounds, two assists and two steals.

In High School:

Davis, who led Clements to the district championship and a 22-11 finish, made a school-record 128 three-pointers in 285 attempts (45 percent) and also shot 76 percent at the line for Coach Ralph Farley. The left-hander had games of 46, 45 and 41 points as a senior.

He ended his career as Clements' all-time leader in points scored (1,563) and three-point goals made (241).

As a junior, he averaged 19.5 points and 3.6 assists on a 25-10 club. He averaged 6.6 points and 5.0 assists as a sophomore on a 26-9 team, and 7.0 points and 4.0 assists as a freshman on a 25-8 squad.

Personal:

Born Jan. 5, 1984, he is the son of Kent and Katrina Davis, and has one sister, Kendra. He is majoring in business. Davis goes by the nickname "KD."

Stan Heath on Kendrick Davis:

"Kendrick grew up as the season went on last year. He's a player that can score in different ways. He's very streaky. He's toned his body and worked on getting more consistent as a shooter. He's a guy that is very capable of putting up some points for us."

#11 ERIC FERGUSON

Point Guard – 6-1 – 204 > Sophomore – 1L > Long Island, N.Y. > (Milford [Conn.] Academy)

2003-04 Preview:

UA's starting point guard last year, Eric Ferguson should start again this year. Last year, with a lack of ball-handlers on the team, he played more than 200 minutes more than anyone else. This year, he should get more rest with the return of senior Charles Tatum and a more experienced Jamar Blackmon.

During UA's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, to play a club pro team and a local university, he averaged 7.0 points, 3.3 rebounds and 3.3 steals in four games while shooting 50 percent from the field (12-24). More importantly, he had 13 assists and just two turnovers.

As a Freshman in 2002-03:

As the team's only true point guard, he was the starter from the beginning. Due to a lack of depth, he logged a team-high 932 minutes, almost 34 a game, which was more than 200 minutes more than the next closest player (Dioniso Gomez – 714).

Ferguson also led the team in assists (3.3), steals (1.9) and three-point buckets (46) while averaging 10.9 points and 3.1 rebounds. His assist total (91) would have led the team in two of the previous three years while his 46 threes would have topped the club in three of the last five seasons.

He shot 35.1 percent from the floor (104-296), 30.7 percent on threes (46-150) and 60 percent at the line (51-85). Ferguson led the team in scoring a team-high nine times and was in double figures 17 times, and led the team in assists 19 times.

In non-conference play, he led UA with 12.4 points a game. In UA's 16 home games, he led the team in scoring with 12.1 points a game, shot 37.8 percent from the floor, and had 59 assists with 59 turnovers. In six January games, he averaged a team-best 10.8 points. In eight February games, he had 24 assists and 19 turnovers while scoring 10.5 points a game.

After scoring nine points in the opener against Jackson State, he reached double figures in the next eight games with a team-high 14 points against No. 22 Tulsa (11/30) and a team-high 15 against Troy State (12/3). He had 11 points, four rebounds, two assists and two steals against No. 20 Illinois (12/7), but he also had nine turnovers.

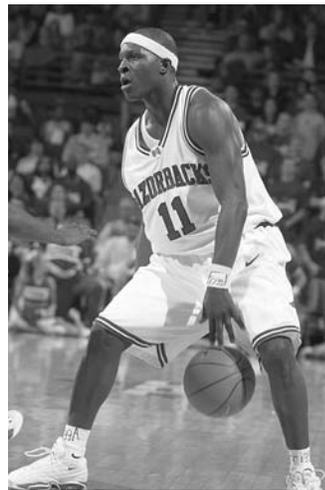

Against Louisiana Tech (12/10), he had 16 points, four rebounds, five assists and three steals, joining Jonathon Modica (19), Kendrick Davis (16) and Rashard Sullivan (10) in double figures. That game marked the first time four UA freshmen scored in double-digits in the same game since Philip McKellar, Mario Credit, Ron Huery and Cannon Whitby pulled it off in a 93-76 loss to SMU on March 1, 1987.

In the win over LSU (1/22), he hit six of 10 shots, including three of five three-pointers, and had 19 points, three rebounds, two assists and three steals in 35 minutes.

At No. 23 Mississippi State (2/8), he scored a team-high 13 points, all in the first six minutes of the second half, and had two rebounds, two assists and four steals with just one turnover.

Ferguson had a huge game at South Carolina (2/15), hitting eight of 14 shots, including four three-pointers, and finished with 20 points, six assists, three rebounds and three steals with just two turnovers. Against No. 2 Kentucky (2/19), he scored a team-high 13 points and had two assists and two steals with only two turnovers.

In the win at Vanderbilt (2/26), he had 14 points, five assists and eight rebounds, and made seven of eight free throws in the final 1:20. In the win over No. 20 Mississippi State (3/1), he led the team with 15 points, 13 in the second half, and added five rebounds and two assists.

In High School:

Ferguson prepped at Hempstead (N.Y.) High School but played at Milford (Conn.) Academy in 2001. As a senior in 2000 at Hempstead, he averaged 22.5 points, 9.0 rebounds, 5.5 assists and 5.0 steals a game for Coach Ted Adams.

At Milford, a prep school, he averaged 16.0 points, 7.0 assists and 6.0 rebounds per contest for Coach Bob Regen.

Ferguson signed with Villanova following his high school career and later enrolled at Milford.

Personal:

Born Jan. 13, 1982, he is the son of Margaret Ferguson. Nicknamed "E-Star," he is majoring in arts and sciences. Ferguson signed with Arkansas after also considering Villanova, DePaul, Oklahoma, Iowa State, North Carolina State, Providence, East Carolina and Iona.

Stan Heath on Eric Ferguson:

"Eric could be our catalyst. He gained a lot of experience last year after being thrown right to the fire, but it will make this year easier because he knows what to expect. With a year under his belt, he realized what he needed to do with conditioning and strength in order to be one of the good guards in this league. I really believe his goal is to be one of the better point guards in this league and as he improves his turnover ratio along with his perimeter shooting, that will help him get put in that category."

#1 MICHAEL JONES

Forward - 6-9 - 215 > Junior - 2L > HS - Little Rock, Ark. > (Parkview HS)

2003-04 Preview:

A good outside shooter, Michael Jones will be counted on for offense again in 2004. A natural wing player, he may have to play power forward to give UA more depth on the front line.

Jones averaged 3.3 points and 2.3 rebounds in four games during UA's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, to play a club pro team and a local university.

As a Sophomore in 2002-03:

Jones was fifth on the team with 5.3 points and eighth with 2.5 rebounds a game. He was fourth on the club with 29 three-pointers and third with a .349 three-point percentage (29-83).

In three November games, he shot 50 percent from the floor (10-20) and from three-point (5-10), and 71.4 percent from the line (5-7) while averaging 10.0 points and 4.3 rebounds. In six January games, he averaged 8.8 points and 4.4 rebounds while making 12 of 30 threes (.400).

He scored 12 points in the season-opener against JSU (11/22). At Oral Roberts (11/26), he hit five of seven shots for 14 points and added six rebounds. Jones made a career-high seven shots in 10 attempts, including four of six three-pointers, and matched his career high with 18 points against Memphis (1/2).

Jones started against LSU (1/22) and hit six of 10 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, for 16 points. He also had seven rebounds and one blocked shot in a career-high 37 minutes. Jones had eight points in the win over No. 22 Alabama (2/5). At No. 23 Mississippi State (2/8), he had 11 points and five rebounds in just 19 minutes.

As a Freshman in 2001-02:

Jones was the only regular to not start a game, but he saw action in 25 contests. He averaged 4.6 points and 1.6 rebounds while shooting 48.3 percent from the field and 77.8 percent at the line. He made 33.3 percent of his three-point attempts.

In seven games against ranked teams, he shot 50 percent (20-40) and averaged 7.7 points and 2.9 rebounds.

In the loss at No. 7 Alabama (1/30), he recorded his first double-double with career highs of 18 points and 10 rebounds. In that game, he also set highs for shots made (six) and taken (13), free throws made (five) and taken (seven), defensive rebounds (nine) and minutes played (29).

In the 94-91 loss at No. 5 Illinois (12/8), he had nine points on four of seven shooting and a team-high five rebounds in 22 minutes. In the overtime win over No. 4 Florida (1/26), he scored 15 points on five of nine shooting and added three rebounds.

He shot 50 percent or better in 13 of his 25 games.

2000-01:

He redshirted.

In High School:

As a senior at Parkview High School, he averaged 14.3 points, 6.8 rebounds and 2.8 blocked shots a game. He closed his Parkview career with a 29-point, 16-rebound game. He averaged 10.0 points and 8.0 rebounds as a junior. Jones was also a member of Parkview's Honor Society.

Jones averaged 20.0 points and 8.0 rebounds for the AAU Arkansas Wings.

Personal:

Majoring in communication, he is the son of Jerry and Rhonda Jones. He has two brothers and one sister. He was born May 25, 1982.

Stan Heath on Michael Jones:

"Mike is one of our better skilled forwards. He's a good shooter with range and a 6-9 frame. He's worked and tried to improve an inside game to go with his outside shooting touch. If he becomes a threat in that area, he could be a tough matchup for opponents."

#24 JONATHON MODICA

Guard/Forward – 6-4 – 200 > Sophomore – 1L > Smackover, Ark. > (Smackover HS)

2003-04 Preview:

Jonathon Modica had a great summer, working on his shooting range and ball-handling, and was a finalist for the USA Basketball 19-and-under national team. He is counted on for scoring and rebounding again this year.

Modica led the team in scoring during its fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, averaging 14.0 points and 4.0 rebounds in four games against a club pro team and a local university.

As a Freshman in 2002-03:

He led the team in scoring (11.5 ppg) and three-point percentage (.360, 31-86), was second in rebounding (4.5 rpg), shooting (.464, 117-252) and with 29 steals, and led the team with 58 free throws made while shooting 65.9 percent at the line (58-88).

In SEC play, he led the team with 11.1 points a game. In 11 non-conference games, he scored 11.5 points while shooting a team-best 58.8 percent from the field (50-85). In UA's wins, he scored 14.0 points and made 46 of 85 shots (.541), including 14 of 29 threes (.483). In UA's losses, he was the only player to average in double figures with 10.4 points a game. He averaged 12.8 points in nine games against ranked opponents and 11.5 in 17 games against NCAA Tournament teams, both team highs.

Modica led the team in scoring seven times, was in double figures 15 times and led the club in assists twice. He had 11 points and a game-high 13 rebounds in the opener against Jackson State (11/22), becoming the first Razorback in 20 years to begin his UA career with a double-double. Joe Kleinke had 15 points and 10 rebounds in the 74-57 win over Southeast Missouri State on Nov. 27, 1982.

He scored 19 points on seven of 11 shooting, and added three rebounds against Louisiana Tech (12/10). He joined Kendrick Davis (16), Eric Ferguson (16) and Rashard Sullivan (10) in double figures. That game marked the first time four UA freshmen scored in double-digits in the same game since Philip McKellar, Mario Credit, Ron Huery and Cannon Whitby pulled it off in a 93-76 loss to SMU on March 1, 1987.

Modica scored 19 points in a second straight game by hitting eight of 12 shots against Sam Houston State (12/18).

At No. 4 Alabama (1/8), he had 10 points, four rebounds and three steals. Modica scored eight points and had five rebounds against No. 20 Georgia (1/18). He missed the first half of the LSU game (1/22) for disciplinary reasons, but had eight points and two rebounds in the second half. He made five of eight shots and scored a team-high 13 points, 11 in the second half, at Ole Miss (1/25).

In a game featuring the top five scoring freshmen in the SEC at No. 4 Florida (2/1), Modica stole the show with a game-high 26 points on seven of 12 shooting. He also had five rebounds and two steals.

In his next outing, the win over No. 22 Alabama (2/5), he had another 26-point outing on eight of 19 shooting, including four of six on threes. He was also six of seven at the line, and added five rebounds, two assists and two steals. He became the first Arkansas freshman to record back-to-back 25-point games since former All-American Todd Day turned the trick in 1989.

Against Tennessee (2/12), he made seven of 12 shots and finished with 17 points, four rebounds, two steals and one assist. At South Carolina (2/15), he was six of 10 from the floor, including two of two on three-pointers, and had 17 points and five rebounds.

He broke out of a season-ending shooting slump in the SEC Tournament against LSU (3/13) and scored a game-high 18 points on six of 12 shooting. He also had four rebounds and a steal in 22 minutes.

In High School:

A three-time all-state selection and Union County player of the year, and a four-time all-conference pick, Modica was named KATV-TV's Mr. Basketball as a senior and he was ranked the No. 1 player in the state.

As a senior, he averaged 33.2 points, 13.2 rebounds and 3.1 steals for Coach Mike Poff in leading Class 2A Smackover to a 20-7 finish. As a junior, he averaged 32.3 points, 9.3 rebounds and 3.2 steals on a 21-8 club.

In his first game at UA's Bud Walton Arena, he scored a game-high 17 points in 18 minutes to lead the East to an 88-79 win over the West in the state all-star game.

During the spring, Modica had 28 points and eight rebounds in helping his team to a 149-120 victory in the Kentucky Derby Festival Classic, a national all-star game at Freedom Hall in Louisville, Ky.

He scored 20 points and had 10 rebounds in leading the Arkansas Hawks to the AAU state title in 2001. Modica also played for the South at the 2001 USA Basketball Men's Youth Developmental Festival.

He played football until his senior season and then devoted all of his attention to basketball. As a junior, he completed 126 of 246 passes for 1,573 yards and 13 touchdowns, ran 85 times for 424 yards and six scores, and caught three passes for 61 yards and three TDs.

Personal:

Born Sept. 26, 1984, he is the son of Amanda Stephens. Majoring in business, his nickname is "Pookie." He signed with Arkansas over Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida, among others.

Stan Heath on Jonathon Modica:

"Jonathon came on like gangbusters last year and emerged as one of our top players at the end of the season and no one expected that. That's a credit to him and how hard he's worked, and his will to improve as a basketball player. He still has some things to do to take his game up another notch and he worked hard to do those things during the summer. I'm really excited about this season for Jonathon because he's focused and very determined to lift our program as well as himself."

#2 WEN MUKUBU

Guard/Forward – 6-6 – 205 > Sophomore – 1L > Miami, Fla. > (Miami Beach HS)

2003-04 Preview:

One of the most athletic players on the team, Wen Mukubu came on at the end of last season and had a good summer. His added weight and strength should get him quality time on the front line from the beginning this year.

Mukubu traveled with the team to Cancun, Mexico, for its four games against a club pro team and a local university earlier this fall, but was unable to play or take part in any of the two weeks of practices due to a pulled quad muscle. He is expected to be fully recovered for the start of practice.

As a Freshman in 2002-03:

He averaged 2.3 points and 2.0 rebounds for the season while shooting 32.7 percent from the floor (18-55), but those numbers are somewhat misleading. Over the last 12 games, he played two minutes or less five times. In the other seven games, he played anywhere from seven to 23 minutes for an average of less than 16 minutes a game, and averaged 4.7 points and 4.1 rebounds while making 11 of 37 shots (.297) and nine of 18 free throws (.500).

Against No. 20 Georgia (1/18), he had eight points, five rebounds and two steals in 19 minutes. He started in the win over LSU (1/22) and had a game-high eight rebounds along with three points and an assist in just 13 minutes.

He did not dress for the game at No. 23 Mississippi State (2/8) for disciplinary reasons. He started against No. 2 Kentucky (2/19) and tied for the team lead with six rebounds. At Auburn (3/6), he had a season-high nine points in 11 minutes and made five of six free throws. Against LSU in the SEC Tournament (3/13), he had six points, four rebounds and a team-high four assists with one steal in 23 minutes.

In High School:

He averaged 19.0 points, 13.0 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game as a senior, helping Coach Rodriguez Diego's club go 20-7. As a junior, he played in only eight games before missing the rest of the season with an injury, but averaged 22.8 points and 11.0 rebounds for a club that finished 17-10. His sophomore team was 18-11, and he averaged 13.0 points, 9.0 rebounds and 2.0 assists an outing.

He also played football and competed in track. He set the state high jump record of 7-1 as a junior. A defensive end in football, he was recruited to play football by Florida, Florida State, Miami (Fla.), Arkansas and North Carolina, among others.

He played AAU basketball with teammate Rashard Sullivan for Coast to Coast.

Personal:

His full name is Wen Bos Mukubu. Born Aug. 3, 1983, he is the son of Max Mukubu and Suzy Tuluka. Born in Zaire, Africa, he is majoring in arts and sciences. He has spoken English for only a few years.

Stan Heath on Wen Mukubu:

"Wen is another player who improved a lot as the season went on. He didn't play a lot early on but played more as the season went on. He's added 15 pounds since last year and that increased strength will help him be able to play multiple positions whether its small forward or possibly even power forward. He's become one of our best defensive players."

THE RAZORBACKS // WEN MUKUBU

#20 RASHARD SULLIVAN

Forward - 6-8 - 235 > Sophomore - 1L > Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. > (St. Thomas Aquinas HS)

2003-04 Preview:

Rashard Sullivan has added weight and strength since last year and is counted on to provide rebounding and defense on the front line.

Sullivan averaged 6.0 points, 4.0 rebounds and 3.0 steals in four games against a club pro team and a local university during UA's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico.

As a Freshman in 2002-03:

He averaged 2.4 points and 3.2 rebounds a game while shooting 40 percent from the floor (28-70) and 35.3 percent at the line (12-34). Over the last six games of the year, when he averaged 20 minutes a game and played 120 of his 374 total minutes, he averaged a team-best 6.8 rebounds and hit 12 of 26 shots (.462) to score 4.0 points a game.

In UA's wins, he made 55.2 percent of his shots (16-29), and averaged 3.9 points and 3.3 rebounds. In seven December games, he made 14 of 21 shots (.667) and averaged 4.4 points.

Against Louisiana Tech (12/10), he had 10 points on five of six shooting in his first start, and added two rebounds, an assist, a blocked shot and a steal. He joined Jonathon Modica (19), Kendrick Davis (16) and Eric Ferguson (16) in double figures. That game marked the first time four UA freshmen scored in double-digits in the same game since Philip McKellar, Mario Credit, Ron Huery and Cannon Whitby pulled it off in a 93-76 loss to SMU on March 1, 1987.

He hit three of five shots, and had seven points, four rebounds, two assists, one block and one steal against Sam Houston State (12/18). He had a team-high nine rebounds along with four points in the win at Vanderbilt (2/26).

At Auburn (3/6), he had eight points and a season-high 10 rebounds, including a personal-best five offensive boards, and played a season-high 33 minutes.

In High School:

Sullivan was his team's MVP after averaging 15.0 points, 12.0 rebounds and 5.0 blocked shots a game in helping Coach Steve Strand's club go 27-6. Street & Smith's listed Sullivan as a high honorable mention All-American.

As a junior, he averaged 13.0 points, 11.0 rebounds and 2.0 blocks on an 18-9 club. As a sophomore, he helped St. Thomas Aquinas go 22-7 with averages of 10.0 points, 8.0 rebounds and 2.0 blocks.

He also participated in track and was his team's MVP.

He played AAU basketball with teammate Wen Mukubu for Coast to Coast.

Personal:

Born July 2, 1984, he is the son of Anthony Sullivan and Hyacinth Madden. He was born in Queens, N.Y., and has six brothers and sisters. Sullivan is majoring in arts and sciences.

Stan Heath on Rashard Sullivan:

"Rashard is a great rebounder and defender. In those areas, he's very productive. Offensively, he's worked to improve his game around the basket. With his experience last year, he understands what it takes to play at this level. If he improves his offense, he will be a major help to our front line."

#3 CHARLES TATUM

Guard – 5-10 – 195 > Senior – 3L > Midland, Texas > (Midland HS)

2003-04 Preview:

After missing the entire 2003 season, Charles Tatum will provide a big boost in the backcourt. He gives the Razorbacks an experienced backup and may challenge for the starting role. He would have been UA's only returning experienced guard last season, but his injury forced the team to rotate true freshmen Eric Ferguson and Kendrick Davis at the spot, and Jamar Blackmon eventually worked into the rotation to earn his first letter.

In Tatum's first action in two years, he averaged 8.8 points and 2.8 assists while shooting 54.5 percent from the field (12-22), including 55 percent on threes (11-20), during UA's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, to play four games against a club pro team and a local university.

2002-03:

He redshirted while rehabbing a knee injury from the off-season. Following the 2002 season, in April, he tore three ligaments and one cartilage in his right knee while playing in a pickup game. Midway through the season, he was able to practice on a limited basis.

As a Junior in 2001-02:

He saw action in 28 games with five starts, and averaged 3.4 points while shooting 31 percent from the floor (32-104). Of his 32 field goals, 19 were three-pointers (19-72, .264). He also shot 76.5 percent at the line (13-17). He averaged 3.8 points and shot 35.1 percent against the SEC.

Tatum started the Feb. 20 home game against No. 5 Alabama and scored a career-high 20 points on six of 11 shooting, including four of eight three-pointers. He also had three steals while playing a career-high 33 minutes. He matched his career highs for field goals made and attempted, three-point attempts and free throws made (four), while setting a new personal best with four treys.

In the overtime victory over No. 4 Florida (1/26), he started and contributed eight points and a career-high tying four steals.

As a Sophomore in 2000-01:

He averaged 5.7 points, appearing in 26 contests with two starts. In SEC play, he averaged 5.2 points.

For the year, he shot 39 percent from the field, including 31 percent from three-point range, but against the SEC, he shot 34.7 percent from three-point range and 37 percent overall.

In seven games against ranked teams, he averaged 4.9 points and hit 47.6 percent of his three-pointers (10-21).

Tatum was voted the team's Defensive Player of the Year and shared the free-throw award with Jannero Pargo after making 20 of 21 attempts (.952).

He scored a season-high 18 points on six of 11 shooting in 19 minutes in the win over Grambling (12/31). He also had 12 points in 14 minutes in the win over Jackson State (11/22), 14 points and four steals in 16 minutes in the win over Louisiana-Monroe (11/22), and 13 points in 14 minutes in the win over North Texas (12/5).

In conference play, he scored 11 points in only eight minutes in the 87-58 win over No. 12 Alabama (1/20). Tatum also led the team with 10 points and a career-high matching four rebounds in the loss at Auburn (2/14).

He missed the Memphis game (12/2) with a strained muscle in his arm, the Ole Miss game (1/10) with a stomach virus and the Mississippi State game (2/3) with a sprained right shoulder.

As a Freshman in 1999-00:

He played in 30 games with a start against Providence (12/23) and averaged 3.4 points a game. He hit 19 of 24 free throws, including 14 of his last 15, for a team-best .792 percentage.

He hit four of five shots for a season-high 13 points in 18 minutes in the win over Jackson State (12/4), but his best game may have been his three of five shooting effort, all three-pointers, for nine points in six minutes in the loss to Miami (Fla.) in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Tatum also had 10 points against Texas-Arlington (11/22), Santa Clara (11/28) and Mercer (12/18). He also had eight points and two rebounds against No. 22 Wake Forest.

He lost two family members during the season, first his cousin, Ben Foster Jr., who grew up in the same house with Tatum, in January, and then his grandfather, Dan Johnson, in February.

In High School:

He averaged 20.0 points, 4.0 assists and 4.0 steals as a senior, helping Midland High School win the district title. He connected on 42 percent of his three-point shots and 85 percent of his free throws.

His sophomore, junior and senior teams were a combined 101-8, and he averaged 20.0 points, 4.0 rebounds and 6.0 assists on his junior team, which finished 37-1 and won the Texas 5A state title. His sophomore team was 30-4 and he was voted conference Newcomer of the Year. His career scoring high was 41 points.

Personal:

Tatum is majoring in communication. The son of Danelle Tatum, he has five sisters and was born June 14, 1980.

Stan Heath on Charles Tatum:

"Charles brings four years worth of experience to our team, having sitting out last year, but he learned what we're trying to do as a program. The experience he will bring on the court will help as a calming influence. He's a very good three-point shooter and can extend defenses against us. He's also an effective player at pestering ball-handlers and forcing turnovers. He's gone through a tremendous amount of rehab and has been committed to getting himself healthy. We're thankful to have Charles back with us and in a Razorback uniform."

RAZORBACK NEWCOMERS

#10 RONNIE BREWER

Guard – 6-7 – 190
Freshman – HS – Fayetteville, Ark. (Fayetteville HS)
(26.8 ppg, 7.5 rpg, 4.0 apg)

2003-04 PREVIEW: One of two high school All-Americans among this year's group of newcomers, Ronnie Brewer made the Parade All-America squad after a stand-out career at Fayetteville High School. He will see significant playing time as a true freshman at one of three positions or maybe all three – point guard, guard and wing.

In four games against a club pro team and a local university during UA's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, he averaged 8.0 points, 3.0 rebounds and a team-best 4.5 assists per game.

IN HIGH SCHOOL: He earned Parade All-America honors after averaging 26.8 points, 7.5 rebounds and 4.0 assists a game for Coach Barry Gebhart at Fayetteville High School, leading the Bulldogs to a 24-5 finish and into the Class 5A semifinals for the second straight year. He was named the state's Gatorade Player of the Year, Mr. Basketball by the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette and was a finalist for McDonald's All-America honors. He also earned all-conference and all-state honors three times each.

As a junior, Brewer averaged 25.3 points, 7.5 rebounds and 3.2 assists per game. He averaged 15.0 points, 4.0 rebounds and 5.0 assists as a sophomore.

In the 5A West Conference, he scored 973 career points, breaking the previous record of 810 set by former UA All-American Corliss Williamson at Russellville High School.

He helped Fayetteville go 14-0 in conference play in each of his last two years.

Brewer was rated the No. 18 player in the nation by ESPN and was in the top 65 of every major list. He signed with Arkansas after also considering Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Kansas, among others.

PERSONAL: Born March 20, 1985, in Portland, Ore., he is the son of Ron and Carolyn Brewer. His father teamed with Sidney Moncrief and Marvin Delph to form the famed "Triplets," who led the Razorbacks to the 1978 Final Four when Brewer earned All-America honors. Ron, who works in development at UA, was the seventh pick in the first round of the 1978 NBA Draft by Portland. Carolyn also played basketball at Arkansas.

Brewer has two brothers and two sisters, and is majoring in journalism. His father also wore No. 10 for the Razorbacks.

Stan Heath on Ronnie Brewer: "Ronnie could be one of the most versatile players to wear an Arkansas jersey. He has the ability to play multiple positions. He can score, he can handle the ball and he makes good decisions. We have high expectations of Ronnie and Ronnie has high expectations for himself."

#22 PRESTON CRANFORD

Guard – 6-6 – 200
Freshman – HS – Heber Springs, Ark. (Heber Springs HS)
(21.0 ppg, 8.3 rpg)

2003-04 PREVIEW: A big guard with good range, Preston Cranford may earn quality time this year just with his shooting ability.

During the team's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, to face a club pro team and a local university in exhibition contests, Cranford averaged 4.0 points in three games, hitting four of 12 three-pointers.

IN HIGH SCHOOL: He averaged 21.0 points and 8.3 rebounds a game as a senior at Heber Springs High School for Coach Keith Cornett. He earned all-state, all-region and all-conference honors three times each, and made the state all-tournament team twice.

PERSONAL: Born Jan. 20, 1985, in Anderson, Ind., he is majoring in history. The son of Stuart and Paula Cranford, his father played basketball at Gulf Coast Bible College.

Stan Heath on Preston Cranford: "Preston is a walk-on, but he is a deadly shooter with range. He's a player that, once he gets accustomed to the talent level at Arkansas and in the SEC, could help us as a deep threat."

#23 OLU FAMUTIMI

Guard/Forward – 6-5 – 207
Freshman – HS – Flint, Mich. (Northwestern HS)
(25.0 ppg, 14.0 rpg, 4.5 apg)

2003-04 PREVIEW: Like Ronnie Brewer, Olu Famutimi (O-lou Fam-oo-team-ee) also earned high school All-America honors, making teams selected by both McDonald's and Parade. A natural wing player, he will see significant playing time at that position for the Razorbacks, but he is also versatile enough to play small forward and shooting guard.

His senior season was cut short by a right knee injury, but he recovered over the summer and practiced with the team in August in preparation for the trip to Cancun, Mexico, where the Hogs played four exhibition games against a club pro team and a local university over Labor Day weekend. He played in three games, averaging 4.8 points and 4.3 rebounds.

IN HIGH SCHOOL: As a senior, he earned McDonald's and Parade All-America honors after averaging 25.0 points, 14.0 rebounds, 4.5 assists and 3.0 steals per game. He also earned all-city, all-state and MVP honors for Coach David Bush.

As a junior, Famutimi, who grew up in Toronto, Ontario, averaged 23.0 points, 13.0 rebounds, 4.0 blocked shots, 3.0 assists and 2.0 steals a game.

According to ESPN, he is the sixth-best player in the nation. Rivals.com listed him as a five-star prospect and the No. 4 shooting guard in the country, and rated him the No. 17 overall prospect in the nation. Hoop Scoop magazine listed him as the No. 7 senior prospect in the nation and the No. 3 participant at the adidas ABCD Camp. Prep Stars Recruiter's Handbook and Van Coleman's FutureStars rated him the No. 11 overall prospect in the country. While playing AAU ball for the Michigan Hurricanes, he was named to the adidas Big Time All-Tournament team.

In seven AAU tournaments prior to his senior season, he was named MVP three times and he tied Kobe Bryant's record with 40 points in the ABCD Adidas All-American Camp All-Star Game. At Rick Barrett's Annual Gym Rats Midnight Madness at Cherry Hill, N.J., in September 2002, he had 37 points, 12 rebounds and four assists.

PERSONAL: Born Feb. 21, 1984, he is the son of Yemi and Margret Famutimi. He was born in Toronto, Ontario, and has one sister. "O-boy" is majoring in business management.

Stan Heath on Olu Famutimi: "Olu comes with a big reputation. He has worked extremely hard to get himself healthy and ready for this season. We expect him to be at 100 percent. He's a very talented player who has a knack for scoring. He has a knack for making exciting plays and playing above the rim. He has a chance to be a really special player."

#33 VINCENT HUNTER

Forward/Center - 6-10 - 195
Freshman - HS - Little Rock, Ark. (J.A. Fair HS)
(15.0 ppg, 12.0 rpg, 8.0 bpg)

2003-04 PREVIEW: The least heralded of the scholarship newcomers, Vincent Hunter could be the surprise of the bunch. He needs to gain weight and strength, but he is very active around the goal and will see significant playing time this year.

Hunter looked solid on the team's trip to Cancun, Mexico, earlier in the fall to play a club pro team and a local university. He averaged 9.5 points and a team-best 8.5 rebounds in four games while making 70 percent of his shots (14-20). He had two double-doubles with 13 points and 13 rebounds, and 13 and 10 in a pair of wins over La Salle.

IN HIGH SCHOOL: As a senior, he averaged 15.0 points, 12.0 rebounds and 8.0 blocked shots a game in leading J.A. Fair to the state finals. He was named MVP of the Class 4A state tournament.

As a junior, Hunter averaged 18.0 points, 12.0 rebounds, 5.7 blocked shots, 3.0 assists and 2.0 steals per game.

He earned all-state honors as a sophomore, junior and senior.

Hunter, who was rated the 103rd-best prospect in the nation by Hoop Scoop magazine, signed with Arkansas after also considering Oklahoma State, Cincinnati, Iowa, Mississippi State, Tennessee and Penn State.

PERSONAL: Born Oct. 22, 1984, in Little Rock, he is the son of Vincent and Shirley Hunter. He has one sister and is enrolled in the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. His nickname is "V-Mac."

Stan Heath on Vincent Hunter: "Vincent is an 'X' factor. He's long, very athletic and has great timing as a shot blocker, but he has a nice shooting touch for a big man on the perimeter. He added about 15 pounds over the summer, which will help him this year. He could be a valuable asset for us at the forward position and maybe give us a different dimension because he is a shot blocker."

#14 BILLY PHARIS

Forward/Center - 6-8 - 230
Senior - TR - Van Buren, Ark. (SMU)
(Sat out in 2003)

2003-04 PREVIEW: Billy Pharis will play his only season for the Razorbacks in 2004. The transfer was able to practice with the club last year and will make major contributions this season. He can play center or forward, and has a nice outside shot. The SEC does not allow transfers with less than two years of eligibility remaining to be placed on scholarship, so he is a walk-on.

During the team's fall trip to Cancun, Mexico, to play four games against a club pro team and a local university, he was the team's second-leading scorer (10.5 ppg) and rebounder (6.0 rpg) while shooting 50 percent from three-point range (5-10). He had a double-double of 14 points and 10 rebounds in the opening game against Belize Teane, the club pro squad.

2002-03: He sat out the 2003 season after transferring from SMU, but he practiced with the team.

AT SMU (2001-02): As a junior at SMU, Pharis averaged 1.3 points and 0.9 rebounds a game on a 15-14 club. He played in 24 games, all off the bench, and averaged 5.1 minutes per game. He made 11 of 29 shots (.379), including four of 14 three-pointers (.286).

He had season highs of seven points and four rebounds in a win at Rice on Feb. 16 when he also played a season-high 19 minutes. His three with 2:18 remaining put SMU in front for good. Pharis also hit two free throws with less than 30 seconds to play to seal a win against Nevada. He was also two of three from the floor and had two assists at Iowa.

IN JUNIOR COLLEGE: At Westark College in Fort Smith, Ark., he averaged 14.0 points and 7.0 rebounds as a sophomore in 2001 after averaging 12.0 points and 6.0 rebounds as a freshman. He signed with Texas Tech during the November signing period, but was later released from his letter of intent before going to SMU.

As a sophomore, he helped Westark go 30-4 and finish fifth in the nation.

IN HIGH SCHOOL: Pharis was a two-time all-state selection at Van Buren High School, including a first-teamer as a senior when he averaged 23.0 points and 7.0 rebounds per game on a 22-6 team in 1999. He was the Conference 5A West Player of the Year, made the state all-tournament teams as a junior and senior, and was the MVP of the state all-star game.

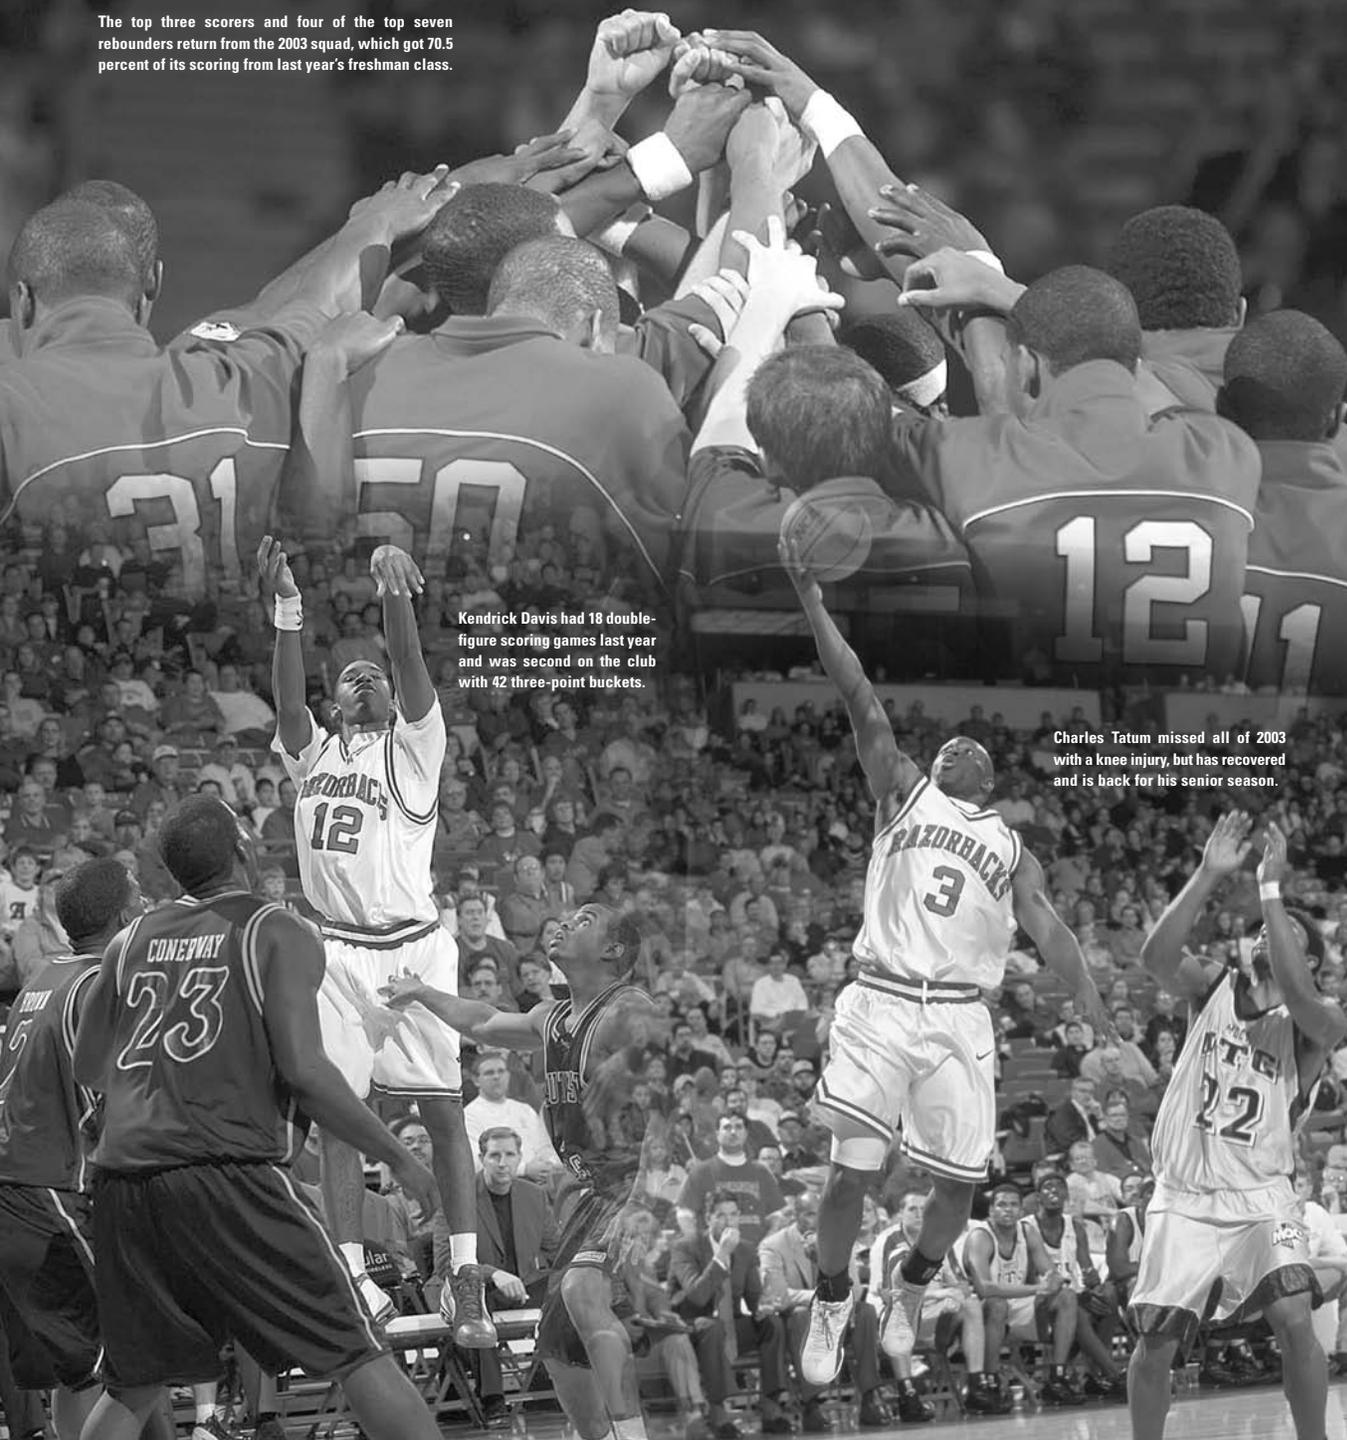

PERSONAL: Born April 21, 1981, he is the son of Bill and Karen Pharis, both UA graduates. He is majoring in political science and plans to attend law school following graduation. He maintained a 3.6 grade point average at Westark.

Stan Heath on Billy Pharis: "We expect Billy to help us immediately. He's not the best athlete, he's not the highest jumper on the team and he's not the fastest, but he has a knack for using his body and making shots around the basket. He has good hands and a good feel for the game. On top of that, at 6-8, he's a player who can step out and make shots from 20 feet. He could present teams some problems. We're really pleased with the effort he gave us in practice last year. If he carries that over into this season, he will be a very valuable player on our team."

The top three scorers and four of the top seven rebounders return from the 2003 squad, which got 70.5 percent of its scoring from last year's freshman class.

Kendrick Davis had 18 double-figure scoring games last year and was second on the club with 42 three-point buckets.

Charles Tatum missed all of 2003 with a knee injury, but has recovered and is back for his senior season.

Jonathon Modica became the first Arkansas player since Joe Kleine in 1982 to begin his Razorback career with a double-double when he had 11 points and 13 rebounds in last year's opener against Jackson State.

Highly-Decorated Newcomers Join Razorbacks, But Hogs Still Young

Arkansas was 9-19 last year. Only two starters return. The roster includes three seniors, but two of those didn't play last year and the other one was a reserve.

There's only one other upperclassman, and he started just four games last year, yet there is more excitement and enthusiasm surrounding the program than there has been in several years.

The reason is head coach Stan Heath and what he was able to accomplish last year — both on the court and on the recruiting trail.

Last year, with an all-freshman backcourt, playing against a schedule rated second-toughest in the nation and returning just a combined 25.1 points and 16.8 rebounds from the previous season, the Razorbacks showed steady progress and knocked off a pair of ranked teams — No. 22 Alabama and No. 20 Mississippi State. Heath's emphasis on defense resulted in the Hogs holding opponents to 66.5 points a game, the lowest opponent average for UA since 1988.

The most dramatic progress was on the boards where Heath transformed a team that ranked 11th in the SEC in rebounding in 2002 (32.1) to first with 38.0 boards a game. Arkansas also led the league in offensive rebounding (14.54 per game) and was third with a +5.5 rebounding margin.

"As a whole, I do think we've taken a step up in our program," Heath says. "We learned a lot from last year. We learned the type of commitment we need to make to compete at this level in the SEC. I'm optimistic. I feel like with so many changes on some of the other teams in the league and with us adding players that can help us in different areas, we certainly are in the mix with the teams that will be in the thick of the race."

Despite the reasons for optimism, the Razorbacks are still very young this year. Three seniors are on the roster, but one lettered for the first time last year after appearing in 13 games (Jamar Blackmon), one was a medical redshirt last season (Charles Tatum) and the other is a senior transfer who sat out in 2003 (Billy Pharis).

"We have a new team with a lot of new faces," Heath says. "We have five new freshmen (two walk-ons) plus two other guys that didn't play last year that I think will help us. It will be their first time in a game with me as their head coach and we have a lot of guys that played last year as freshmen. We gained some experience with the young guys that played last year, but with the influx of new players, we're still going to be trying to find our way this season."

The Razorbacks got an early start with the Labor Day weekend trip to Cancun, Mexico, for four games against a club pro team and a local university. As important, if not more so, was the two weeks of practice the Hogs received to prepare for the trip, in which Arkansas was 3-1 — splitting with the club pro team, Belize Teane, losing 73-69 and winning 80-51, and sweeping the university team, La Salle, 108-56 and 101-61.

Stan Heath

"We had some learning curves thrown at us and we responded positively every time a situation happened," Heath said. "We learned from it and we grew. I feel much more comfortable with our team and that's the main thing. It wasn't about wins and losses. It was about us developing as a basketball team. The practices were really valuable for us and the games were very valuable, too. I don't know which one was more of a plus, but we needed both to happen. It made us much better."

The Returnees

Much of what was accomplished last year was by five freshmen. UA's top three scorers were freshmen — Jonathon Modica (11.5 ppg), Eric Ferguson (10.9 ppg) and Kendrick Davis (10.3 ppg). In fact, Modica, Ferguson, Davis, Wen Mukubu and Rashard Sullivan combined to score 1,033 of UA's 1,726 points a year ago — 59.8 percent. Based on the percentage of the team's total number of points scored last year, that freshman class was the most productive at UA since freshmen became eligible in the 1970s. They also grabbed 393 of the team's 1,063 rebounds — 37.4 percent.

"We have some returning players who were productive for us last year," Heath says. "Spearheading that list is Jonathon Modica. He was our leading scorer, one of our better shooters from the field, and he's a player that can be very explosive as a scorer."

Rashard Sullivan

"Eric is the guy that has to make us go," Heath says. "He's like the engine on this team. He had some ups and downs as a freshman, but he was thrown into the fire in terms of playing as a freshman in the SEC and having to play extended minutes. He's worked hard at improving his shooting from the perimeter as well as making good decisions in the half-court."

Modica led the team in scoring and earned all-freshman honors from the SEC and made a national 20-player team selected by CollegeInsider.com. Ferguson led the team in minutes played, assists, steals and three-point buckets. Davis was the team's top scorer (12.8 ppg) over the last six games of the year. Sullivan was the club's leading rebounder (6.8 rpg) over the last six games.

Mukubu had 22 of his 48 points and 18 of his 41 rebounds in his last eight appearances.

Headed by that group — Arkansas returns 43.4 points a game — 70.5 percent — and 17.3 rebounds a game from last year. Add to that sophomore class junior forward Michael Jones, the return of senior guard Charles Tatum and an experienced Jamar Blackmon at guard and there's plenty of reason for optimism.

Jones, a 6-9 forward with three-point range, averaged 5.3 points and 2.5 rebounds last year.

Tatum would have been UA's only experience guard last year, but he tore three ligaments in his right knee playing in a pickup game in April of 2002 and missed the entire 2003 season while rehabbing.

Blackmon, a former walk-on, was pressed into service last year and became Ferguson's back-up at point guard, seeing time in 13 games.

Jamar Blackmon

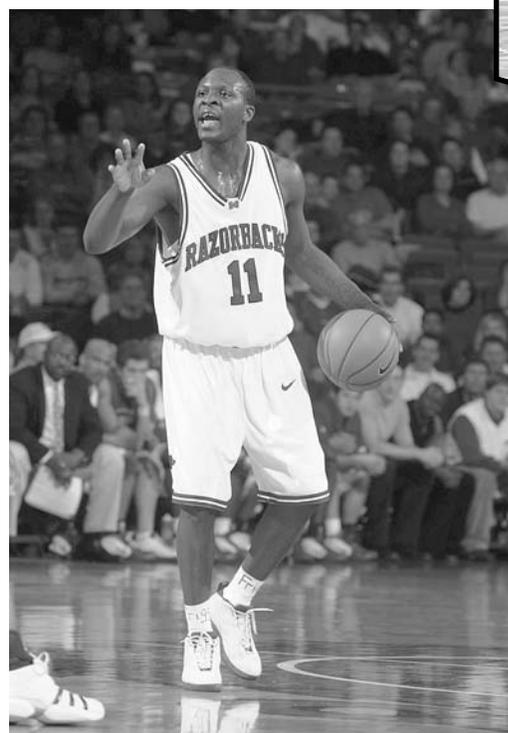

The Newcomers:

When Heath took the Arkansas job on March 28, 2002, he and his staff quickly recruited and signed Ferguson and Davis to fill UA's backcourt needs and they responded with solid seasons.

With an entire year to recruit for this season, Heath put together a class headed by a pair of high school All-Americans — Ronnie Brewer and Olu Famutimi, marking the first time since 1996 UA's recruiting class has included two prep All-Americans.

Brewer, a 6-7 guard from Fayetteville, is the son of former UA All-American Ron Brewer, who as part of the famed "Triplets" with Sidney Moncrief and Marvin Delph, led the Razorbacks to the 1978 Final Four. Brewer was a Parade All-American and a finalist for McDonald's All-American honors after averaging 26.8 points, 7.5 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game as a senior. He was rated the 47th-best senior in the nation by Hoop Scoop magazine.

Famutimi, a 6-5 guard/forward from Flint, Mich., earned McDonald's All-American honors after averaging 25.0 points and 14.0 rebounds a game. He was ranked as the third-best player at the adidas ABCD Camp and the seventh-best senior by Hoop Scoop. He is coming off a knee injury that cut short his senior season, but he should be fully Point guard Eric Ferguson had 36 assists and 31 turnovers over the last 12 games last year after recording 55 assists with 77 turnovers through the first 16 contests.

NOTING THE HOGS

FRESHMEN FIGURES: Head coach Stan Heath's first Arkansas team was short on experience and production heading into last season. The 2003 Razorbacks returned combined averages of just 25.1 points and 16.8 rebounds a game from the 2002 season. The 2004 Hogs return 43.4 points and 17.3 rebounds from 2003 — 70.5 percent of the team's scoring and 45.5 percent of the rebounding.

Heath has his top three scorers back from last year in sophomores Jonathon Modica (11.5 ppg, 4.5 rpg), Eric Ferguson (10.9 ppg, 3.1 rpg) and Kendrick Davis (10.3 ppg, 2.0 rpg).

In fact, Modica, Ferguson, Davis, Wen Mukubu and Rashard Sullivan combined to score 1,033 of UA's 1,726 points for the year — 59.8 percent. Based on percentage of the team's total, that freshman class is the most productive at UA since freshmen became eligible in the 1970s. That group also claimed 393 of the team's 1,063 rebounds — 37.4 percent.

MODICA FINALIST FOR USA NATIONAL TEAM:

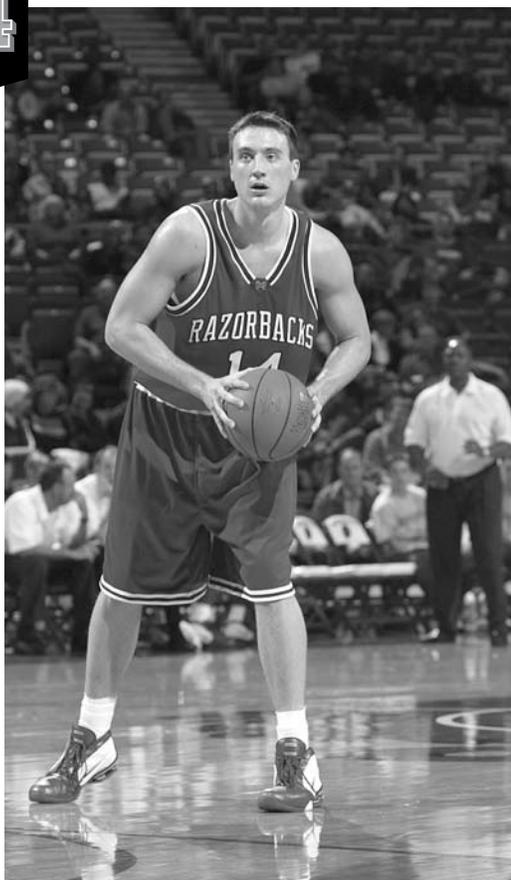

Sophomore Jonathon Modica was a finalist for the USA Basketball 19-and-under national team during the summer. The 2003 SEC All-Freshmen Team selection was one of 52 players invited to the tryouts. He made the cut from 52 to 16. Several other players were brought in for the final cut to 12 and Modica, who was also named to a national all-freshmen team selected by CollegeInsider.com, failed to earn a spot on the final roster.

Streaks Entering the Season

- Arkansas has sold out 334 consecutive regular-season home games (tickets sold) in Fayetteville. The last non-sellout was Dec. 4, 1976, when the Hogs beat Southern Colorado, 91-43, in front of a crowd only 100 short of Barnhill Arena's then-capacity of 6,200.
- Arkansas has made at least one three-point bucket in 487 consecutive games. UA made at least one three in every game it played in the 1990s. The last time the Hogs failed to hit a three was in the 99-92 victory at Texas on Jan. 7, 1989.
- Arkansas has won eight straight season openers. The last loss was a 104-80 setback to No. 3 Massachusetts in 1995.
- The Razorbacks have won 27 straight home openers (Fayetteville). The last loss was a 102-100 setback to Western Kentucky in 1974.
- UA has ranked in the top 15 nationally in average attendance 10 consecutive years since moving into Bud Walton Arena in 1994.

RAZORBACK OUTLOOK

Billy Pharis sat out last year but will spend a lot of time on the floor this season.

NOTING THE HOGS

TATUM RETURNS: Senior guard Charles Tatum makes his return this year after missing 2003 as a medical redshirt. Tatum, a three-year letterman, would have been the team's top returning and most experienced guard last year, but he tore three ligaments in his right knee playing a pickup game in April of 2002 and missed the entire '03 season while recovering. He averaged 8.8 points and 2.8 assists in four games against a club pro team and a local university in Cancun, Mexico, over Labor Day weekend.

CRASHING THE BOARDS: One of the most noticeable areas of improvement for the Razorbacks last year was rebounding. Head coach Stan Heath emphasized rebounding and the Hogs responded by leading the SEC in rebounds per game (38.0) and offensive rebounds per game (14.54). UA was third with a +5.5 rebounding margin. By comparison, in 2002, Arkansas was 11th in the league with 32.1 rebounds per game, 10th with 8.0 offensive rebounds per game and 12th with a -8.7 rebounding margin.

recovered for the start of practice.

The other newcomers are forward Vincent Hunter, senior transfer forward Billy Pharis, and freshmen walk-ons Preston Cranford and Nathan Lang.

Hunter hasn't received as much attention as Brewer and Famutimi, but he could make an immediate impact as well. The 6-10 forward averaged 15.0 points, 12.0 rebounds and 8.0 blocked shots a game last year at J.A. Fair High School in Little Rock, and was named the MVP of the Class 4A state tournament. He was rated the 103rd-best senior in the nation by Hoop Scoop.

"I have high expectations for the freshmen," Heath says. "I expect them to step in and help us right away. Like most freshmen, they will have some ups and downs. They will have some periods of learning when things will not be as fluent for them, however, the reason they chose Arkansas was because they felt they had the opportunity to step right in and help us. I really feel like they will accept that challenge and run with it."

While much is expected of the freshmen class, which includes the 6-7 Cranford who can drain threes, the surprise of the year could be Pharis. Although technically a newcomer, he sat out last year after transferring from SMU and was able to practice with the team. At 6-8, 230 pounds, he plays inside, but has nice range outside.

Perimeter Players

"We have players that feel comfortable getting the ball up the court and attacking people before the defense gets set," Heath says. "We'll work hard at that, at generating more offense out of our transition game. We also will be a team that handles the ball better and makes good decisions. We have more players that have good ball skills."

Ferguson established himself as the starter at point guard with a solid freshman season, but Tatum could challenge for the starter's role. Ferguson played 932 minutes last year, more than 200 more than the next closest player. Blackmon gained valuable experience last year and will come off the bench again this year.

Among the newcomers, Brewer is the most likely to see minutes running the offense.

"I feel good about our depth when you look at Eric Ferguson, Charles Tatum and Jamar Blackmon," Heath says. "There are three guys that can play the point, plus Kendrick Davis and Ronnie Brewer have the ball skills to play in that position, too," Heath says.

Davis earned 11 starts at shooting guard last year and is the most experienced at the position. Modica, who played a wing position last year, may slide up to the shooting guard spot. Brewer and Famutimi are also candidates for time at this spot. Cranford may also press for playing time.

Modica led the team in scoring last year and was second in rebounding, and he's had a very good off-season. He is one of several players to watch at the wing spot.

Jones is a better fit on the wing, especially with his three-point shooting, and will see time here, but he may also play the power forward spot. Mukubu, who missed the practices and games in Cancun while recovering from a torn quadriceps muscle, played well at the end of the season last year and will earn minutes here and at power forward.

Famutimi is a natural wing player and could start.

Junior Michael Jones is a 34.5 percent career three-point shooter.

"We can put a bigger backcourt out there or go with more quickness because we have more flexibility in that area," Heath says. "When you look at a guy like Olu Famutimi, who comes here with high credentials, he's a guy who can score in a lot of different ways. He can knock down shots and play above the rim, and he's got a great mid-range game in pulling up and elevating over defenders. That position (three), along with Jonathon Modica and Wen Mukubu, who can also play on the perimeter, gives us a lot of depth and flexibility with guys who can do different things. Mike Jones is a guy we can play as a four on the front line or on the perimeter on the wing. He's one of the better three-point shooters on our team."

Interior Players

Sullivan is UA's most experienced inside player. He will see considerable time at power forward and/or center. Pharis should make a big impact inside as well.

"Rashard Sullivan came on at the end of the year for us," Heath says. "He started some games and was very good rebounding. Billy Pharis is an 'X' factor for us. He's a player that practiced with us during the year last year and was very effective, but he hasn't played in two years. He has the skill level to be a guy who can score around the basket for us and shoot from the perimeter."

Jones will factor into the power forward rotation as well, as well as Mukubu and freshman Vincent Hunter.

"Where we lack a little bit is the rebounding area and in defense in the post where guys like Larry Satchell, Alonzo Lane and Dionisio Gomez were very effective," Heath says. "We need a guy like Vincent Hunter to give us strong minutes of defensive play. He's a great shot-blocker and runs the court, but he needs to gain some strength."

"A guy that could help us on the front line that hasn't played there before is Wen Mukubu. He's bulked up and is about 215 pounds right now. He may be a little undersized to be a power forward, but he's strong enough and athletic enough that he can help us on the front line."

"Mike Jones is another player who could be in that mix as well."

Wen Mukubu

ADDITIONAL QUOTES FROM HEAD COACH STAN HEATH

Entering second season as UA head coach:

"I know my players. I know a little more about their history, what they've done and their level of commitment. The recruits coming in are guys that me and my staff have personally been involved with. We already know them and have a strong relationship that will get even better over time. This is still a challenging year because there's so much newness with this team. We have a lot of players who have just one year of experience and then there's another group of guys who don't have any experience, and then there are a couple of guys (Charles Tatum and Billy Pharis) who didn't play this past year. We're still getting to know each other and getting a feel for where we are."

Rebounding:

"Rebounding is a concern, but I feel like we can be good at rebounding. We will work hard to make sure that is not an area of weakness for us. We lost some players off our front line that were very good rebounders, had a nose for the ball and were athletic enough to pursue it and get it. We're counting on Billy, Rashard, Vincent and Wen to stabilize the rebounding area. Where we may make up some ground in that area is with some bigger guards on the court with Ronnie, Olu and Jonathon on the wing."

The freshmen:

"The good thing is we have some other guys who can play, so we don't have to totally rely on the freshmen. We're going to push them to try and reach their potential this season. The more we get out of them, the better season we will have."

The schedule:

"This is a good schedule for our team. Last year, our schedule was ranked No. 2 in the country and was a bit overwhelming. There's not much difference in this year's schedule, but this team and this schedule fit really well because we have more spacing between games and we have several very challenging non-conference games that will help prepare us for the SEC."

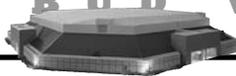

The SEC:

"The SEC is very, very strong. There are quite a few players who were maybe the second or third-best player on their teams who will move up and step into different roles this year. There are so many talented players that have been recruited onto rosters the last few years and now they have an opportunity to make a name for themselves. I do feel that we've closed the gap in the differential of talent, which will give us an opportunity to fight and be in the thick of everything. It's going to be a very competitive race and we just want to fight for our piece of the pie."

England Has Seen Progress in 20 Years as Trainer

This season marks the 10-year anniversary of two of the biggest events in the history of Arkansas basketball — the 1994 national championship and the opening of Bud Walton Arena.

It is also an anniversary for Dave England, who was a part of those and many other key moments in the program's history. In fact, England, who is in his 20th year as the head trainer for the basketball Razorbacks, has worked with Eddie Sutton, Nolan Richardson and now Stan Heath. He's seen the move from the Southwest Conference to the Southeastern; the move from Barnhill Arena to Bud Walton Arena; and he's taken care of players from Joe Kleine to Joe Johnson, Lee Mayberry to Lee Wilson and U.S. Reed to Kareem Reid.

"This has been the type of job where I've never minded coming to work the next morning and that's one of the goals I think everybody has as far as picking a profession," he says. "It really hasn't been a chore because I do love it."

Who could blame him? He's seen the Razorbacks go to the NCAA Tournament 15 times, reach the Final Four three times and make it to the championship game in 1994 and 1995.

Not bad highlights for a kid from Clarksville who thought the University of Arkansas was out of his league and who got involved in athletic training only because he didn't want to play junior high football.

"I had a coach when I was in the seventh grade ask me if I wanted to be a manager and trainer, and I didn't know what that was," England says. "I decided I didn't want to play football, so I said, 'Sure, I'll do it.'"

"One of the coaches there had been a college trainer," he said. "He taught me how to tape an ankle."

When Don Dailey, who coached Corliss Williamson at Russellville High School, approached him in 1968 with the idea of becoming a trainer and manager, England had no idea it was the beginning of his professional career, which includes taking care of the medical needs of the basketball and baseball teams.

"I enjoyed doing it and then as I got a little bit older, I found out people actually got paid for doing it and that it was a job," he says. "I decided early on that was what I wanted to do. I love working with the athletes and the team aspect. I like getting a guy back after he's been injured. When an athlete gets injured, he's probably at his lowest point. When you get somebody back and he scores his first points or gets his first hit in baseball, that's one of the most gratifying aspects of being a trainer."

England also coordinates team travel, scheduling practices, monitoring the 20-hour a week practice limit and other responsibilities. He also keeps track of the medical bills and collecting players' insurance for the men's athletic department.

"Dave is awesome," Heath, UA's second-year head coach, says. "He takes a weight off our shoulders because in addition to being our trainer, he handles other responsibilities like travel, meals at hotels and he also deals with some equipment issues. He's a jack-of-all-trades."

"He's a guy I can lean on and say 'How was this done five years ago, 10 years ago or 15 years ago,'" Heath says. "He's been around three different head coaches now, and he's been around coaches who have had a tremendous amount of success and experience. I pick his brain for a lot of different things and I'm really thankful he's a part of our staff because he's helped with so much in a short amount of time."

Again, not bad, especially considering he almost didn't attend Arkansas. Following six years as a student trainer at Clarksville High, he weighed scholarship offers from Central Arkansas and College of the Ozarks when Jim Johnson, his high school coach, drove him to Fayetteville to meet Dean Weber, UA's director of athletic training for the last 31 years.

"We had always considered (UA) as Mecca, as being unattainable, but Dean asked me to come here to work and I came up here in the fall of 1974 to work as a student trainer with football," he says. "Everything I learned about athletic training came from Dean. It was a great learning experience and I've been up here 27 of the last 30 years."

"He's extremely thorough and organized," Weber says. "He's always done a great job, particularly in rehab. For both of us, there are certain things we know how to do, logistically, because we've been here so long. I think continuity and longevity in support groups lends itself to stability, and young people may not know it, but they like stability."

England worked with just football his first two years before getting involved with baseball, which led to his three-year stint away from the university. As a football student trainer, he worked the 1976 Cotton Bowl, 1978 Orange Bowl and 1980 Hall of Fame Bowl, but he also went to the 1979 College World Series where Norm DeBriyn's Razorbacks finished second. He went to the College World Series with the Hogs again in 1985 and '87.

A first baseman growing up, although England says his baseball career was "nothing to speak of," his three years working with DeBriyn led to his first full-time position, a trainer in the St. Louis Cardinals baseball organization.

"The thing about working with the Cardinals, and I was 23 or 24 at the time, is I left here as a graduate assistant, but in the minor leagues, you're the only guy around," he says. "That's something that really enhanced my athletic training career — the fact that I had to make all the decisions. We had to communicate with the big club, but I was the only one there so I had to make the decisions and solve problems myself. That was great and I wouldn't give anything for those three years. Besides being fun, enjoying baseball and becoming a better athletic trainer, the stories are just unbelievable. Everybody knows the movie 'Bull Durham.' I lived 'Bull Durham' for three years and I loved it."

Dave England is in his 20th year as Arkansas' basketball trainer.

He had the chance to return to Arkansas in 1984 as the head basketball and baseball trainer, and jumped at the opportunity, even though he had never worked with basketball.

"When we had that full-time position open up, there was no question who I wanted to bring in," Weber says. "He was that impressive as a student. Dave can work any sport. Back when he was a student, we worked everything."

"Every sport has its own uniqueness and nuances, and you learn to deal with it," England says. "With baseball you have more shoulder injuries. Basketball kind of runs the gamut, but you mainly have knee and ankle injuries. I worked 15 to 20 years in football, if you count student trainer years, and you see everything in football. Each athlete is a little different. You have to learn an athlete's personality and treat that, too. Some guys you can push really hard and some you have to pull back on. It's the same with coaching or anything else. That just comes with experience."

In basketball, England says the most common injuries are foot, ankle and knee. A knee injury is what a basketball player most wants to avoid, but since England has been in the business, recovery times are much quicker.

"The equipment has gotten better so a lot of injuries are being prevented," he says. "The biggest thing is the advancement in the medical field itself. When I first became a trainer, there wasn't arthroscopic surgery. The surgical techniques have advanced so much so that someone with an (anterior cruciate ligament) injury can come back. Lots of folks didn't come back from those in the past because we didn't have those surgical techniques to repair things. Today, an athlete can have arthroscopic surgery and be back in a week or two weeks where in the past it was always a six- to eight-week injury, or longer."

In the past, surgery consisted of making an incision in the leg, which damaged tissue and required a longer recovery time. Arthroscopic surgery is a procedure that makes three or four puncture wounds, which do not damage the tissue. Many minor procedures, such as torn cartilage or cleaning out loose bodies, can be done through a scope, allowing athletes to return quicker.

That was no consolation to senior point guard Charles Tatum last year. In April of 2002, he tore three ligaments and one cartilage in his right knee playing in a pickup game and suffered what England calls the "worst knee injury" he's seen. Although he missed the entire 2003 season and endured a 12-month recovery period, Tatum is back this year and thankful England supervised his recovery.

"I would not have wanted to go through my rehab with anyone else," Tatum says. "He not only pushed me, hard, but he kept me motivated. I nicknamed him the 'Dungeon Master.' Some days I would walk in and I could see his eyes glowing red and he would ask me if I was ready. He kept me thinking I could accomplish it, even though in the back of his mind he knew I only had a 10 or 15 percent chance of coming back. He rehabbed me like I was going to be back in a short time. Without Dave's motivation and influence, there's no way I would be back."

While medical advances and improved equipment have impacted the game over the years, that's not the only change England has seen.

"In the last 20 years, basketball has become more of a year-round sport," the 2000 Arkansas Athletic Trainers' Association Trainer of the Year says. "Some of that is because the NCAA allows you to have individual workouts in the spring and fall, but basketball players are working out with weights a lot more than they used to and they're doing more conditioning. In the past, they would just play pickup games. I see them working in the off-season a lot harder — getting bigger, faster and stronger."

In the last 20 years, he's also seen many of the most memorable moments in school history. "Number one, of course, is winning the national championship," he says. "When you grow up watching that and hearing 'One Shining Moment,' you always want to be a part of that. Going back to the championship game the next year was one of the biggest feats because we had all the pressure on us and it really wasn't a fun year for the players. That was a huge accomplishment."

Other key memories and moments include the dedication of Bud Walton Arena on Dec. 2, 1994, when UA beat Missouri, 120-68; going to the Final Four in 1990, 1994 and '95; the Southwest Conference tournaments in Dallas "when there would be 14,000 Hog fans down there; going to LSU "when they had Shaq (O'Neal) and beating them (101-90) when Todd (Day) dropped 43 on them; going into Rupp Arena at Kentucky and winning "our first two times up there" (1992 and '94); and beating No. 6 Kentucky and No. 2 Auburn in the same week (in 1999) when "Walton Arena was just unbelievable."

All of those events occurred during the Richardson era, but England envisions some of those events repeating themselves.

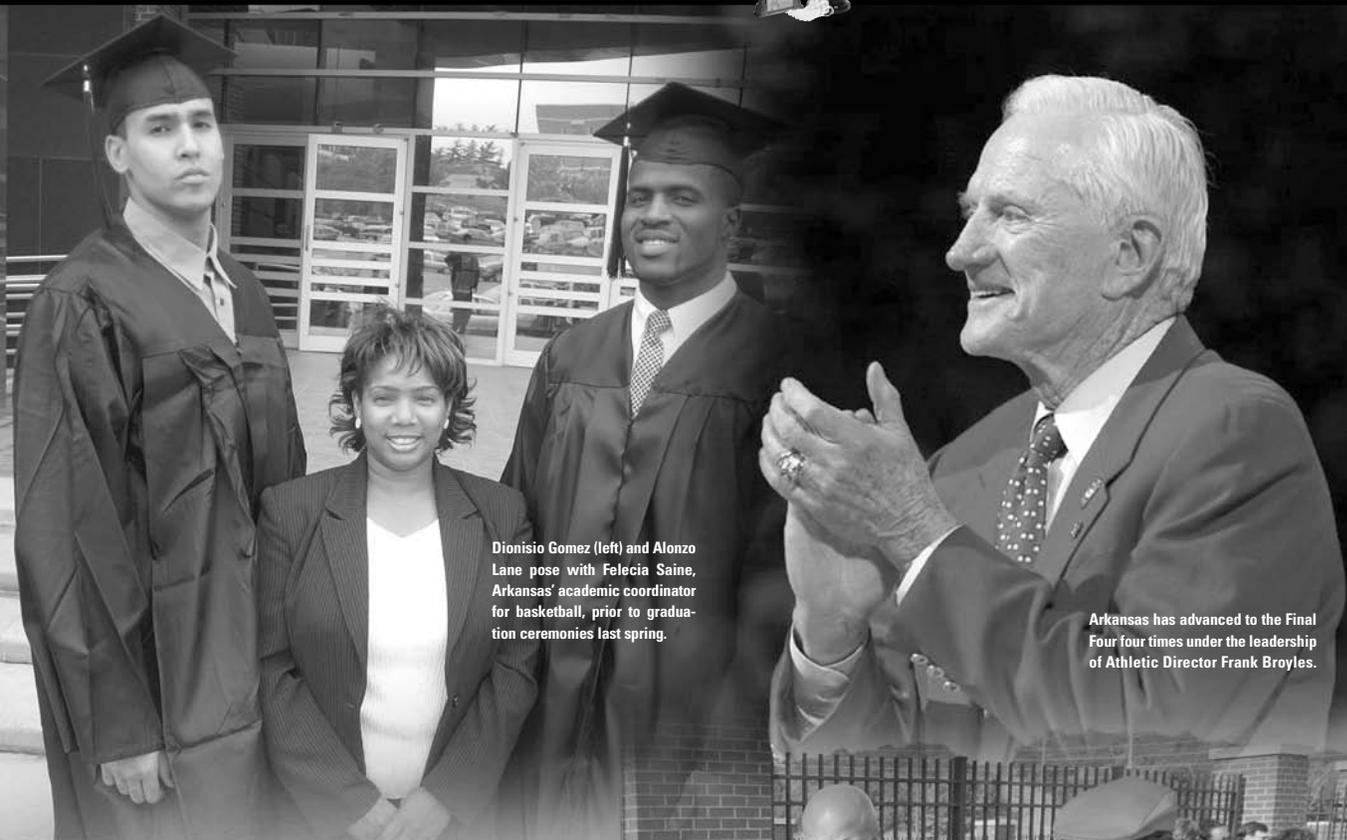

"It's really good when you get in on the start of an era," he says. "When Nolan was here, we struggled the first year and then started getting better every year. We went to the NIT the second year and then started the string of nine straight NAAs in a row. It was great working for Nolan. And now to start off again with a young, energetic coach like Stan, it's the same thing watching the program being built up. Eerily, it looks like the two eras are going to mirror one another because we struggled the first year with Stan but I really see us just getting better and taking off. There are a lot of similarities."

Sounds like he's ready to sign up for another 20 years.

DR. JOHN A. WHITE
Chancellor

On July 1, 1997, Dr. John A. White became chancellor of the University of Arkansas, its 20th leader. Since that time, he has forged an ambitious agenda for the University of Arkansas to emerge as a nationally competitive, student-centered research university serving Arkansas and the world.

Perhaps the biggest step in reaching that goal occurred in April of 2002 when White, the President of the Southeastern Conference and a member of the NCAA Division I Board of Directors and Executive Committee, announced a $300 million gift from the Walton Family Foundation, the largest single gift to a U.S. public university in history. The gift is being used to establish and endow an undergraduate honors college and endow the graduate school.

Another goal is to increase the size and quality of the student body. Total enrollment has increased from 14,384 in 1997 to 16,449 in 2003. In terms of quality, the 1998 freshman class was one of the largest, and based on standardized test scores and high school grade point averages, was, at the time, the best in school history. Each class since has equaled or surpassed the 1998 class.

White has increased the number of students who receive Chancellor's Scholarships; and is continuing efforts to increase the diversity of the university's faculty, staff and student body; increase private gift support; and increase federal and state support.

Prior to joining the faculty of the University of Arkansas, White was dean of engineering at Georgia Institute of Technology, which he joined in 1975. FRANK BROYLES
Athletic Director

For nearly five decades, University of Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles has helped define the standard of excellence in intercollegiate athletics. Broyles is a legendary coach, nationally respected athletic administrator and tireless goodwill ambassador for his university and state whose influence continues to shape the Razorback program, as well as impact the vast collegiate athletic landscape.

Now in his 47th year with UA and his 31st year as athletic director, Broyles is as synonymous with the UA athletic program as the Hog on the side of the football helmet or even the very nickname, Razorbacks. In June 2003, Broyles was given a five-year contract extension providing him an opportunity to serve the UA for more than a half century. His intensely competitive spirit, boundless enthusiasm and love for Arkansas has inspired him to build an athletic program that is on the cutting edge in the ever-changing world of collegiate athletics.

There is little doubt Broyles has had a more positive impact on athletics in Arkansas than any other person in the history of the state. The Arkansas Democrat-Gazette confirmed his status when it named him the most influential figure in athletics in the state during the 20th Century. On July 1, 2003, he took over as the chairman of the UA's Campaign for the 21st Century. The ambitious campaign is seeking to raise $900 million for the university. A recipient of nearly every award and accolade associated with college athletics, Broyles prefers to focus his attention on the future of the Razorback program rather than dwell on the impressive accomplishments of the past. It is that forward-thinking style that has allowed Broyles to excel in every aspect of leadership. Perhaps his greatest contribution to the Razorback program is his knack for hiring quality head coaches and surrounding them with the tools and facilities they need to compete at the highest level.

In order to have a successful program it is essential to assemble a solid staff. Broyles has a history of picking the right head coaches and administrators. UA football coach Houston Nutt has led the Razorback football team to five straight bowl games and has revived the passion of football fans across the state. John McDonnell is the most successful collegiate coach in history, with 38 national championships in cross country, indoor and outdoor track. Robert Cox is entering his 16th season as the coach of Arkansas' tradition-rich tennis program.

Although blessed with a stable of quality tenured coaches, Broyles has recently re-exhibited his ability to land some of the nation's top up and coming coaches in the last two years. Stan Heath was a rising star in the collegiate basketball coaching world after leading Kent State to an improbable run to the NCAA Tournament's Elite Eight. By the time the 2002 Final Four was underway the next weekend, Heath was donning an Arkansas sweater vest. Not long after legendary baseball coach Norm DeBriyn stepped down, Broyles hired Dave Van Horn. The former Razorback player and graduate assistant led Nebraska to back-to-back College World Series appearances before returning to Fayetteville. The UA golf program is once again on track after Broyles lured former UA golfer Mike Ketcham back to his alma mater.

The Arkansas AD knows facilities influence recruiting, which is the lifeblood of any program. Broyles has made sure Arkansas has facilities second to none.

A past Division I chairman of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and a member of that organization's executive committee, Broyles showed incredible vision when he steered the Razorbacks into the Southeastern Conference in August of 1990.

In its first 12 years in the nation's top league, Arkansas has won 26 national championships and 37 SEC titles. No other league school has won more than six national crowns in men's athletics during that span.

Years ago, Broyles saw a state with only one major athletic program and envisioned the potential of a budding Razorback program in Arkansas. Following a year as the head football coach at Missouri, he came to Arkansas in December of 1957 and united the state behind the Hogs as they became one of the dominant college football powers of the 1960s.

One of six initial inductees into the UA Sports Hall of Honor and a 1983 inductee into the College Football Hall of Fame, Broyles is a long-time member of the Arkansas State Sports Hall of Fame and was chosen by the Southwest Marketing Association as the 1988 Outstanding Marketer of the Year. He was recently honored by the Atlanta Council of the Boy Scouts of America (Bobby Jones Award), the Arkansas Rotarians (Paul Harris Fellowship), Arkansas High School Coaches Association (Distinguished Service Award) and Arkansas Governor Mike Huckabee in a joint venture with Little Rock's KARK-TV (Distinguished Citizen Award).

For his efforts as head coach, assistant coach and player, he has been named to the Orange Bowl, Gator Bowl and Cotton Bowl halls of fame.

Born Dec. 26, 1924, Broyles and his wife of 57 years, Barbara, have four sons, Jack, Hank, Dan and Tommy; and twin daughters, Betsy and Linda. They have 17 grandchildren: Lex, Ivan, Iris, Taylor, Madison, Molly, India, Jacob, Allison, Delaney, Jordan, Franklin, Carmen, Ramey, Whitney, Barbara and Thomas Michael Jr.

Arkansas has ranked in the top 15 in national attendance average every year since 1994.

"THE BASKETBALL PALACE OF MID-AMERICA"

UA BASKETBALL // BUD WALTON ARENA

BUD WALTON SEATING

The 10-year anniversary of Arkansas' 1994 national championship is also the 10-year anniversary of the opening of "The Basketball Palace of Mid-America" — Bud Walton Arena.

UA has played in Bud Walton Arena for 10 years and has drawn just under 3,000,000 fans, ranked among national attendance leaders every season and won more than 81 percent of its games.

When Arkansas joined the Southeastern Conference in August of 1990, Razorback Athletic Director Frank Broyles knew the athletic facilities had to be upgraded to contend in America's most nationally competitive league.

His attention turned immediately to basketball. The Hogs were very successful, coming off a Final Four trip earlier that year, but had just a 9,000-seat home, Barnhill Arena.

One day, Bud Walton, co-founder of Wal-Mart, visited Broyles and asked him what Arkansas needed most to be competitive in the SEC. Broyles mentioned the need for additional basketball seats and was asked by Walton what a new arena would cost. The figure $30 million was discussed and Walton offered to pay half. From that visit, fabulous Bud Walton Arena was born.

Groundbreaking to grand opening was accomplished in a remarkable 18 months. The Razorbacks played in Bud Walton for the first time in November of 1993. Everything went perfect during the first full year. Not only did Arkansas sell out the arena, the Razorbacks were unbeaten in their new home (16-0) and won the 1994 national championship.

The Hogs carry a 132-30 (.815) record into the 2004 season.

Every regular season game at Bud Walton Arena has been sold out with an all-time average attendance of 17,916. Arkansas has ranked in the top 15 nationally in attendance every year in BWA. Dating back to their days in Barnhill, where the Hogs were 303-95 (.761) in 36 years, the Razorbacks have sold out 334 consecutive regular-season on-campus contests.

The last non-sellout was on Dec. 4, 1976, when the Hogs beat Southern Colorado, 91-43, in front of a crowd only 100 short of Barnhill Arena's then-capacity of 6,200.

Entering the 2004 campaign, UA has a combined mark of 435-125 in its last two homes for an outstanding home winning percentage of .777 over the last 46 years.

BWA houses a deluxe museum on the ground level that includes a tribute to Arkansas' 1994 NCAA championship as well as the history of Razorback basketball, track and field, baseball, tennis and golf. Eye-catching displays on the concourse level salute recent Razorback highlights.

As captivating as the displays, museum and championship banners are hanging from the arena floor's ceiling, the aspect of the facility demanding the most attention is spirit. Every game still produces an NCAA Tournament-type atmosphere with the exception of the crowd, which is anything but neutral.

According to the architectural firm that designed the arena, Rosser International in Atlanta, there are more seats in less space than in any such facility in the world. It's no wonder the noise level can be absolutely ear-splitting.

From pre-game to post-game, Bud Walton Arena is perfectly choreographed with the band, the spirit groups, the lighting system, the public address, the scoreboard and the team. Each game at Walton Arena is a rich experience leaving Razorback fans hungry for more.

OTHER ARKANSAS FACILITIES

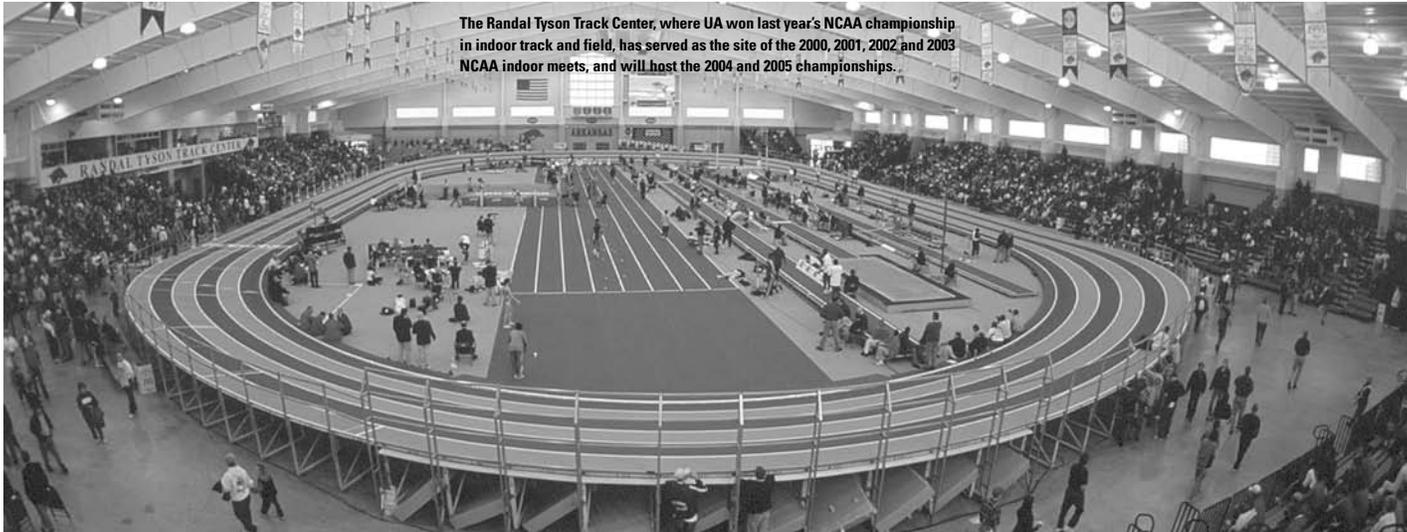

Baum Stadium at George Cole Field was named the nation's second-best collegiate baseball facility in a 2003 survey by Baseball America magazine after ranking first in the publication's last survey in 1998. Upgrades in 2003 include the addition of 2,600 chairback seats, and the enclosing of the hitting and pitching cages.

John McDonnell Field is named for the coach who has amassed a total of 38 NCAA national championships in cross country, indoor track and outdoor track, including 2003 NCAA crowns in both indoor and outdoor track.

The Randal Tyson Track Center, where UA won last year's NCAA championship in indoor track and field, has served as the site of the 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 NCAA indoor meets, and will host the 2004 and 2005 championships.

RAZORBACK HISTORY

Championships were a tradition at Arkansas long before the Razorbacks earned the national title in 1994. The '94 championship was the grandest of them all, but the NCAA trophy isn't exactly the only one on the shelf in the fabulous Bud Walton Arena museum.

In fact, Arkansas has made six trips to the NCAA Final Four. The Razorbacks have earned 27 bids to the NCAA Tournament.

In conference play, Arkansas has won 24 league championships with 22 coming in the Southwest Conference between 1926 and 1991. In fact, the Hogs won the Southeastern Conference crown in 1992, their first year in the league, after winning three straight SWC titles. The Hogs have also won seven league tournament crowns.

Since joining the SEC, Arkansas has been a dominant member. The Razorbacks won overall titles in 1992 and 1994, and Western Division titles in 1992, '93, '94 and '95, and then won the tournament crown in 2000.

Arkansas has a long-standing tradition of winning in basketball. It started in the 1920s and has carried through to this time. Even though Arkansas didn't begin playing basketball until 1924, the Hogs won more SWC championships than any other school.

It didn't take long for the Hogs to have an impact on the SWC. Two years after starting the program, Arkansas won its first league crown. It was the first of five in a row. Francis Schmidt, Arkansas' first basketball coach, guided the Hogs to the 1926, '27, '28 and '29 titles. Chuck Bassett was the coach of the 1930 championship squad.

Wear Schoonover, Arkansas' first football All-American, captained the 1930 club. He earned All-SWC honors three times. In fact, the Razorbacks dominated the all-conference squads of the late 1920s. In 1928, Arkansas had four of the five All-SWC selections when Glen Rose, Tom Pickell, Gene Lambert Sr. and Schoonover were named all-league. Rose was also the first Razorback to earn All-America honors (1928), followed a year later by Pickell and Lambert.

The Hogs were loaded with all-conference talent during that time. Rose was a three-time All-SWC pick, as was Pickell.

Lambert and Rolla Adams made it twice, as did Milan Creighton.

From 1926 through 1929, Arkansas was a combined 60-5.

When Schmidt left Arkansas as coach, he went to league rival TCU and was tough to beat until the Razorbacks hired Rose as head coach.

He began another glorious run with a co-championship in 1935. The Hogs won SWC titles in '36, '38, '41 and '42. The 1936 Razorbacks almost represented the United States in the Olympics, winning four games in an Olympic playoff before losing to a team of all-stars from California in the semifinals of the tournament.

Jim Lee Howell, Ike Poole, Taft Moody, Don Lockard, Jack Robbins, Howard Hickey and Johnny Adams were the stars of their day. Adams was an All-American in 1941. He was Arkansas' fifth All-American but the last one UA would have until Ron Brewer made it in 1977.

From 1945 to 1950, Arkansas had four second-place finishes and shared the 1949 title. The Razorbacks then went through a mild recession before claiming a co-championship in 1958. By winning a playoff game against SMU, Arkansas qualified for the NCAA Tournament. It wasn't a pleasant experience. Oklahoma State, which featured Eddie Sutton as a player, downed the Hogs by 25, 65-40, and Oscar Robertson exploded for 58 points as the Hogs were drilled by Cincinnati, 97-62, in a consolation game.

Long before the Razorbacks moved into Barnhill Arena and then Bud Walton Arena, the Hogs played their home games in Schmitt's Barn.

As unpleasant as the tournament experience was, Arkansas would have loved to goe back, but it didn't happen for 19 years. Not even Rose, who led the Hogs to the '58 title in his second stint as coach, could return Arkansas to glory. He retired following the 1966 season, but neither of his two successors, Duddy Waller or Lanny Van Eman, put a contender on the floor.

Van Eman did, however, bring excitement to the game. His teams regularly scored in the 80s and 90s at a time when the traditional powers played games in the 60s. Van Eman recruited Martin Terry from junior college and Terry set school single-season scoring records that still stand. He averaged 28.3 points per game as a senior. Even though he played only two seasons, Terry still ranks among Arkansas' top 10 all-time scorers.

Unfortunately, Van Eman's teams usually gave up more points than they scored. Twice in 1971, Arkansas scored 100 or more points and lost.

Van Eman's second club managed to win 16 games, but only five came in SWC play. Arkansas and Baylor, which paired for a thrilling 111-110 Baylor victory the year before, put on another wild show with the Razorbacks winning, 131-109, in Fayetteville, setting a league record for points scored by two teams in a conference game.

After the 1974 Hogs won just 10 games, Frank Broyles, newly appointed athletic director as well as an already established football coach, decided it was time to make a commitment to basketball. He turned things around by hiring Sutton.

Sutton caught the state's attention in his first season when the Razorbacks finished 17-9 and second in the SWC. By the time his second team finished its 19-9 campaign, construction workers were already renovating Barnhill Arena, a facility constructed in 1957.

The 1976 Hogs also featured the nucleus of what was to become one of the greatest teams in history. Brewer and Marvin Delph were sophomores. Sidney Moncrief was a freshman and he quietly led the nation in field goal percentage (.665, 149-

MEMORABLE GAMES

The history of Razorback basketball is filled with thrilling and even heart-stopping moments. The Final Four, conference championships, and last-second, game-winning jumpers shape memories of the "greatest" moments in UA history.

Following are 10 of those.

Corey Beck had 15 points, four assists and a team-high 10 rebounds in the championship game victory over Duke.

Despite UA's incredible basketball success through the years, the Razorbacks had never played for the national championship until their battle with Duke at the Charlotte Coliseum. The Hogs had been ranked No. 1 much of the year, but Duke had won two national titles in the three previous seasons and had defeated Arkansas in the 1990 Final Four at Denver.

Duke controlled the tempo in the first half and Corliss Williamson, who had been nearly unstoppable in the entire tournament, missed his first five shots for the Razorbacks. The Blue Devils led by as many as five points in the opening period, but Scotty Thurman drilled a late three-pointer to give UA a 34-33 halftime advantage.

Corey Beck hit a short jumper early in the second half to give the Hogs a 38-35 lead, but Duke scored 13 unanswered points and suddenly led 48-38 with 17:09 left. While the surge left Duke fans roaring their approval, it also sped up the tempo of the game. The Razorbacks trailed but actually had the Blue Devils right where they wanted them.

Playing at a quicker pace, Arkansas caught up in less than five minutes. When Al Dillard drilled a three with 8:08 remaining to give UA a five-point lead, it looked like momentum had swung to the Hogs for good. Duke fought back and tied the game at 65-65 and finally 70-44 with 1:29 remaining. The Razorbacks took a timeout.

When Dwight Stewart fumbled a pass, he quickly passed it out to Thurman with the shot clock winding down. Thurman had no choice but to shoot. As his shot was narrowly clearing the outstretched hand of Antonio Lang, the shot clock hit zero. The shot, though, was true. It was a dagger to the hearts of the Blue Devils and surpassed U.S. Reed's half-court jumper against Louisville as the most famous shot in UA history.

Duke never recovered. Three free throws in the final seconds clinched the 76-72 victory that gave Arkansas the 1994 national championship.

224), and Sutton knew he had something special.

With half of Barnhill's facelift completed before the 1977 season, a new wave of excitement swept through the entire state of Arkansas.

The Razorbacks blitzed through the SWC unbeaten, winning their first league title in 19 years. Brewer, Moncrief and Delph were the toast of the Ozarks. Arkansas finished 26-2 but lost in the first round of the NCAA Tournament when Moncrief fouled out, allowing Wake Forest to come from behind for a victory.

Expectations were high in 1978 and the Hogs didn't disappoint. For a week, the Razorbacks were even ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll. A loss at Houston after two victories earlier in the week dropped the Hogs from their position at the top.

Arkansas shared the SWC title with Texas, but was upset by Houston, again on a last-second shot at the SWC Tournament. Stunned, the Razorbacks returned home unsure of whether or not they would receive an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament.

The Hogs got in and victories over Weber State and No. 2 UCLA thrust Arkansas into the regional finals. Brewer hit a long jumper with less than a minute to play and Jim Counce scored on a layup at the end to seal a 61-58 victory over Cal-Fullerton, sending the Hogs to the Final Four.

No. 1-ranked Kentucky ended Arkansas' dreams of a national title with a semi-final victory, but Brewer hit another of his patented buzzer shots in the third-place game, giving Arkansas a thrilling 71-69 victory over Notre Dame.

With two-time All-American Brewer and the sleek-shooting Delph gone, Moncrief and Steve Schall were left to lead the 1979 Hogs. It was almost a repeat performance of 1978.

Moncrief was brilliant. He simply refused to allow his team to lose. After a brief midseason slump, Arkansas won 14 straight games, including two at the SWC Tournament and two in the NCAA Tournament. A victory over Louisville sent Arkansas into the Midwest Regional finals against No. 1-ranked Indiana State and superstar Larry Bird.

Arkansas could not stop Bird, but ISU could not contain Moncrief. In one of the greatest games in UA history, the Hogs suffered a 73-71 setback when a last-second Sycamore shot bounced twice and fell in. Arkansas finished 25-5 and the Moncrief era was history.

NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP GAME
APRIL 4, 1994, AT CHARLOTTE, N.C.

Sutton won three more SWC titles and left behind a legacy when his teams won 20 or more games nine years in a row. Arkansas played in the NCAA Tournament in each of those nine seasons, but never came close to returning to the Final Four. The Razorbacks even featured a team that had three future first-round NBA draft choices when Scott Hastings, Darrell Walker and Alvin Robertson played together. Joe Kleine, another future NBA product, redshirted that year (1982).

When Sutton left for Kentucky, Broyles turned a completely different direction when he hired Nolan Richardson. Richardson's teams were noted for defense, just as Sutton's were, but it was a different style of defense. Richardson's defense usually turned quickly to offense and his teams at Tulsa had led the nation in scoring.

Inheriting a group of players recruited to play at a slower pace, Richardson had to bite the bullet as his first season resulted in a 12-16 finish. Then he started recruiting. His second team won 19 games and his third was 21-9. His 1989 squad won Arkansas' first SWC title since 1982 and breezed through the league tournament. Arkansas set school scoring records and downed Loyola-Marymount in the first round of the NCAA Tournament before bowing to Louisville.

By then, Richardson's style and players already had converted Razorback fans. Barnhill Arena was hopping every time the Hogs played. It wouldn't have taken a Final Four appearance for the state to go nuts, but when the Razorbacks reached the 1990 Final Four, the state went crazy.

The Hogs were SWC champs again and dominated the SWC Tournament for the second consecutive year. Triumphs over Princeton, Dayton, North Carolina and Texas sent the Razorbacks into the Final Four. A loss to Duke in the semifinals ended the season at 30-5.

It nearly happened again in 1991. UA won a school-record 34 games before falling to Kansas in the Southeast Regional finals. Arkansas ended its history in the Southwest Conference by winning the final three regular season and tournament championships.

A new era was launched in 1992 and the Razorbacks didn't miss a beat. Arkansas won the Southeastern Conference title with a 13-3 record. Included were two victories over Shaquille O'Neal-led LSU and a big win at Kentucky. The Todd Day-Lee Mayberry-Oliver Miller era ended with a 26-8 season and another trip to the NAAs.

After winning the SEC's Western Division in '93 and pushing North Carolina to the limit in a Sweet 16 loss to the eventual national champions, Arkansas enjoyed its best season ever in 1994. UA won nearly everything possible. The Razorbacks were SEC champs, again sweeping LSU and winning at Kentucky, they made the school's fifth trip to the Final Four and completed their dream season by beating Arizona and Duke to win the national title.

A year later, Arkansas was No. 1 in all the preseason polls, but the Hogs stumbled early before making a late-season run. UA repeated as Western Division champion, then downed Texas Southern, Syracuse, Memphis and Virginia to earn its sixth Final Four appearance.

A win over North Carolina in the semifinals allowed the Hogs to advance to the finals, but it was UCLA's year as the Bruins beat Arkansas for the 1995 crown, 89-78.

With every starter gone from the back-to-back Final Four clubs, Arkansas was expected to struggle in 1996. Richardson, however, molded together a young team and the Hogs peaked late. Seeded 12th in the NCAA East Regional, UA beat Penn State and Marquette to advance to the Sweet 16 before falling to top-ranked Massachusetts.

In 1997, Arkansas was forced to endure an NCAA inquiry, which proved fruitless, but it damaged the Hogs' recruiting. The streak of nine straight NCAA

Charles Balentine's baseline jumper gave Arkansas a 65-64 victory over Michael Jordan and No. 1-ranked North Carolina in 1984.

North Carolina was 19-0 and ranked No. 1 nationally when the Tar Heels visited Pine Bluff. Arkansas was on its way to a second-place finish in the Southwest Conference and had defeated SMU in Dallas the day before.

Violent weather kept the Hogs from flying to Pine Bluff until the morning of the game, and the Razorbacks arrived in town two hours before the nationally televised contest.

If the Razorbacks were weary, they showed no signs of it. They defended North Carolina fiercely, holding the Tar Heels to 45 percent shooting. North Carolina had plenty of weapons. Michael Jordan, Sam Perkins and Brad Daugherty, all future NBA stars, were in the starting lineup along with Steve Hale, a guard from Tulsa whose second choice of schools was Arkansas.

The Hogs were armed with Joe Kleine and Alvin Robertson, but the unsung heroes were Darryl Bedford and Charles Balentine. Bedford, a freshman who had been a little used reserve, hit all six of his shots and scored 12 points. Balentine, of course, was the hero at the end.

A crowd of 7,529 was in a frenzy from the opening tipoff to the final buzzer. They watched Jordan score 21 points and Kleine answer with 20. Perkins had 17 and Hale 15. Leroy Sutton scored 11 points, Balentine 10 and Robertson nine for the Hogs.

North Carolina's largest lead of the first half was five points. UA led by as many as seven before taking a 38-34 advantage at the break. The second half was a nailbiter and the Tar Heels led by one with only seconds to play. Balentine drove the baseline and hit an eight-footer to give Arkansas the lead before UNC missed a buzzer shot.

NCAA REGIONAL FINAL

MARCH 17, 1979, AT CINCINNATI, OHIO

A Final Four team in 1978, Arkansas was not expected to return in 1979 with the loss of Ron Brewer and Marvin Delph, two of the famed "Triplets." Sidney Moncrief, however, almost single-handedly pushed his team to greater heights than anyone expected.

Moncrief, senior Steve Schall and a cast of sophomores and freshmen put together a 14-game winning streak late in the year and arrived at the Midwest Regional finals ready to challenge No. 1-ranked and unbeaten Indiana State, and superstar Larry Bird. The stakes were a spot in the Final Four.

Bird was awesome. The Hogs simply could not stop him. With 9:22 left, he already had 27 points. Razorback Coach Eddie Sutton then made the ultimate gamble. He put the 6-4 Moncrief on the 6-9 Bird for the final seven minutes.

Bird scored just four more points. Moncrief, meanwhile, was almost as unstoppable as Bird had been. He finished with 24 points and eight rebounds, and had his team in a position to win late. Arkansas had the ball with 1:31 left and holding for the last shot with the score tied 71-71.

With 1:02 remaining, U.S. Reed tripped and was called for walking, giving the Sycamores the ball.

ISU held for the last shot, but could not get the ball to Bird, who was smothered by Moncrief. It was Bob Heaton who launched the shot with two seconds left and the Hogs watched helplessly as it hit both sides of the rim before dropping through, depriving the Hogs of a second straight trip to the Final Four.

Tournament appearances ended but the Bud Walton Arena crowds were rejuvenated by three NIT games. Fans who never had the opportunity to buy Razorback basketball tickets were able to attend and helped UA advance to the NIT semifinals in New York.

It was back to the NCAAs in 1998 as the Razorbacks, who got 10.4 points and an SEC-leading 9.8 rebounds per game from Nick Davis, won 24 games and reached the second round with a win over Nebraska.

Arkansas won its 10th straight NCAA Tournament first-round game in 1999 as Pat Bradley set school records for career three-point shooting (366-915, .400). Derek Hood recorded more double-doubles than anyone in UA history and also led the league in rebounding (10.3), and Kareem Reid broke Mayberry's career record for assists (748).

UA also had one of the most unique weeks in its basketball history. The final two home games came over a five-day span against No. 5 Kentucky and No. 2 Auburn. Never before had Arkansas played two top 10 teams at home in the same week. Arkansas beat UK, 74-70, and topped Auburn, 104-88.

Following an up-and-down season in 2000, Arkansas won four games in four days, including wins over No. 16 Kentucky, No. 10 LSU and No. 23 Auburn to win the school's first SEC Tournament title. Brandon Dean was the MVP after averaging 15.2 points in the title run.

The 2001 club rebounded from an 0-3 league start with a six-game winning streak late in the year to earn Arkansas' 13th NCAA Tournament appearance in 14 years and its 15th straight postseason tournament berth.

The Nolan Richardson era came to an end in 2002 when he was released from his contract. The Razorbacks dropped to 14-15, including a 13-14 mark under Richardson. Mike Anderson was 1-1 as interim head coach for the last two games of the season.

With an all-freshman backcourt and playing against the second-toughest schedule in the nation, the Razorbacks struggled to a 9-19 finish in 2003, but Stan Heath's first club gave a glimpse of what is to come by leading the SEC in rebounding and knocking off No. 20 Mississippi State and No. 22 Alabama.

UA IN THE FINAL FOUR

Lenzie Howell and the Razorbacks knocked off Princeton, Dayton, North Carolina and Texas to reach the 1990 Final Four.

UA BASKETBALL // FINAL FOUR

During Arkansas' long, illustrious basketball history, the Razorbacks have been to the NCAA Final Four six times. The Hogs have earned 27 bids to the NCAA Tournament and made 26 appearances, missing the 1944 event due to a car accident prior to the first-round games.

Only eight schools in the entire country have been to the Final Four more than Arkansas, and only seven schools have earned more than UA's 27 NCAA Tournament bids. Among Southeastern Conference schools, only Kentucky has been to the NCAA Tournament more often. In fact, Arkansas' 1994 national championship put the Razorbacks in the same company as the Wildcats as the only SEC schools to ever win the national championship. LSU, Georgia, Mississippi State and Florida are the only other league schools to reach the Final Four.

It was tougher to get in the tournament in the early days, but it also took fewer games to win the title.

In the 1940s, only eight teams participated in the NCAA Tournament, which first became an event in 1939. Up to that point, the NIT was the top national post-season tournament. Twice in the '40s, the Razorbacks advanced to the Final Four.

The 1941 Hogs roared through the Southwest Conference with a 12-0 mark and carried a 19-2 record into the tournament. Arkansas downed Wyoming, 65-40, to reach the Final Four at Kansas City. Washington State handed the Razorbacks a 64-53 setback,

It had been an incredible year for Arkansas. The Razorbacks repeated as Southwest Conference champs but had to nervously await an NCAA at-large bid when they were eliminated from the league tournament by Houston in the semifinals. The "Triplets," Ron Brewer, Sidney Moncrief and Marvin Delph, were the ringleaders of one of the greatest teams in school history.

Still, the Hogs were underdogs and a new kid on the NCAA block when they faced second-ranked UCLA in the third round at Albuquerque. David Greenwood was the leader of the Bruins, who weren't far removed from their incredible string of NCAA championships.

UCLA was stunned as Arkansas roared to a 40-22 lead that was cut to 42-29 by half-time. The Bruins didn't panic. They pressed the Hogs and took a 60-58 lead.

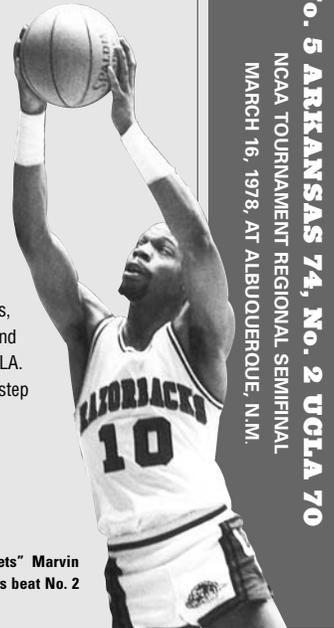

Brewer tied the game with two free throws, Steve Schall hit a short turnaround and Delph drilled a jump shot to put the Hogs back in front. By game's end the Razorbacks were going strong.

Delph sizzled by hitting 11 of his 14 shots, finishing with 23 points. Moncrief had 21 and Brewer 18. Greenwood finished with 17 for UCLA.

The victory moved the Razorbacks a step closer to their eventual trip to the Final Four.

A MOMENT TO REMEMBER
U. S. REED BEATS LOUISVILLE

U.S. Reed's midcourt buzzer-beater knocked off defending national champion Louisville in 1981 and was ranked by Sports Illustrated as the second-most historic event in college basketball behind North Carolina State's title game win over Houston in 1983.

Defending NCAA champion Louisville and Southwest Conference champion Arkansas clawed at each other for 39 minutes and 55 seconds in the second round of the NCAA Tournament and the scoreboard read Louisville 73, Arkansas 72 after Derek Smith's short jumper for the Cardinals.

The Razorbacks, who had led by six points with 2:13 left, called timeout. U.S. Reed took the inbounds pass and coolly dribbled to the midcourt area near the sideline. With a second left on the clock, he launched a desperation 49-footer. The only thing desperate after the shot was the look on the faces of the Louisville players as they watched the ball hit nothing but net.

Reed shook hands with everyone on the press table after hitting a shot that will live forever in the minds of Razorback fans. He finished with 19 points. Darrell Walker had 23 and the Hogs were still alive in the NCAA Tournament.

Steve Schall and Arkansas lost their 1978 Final Four semifinal game to Kentucky, but they beat Notre Dame in the third-place game.

meaning Arkansas and Pittsburgh tied for third since there was no third-place game. UA returned in 1945, again to Kansas City. Arkansas was 16-8 entering the tournament but edged Oregon, 79-76, to reach the Final Four. Eventual national champion Oklahoma State, which Arkansas had defeated once earlier in the season, downed the Hogs and UA tied Ohio State for third place.

It took 33 years for Arkansas to return. In 1978, the Hogs were Southwest Conference champs and beat Weber State, second-ranked UCLA and California-Fullerton to advance to the Final Four at St. Louis. Top-ranked Kentucky led by just one with two minutes to play and posted a 64-59 victory.

There was a third-place game and Ron Brewer hit a buzzer shot from the top of the circle to send the Razorbacks past Notre Dame, 71-69. Brewer had 20 points and Marvin Delph 21 in their final game as Razorbacks.

Nolan Richardson guided the Hogs to the Final Four in 1990, 1994 and '95. In 1990, wins over Princeton, Dayton, North Carolina and Texas earned Arkansas a trip to Denver. UA was 30-4 heading into a semifinal showdown with Duke.

Richardson took his club to Denver a day early to adjust to the altitude, but the Hogs fell behind early in both halves and used plenty of adrenaline to catch up. UA led 69-62 with 10:38 remaining, but ran out of gas. Duke came back and won, 97-83, but also used most of its energy. The Blue Devils were beaten by Nevada-Las Vegas in the title game while UA tied Georgia Tech for third.

The ultimate came in 1994. The Hogs downed North Carolina A&T, Georgetown, Tulsa and Michigan to advance to the Final Four at Charlotte, N.C. The win over Arizona was Arkansas' first ever in the national semifinals and set up a clash with Duke.

With the score tied with less than a minute to play, a well-defended Scotty Thurman hit a three-pointer to lead the Razorbacks to a 76-72 victory and the national title.

With every starter from the championship squad returning, the Hogs were favored to return to the Final Four in 1995, and they did. Texas Southern, Syracuse, Memphis and Virginia were knocked off along the way to the Final Four at Seattle, but none of the wins came by more than six points.

Arkansas fell behind early but rallied to get by North Carolina in the semifinals. Playing in the NCAA championship game for the second straight year, Arkansas came up short in an 89-78 loss to UCLA.

No. 7 ARKANSAS 106, No. 23 LSU 92(OT)
 MARCH 4, 1992, AT FAYETTEVILLE

It was Arkansas' first year as a member of the Southeastern Conference. Earlier in the season, Todd Day had exploded for a career-high 43 points as the Razorbacks defeated LSU, 101-90, at Baton Rouge. The Tigers recovered from the defeat, though, and by the time they arrived at Barnhill Arena, they had tied the Hogs for the SEC lead.

LSU's first ever visit to Fayetteville would determine the SEC championship.

The Tigers started strong. Shaquille O'Neal did his best to quiet an overflow crowd of 9,518 with 11 points in the opening half as LSU roared to a 51-36 advantage. O'Neal, however, scored his last points with 11:37 remaining to give the Tigers a 69-58 lead before the Razorbacks charged back.

Lee Mayberry, who hit a then-school record nine three-point field goals and finished with 35 points, teamed with Day, who finished with 27, to bring the Hogs from behind. Mayberry's last three-pointer tied the game at 87-all and Oliver Miller blocked O'Neal's shot at the buzzer to force overtime.

Arkansas blitzed the Tigers, 19-5, in the extra period. Day scored nine points and Mayberry had four during that time. The victory sent Barnhill Arena into a frenzy and the Razorbacks on the way to their first SEC title.

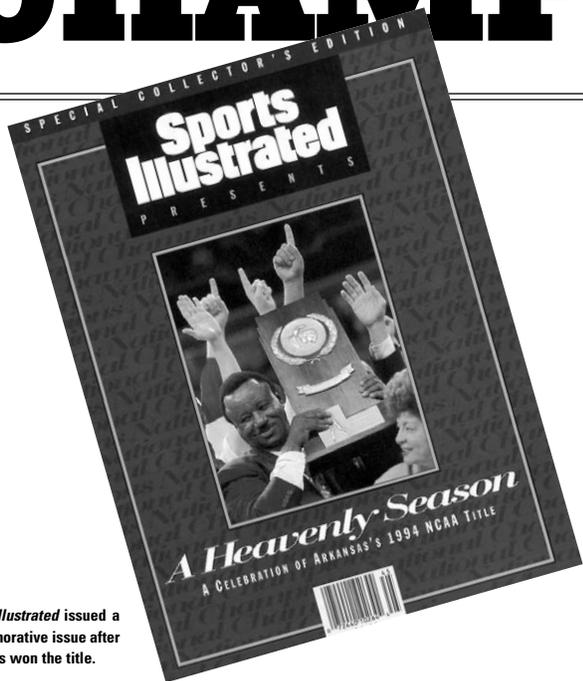

Oliver Miller had 10 points, 10 rebounds, three blocked shots and three steals against the Tigers.

THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

UA BASKETBALL // NATIONAL CHAMPS

Sports Illustrated issued a commemorative issue after Arkansas won the title.

Without a senior in the starting lineup, playing in the most palatial arena in college basketball with the President of the United States attending four games and led by a coach with a system that could not be drawn up on a blackboard, Arkansas vaulted into the elite of the elite when the Razorbacks won the 1994 NCAA championship.

Construction workers built Bud Walton Arena in record time and the 19,200-seat showcase dazzled fans and opponents as much as the Razorbacks did. Sellout crowds each time the doors were opened watched the Hogs go 16-0 at home. Only one game, the 84-83 victory over LSU, was decided by fewer than 10 points. UA won those 16 games by an average of 30 points.

UA blitzed Murray State, 93-67, in the Bud Walton Arena opener on Nov. 29, but the building was dedicated a few nights later when Missouri came to Fayetteville for an ESPN showcase game. The Dec. 2 game was decided in the first few minutes as Arkansas roared to a 120-68 victory over a Missouri club which went unbeaten in the Big Eight and came within one victory of reaching the Final Four.

Ranked No. 1 nationally for 10 weeks during the regular season, the Hogs lost only twice during the regular campaign. Alabama beat Arkansas, 66-64, in Tuscaloosa, and Mississippi State edged the Hogs, 72-71, in Starkville.

Sophomores Corliss Williamson and Scotty Thurman carried much of the load, and junior Corey Beck was the blue collar leader. When the Hogs had to score, they went inside to Williamson, who averaged 20.4 points per game. He shot .626 from the field and 70 percent at the free throw line.

Arkansas already had a two-game lead over Texas in the Southwest Conference when the Razorbacks invaded Austin for a nationally televised game.

The Hogs owned a four-game winning streak over the Longhorns, and it was a must-win situation for Texas. The Razorbacks led for most of the first half but Texas gained a five-point advantage midway through the second half. It was 77-72 'Horns when Todd Day fouled out for Arkansas 3:31 from the end.

Texas still led, 86-83, and had Travis Mays at the free throw line with 12 seconds left, but Mays missed the free throw and Lee Mayberry stunned the Texas crowd of more than 16,000 with a long three-pointer three seconds from the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

Arkansas made sure Texas never recovered. A three-pointer by Ernie Murry got the Hogs started and Mayberry's jumper at 3:20 put the Hogs in front to stay. Mayberry and Lenzie Howell each scored 23 points to offset 24 by Joey Wright, 23 by Mays and 22 by Lance Blanks. The victory gave Arkansas a three-game lead it never surrendered on its way to the SWC title.

Lee Mayberry's deep three sent the game to overtime and Arkansas never looked back.

No. 3 ARKANSAS 103, TEXAS 96 (OT)
 FEBRUARY 4, 1990, AT AUSTIN, TEXAS

Clint McDaniel (above) and Corey Beck shut down Arizona's Damon Stoudamire and Khalid Reeves in the 91-82 semifinal victory in 1994.

Thurman, though, was the last-minute hero. His three-pointer with seven seconds left gave Arkansas a one-point victory at Tennessee. He hit another three in the last 30 seconds to lift the Hogs past LSU at Baton Rouge in overtime.

Beck did much of the dirty work, defending with tenacity and leading the team in assists. He and junior Clint McDaniel probably were the best defensive guards in college basketball. Head coach Nolan Richardson certainly thought so. McDaniel also provided perimeter firepower, as did junior Dwight Stewart, Arkansas' fifth starter who was more a forward than a center.

Richardson used a deep bench to guide the Hogs to a 24-2 regular season finish. Al Dillard brought instant offense into any contest with his incredible three-point shooting range. He was Arkansas' third-leading scorer behind Williamson and Thurman (15.9 ppg) with an 8.9 average even though he played just more than 12 minutes a game. Roger Crawford, one of only two seniors on the squad, also brought instant firepower off the bench, but he was injured early in the NCAA Tournament run and was not available for the Final Four.

In his honor, UA players wore a No. 31 patch on their jerseys.

Freshmen Darnell Robinson and Lee Wilson, a pair of 6-11 centers, gave the Hogs size they didn't have in 1993 when they won 22 games and reached the Sweet 16 before falling to eventual national champion North Carolina. Senior Ken Biley and junior Elmer Martin also made significant contributions.

When President Bill Clinton visited Bud Walton Arena for a Dec. 28 blowout of Texas Southern, no one realized it would be a preview of later visits to the NCAA Tournament. The nation's most recognizable Razorback fan later appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated wearing sweats presented by Richardson.

A 13-game winning streak was snapped by Kentucky in the SEC Tournament, but the Razorbacks were still seeded first in the Midwest Regional at Oklahoma City. Williamson scored 24 points and had seven rebounds in a 94-79 first-round victory over North Carolina A&T. He followed with 21 points and Robinson, making a surprise start, added 13 in the 85-73 second-round win over Georgetown.

Early in the year, Tulsa gave Arkansas a scare before the Hogs won in overtime, 93-91, in Tulsa. The Golden Hurricane surprised UCLA and Oklahoma State to reach the Sweet 16 with UA in Dallas. This one was no contest as Williamson and Thurman scored 21 each, and McDaniel 19 in a 103-84 victory.

Hakeem Olajuwon and Houston were on their way to their third consecutive Final Four, they were ranked second nationally and hadn't lost a Southwest Conference game in two years. The Cougars had gone 16-0 in 1983 and were 15-0 going into the regular season finale at Barnhill Arena.

Arkansas was outstanding as well. The Hogs already had upset top-ranked North Carolina at Pine Bluff, but at 13-2 couldn't catch Houston in the SWC standings. No one in the overflow crowd of 9,438 cared as they watched a terrific contest showcased by national television.

Olajuwon was held to 10 points before fouling out, but Michael Young picked up the slack with 22 and Alvin Franklin earned 21. They weren't as hot as the Hogs, though. Joe Kleine, whose inside power put Olajuwon in foul trouble, scored 22 points, hitting all 10 of his free throws. Charles Balentine added 16, Ricky Norton 14 and Alvin Robertson 13 points and nine assists.

Houston led at the half but saw its hopes dim when Olajuwon drew his fourth and fifth fouls in a 38-second span six minutes from the end while trying to stop Kleine inside. Kleine hit all four free throws and the Hogs had a huge victory.

Joe Kleine scored 22 points, forced Hakeem Olajuwon to foul out and the Hogs beat No. 2 Houston in 1984.

Michigan was Arkansas' regional final foe and the Hogs could not contain Juwan Howard, but neither could the Wolverines handle Thurman. With Williamson smothered by Michigan's inside defense and held to 12 points, Thurman tossed in 20 as UA reached the Final Four with a 76-68 win attended by President Clinton.

By the time the Hogs arrived at Charlotte, N.C., they were a confident bunch. They also had been somehow convinced by Richardson that they were not nationally respected, even though they had been ranked No. 1. Arizona was the semifinal opponent and the Wildcat guards, Damon Stoudamire and Khalid Reeves, were billed as the top offensive guards in the nation.

Beck and McDaniel were motivated to the hilt and smothered them. They combined to hit just 11 of their 43 shots, including just two of 22 three-point attempts. Williamson scored 29 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, and the Hogs advanced to the championship game with a 91-82 victory.

An entire state stood still on April 4, 1994. Arkansas fans who could not be there (more than 3,000 made the trip to Charlotte) watched and listened in every corner of the state. President Clinton was there again, and so was Duke, the 1991 and '92 national champion.

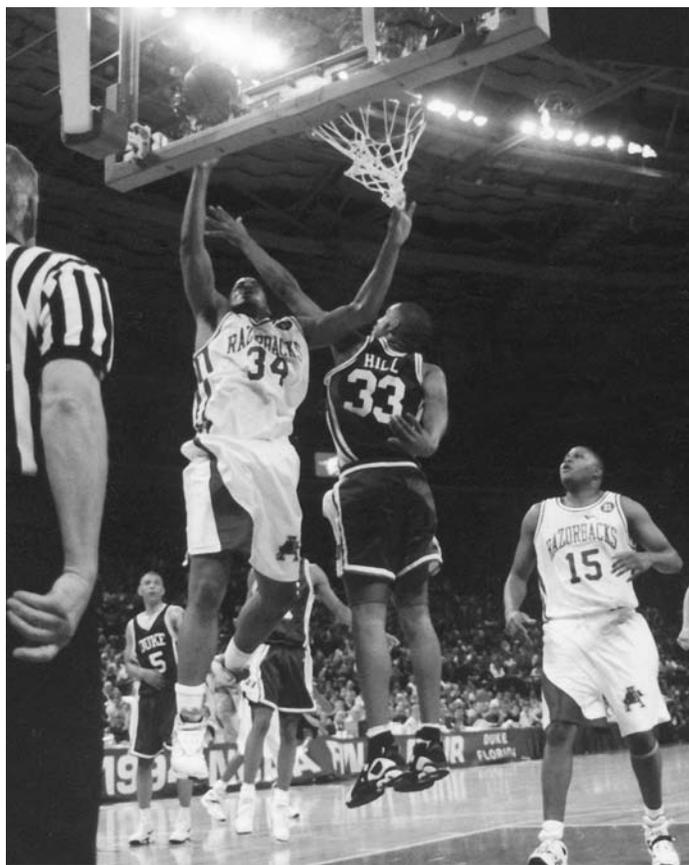

After an airtight first half that ended with Arkansas holding a 34-33 lead, Duke jumped out to a 10-point advantage in the first three minutes of the second half. However, the pace of the game picked up during the run and it never slowed down. The Razorbacks took advantage and were even with the Devils less than five minutes later.

When Arkansas built a 70-65 lead late in the contest, it looked safe, but Grant Hill's three tied the game with 1:29 remaining.

Although Williamson finished with 23 points, there was no doubt who would take the next shot for UA. Thurman launched a high-arching three-point attempt with only seconds left on the shot clock. The shot fell with 51 seconds left and when it settled through the net, the outcome had been determined. A pair of free throws by McDaniel and another by Dillard sealed Duke's fate, 76-72.

Once the national championship belonged to the Hogs, an entire state celebrated. President Clinton embraced Richardson on the court and later officially honored the Razorbacks at the White House.

The 1994 NCAA championship trophy is on display at Bud Walton Arena.

Corliss Williamson was named the Most Outstanding Player of the 1994 Final Four after averaging 26.0 points and 10.5 rebounds in Arkansas' two wins.

Auburn hadn't won a Southeastern Conference championship in 39 years but already had clinched the title and was ranked second nationally with a 25-1 record when the Tigers came to Bud Walton Arena for Arkansas' regular season home finale.

The Razorbacks had stunned fifth-ranked Kentucky four days earlier and believed a win over Auburn would clinch a spot in the NCAA Tournament.

It was an emotional evening before the game started. Seniors Derek Hood, Pat Bradley and Kareem Reid, record-setters who persevered through four sometimes-difficult seasons, were introduced to the Bud Walton fans for the final time.

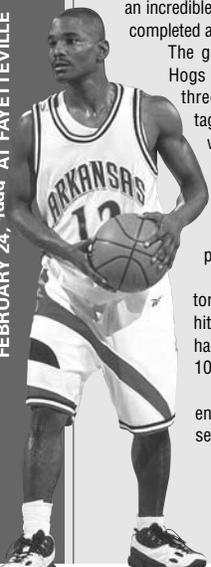

Arkansas' fans created the noisiest environment Coach Nolan Richardson, his players and long-time followers of the program could ever remember. An overflow crowd of 20,298 nearly shook the building with an incredible level of exhortation. Not a player or coach on either side completed an interview without mentioning the crowd.

The game itself was airtight throughout the first half. The Hogs surged ahead by 10 points twice but a last second three-pointer by Tiger star Chris Porter carved the advantage to four by intermission. It was a one-point game with 16:26 left but a rebound basket by Hood spurred the Razorbacks to a 30-10 run that left Auburn in shock. Both teams were quick, but the Tigers must have thought there were more than five Hogs on the floor as the noise pushed Arkansas beyond its highest previous performance level of the campaign.

When it was over, the Razorbacks had a 16-point victory and a spot secured in the NCAA Tournament. Bradley hit five three-pointers and finished with 23 points. Hood had 18 points and 13 rebounds. Reid earned 10 points and 10 assists. Junior Chris Walker added 21 points.

It was Arkansas' finest execution of the season and the entire state was buzzing about the contest long after the season was concluded.

Following a win over No. 5 Kentucky five days earlier, Kareem Reid's 10 points and 10 assists helped the Razorbacks knock off second-ranked Auburn, which came in 25-1, in 1999.

No. 9 ARKANSAS 94, No. 5 KENTUCKY 92
 JANUARY 29, 1995, AT FAYETTEVILLE

Kentucky's second-ever trip to Fayetteville was a highly-anticipated event. CBS moved the game to Super Bowl Sunday to ensure a large audience for the nationally televised event.

The Wildcats were 13-2, including 7-0 in the Southeastern Conference. Arkansas, the preseason No. 1 choice and defending national champion, had looked vulnerable at times during the season and was 15-4 with a 4-3 SEC mark.

By halftime it was obvious another special event was taking place, just as every Arkansas-Kentucky game had been. The Wildcats led by one when Reggie Garrett stunned the visitors with a halfcourt buzzer shot to give UA a 49-47 halftime lead.

UA was tied or led the entire second half until Walter McCarty's short jumper gave Kentucky an 82-80 lead with 5:19 left. From that point on, neither team led by more than four, and there were three ties and three lead changes.

The teams traded salvos until Clint McDaniel made just one free throw with 51 seconds remaining. When McCarty scored on a put-back with 24 seconds to go, UK led by one.

Scotty Thurman, UA's greatest last-second shot maker ever, made sure the crowd went home happy. He drove past UK defenders, pulled up and hit an 18-footer with eight seconds to go to put the Razorbacks in front for good. McDaniel made a baseline steal in the final second and hit a free throw for the final two-point margin.

Thurman and Corliss Williamson combined for 50 points as the Hogs won their fourth straight regular season game over the Wildcats.

The Southeastern Conference, with its storied 71-year history of athletic achievements and academic excellence, has built perhaps the greatest tradition of intercollegiate competition of any league in the country since its inception in 1933.

The 2002-03 academic year was another season to remember for the SEC as conference teams captured seven national titles and eight national runner-up finishes. Between 1990 and 2003, the SEC won 94 national team championships for an average of more than seven per year.

Arkansas and LSU won the conference's first NCAA titles of the year in men and women's indoor track, respectively. Auburn won both the men and women's swimming and diving titles, and Florida won the women's tennis title. Arkansas and LSU also won the men and women's outdoor track and field championships, respectively.

Six men and seven women's basketball teams earned NCAA Tournament bids, and eight baseball teams advanced to postseason play with LSU and South Carolina reaching the College World Series.

In addition to the seven team championships, 72 SEC student-athletes garnered individual national championships while 396 were awarded first-team All-America honors. Student-athletes around the league continued to excel in the classroom with 1,746 earning SEC Academic Honor Roll honors.

HISTORY OF THE SEC

SEC schools began athletic competition with one another more than 100 years ago as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Seven institutions (Alabama, Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Sewanee and Vanderbilt) attended the SIAA organizational meeting of faculty representatives in Atlanta on Dec. 22, 1894.

The SIAA expanded to 19 institutions in 1895 with Central, Clemson, Cumberland, Kentucky, LSU, Mercer Mississippi State, Nashville, Southwestern Presbyterian, Tennessee, Texas and Tulane joining the fold, and by 1920 there were 30 members.

The larger schools reorganized as the Southern Conference at a meeting in Gainesville Dec. 12-13, 1920, including Alabama, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Maryland, MSU, UNC, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Virginia, Virginia Tech and Washington & Lee. In 1922, Florida, LSU, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Virginia and VMI joined while Sewanee and Duke became members in 1923 and 1928, respectively. The 13 members west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized (UA, AU, UF, UG, GTU, UK, LSU, UM, MSU, Sewanee, UT, Tulane and VU) as the SEC at the Southern Conference meetings of Dec. 8-9, 1932, in Knoxville while the 10 coast members remained in the SC. Sewanee withdrew on Dec. 13, 1940, Georgia Tech on June 1, 1964, and Tulane on June 1, 1966. The league maintained that membership until Arkansas joined on Aug. 1, 1990, and South Carolina on Sept. 25, 1990.

YOUNG TEAM SHOWS IMPROVEMENT AGAINST TOUGH SCHEDULE

THE SEASON: Arkansas, playing with an all freshman backcourt following the departure of five senior guards from 2002, finished 9-19 overall and 4-12 in the Southeastern Conference, tying Ole Miss for fifth in the Western Division.

HOGS' SCHEDULE ONE OF THE TOUGHEST IN THE NATION: According to CollegeRPI.com ratings, Arkansas played the second-toughest schedule in the nation. Georgia's slate was rated toughest, followed by Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri.

HEATH'S CONTRACT EXTENDED: Following his first season at Arkansas, head coach Stan Heath's contract was extended one year. His initial contract was five years through 2007, but the extension pushes it through April 30, 2008.

MOST RANKED OPPONENTS EVER: With nine regular-season games against teams ranked in the top 25 in 2003, Arkansas played the most ranked teams ever, not counting the SEC and NCAA tournaments. Counting the tournaments, the most ranked teams UA has faced in a season was 11 in 2000 and 1995.

FRESHMEN FIGURES: UA's top three scorers in 2003 were freshmen: Jonathon Modica (11.5 ppg, 4.5 rpg), Eric Ferguson (10.9 ppg, 3.1 rpg) and Kendrick Davis (10.3 ppg, 2.0 rpg). In fact, freshmen Modica, Ferguson, Davis, Wen Mukubu and Rashard Sullivan combined to score 1,033 of UA's 1,726 points for the year — 59.8 percent. That group also claimed 393 of the team's 1,063 rebounds — 37.4 percent. Modica was named to a pair of all-freshmen teams, Davis was the team's leading scorer over the final six games of the year (12.8 ppg) and Ferguson led the team in minutes played, assists and three-point buckets.

MODICA NAMED TO ALL-FRESHMAN SQUADS: Freshman forward Jonathon Modica was named to the 2003 Southeastern Conference and CollegeInsider.com all-freshmen teams.

Modica led the team with 11.5 points a game and was second with 4.5 rebounds. He was the seventh Razorback to earn SEC All-Freshman honors and the first since Joe Johnson, who was co-Freshman of the Year, in 2000.

UA AMONG NATIONAL ATTENDANCE LEADERS: Fans clearly supported the Razorbacks in 2003. Arkansas drew an average attendance of 14,790 fans per game, which ranked No. 14 in the country.

LOW SCORES: Arkansas averaged just 61.6 points a game in 2003, its lowest average since 1967 when UA scored 60.3 points a game. Defensively, UA allowed just 66.5 points a game, the lowest total since 1988 when the Hogs gave up 64.9 points.

UNFAMILIAR TERRITORY: Arkansas has had consecutive losing seasons for the first time since 1971 and 1972. The Razorbacks have also gone consecutive seasons without advancing to a national postseason tournament for the first time since the 1975 and 1976 seasons.

EDDINS TOPS LEAGUE IN ASSIST-TO-TURNOVER RATIO: Senior Blake Eddins played in 23 games, and finished with 10 assists and just two turnovers. His five-to-one assist-to-turnover ratio led the SEC. He is UA's first conference statistical champion in that category.

Kendrick Davis' driving layup with 25 seconds left was the game winner in the 53-51 victory over No. 20 Mississippi State.

CRASHING THE BOARDS: Arkansas drastically improved its rebounding from 2002 to 2003. In 2002, the Hogs averaged 32.1 rebounds a game, 11th in the Southeastern Conference, gave up 40.8 rebounds a game, 12th in the league, and had a -8.7 rebounding margin, also 12th in the SEC.

In 2003, UA led the league with 38.0 rebounds a game and gave up 32.5 a game for a margin of +5.5, which ranked third in the conference. UA also topped the SEC with 14.54 offensive boards per contest. Arkansas' average of 38.0 boards per game was its best since the 1998 season when UA claimed 39.6 per game. UA's positive rebounding margin (+5.5) was its first since the 1994 national championship team recorded a margin of +1.1 (41.6-40.5) and was the best since the 1984 club had a margin of +6.5 (31.0-24.5).

In 2002, Arkansas out-rebounded opponents just three times and tied twice, meaning the Razorbacks were out-boarded 24 times. In 2003, UA out-rebounded teams 18 times in 28 games.

GOMEZ SETS REBOUNDING MARKS: Senior forward Dionisio Gomez, who finished ninth in the SEC with 6.6 rebounds per game, had a career-high 17 rebounds with a personal-best 12 on the offensive end against No. 20 Georgia on Jan. 18. The 12 offensive rebounds is a Bud Walton Arena record. His total is the highest for a Razorback since Derek Hood had 17 against Mississippi State on March 6, 1999, in the SEC Tournament.

The 17 rebounds by Gomez and Hood tie two 17-rebound efforts by Nick Davis for the most ever by a Razorback against an SEC opponent. The last time an Arkansas player had more was Nov. 21, 1997, when Davis had a school-record 23 in the 97-71 win over Jackson State. Davis' 17-rebound games came later that year against Auburn and Alabama in consecutive games.

Gomez recorded three of his four double-doubles last year with 15 points and 11 rebounds against Illinois, 13 and 12 against Tulsa, and 10 and 11 against Centenary. His first came in 2002 with career highs of 18 points and 12 rebounds in the win at Tulsa.

SACHELL'S STATS: On Jan. 25, senior Larry Satchell was averaging just 1.3 points and 1.8 rebounds a game. In the next 12 games over the rest of the season, he averaged 5.1 points and 5.8 rebounds to push his final season averages to 3.2 points and 3.8 rebounds per game. He shot 54.2 percent from the field for the year (32-59), including 51 percent (25-49) over the last 12 contests.

The following policies have been prepared in consideration of your needs, as well as the needs of our student-athletes, coaches and staff, in hopes of creating a positive working environment for us all. As always, we welcome your suggestions and will try to accommodate special needs.

Game Credentials

All requests for media and/or photo credentials must be made on letterhead by sports editors or sports directors of accredited media outlets only. Requests should be made as early as possible and no later than two days prior to the game. Requests should be mailed or faxed (479-575-7481) to Robby Edwards at the address listed at the beginning of this section.

Credentials will be granted to working media only and granted on a game-by-game basis. No multi-game or full season credentials will be issued. Media and photo credentials will be issued according to the following priority:

1. Daily newspapers for production the following day
2. Sports editors only of other Arkansas daily newspapers
3. Originating broadcast of the visiting team
4. Accredited photographers (same priority as writers)
5. School publications (home and visiting campus publications are limited to a total of two media and two photo passes)
6. Accredited television sports directors and photographers
7. Approved special coverage
8. Professional scouts (one per team and limited to the first six requests)

Space limitations prevent accommodation of weekly media representatives and non-broadcasting radio personnel.

Also due to a lack of space, credentials will not be issued to web sites. The only possible exception is one credential may be issued to the official web site of the opposing team and/or the web site directly affiliated with the television network granted live broadcast rights for the game, space permitting.

Only fully accredited personnel directly involved in the coverage of the game will be admitted. Credentials are non-transferable. The Sports Information Office reserves the right to revoke any credential: (1) used by an individual other than the one to whom it was granted; (2) any individual who refused to comply with press row and/or photographic guidelines; (3) any individual who is not an accredited member of the media; and (4) any individual under the age of 16.

The Sports Information Office reserves the right to issue or deny any credential request. No credentials will be mailed. All credentials are left at media will call.

Southeastern Conference Internet Policy and Guidelines

By acceptance of a credential, the holder agrees to the following conditions for any and all basketball games hosted by the SEC and its member institutions:

1. The SEC and its member institutions grant a media organization a limited license to use certain gathered information on the media organization's own Internet or on-line site beginning at the start of an athletic event and up to the conclusion of such event, all subject to the following limitations and conditions:

A. No more than 10 still photographs may be used for news coverage of the game and other editorial purposes. Such still photographs must be used on a time-delayed basis, that is at least five minutes after the photographed happening of the event depicted by the still photo.

B. It is agreed that video tape is NOT to be used on an Internet or on-line site (except that video tape may be shown as part of a single, non-archived, on-line "simulcast" of a television station's regularly-scheduled news program.

C. While a game is in progress, the use of textual statistical information is time-delayed and limited in amount (e.g., updates pertaining to score {detail only given in halftime updates}, injuries and national, conference or institutional record-breaking performances, a condensed halftime story) so that an organization's Internet or on-line game coverage does not undercut the authorized and rights-paying fee organization's right to play-by-play accounts of the game and/or exclusivity as to such rights.

2. Any proposed media use on an Internet or on-line site of the game information that is more detailed and/or more than described above will require separate written authorization by the SEC and/or its member institutions. However, such written authorization will not permit the use of game information in entertainment contexts and will not authorize game coverage that, due to immediacy or detail, constitutes a play-by-play account of the game.

3. Should any of these conditions be breached, the SEC and/or its member institutions will issue a written warning for the first violation. If this violation occurs during the last game of the institutions' regularly-scheduled season, the media organization may not be credentialed for the SEC Tournament. A second violation of this policy will result in the revocation of credentials to cover future basketball games hosted by the SEC and/or its member institutions.

Media Will Call

Located on the south side of Bud Walton Arena, just right of the main ticket window. All passes are left at media will call - no credentials are mailed.

Gameday Parking

A limited number of spaces are available in the lots south of Bud Walton Arena, located at the corner of Sixth Street and Razorback Road. All requests should be made to Associate SID Robby Edwards.

Media Work Room

BWA's work room is one of the most spacious and well-equipped in the nation. It is located on the arena floor level, next to and adjoining the interview room. Weekly press briefings and Stan Heath's post-game press conferences are held in the interview room. Media members are encouraged to work from and file from the work room rather than press row. A minimum of 12 telephones are available in the work room.

Photographers

BWA features two photo "wells," which are located to the right of each goal as you are facing the court. Tripods are not allowed on the floor at any time during play. Photographers are not allowed to shoot from either sideline due to space limitations. Anyone wishing to hang strobe lights must first receive permission from the UA Sports Information Office. Sports information reserves the right to limit the number of strobe units used.

Radio Broadcasts

Visiting teams may utilize the four courtesy phone lines available in BWA. ISDN is available. Broadcasters needing more than four lines should contact the UA Sports Information Office. No banners are allowed to hang in front of any broadcast position.

Media Services

The University of Arkansas has one of the top statistical crews in college basketball. Our crew has worked NCAA Tournament regional championships and conference tournaments. Media will be provided play-by-play, halftime and final box scores, and shot charts for each half, in addition to coach and player quotes following the game.

Interview Policy

Arkansas players are available for interviews only on days of Stan Heath's press briefings, which are generally two days prior to each game, and following each game in Arkansas' locker room. Following all home games, after the 10-minute cooling-off period, Heath sits in on Arkansas' postgame radio show and then proceeds to the media room.

Stan Heath's Weekly Teleconferences

Each Monday and Thursday from Jan. 5 through March 8. The SEC teleconference features each league head coach for seven minutes on a broadcast quality hookup. The teleconference runs from 10 a.m. to 11:38 a.m. (central). Stan Heath's time slot is from 10:49 to 10:56. Media members can get the teleconference access numbers from either the SEC Media Relations Office (205-458-3010) or the UA Sports Information Office.

Razorback Satellite Services

At press time, no details were available on the uplink of highlights and interviews. The UA Sports Information Office will attempt to schedule highlight feeds following all non-televised games and possibly interviews once a week during the conference portion of the schedule. For details, contact the Sports Information Office.

Hogwired.com

The latest information on all Razorback men's athletics is just a click away on the web at Hogwired.com - the official web site of UA men's athletics. Game notes, quotes from Stan Heath's press conferences and game stories are a few of the items included. The site also offers biographical information on UA coaches and student-athletes, statistics and schedules. Fans can also access radio broadcasts of UA football, basketball and baseball games via links provided on Hogwired.com.

Media TeamLink (www.mediateamlink.com)

The UA Men's Sports Information Office provides members of the media a 24-hour-a-day document retrieval system known as Media TeamLink.

Releases, game notes, box scores and other information may be obtained in PDF (portable document format) at www.mediateamlink.com. This service is restricted to media members only and must be accessed with a user name and passcode obtained following the first visit to the site. A unique feature allows users to subscribe to specific documents and have them automatically e-mailed each time they are updated. The Adobe Reader is required to view the documents and can be downloaded free of charge at www.adobe.com.

ARKANSAS RAZORBACK SPORTS NETWORK

The Arkansas Razorback Sports Network, a division of Little Rock-based KATV Channel 7, is in its 10th year of producing and delivering every moment of Razorback basketball to thousands of Hog fans worldwide.

ARSN, as the exclusive provider of all Razorback sports programming, produces and distributes all football, baseball and men's basketball radio broadcasts, and televises at least six live basketball games each season. Each weekday during the football and basketball seasons, Hog fans can get all the latest news on the Razorbacks by listening to the daily "Razorback Report" on any of the ARSN affiliate stations.

In addition to radio, ARSN produces all pay-per-view events of the university and coordinates special projects, such as home video production and marketing.
