JOHN BRADY BASKETBALL

JOHN BRADY BASKETBALL

It was March 1997 when John Brady, in his opening press conference, said the three words that would become the cornerstone of his basketball program at LSU. Three words. Three simple words. Separately, they all are important.

RESPONSIBILITY + ACCOUNTABILITY = SUCCESS

But put them together in a nice equation and you have the very fundamentals that LSU men's basketball coach John Brady stressed from the first day he arrived on the campus as the head coach. Three words. All are important. Together, they form the foundation on which the LSU program proudly stands and the nation saw that foundation as it was displayed in LSU's 2006 run to the NCAA Final Four.

Now at first glance, you may wonder what those three words have to do with college basketball. But again, don't look at them as just single words. Put the first two together to come up with a solution and you see that there is a big picture that involves college basketball and so much for those who choose to come and play for John Brady at LSU.

As has been proven time and time again, coaches are often judged strictly on how many games they win. Many times, that's all some people care about. While winning games is very important, the job of a head coach is so much more.

In coach Brady's first nine years at LSU, he has instilled in his student-athletes a philosophy that carries well in their time as both students and athletes. It is a philosophy that the LSU basketball fans also now understand more fully as winning takes place again at LSU on a consistent basis, bringing six postseason tournament appearances in the past seven years, including averaging 20 wins a year over the last seven seasons.

Conference titles and post-season appearances are all well and good. But John Brady's philosophy doesn't stop when the players walk off the court at the end of a game or practice. It can't. The reason it is so much more is because the players aren't just athletes, they aren't just students, they are student-athletes with a big responsibility on their shoulders. This coaching staff agrees that the team members must not only meet the demands of the athletic program, but they must meet the demands of the classroom.

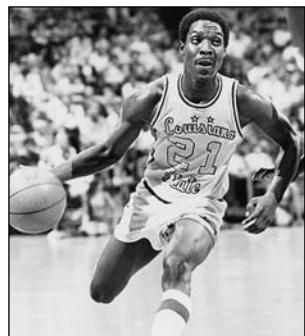

They must also meet the always-tough demands of life, where every eye is on them constantly because they are athletes. They must operate in a society where one little mistake in a game or away from the campus puts them on the front page of a newspaper. It's not an easy thing to handle. It's even tougher when your team is in the national spotlight as the Tigers usually are.

John Brady has shown that he is very comfortable handling all these roles at LSU. In fact, he sincerely believes in the basketball player as a student-athlete who must be given the opportunity to succeed on the court, in the classroom and in life. His philosophy of coaching hasn't changed since the day he took the job at LSU.

Again, it all comes down to three words. Three simple words. Three words that mean a lot separately, but mean oh so much more when part of a collective equation that sums up the reason for the success of the LSU basketball program.

2006 FINAL FOUR SEASON

Tyrus Thomas raises the net after defeating Texas in overtime to advance to the fourth NCAA Final Four in school history

SHINING MOMENTS

The events late in the 2005-06 men's basketball season may have been purely coincidental, but they would turn out to be so symbolic for a basketball team moving its way through one of the toughest schedules in the country.

No one realized when the 1986 NCAA Final Four team returned to Baton Rouge in February 2006 for a 20-year reunion, the stories and memories they shared would show a group of present-day players and coaches how they would have to bond together to have a special season, much the same way the players and coaches bonded together in 1986.

The 2006 Tiger team was watching and learning all the way to an SEC championship and an NCAA Final Four to call their own.

Along the way, the LSU basketball family appeared on a worldwide stage and everyone learned the story of this group of local players binding together for a tournament run after years of playing basketball together. The Tigers became a symbol of pride and a point of reference for a state still trying to overcome two devastating hurricanes.

When one looks back at the tournament

It was a celebration as wild and as careening as any in the history of March Madness. The 310-pound center wore a yellow feather boa and hugged his mother and issued a shout-out to the victims of Hurricane Katrina. The burgeoning freshman forward ran to the corner of the stands and authored a Georgia Dome equivalent of a Lambeau Leap. It was a Bourbon Street funeral without an actual body.

- MARK BRADLEY, ATLANTA JOURNAL CONSTITUTION

trail the 2006 LSU team traversed, there are eerie similarities to 1986 that may not have been readily apparent as the journey took place.

Against Texas A&M in the second round, it took a last second shot by Darrel Mitchell to get LSU to the Sweet 16, the same as in 1986 when Anthony Wilson made a last-second shot to keep LSU alive in the tournament in the second round against Memphis State.

The win in 2006 advanced LSU to Atlanta, Ga., for the Sweet 16 round of games. Amazingly, the win in 1986 also advanced LSU to Atlanta, Ga., for their Sweet 16 contest.

To get to a Final Four in 1986, LSU beat a No. 1 and No. 2 seed. To get to the Final Four in 2006, LSU beat not only the top two seeds in the regional, but also the No. 1 team in the country.

Although LSU's goal of a national championship wasn't reached, the Tigers accomplished so much and touched so many with their warmth, team chemistry and their love of the sport. Together, the Tigers painted a near-perfect picture in adding their own chapter to the history of LSU basketball.

The Road to the Final Four

MARCH 16, 2006

Glenn Davis and the Tigers open up round one with a victory over Iona, 80-64. Davis leads the way scoring 22 points with 13 rebounds.

MARCH 18, 2006

Darrel Mitchell three-pointer hits the three-pointer with 39 seconds left to defeat Texas A&M, 58-57. "When he let it go, I just felt confident it was going in," LSU coach John Brady said. "I call him the silent assassin because he doesn't say much, but when it's time to deliver he can do that. He's hit seven or eight of those in his career."

MARCH 23, 2006

Garrett Temple's defense on J.J. Redick was the key as LSU beat the nation's No. 1 Ranked Duke, 63-54. "We could have had a better offensive game, there's no question about it," Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "But LSU had a lot to do with that."

"By now, with a replay that's been shown dozens of time on highlight shows, Tyrus Thomas' emotion-charged shimmy is the stuff of "One Shining Moment."

- RANDY ROSETTA, BATON ROUGE ADVOCATE

MARCH 25, 2006

The Tigers made the journey to the NCAA Final Four complete by winning the Atlanta region with an overtime victory over Texas, 70-60. "And the resiliency, you know, Coach (Brady) showed us a video of Buster Douglas and Mike Tyson the other day," Tyrus Thomas said. "And Texas gave us some hard punches and we had to be Buster Douglas and swing back and we swung back at them. We knocked out Mike Tyson."

LATER THAT NIGHT

Darrel Mitchell led the crowd in cheers back in Baton Rouge at an impromptu pep rally outside the Maravich Center.

MARCH 29, 2006

The Tigers leave for Indianapolis but not before another adoring crowd gives the Tigers a rousing sendoff. Coach Brady wrapped up his speech by stealing a line from his All-American forward and SEC Player of the Year, Glen Davis. "I must have tapeworms in belly because I am still hungry!" alluding to Tigers' team feeling that there is still more to be accomplished this season. He brought the crowd to their feet with the line.

Four NCAA Final Fours for LSU: 1953, 1981, 1986, 2006. All with different heroes and much different circumstances. LSU's first Final Four appearance came at the time when it wasn't a media event in the days before television. The second came at a time when the LSU program was at a zenith, winning 17 straight conference games. LSU's 1986 Final Four trip came when LSU fans least expected it, or even imagined it. Now, LSU has returned to the Final Four again in 2006, taking a conference championship season and moving through the tournament, upsetting the No. 1 team in the tournament and the country in the process. Here's a brief look at LSU's four NCAA Final Four appearances:

1953 -- Record: 22-3, 13-0 in the SEC

Coach: Harry Rabenhorst

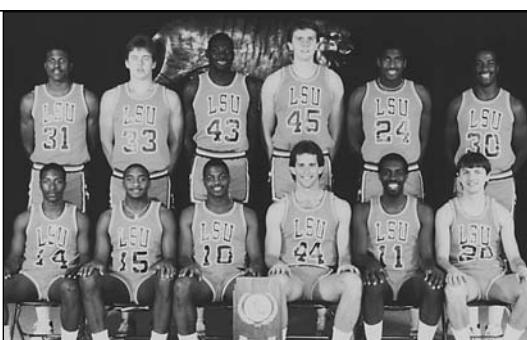

The NCAA Tournament was enlarged to a whopping 22 teams in 1953, adding four new conference winners and two more at-large entries. LSU, led by junior Bob Pettit, went through the conference undefeated in a year when Kentucky was barred from fielding a team, and advanced to the Final Four in Kansas City by downing Lebanon Valley (89-76) and Holy Cross (81-73). The Tigers were unable to sustain the momentum in the national semifinals, losing to Indiana, 80-67.

1981 -- Record: 31-5, 17-1 in the SEC

Coach: Dale Brown

It was 26 years ago that LSU fans were "Silly in Philly" over LSU's trip to the Final Four. It was a year in which an LSU team, which featured Durand "Rudy" Macklin, Greg "Cookie" Cook, Ethan Martin, Howard Carter, Leonard Mitchell and Willie Sims among others, would win 26 straight games, including the first 17 in the league to advance as high as No. 2 in the nation. Coach Dale Brown got the draw he wanted in the tournament, a route that would take him to the Final Four through the Louisiana Superdome. With the majority of 30,000-plus fans on hand, the Tigers beat Arkansas (72-56) and Wichita State (96-85) in the regional rounds to advance to the Final Four. But Macklin was hurt in the Wichita game and was less than 100 percent. Again Indiana would be the team to beat LSU in the national semifinals, 69-47.

1986 -- Record: 26-12, 9-9 in the SEC

Coach: Dale Brown

A season that started 14-0, had a chickenpox scare in the middle, and finished the regular season with eight losses in the last 13 games, still had much promise to it at the end. The Tigers, coming off an SEC Championship the year before, still showed enough to earn a spot in the NCAA Tournament field of 64. LSU was seeded 11th, but would get to play its first two games in the then LSU Assembly Center. The Tigers first beat Purdue in double-overtime, then used an Anthony Wilson buzzer beater to down Memphis. From there, it was a win over Georgia Tech and then Ricky Blanton, Don Redden, Wilson and Derrick Taylor pulled off the impossible, beating Kentucky in the regional finals after the Wildcats had won three previous meetings earlier in the year. LSU was at that time the lowest seed ever to make the NCAA Final Four, a mark that stood until 2006.

2006 -- Record: 27-9, 14-2 in the SEC

Coach: John Brady

The Tigers won the Southeastern Conference with a 14-2 record, extending an unbeaten string of SEC wins in the Maravich Assembly Center to 17 games dating back to March of 2004. LSU was the fourth seed in the NCAA Tournament's Atlanta Regional and was sent to Jacksonville, Fla., to begin tournament play. After dispatching of Iona in the first round, LSU's battle with Texas A&M would be the first of three straight epic battles that LSU would face on the road to the Final Four. It would take a Darrel Mitchell three-pointer with less than five seconds to play to get LSU the round of Sweet 16, in a 58-57 win over the Aggies. The Tigers advanced to the Atlanta Regional semifinals where LSU downed the nation's top team, Duke, and then went on to knock off Texas in overtime, 70-60, to bring LSU back to the Final Four for the first time in 20 years.

Southeastern Conference Champions
Coach Harry Rabenhorst

It was a different time and a different era. But in 1935, in the days before the NCAA Tournament and the National Invitation Tournament sprung to life and created true March Madness, there was a national championship being claimed on the hardwood at LSU.

Led by the school's first All-American, Sparky Wade, and Buddy Blair, the Tigers of 10th year head coach Harry Rabenhorst pulled off a feat that many people feel is the first magical moment of LSU basketball. The Tigers, after a 13-1 regular season and a co-championship in the Southeastern Conference, went to Atlantic City and played the best team in the East, the Pittsburgh Panthers, and won.

They called Wade the "Little Giant from Jena," and he could make a basketball do almost anything. He was 5-6 and a smaller preview of what would come in the late 1960s with Pete Maravich.

In 1935, the Tigers had a very favorable schedule that saw them play only three of 14 games away from the comfort of the Gym-Armory. The road games weren't bad trips at all, even in those days. One was to Houston to face Rice and the other two were to New Orleans to face Tulane.

The only loss of the season was that game against Rice, 56-47. Wade jokingly said in later years of that game, "The Rice Gym was an old auditorium with one chandelier with twenty-five watt bulbs. You could not see your feet or the color of uniforms. Even the floor was unwaxed."

But that was the only time the Tigers

stumbled. Ironically, there was no SEC Tournament that particular year so LSU and Kentucky would not meet in basketball that season. Kentucky, undefeated in the conference, had not lost to LSU in a hoops contest and wouldn't until 26 years later.

So LSU and Pittsburgh were invited to the battle for the American Legion Bowl before some 5,000 at the Atlantic City Auditorium. LSU won by four, 41-37, but that tells so little of the story.

It was April 13, 1935. Doc Carlson's Panthers were 18-5 on the season. The Tigers started out very, very slow at a time when scoring points could be easily at a premium. The Tigers trailed 18-4 and still were down by nine, 26-17, at the half.

Gradually LSU rallied back. Buddy Blair made a long shot to give LSU a 35-33 lead. He then followed it with the next six points for the Tigers. Pittsburgh outscored LSU 17-16 in field goals, but LSU had a 9-3 advantage from the free throw line.

Blair led all scorers with 20 points, Shongaloo Lindsey added eight, Sparky Wade five, Jack Harris four and Arnold Bryan and Ben Journeay two apiece. While Wade's point total was down, his ball handling and court presence meant much to LSU's win.

The Advocate trumpeted the news the next day: "Louisiana State University, power in the Southeastern Conference, came from far behind tonight to defeat the University of Pittsburgh, Eastern Conference champion, 41-37, in their inter-sectional basketball game."

"The Bayou Tigers from Baton Rouge, trailing 26-17 at the half, smothered Pittsburgh in the second half with their flashy passing and scored goal after goal from the field."

"Pittsburgh used a figure-eight offense," Buddy Blair once said. "We had not seen this before and it hindered us in the first half. In the second half, we got our fast break going and just about ran them crazy."

In the days before Bob Pettit arrived on campus, Harry Rabenhorst said in 1951 that Wade was head and shoulders the best player on campus. "We've had some great boys here at LSU. We've had some great ones, but Sparky Wade was the most spectacular and most colorful. He was a showman and probably the greatest dribbler in basketball. Sparky came to delight the fans. He never came up short on that count."

"I'm not as great as they say I am," Sparky once said. "I'm just a little fellow — five-eight if I stretch — but you know, basketball is the silliest game in the world. You have 10 guys and only one basketball, and if I have the ball, who can beat me?"

In 1935, only one team could beat the Tigers and powerful Pittsburgh couldn't stop a second half onslaught that led to a special moment in LSU basketball: a chance to claim a national championship.

In 1994, the remaining living members of the team were honored and a banner lowered from the Maravich Center to forever honor the accomplishments of this great team in Tiger basketball history.

Malcolm "Sparky" Wade

Guard • 5-9 • Jena, La.

1935

LSU's first basketball All-American averaged 9.7 points per game in 1933 and 12.4 points per game in 1934 to lead the scoring category for the first two years of the Southeastern Conference.

He was named a All-American in 1935 while leading LSU to the mythical national championship, averaging 12.7 points per game.

A native of Jena, Wade is considered the greatest dribbler and backcourt star in LSU basketball history.

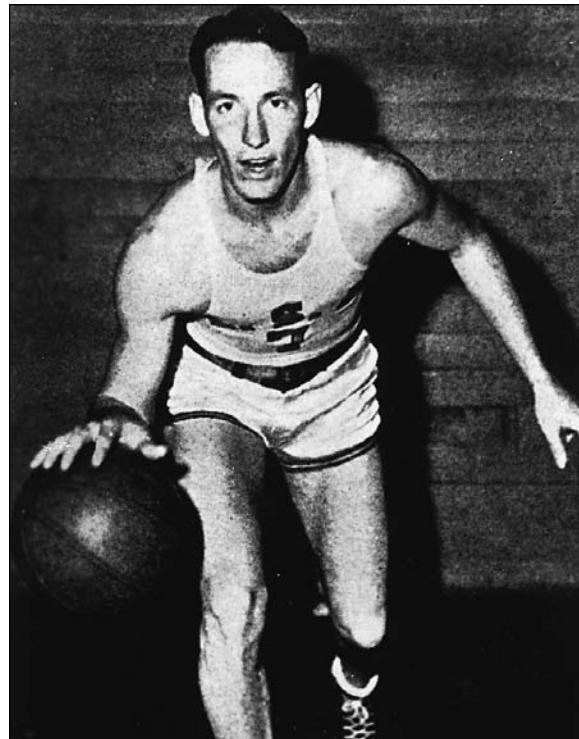

Before moving to LSU, he was named to the high school All-State team three times from 1928 to 1930. He was elected MVP of the national high school championship playoffs as a senior.

Former Baton Rouge Morning Advocate sports editor Bud Montet, remembers Wade in these words:

"He could do everything with a basketball but dunk it, and make it sing. If there was an extraordinary floor-leader in the South at that time, it had to be Wade."

The three-time All-SEC selection is also a member of the Louisiana Sports Writers and Louisiana Association of Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame.

He was the "Little Giant from Jena." You can't talk LSU basketball without mention of the school's first All-American and first showman who could pass, score and dribble with the best of his and many others era.

Bobby Lowther

Forward • 6-5 • Alexandria, La.

1946

Bobby Lowther officially was recognized as a first-team All-American in 1995 after a historian of the Helms Foundation confirmed that all members of the 1946 team had been upgraded to first-team status.

Lowther is the only two-sport All-America athlete in LSU's storied sports history. In 1946, he made the Helms Foundation basketball All-America squad and was a two-event All-American in track and field, finishing second at the NCAA Championships in the javelin and fourth in the pole vault.

The 6-5, 185-pound Alexandria native was also the triple jump champion at the 1946 National AAU Championships.

In basketball, he averaged 14.7 points per game as he also earned first-team All-SEC honors.

He was voted LSU's "Best All-Around Athlete" in 1947 in a field that also included such future professional stars as Y. A. Tittle, Alvin Dark and Joe Adcock.

Lowther is a member of the Louisiana Sports Writers Association Hall of Fame and was chosen to be the "Living Legend" honoree representing LSU at the 2005 Southeastern Conference basketball tournament in Atlanta.

Durand "Rudy" Macklin

Forward • 6-7 • Louisville, Ky.

1980, 1981

The recruitment of Durand "Rudy" Macklin marked the beginning of LSU's rise to the top of college basketball under Dale Brown.

In his first college game, he set a school rebounding record that no one has come close to, pulling down 32 boards in a win against Tulane.

After his magnificent LSU career, he became the school's all-time leading rebounder with 1,276 rebounds (a 10.4 rebounds per game average). That figure remains on top of the school chart. He also became the second leading scorer all-time at LSU behind Pete Maravich (2,080 points, 16.9 points per game average).

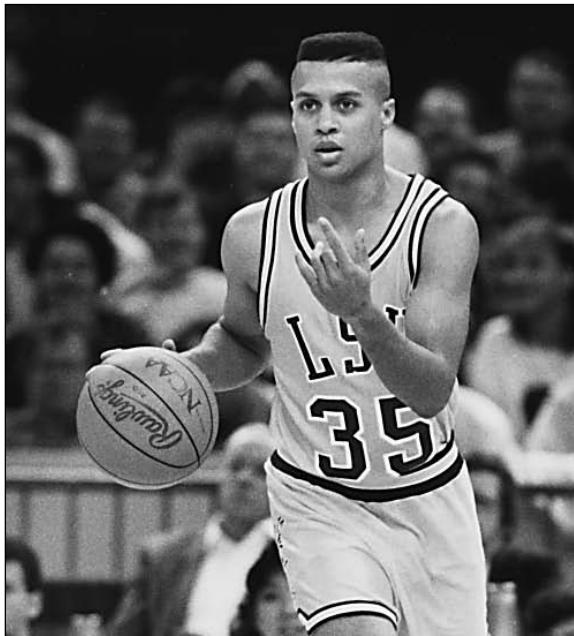

Much of his success and his All-America season in 1981 was after returning from a serious knee injury that forced him to miss all but two games of the 1978-79 season.

In 1981, he was also named Southeastern Conference Player of the Year and led the Tigers to their first NCAA Final Four since 1953. He beat out a star-studded cast of players including Georgia's Dominique Wilkins, Kentucky's Sam Bowie, and other future NBA players such as Jeff Malone of Mississippi State, Dale Ellis of Tennessee, Eddie Phillips of Alabama and teammate Howard Carter.

In Macklin's four years, LSU had records of 18-9, 23-6, 26-6 and 31-5. The Tigers won one SEC title, one SEC Tournament championship, advanced to the Elite 8 and the Final Four during the Macklin days.

One writer wrote of Macklin, "Macklin's aggressiveness has never been questioned in the Southeastern Conference. If they gave an award for the hardest worker, Macklin would have been the consensus choice of his peers, who marvel at how much effort he puts into the game."

In 2000, he was honored as the school's "Living Legend" at the SEC basketball tournament and in 2005 he was elected to the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame.

Chris Jackson

Guard • 6-1 • Gulfport, Miss.

1989, 1990

In just his freshman and sophomore years, Jackson was a two-time consensus SEC Player of the Year lighting up scoreboards across America. After scoring 48 and 53 points in the first month of his college career, he went on to become the most celebrated freshman of all time, setting an NCAA freshman scoring record, averaging 30.2 points per game.

He became just the second freshman ever to make the Associated Press first-team All-America squad and the first ever to make the U.S. Basketball Writers Association's All-America team.

He finished his short career as the seventh leading scorer in school history with 1,854 points (29.0 ppg). His records for freshman include most points in a game (55), most points in a season (965) and season average (30.2).

He won accolades throughout the country as he starred on the court while fighting an ongoing battle with Tourette's Syndrome.

Jackson was chosen to the second team on the Louisiana Association of Basketball Coaches All-Louisiana Team of the Century.

Of Chris Jackson, Baton Rouge State Times sports editor Sam King wrote:

"Athletes come and go.

"Many are so quickly forgotten.

"Only the great ones are remembered forever. To have seen Bob Pettit, Billy Cannon and Pete Maravich perform at their best was to commit them to memory.

"Chris Jackson now joins some very select company."

Bob Pettit Jr.

Bob Pettit once said of himself as a youngster who would grow up to be a collegiate All-American and a force in the National Basketball Association:

"The greatest thing that ever happened to me is that when I first picked up a basketball I was terrible. If things come naturally, you might not bother to work at improving them and you can fall short of your potential."

Being terrible meant being gangly and not very good. He was tall, but he wasn't able to yet make the moves that made him a future star. He was the last man on the junior varsity his freshman year at Baton Rouge High. As a sophomore he was cut from the varsity. But because of that, he took his interest in basketball to heart and began to work hour after hour in back of his house in Baton Rouge.

As a 6-4 junior, he began to be noticed. His skills were still raw and undeveloped, but his size made him worth a second glance. He grew to 6-7 as a junior and BRHS won the state championship.

Pettit once wrote: "Teammates. . . were miles ahead of me in all-around ability, but college scouts gave me the big rush act because I was six-seven by then. Fifteen schools offered me the standard scholarship.

"I chose LSU because I doubted I could measure up to expectations on a fancier scholarship. My fears were confirmed when I reported to John Chaney, LSU's freshman team coach, who had been a pro in the NBA. My reflexes were slow. I was lost on defense. I didn't know how to drive in for a shot, or fake and pass off the pivot. Much as I dislike the expression, I've got to admit I was a goon."

LSU and NBA fans certainly don't look at Bob Pettit's career as that of a goon. Here was a three-time first-team All-SEC member who led his Tigers to a second place finish in 1952, conference titles in 1953 and 1954 and the NCAA Final Four in 1953.

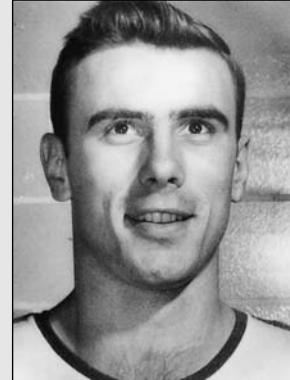

He led the league in scoring all three years, with the highest averages seen to date in the league: 25.5 points in 1952, 24.9 in 1953 and 31.4 points per game in 1954. At the same time he was averaging 13.1 (1952), 13.9 (1953) and an LSU best 17.3 (1954) rebounds per game. Only Pete Maravich and Chris Jackson would also break the 30-point average barrier at LSU.

Coach Cliff Wells of Tulane summed up Bob Pettit's days at LSU, "He's the best big man in college basketball today and I've seen them all." LSU Coach Harry Rabenhorst called him, "the greatest LSU player since Sparky Wade."

He was a first round draft choice in 1954 of the then Milwaukee Hawks. Pettit played his entire 11-year career with the Hawks, moving with the club to St. Louis in 1955. He wrote nearly every record in the Hawks' record book and was a four-time MVP of the annual NBA All-Star game. He led the Hawks to the 1958 NBA Championship and five NBA Finals.

In 1954, his number 50 was retired at LSU, the first number in any sport retired in Tiger Town. In 1964, he became the first NBA player to exceed the 20,000-points scored barrier. In 1970, he was elected to the Basketball Hall of Fame.

"Those were great years at LSU," Pettit once said. "They were such great years. I couldn't have asked for anything better than my four years at LSU. I received my degree in Business, played the sport I loved and made so many friends."

"Legend" at the SEC Basketball Tournament

Pete Maravich

Pete Maravich was billed as the one who would put Louisiana basketball on the map from the first day he joined his father Press at LSU. People weren't disappointed. His freshman year they packed the old John M. Parker Agricultural Center (known as the "Cow Palace") to watch the freshman team and then left quickly as the varsity Tigers won just three games in 1967.

By Pete's senior year, the Tigers would improve to 20-8 and wind up in New York City at the National Invitation Tournament, a fitting place for the big-city Maravich Show to close its LSU run.

To those who never saw him play live, but only watched what few games were on television or listened on radio, the Maravich story at LSU may seem larger than life. But his skills were perfected through hours and hours of repetitive drills at all hours of the day and night and in all kinds of settings.

Maravich ended up receiving the richest contract ever offered a college player at the time to sign with the Atlanta Hawks ($1.9 million), but during his 10-year career with the Hawks, the New Orleans and Utah Jazz and the Boston Celtics, his dream of a championship wasn't fulfilled. Pete was finding that life wasn't very fulfilling either.

There were hard times when he went in search of something to make his life complete. He had money, he had fame. He didn't have real happiness. But in 1982, Pistol Pete accepted Jesus Christ.

He began enjoying life, enjoying times with his wife and children. Television executives were discovering his knowledge of the game again as a color commentator and best of all for LSU fans, a rift that grew between star and college had diminished and was forgotten.

But the Pistol's life suddenly ended on Jan. 5, 1988, just over a month after appearing at the Assembly Center for an emotional ceremony to formally present a portrait of Pete and his father to him.

Maravich's Records and Highlights

- All-Time NCAA Career Scoring Leader with 3,667 points, an average of 44.2 points for 83 games.
- Ranks first, fourth and fifth for most points in a single season in NCAA history. Averaged 44.5 points in 1970, 44.2 points in 1969 and 43.8 points in 1968.
- Scored 69 points vs. Alabama, Feb. 7, 1970.
- Led LSU to the NIT Final Four in 1970, its first postseason appearance in 16 years.
- Unanimous first-team All-American in 1968, 1969, 1970.
- Naismith Award winner in 1970.
- Member of the National Basketball Association Hall of Fame after 10-year career with Atlanta Hawks, New Orleans and Utah Jazz and Boston Celtics.

Shaquille O'Neal

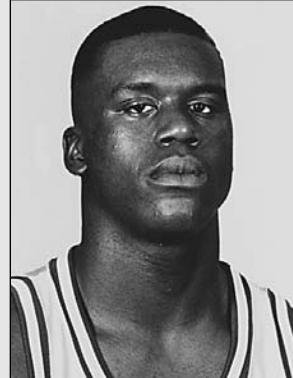

Shaquille O'Neal brought LSU to new heights during his three years with the Tigers and the 7-1 center became a national celebrity in the days of saturation coverage of basketball by the media. But he earned his celebrity status with great play and an intimidation factor that made him the envy of coaches throughout the country.

After leaving LSU in April 1992, he was the number one pick of the National Basketball Association by the Orlando Magic and signed a multi-year contract estimated at over $40 million. In 1996, as a free agent, he signed with the Los Angeles Lakers and following the 2004 season was traded to the Miami Heat.

PARAMOUNT TO THE SUCCESS OF THE "STUDENT" HALF OF THE TERM STUDENT-ATHLETE IS PROVIDING LSU ATHLETES WITH THE BEST POSSIBLE RESOURCES TO EXCEL

IN THE CLASSROOM. For more than 20 years, the LSU Academic Center for Student-Athletes has helped to build well-rounded student-athletes. But as times change and technology advances, the need for further improvements still exists. As a result, the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes opened its doors in November of 2002. A $15 million renovation to the Gym Armory not only made it among the nation's premier centers, but put it at the forefront. Improvements to the existing center give LSU student-athletes the best opportunity for success by providing access to the latest technology, as well as an array of expanded services.

Computer Stations

Throughout the Academic Center are 75 computer stations, providing student-athletes with a quiet working environment for research, writing and studying.

Bo Campbell Auditorium

The 1,000-seat auditorium is used through the year as a classroom and lecture hall. Each seat in the auditorium has space for a laptop and a modem hookup, providing each student unlimited learning opportunities. The auditorium also contains a movie theatre size screen to aid professors with lectures and classroom activities.

The Library

The library provides a perfect setting for individual study, or with a tutor as a group.

Study Area

Included in the 54,000 square feet of the Academic Center are individual study areas as well as 14 private computer rooms for student-athletes to work one-on-one with tutors or by themselves.

COMMUNICATIONS LAB

Lights, Camera, Answer

Dr. Karam uses his studio to prepare LSU's student-athletes to interact with all phases of local and national media by working one-on-one in a press conference setting. The Communications Lab includes a working camera for Karam to review the session with the student-athletes.

Along with the success of the LSU basketball team, comes a great deal of media attention and Dr. Tommy Karam, the Director of the Communications Lab, uses his lab, located on the fourth floor of the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes, to work with LSU student-athletes on their interactions with the media and interview skills. Karam's lab is a mock press conference setting to get the student-athletes used to handling themselves in front of both print and electronic media. He video tapes the mock interview session and reviews it with the student-athlete to help them become more comfortable in an interview setting. Karam also helps the LSU student-athletes get prepared for the NBA experience by working closely with those players on the interview process.

Louisiana State University and Agricultural & Mechanical College has, throughout its 144-year history, served the people of Louisiana, the region, the nation, and the world. LSU is creating a revolution, one of pervasive change and advancement. For the past five years, the focus of the LSU community has been an increased commitment to excellence. Our progress has been dramatic and shows no sign of stopping.

Having witnessed many of yesterday's possibilities become today's tangible realities, the LSU community set forth to capitalize on its success. The goal was to improve our standing as a nationally competitive flagship university. Following intense discussions among the LSU Board of Supervisors, campus administrators, faculty, and student leaders, the objectives required to reach this status crystallized, providing the impetus for LSU's National Flagship Agenda.

The Community Service aspect not only serves to enhance a student-athletes college experience, but also serves to expand character. Players not only gain a strong sense of self-worth, but also experience personal satisfaction and growth from volunteering and community service activities. More important are the benefits that the community receives, it enables the community to gain an enormous advantage in feeling that they have a "partnership" with LSU student-athletes.

LSU student-athletes participate in a variety of community service projects including reading in schools, nursing home visits, hospital pediatric ward visits, speaking engagements and more in East Baton Rouge Parish.

LSU's student-athletes served a vital role in the attempt to get the Gulf Coast on its feet after Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Many of the student-athletes gave time, energy and material things to those who suffered losses from the devastating storms.

Shaquille O'Neal CHAMPS/Life Skills Program

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program was developed by the NCAA to help prepare student-athletes for the challenges of life beyond the playing field. Through workshops, service projects, and social events, CHAMPS, an acronym for Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success, brings LSU student-athletes information that will prepare them for the biggest game of all - the game of life!

Shaquille O'Neal (left) rides the fairway at his annual benefit golf tournament for the CHAMPS program. (Below) O'Neal and Glen Davis ham it up during O'Neal's visit with LSU student-athletes.

How Can CHAMPS Help?

By focusing on "real life" skills and personal development, the CHAMPS Program not only assists the student-athletes with meeting daily challenges, but also enhances student-athlete's growth in their college years and beyond.

CHAMPS at LSU

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program at LSU is operated out of the Academic Center for Athletes, and the focus of the program is on five commitments viewed as critical to personal growth.

Mike Mallet
Director for the
CHAMPS/Life Skills program

Jade Jenkins
Assistant Director for the
CHAMPS/Life Skills program

Senior Darnell Lazare worked at a local Baton Rouge Marketing Agency during the summer.

Job Experience

Student-athletes at LSU take full advantage of their summers by developing skills in their field of study. Student-athletes spend most of their summer participating in jobs that relate to their major, like working at ...

- > Hospitals
- > Physical Therapy centers
- > Public Relations firms
- > Building Contractors
- > Restaurant Management
- > Engineering firms
- > Accounting offices

Being a part of the LSU men's basketball program involves more than simply playing a couple of games a week during the winter. LSU basketball provides an opportunity to achieve athletics success while also getting a head start on the most important game of all -- the game of life. The LSU men's basketball program has a longstanding internal summer jobs program that aggressively seeks opportunities to help place its players in career-developing positions within the community. Every LSU basketball player that wants to get a leg up on their future has the opportunity to work during the summer with the goal to help players earn valuable experience. LSU basketball players are expected to be extremely active in utilizing the career development resources readily available to them.

PETE MARAVICH ASSEMBLY CENTER

"You don't get the feel for college basketball at other places the way you do at the Deaf Dome at LSU...."

Dick Vitale
ESPN/ABC COMMENTATOR

Just at a time when it appeared the Pete Maravich Assembly Center was past the point of being a first-class basketball building, the LSU Athletic Department stepped in and began a three-year campaign to spruce up the building that has been known since 1988 as the PMAC.

In a year when the building would also become famous worldwide as the site of the largest triage unit in history after Hurricane Katrina, the athletic department was able to finish its renovation in time for the 2005-06 season and turn the building back into a showcase for LSU men's basketball.

An interactive concourse area depicting the history of the great players who have starred for LSU in the building, additional restrooms, new seats throughout the arena along with increased court lighting has taken the building to a new level. Now, plans are on the drawing board for a new practice facility and dressing room to be built in the near future to continue the Assembly Center's appeal for players and fans for years to come.

The Maravich Assembly Center is, like the other venues LSU basketball has bounced around in through its first 98 years, unique in its own way. Before moving across from Tiger Stadium, the Tigers set up shop in the Pavilion on the old LSU campus, the Huey Long Field House Gym Armory (now the Cox Communications Academic Center) and the John M. Parker Agricultural Center. LSU and SEC fans knew the latter as the "Cow Palace" as it served as the primary home for LSU basketball for three and one-half decades.

But when the LSU Tigers commenced play in the Assembly Center in the 1971-72 season, it marked the beginning of a new era in LSU Roundball. Now, with LSU entering its 36th season in the Assembly Center, the building is about to become the longest running venue in LSU's near century of college basketball.

The building opened as the LSU Assembly Center, but during the summer of 1988, then Louisiana Governor Buddy Roemer signed legislation changing the official name of the building to the Pete Maravich Assembly Center in honor of the LSU star who had died tragically earlier that same year.

The Maravich Center is also the home for the LSU volleyball, gymnastics and women's basketball teams.

Pete Maravich never got to play any of his college ball in the Assembly Center, but the plans for the building came while he and the Tigers were packing the "Cow Palace" from 1967-70. So like Yankee Stadium being the "House that (Babe) Ruth Built", the Assembly Center can certainly be classified as the "Palace that Pete Built."

It was officially renamed in his honor shortly after his tragic passing in 1988 and now in its fourth decade as the venue for LSU men's basketball, it is a building full of memories and magical moments. Some are distant, some seem like yesterday. From Dale Brown's first win against national-runnerup Memphis State, to wins over No. 1 Kentucky and top-ranked Arizona. From improbable NCAA Tournament wins over Purdue and Memphis to the present streak of 17 consecutive SEC home wins in the building dating back to March 2004. Plus think of all the great LSU stars and for that matter, the great stars of college basketball of the 70s to today who played, first on the tartan and then on the portable wood floor of the Assembly Center.

In this decade, the good times returned to the Maravich Center. In 2000, as the Tigers drove for the SEC Championships, the atmosphere was again at its height. In 2003, LSU gave everyone a special Christmas present, knocking off the No. 1 ranked Arizona team sending fans flooding onto the floor to celebrate.

More recently, the Tigers have won two SEC Western Division championships (2005, 2006) and an overall league championship (2006) and the fans have continued to improve the attendance average each of the last five years. In January 2006, the LSU fans sold-out the building in the new remodeled configuration for the first time against Georgia (13,468).

This will mark the 36th season of play for the Tigers in the Assembly Center where total paid attendance has topped 5.6 million.

More Than Just a Concourse

For years, the upper concourse of the Maravich Assembly Center was just an entranceway and a walk area for people heading to their seats. There were a few pictures, concession stands and a few restrooms, but it wasn't a special place to spend time before the game started.

Thanks to the LSU Athletic Department, all that has changed. Now the concourse is a fan's delight, looking back at the past and present of the four teams whose teams compete in the building -- men's and women's basketball, volleyball and gymnastics.

The concourse is divided into four quadrants: Pete Maravich Pass, The Walk of Champions, Heroes Hall and Midway of Memories.

Of Pete Maravich Pass, LSU athletics director Skip Bertman said, "This building has been named after Maravich for close to 20 years, but there has been little else done in recognition of his many accomplishments. In the Pete Maravich Pass you will see photographs -- some of which have never been seen by the public -- you will read about him and you will see video of him in action."

The other three quadrants feature the All-Americans, the championships and the great memories that have occurred in the sports that occupy the building. There is a special kiosk where every "L" Club member is recognized at the touch of a button. There's a Fan Zone where the promotions and marketing department can initiate more fan friendly events to make a night at the Maravich Center a more fast-paced family experience.

It's all part of the work that has made The Maravich Center: Renovated and Rejuvenated.

The LSU basketball program has a lasting legacy in the history of the National Basketball Association and again in 2006, the program was in the national spotlight at the NBA Draft.

For the sixth time since 1990, an LSU player was taken in the first round of the draft. Not only that, it marked the fourth time in that time period that a Tiger was taken with one of the first four picks in the draft.

Tyrus Thomas, after earning SEC Freshman of the Year honors, was drafted with the fourth pick of the 2006 draft by the Portland Trailblazers. Thomas was eventually traded to Chicago as the two teams traded the second and fourth picks.

LSU's run of top picks started in 1990 when the Denver Nuggets with the third pick of the draft took Chris Jackson. Two years later, Shaquille O'Neal was the first overall pick in the draft by the Orlando Magic. He was the first Southeastern Conference player taken as the top overall pick in the NBA Draft.

Then in June 2000, Stromile Swift was taken as the second overall pick by the Vancouver (now Memphis Grizzlies). Since 1952, teams in the NBA Draft have chosen 45 LSU players. Plus there are countless others who have and are presently playing for teams abroad. In all, a total of 29 players have logged regular season minutes in either the NBA or the old American Basketball Association.

THE JACK AND PRISCILLA ANDONIE MUSEUM IS HOME to LSU's athletics history. The museum, located at the Lod Cook Alumni Center on LSU's campus, is full of artifacts and memorabilia from the Andonie's personal collection gathered by the couple over the past three decades.

The museum features more than 115 precious pieces of LSU memorabilia. Among these are the 1926 program of the dedication of the campus; the 1936 Sugar Bowl program signed by Governor Oscar K. Allen; Chinese Bandits' hats, jerseys and game ball of the 1958 National Champions; Shaquille O'Neal's and Pete Maravich's jerseys and game shoes; coach Skip Bertman's championship game uniform; the Tiger Band's national championship trophy; coach Dale Brown's favorite game tie; coach Nick Saban's Sugar Bowl headphones; and the 2003 national championship signed game ball.

Twelve wall mounted TVs simultaneously broadcast music videos of the Tiger Band, Cheerleaders, Golden Girls, significant LSU Sports moments, and campus scenes from the 1930s, 40s and 50s. These videos are synched to the wonderful music of the LSU Band and were created exclusively for the Andonie Museum. A movie screen is installed across the corridor entrance displaying the 2004 Nokia Sugar Bowl and highlights of the 2003 championship football season.

Twenty-two huge purple and gold banners add bursts of color to the museum's wall displays. These banners provide information about legendary coaches Paul Dietzel and Charles McClendon. The banners also pay tribute to LSU's SEC and national championship teams.

Throughout the history of men's college basketball, the Southeastern Conference has captured nine NCAA Championships and four NIT titles putting the SEC as one of the nation's top basketball conferences. The SEC enjoyed an outstanding season in 2005-06, advancing Florida and LSU to the NCAA Final Four with the Gators winning their first-ever NCAA title. South Carolina won its second straight NIT Championship. At least half of the SEC's member institutions advanced to the postseason for the 28th consecutive year.

SECond to None

The SEC swept both the NIT and NCAA Tournaments in 2006 with Florida knocking off UCLA, 73-57, to earn its first NCAA championship and South Carolina defeating Michigan, 76-64, to earn their second straight NIT title. The Southeastern Conference becomes the first conference since the Big East in 2003 to win both titles in a season. Only four conferences have won both the NIT and NCAA title, including the ACC (1992) and Big Ten (1979). Ironically, Florida and South Carolina met for the 2006 SEC Tournament Championship with the Gators winning, 49-47.

Everybody Dance

Every team in the SEC has made at least one NCAA Tournament appearance in the last five editions of the "Big Dance," which shows the balance in the league over the past few seasons.

First Round Success

The SEC was 5-1 this year in the first round of the NCAA Tournament to extend its eight-year first-round record to 33-14. In 1999, the SEC dispelled the first-round jinx that had loomed over the league in the 1997 and 1998 NCAA Tournaments as all six league teams earned opening round wins. The perfect 6-0 record set the standard as the SEC became the first conference to have six teams win their first-round games in the same season.

SEC In The Final Four

Florida and LSU's berth in this year's Final Four ended a five-year drought for the Southeastern Conference. Florida's runner up finish in 2000 was the last appearance in the Final Four for an SEC team. The last time the SEC had two teams in the Final Four was 1996 (Kentucky and Mississippi State). The SEC also had two teams in 1994 (Arkansas and Florida). Florida '06, Kentucky '96 and Arkansas '94 all won the national championships when the SEC has had two teams. LSU returned to the Final Four for the fourth time in school history in 2006 and the first since 1986. Florida made its third appearance in school history.

Spreading The Wealth

Since the 1980-81 season, each of the 12 SEC schools has captured either an SEC divisional, overall or tournament title and 11 different schools have won or shared the SEC Championship since the league's inception in 1933. The wealth was truly shared in 2003 as the Alabama and Georgia joined the ranks of SEC Divisional Champions. All 12 schools have won or shared a divisional title. During the last 17 seasons, six schools captured their inaugural SEC title. Florida began the string by winning the school's first-ever basketball crown in 1989. Georgia followed in 1990. Arkansas won the 1992 title in its first season in the SEC and South Carolina earned the top spot in 1997.

SEC Second In NCAA Tourney Wins

With an 13-5 record in the 2006 NCAA Tournament, the SEC ranks second among all conferences in wins in the "Big Dance" since the 1994 season. The Southeastern Conference has amassed 111 victories in the last 13 NCAA Tournaments.

Dual Titles

In 2005-2006 the LSU Men's and Women's Basketball team became the first ever Southeastern Conference school to both win SEC Championships in the same season. The SEC title last season was the ninth men's title in school history.

Six Teams Dancing

The SEC tied with the Big Ten for second in number of bids for the 2006 NCAA Tournament. The league received six bids for the seventh time in the last eight years. SEC Tournament Champion Florida made its eighth straight NCAA Tournament appearance this year. SEC Champion LSU made its second straight NCAA tourney. Kentucky made its 15th straight NCAA tourney. Alabama made their fifth straight appearance while Arkansas and Tennessee both rejoined the field for the first time since 2001. Here is a breakdown of conferences with more than one bid and their records, ranked by wins:

SEC Among Final Four Leaders

In the last 14 NCAA Tournaments (1993-2006), the SEC's 11 Final Four appearances are the second most by any conference during that span. With Florida and LSU returning to the Final Four in the 2006 season, the SEC has had a total of five different teams to make the national semifinals, behind only the Big Ten's seven over the 14-year span. This year's Final Four showing gave the SEC its 20th and 21st alltime appearances (25th and 26th including five appearances by Arkansas prior to joining the SEC).

Back Four More

There is early anticipation for the 2006-07 LSU men's basketball season and why not, coming off a season in which the Tigers won a second straight Southeastern Conference Western Division title, the regular season SEC Championship (the first since 2000 and the first outright title in 21 years), made the first trip to the NCAA Final Four by the LSU men's team in 20 years and finished with a final ranking of No. 3 in the country in the national coaches' poll.

The anticipation isn't tempered by the loss of senior point guard and leader Darrel Mitchell or SEC Freshman of the Year sensation Tyrus Thomas, who was the fourth pick overall in the NBA Draft by the Portland Trail Blazers and by trade ended up with the Chicago Bulls.

By choice, the LSU coaching staff decided at the end of the day to stay with what they had returning, along with two transfers who had been on campus for most of last season as their team for 2006-07. It was easy to see why.

It was all in the chemistry.

A chemistry triggered by a coach named John Brady who was able to mold together the talent of local/area players and take good friends who had for the most part known each other for years and develop that bond into a cohesive unit on the court (and in their case off the court as well).

That chemistry can still be there in 2006-07 but the players may have to work a little harder to reestablish it as some new parts are added to the puzzle, but all the parts are pretty familiar to the returning Tigers.

LSU technically returns three starters who started almost the entire 2005-06 season from the opening game in November with Southern to the NCAA Final Four game with UCLA in April. Sophomore Glen Davis and freshman Tasmin Mitchell started all

"Never before in 17 years of covering the NCAA Tournament has this reporter seen a team grab the microphone to address the crowd at a regional final. (John) Brady spoke. (Glen) Davis spoke. Darrel Mitchell spoke. And then they danced. They did a jig for a bit. The euphoria then continued around the court."

-ANDY KATZ, ESPN.COM

36 games and Garrett Temple started 35 games for the Tigers.

Although when talking about returning starters, Tack Minor is back after a medical redshirt season in which he only played three games before injuring his medial collateral ligament and being forced to the sideline for the remainder of the year.

Davis, the consensus choice as SEC Player of the Year, made tremendous improvement from his freshman to sophomore seasons as he led the league in scoring at 18.6 points a game and rebounding at 9.7 boards a contest. Davis was also fourth in the league in field goal percentage (49.5%) and first in the league in offensive rebounds at 4.03 a game.

The subject of much media scrutiny during last season, especially in the postseason as he talked frankly with the media on a variety of subjects, Davis already has been the subject of much media coverage in the summer after working at one of the July basketball camps and showing his wares in pick up games after losing more weight.

Tasmin Mitchell played the game with the intelligence that made people sometimes forget that he was just a freshman and in other years could have certainly put him claiming league Freshman of the Year honors. Mitchell will be the second leading returning scorer on the 2006-07 roster, averaging 11.4 points a game and 5.6 rebounds, the latter figure was 16th best in the SEC. Mitchell had a team returning best 53 steals, hit 74.1 percent of his free throws and was a work horse on the floor, averaging 34.44 minutes a game, seventh best in the league.

Temple started at primarily the off-guard position, but the third member of the Temple family to play at LSU also played some point guard along the way. The freshman certainly became known nationally for his defensive effort on Duke's J. J. Reddick in the regional semifinal game against the nation's top team as Temple hounded the Blue Devils' star, forcing him into one of the worst shooting games of his career. Temple averaged 33.5 minutes a game and averaged 5.1 points, just over 2.7 assists and 2.6 rebounds a contest.

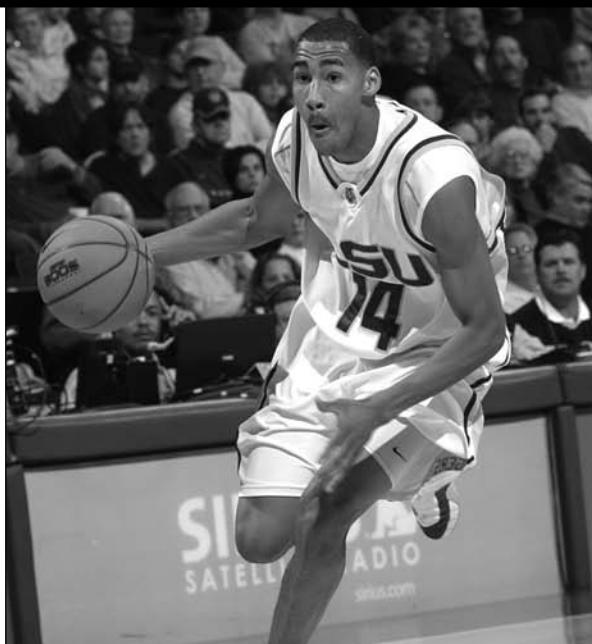

Minor during the 2004-05 sea-

Darnell Lazare

son served as the team's primary point guard as a sophomore and averaged 10.8 points and 3.9 rebounds along with 4.6 assists per game. He started all 30 games that season and can be the type of player that can keep the Tigers headed in the right direction, but he will be called upon to be a part of the already developed chemistry for the LSU team to continue its success in 2006-07.

One can't talk about the bright lights of the past season without focusing on the only senior for the 2006-07 Tigers. Darnell Lazare made major contributions to the Tigers success, both as a starter and off the bench, and his hard work during the off-season following his sophomore campaign truly paid off for the team during the team's Final Four year.

Lazare, another of the Baton Rouge high school products, started the first nine games last year and six more later in the season when Tyrus Thomas was working back into the game after spraining his ankle. Lazare averaged 6.7 points and 3.4 rebounds, hitting 48.9 percent of his field goal attempts while averaging 18.9 minutes a game. Lazare scored in double figures in four of LSU's seven post-season games, including 10 points against top-ranked Duke in the NCAAs at a time when both Davis and Thomas were in early foul trouble, hitting 5-of-8 field goal attempts.

Other returning lettermen for the Tigers include guards Ben Voogd and forwards Magnum Rolle and Chris Johnson.

Voogd played in all 36 games as the back-up point guard and although he did not have the opportunity to score much, certainly had some games with quality minutes at important times for LSU, averaging 1.7 assists per game.

Rolle and Johnson both came to LSU from Laurinburg Prep in North Carolina and both are expected to be bigger contributors for the 2006-07 team after a summer of off-season conditioning and weight work. Rolle did play in 33 of the 36 games a year ago and coach Brady feels Rolle can be one of those taking up the slack for the loss of NBA-bound Thomas. Rolle averaged 2.2 points and 2.5 rebounds a year ago with 21 blocked shots. Johnson didn't see a great deal of playing time, but has a smooth jump shot that a season of practice and experience could offer him the opportunity to get more playing time this season.

Four players will make their on-court debuts for the Tigers, although three were on the roster for much or all of the 2006 season.

Alex Farrer redshirted last season, but the Phoenix freshman has the shooting touch to battle for some playing time this season.

Dameon Mason transferred prior to last season from Marquette where he earned Conference USA All-Freshman honors starting 28 games, playing an average of 30 minutes and scoring 11.9 points per game as a sophomore. He is expected to be a significant factor in the success of the 2006-07 team.

Then adding to the depth of the Tigers will be guard Terry Martin from Monroe. Martin, whose dad is a high school coach in Northeast Louisiana, transferred between semesters after starting eight of 14 games at Texas Tech before getting closer to home at LSU.

He will be available as the Tigers finish the fall semester and prepare for SEC play.

Greg Terrebonne will walk on from South LaFourche High and help the team with practice depth and scouting preparation.

The Tigers will again face some tough non-conference games in the pre-season in preparation for SEC play. LSU will play Texas A&M, the team it defeated in the NCAA second round, on Dec. 5 at the Maravich Assembly Center, and then face Texas (the team LSU downed to go to the Final Four) in a game on Dec. 10 at Houston's Toyota Center on ESPN. LSU will travel to the West Coast for back-to-back games at Oregon State (Dec. 17) and at Washington (Dec. 23).

LSU will also put its 58-game winning streak against Louisiana schools in the Maravich Center, that dates back to Dec. 1988, to the test against Nicholls State, Louisiana-Monroe, McNeese State and Louisiana Tech. In addition, the Tigers will make a return to New Orleans to face Tulane in the New Orleans Arena. Brady will face the team he coached for six years when Samford plays in an exempt tournament LSU will host during the holidays.

One of the most anticipated games will be Jan. 6 when Connecticut returns the game from last year in Hartford, a down-to-the-wire struggle that the Huskies were able to walk away from with a one-point victory.

In the league LSU will host all the Western Division teams as well as Vanderbilt, two-time defending NIT champ South Carolina and the national champions of a year ago, Florida, in the Maravich Center.

When the league games begin, LSU will put on the line a 17-game home SEC winning streak that dates back to the final game of the 2004 season and includes all eight conference games in the Maravich Center in both 2005 and 2006.

The LSU basketball program reestablished itself as one of the national players on the college basketball map a year ago and Tiger fans look forward to another season of success and continued development of a special group of players.

"In the Marines, they call it 'unit cohesion.' The players all genuinely like each other, clearly draw off each other's energy and work together so exceptionally well."

The Coach

John Brady arrived at LSU in March of 1997 knowing he had a big job in front of him.

But he knew that it had been done before at LSU and he was confident he was the man to make it happen again. The LSU basketball program had seen All-Americans come to play, had won championships and been to the pinnacle of college basketball, the NCAA Final Four.

But circumstances had put those things in the past. John Brady was asked to rebuild a program that was coming off four-straight losing seasons with just 18 conference wins. Also LSU was facing an NCAA investigation that would ripple through the program for the next five years. But Brady had a plan to make it all happen again under his watch.

As he enters his 10th season as the head basketball coach at LSU, All-Americans have played for LSU, conference championships have been won and again, LSU has reached the NCAA Final Four.

This past year, Brady showed the nation a team of homegrown talent could play together in a year when Louisiana was looking for something to embrace and have pride in following two devastating hurricanes. The Tigers won 14-of-16 league games to win the Southeastern Conference title and then would go on to the NCAA Tournament and defeat the tournament's top seed and national No. 1 and No. 9 teams en route to the first Final Four appearance in 20 years.

Brady has built the LSU program back to national respect with a plan that he will use to continue LSU's success in the years to come.

It may seem like a long journey from arrival at LSU to an NCAA regional title, but looking back, one can see the plan being put in place from the very beginning.

When Brady first put his team on the floor of the Pete Maravich Assembly Center, his Tiger squad was undermanned, undersized and underdogs. But teams hated to play the Tigers then because Brady coached his team hard and that team responded with several strong performances against the leagues top teams, but unfortunately, not many wins.

But now the wins are coming frequently at LSU as shown by the 26 SEC wins the last two years, most in the league, and 17 straight SEC wins at home just to list a couple of numbers.

John Brady coaches the LSU team as only he knows how -- with heart and passion and a knowledge of the game that makes him one of the best at in-game decisions.

In 2006, LSU won the SEC Championship for the second time under Brady and a second straight SEC Western Division title, earning Brady his second league Coach of the Year honor. The Championship was the school's first outright championship in 21 years. LSU advanced to post-season play for the fifth straight season and for the sixth time in seven seasons. LSU has had five consecutive winning seasons under Brady and only twice in the program history has there been longer consecutive years of winning. In the last seven seasons, LSU has won 141 games, an average of 20 a year.

For the third time in the last seven seasons, John Brady has coached the SEC Player of the Year (Stromile Swift in 2000, Brandon Bass in 2005, Glen Davis in 2006). In those seven years, he has coached the SEC Freshman of the Year four times, including each of the last three years (Torris Bright in 2000, Brandon Bass in 2004, Glen Davis in 2005, Tasmin Mitchell in 2006). Brady's 167 wins in nine seasons are the third most wins by an LSU basketball coach and only two LSU basketball coaches served longer tenures.

John Brady has built a program at LSU with a record of success that is hard to argue with. He has given the LSU program the direction to grow and the chance to shine again.

When Brady arrived on campus and was given the job of rebuilding the program, make no mistake; he knew his program would be riddled with shortcomings because of NCAA-imposed sanctions. But he knew he would have the chance to build a foundation based on responsibility and accountability.

"Brady now has athletes. There is no question about that. But they are also very well coached. LSU's defensive game plans for the wins over No. 1 seed Duke and No. 2 seed Texas in the last three days should be as lauded as their athletes. Basketball athletes tend to be extraordinary on the offensive end with the occasional highlight play on defense. Consistent defenses like LSU's are the product of coaching."

-GLENN GUILBEAU, GANNETT LOUISIANA

There were dreams of building a program where the players would take responsibility for their actions and make people proud of what they were trying to accomplish, both on and off the floor. Some players have shown over the first nine years of Brady's tenure that taking that responsibility has been a difficult thing for them to accept, but Brady has in each case given the players enough latitude to make the choice, right or wrong, to fight through it or leave the program. Those that have stayed the course have shown what time in the Brady system is worth.

They have shown that in several ways including improved play on the floor from the time they arrived until their departure; and, academic improvement in hours completed and grade point average.

Brady may not have realized at the time that the journey to the top would stutter a couple of times while the right combination of ideas meshed together. He does know after nine years that his knowledge of the game and his belief in discipline and responsibility for actions on and off the floor have made the LSU program strong again, one that LSU fans are proud of because they feel a part of the program.

Brady's plan isn't just taking place on a hardwood floor in the Maravich Assembly Center. He has worked hard to show the public that athletic and academic pursuits of the players should be challenged to the fullest.

That's part of the reason that LSU basketball is not only a success on the court, but in the classroom as well. Hours are passed and posted toward graduation on a regular basis by scholarship players. The team GPA was over 3.0 this past spring and this despite having spent four consecutive weeks on the road during the SEC and NCAA Tournaments.

In 2005, LSU not only had the SEC Player of the Year in Brandon Bass, but he was also named the Scholar-Athlete of the Year. In 2006, LSU had five players -- Player of the Year Glen Davis, Darrel Mitchell, Darnell Lazare, Garrett Temple and Davis Fleshman -- named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll -- earning a minimum 3.0 GPA.

A total of 15 players under John Brady have graduated from LSU and more are on pace to wear the cap and gown as well.

Brady has a passion for basketball, an interest in building a quality program and a quality student-athlete.

Prior to LSU

Brady came to LSU after six successful seasons at Samford University in Birmingham, Ala., one of several programs he has helped build to new heights in his career. But his love of basketball and his success in the sport was molded from a journey that had roots in Mississippi.

The McComb, Miss., native played his college ball at Belhaven College in Jackson, Miss., from 1972-76, twice earning All-Southern States Conference honors as a guard. Brady was a three-year starter at Belhaven and scored over 1,000 points. He would later be inducted into his alma mater's Hall of Fame.

Charlie Rugg coached Brady at Belhaven and Brady would bring Coach Rugg and his wife to the NCAA Final Four as his guests to be a part of the Final Four experience. The event became even more special as Coach Brady and CBS sportscaster Jim Nantz recognized him at the NCAA Salute event in Indianapolis.

"There's never been a doubt in LSU basketball coach John Brady's mind that his teams play quality defense. Now the rest of the college basketball world knows."

-Jim Kleinpeter, New Orleans Times Picayune

Brady began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Mississippi State while earning his Masters in education. From there, Brady moved to the prep ranks, making the first stop of his career in Louisiana. This stop was as the head coach at Crowley High School from 1977-82.

There he compiled a record of 129-49 (.752). During the 1981 campaign, Brady came to the Assembly Center for the first time as a head coach as Crowley advanced all the way to the Class AAA finals in the Top 28 Tournament.

Brady was named the Louisiana Sports Writers Association Coach of the year for the classification that season. In all, three of his Crowley teams advanced at least to the quarterfinals in the playoffs.

He returned to college coaching at Mississippi State for the 1982-83 season, serving eight years. In his last four year he served as chief recruiter and certainly honed his ability to find top-notch talent that eventually led the Bulldogs from last place in the SEC to the co-championship with LSU in 1991, one year after Brady's departure.

Following his tenure in Starkville, Brady returned to Louisiana for the second time, this time to serve on the staff of Tim Floyd at the University of New Orleans. Again, Brady was part of an NCAA Tournament team with the Privateers.

Head Coach

It came time for John Brady to take the next big step to a Division I college head coaching position. In his six-year tenure at Samford (1992-97), he turned the then Trans-American Athletic Conference team into a consistent winner, posting a record of 89-77. He posted double figure victory totals each of his six seasons, something the school did not enjoy in any of the five years prior to Brady's arrival.

In his final three seasons at Samford, he was 16-11 (1995, 1996) and 19-9 (1997) giving the school three-straight winning seasons for the first time since 1982-84. He was the first Samford coach to have four winning seasons in his career and he left as the school's winningest coach.

The Bulldogs won two TAAC Western Division Championships, sharing the crown in 1996 and winning it outright in 1997, the first basketball championship of any kind at the time for Samford.

In Brady's six years at Samford, the team had three first-team and five second team All-TAAC selections. In his time at the Birmingham school, he had 14 members named to the All-TAAC Academic team.

Coach John Brady holds the NCAA Atlanta Regional Championship trophy and is joined by former LSU All-American Bob Pettit in the Georgia Dome locker room.

Now, through his first nine years at LSU, the numbers are continuing to work for Brady both on and off the floor, with 15 players earning All-SEC honors and 32 earning All-SEC academic honors.

The 52-year-old Brady is the father of two daughters, Brittany, 16, and Brooke 12, and is married to the former Misty Champagne.

In nine seasons, John Brady has taken the LSU a long way both on and off the court, earning basketball championships, taking his team to the pinnacle of college basketball and overseeing his student-athletes ever-improving efforts in the classroom.

What have been the results? The Tigers program is solid both athletically and academically. The top players in the country are seriously putting LSU at the top of their lists and Brady is earning the respect of his peers throughout the nation. The plan to bring LSU basketball back to being a constant player at the top of the Southeastern Conference and the nation has been accomplished and now the work is being done to keep LSU there for years to come.

Butch Pierre, one of the elite assistant coaches in the country, begins his 10th year of coaching at LSU. He was promoted following the 2002 campaign to his present position of Associate Head Coach.

During his nine years at LSU, the Tigers have won two Southeastern Conference championships (2000, 2006), three SEC Western Division Championships (2000, 2005, 2006), advanced to the school's first NCAA Final Four in 20 years (2006), made six post-season appearances including the last five and, over the last seven years won an average of 20 games per season.

Pierre has been called "one of the top assistants in the nation" and certainly every year he has been at LSU, he has added to that reputation. Noted ESPN commentator Dick Vitale listed Pierre as one of his "Top Six" head coaching prospects among college assistant coaches.

That was the reason, when John Brady was hired as the LSU men's basketball coach, Pierre was the man Brady wanted on his staff to help build a program at LSU.

Pierre has recruited some of the top players and played an integral role in the development of them such as Tyrus Thomas, the fourth overall pick in the 2006 NBA Draft by the Chicago Bulls. Others include Stromile Swift, the number two pick in 2000, along with Jabari Smith, Ronald Dupree, Brandon Bass, Glen Davis, Tasmin Mitchell and Magnum Rolle. Thomas was named the 2006 SEC Freshman of the Year, while Swift, Bass and Davis earned recognition as the SEC Player of the Year during their time at LSU, as Bass and Davis pulled off back-to-back Freshman-Player of the Year honors.

He is recognized by his peers in the industry as a relentless, innovative and extremely successful recruiter. His work ethic and attention to detail is nothing new as he has had continued success wherever he turns. His recruiting at LSU has landed the Tigers four McDonald's and nine Parade prep All-Americans, six junior college All-Americans and two who earned national junior college player of the year honors.

Also he has been a part of the LSU effort to build outstanding student-athletes as 15 of the student-athletes during his time as coach have graduated.

Pierre has played a key role in building the program through his intense work on the practice court and countless hours of preparation in the office. Pierre is highly involved in the total basketball program at LSU, providing the superior technical basketball knowledge to practice preparation and on the floor coaching. Coach Brady relies on Pierre to assist with the implementation of the Tigers defensive schemes and philosophy, and that defense was rated one of the nations best in 2006.

Pierre has made a mark in coaching everywhere he has set up shop. He also has built and established a reputation throughout the country of turning losing into winning at each institution he has worked at throughout his career. At each stop, the head coach, in an average of three seasons, has won a league title and was named conference coach of the year.

Following a two-year stint at Kentucky State (1986-88) where the school posted its first winning season in seven years, Pierre came back to the state at Louisiana-Lafayette, joining the Cajuns prior to the 1988-89 season. In his spectacular eight-year career there, his team won an average of 18 games a year as the team won two Sun Belt championships and played in two NCAA Tournaments.

More than a dozen of his UL-Lafayette players went on to play professionally. He was elevated to the top assistants' position in his second season on the Cajun staff.

Pierre left UL-Lafayette for Charlotte prior to the 1996-97 season. He put together a top 10 recruiting class at Charlotte, which went 22-9, and won a first round game over Georgetown in the NCAA Tournament.

Pierre received his undergraduate degree in 1984 and his Master's degree in 1986 from Mississippi State University. It has been coach Pierre's passion and mission to insure that every student-athlete he has recruited works diligently to complete his degree prior to his departure from the University. While successful in recruiting Parade and McDonald's All-Americans and Mr. Basketballs, he has seen these athletes have extraordinary athletic success and most of them have matriculated at their various institutions, graduating with honors.

A native of Darrow, La., Pierre was a prep and SEC standout in his playing days. At St. Amant High School, he was a prep All-American and the school retired his jersey in 1980. Pierre started four seasons as a point guard for Mississippi State.

Butch and his wife, Clemmie, are parents of a daughter, Langley (16) and 14-year-old twin sons, Joseph III and Josh.

College:

 Chipola Junior College, '81;
 BS, Municipal Recreation,
 West Georgia, '89

Nikita Johnson enters his third season on the LSU coaching staff and his abilities both on the floor and in recruiting have made him a strong part of LSU's basketball family.

Johnson fit well in to the coaching rhythms of the staff and was able to provide his own coaching expertise in practices and has blended in well with coach John Brady and associate head coach Butch Pierre as part of the recruiting trio of the staff.

Johnson came to LSU after six years with the University of New Orleans and experience on the Division I level as an assistant coach since 1993. At UNO, Johnson worked under Joey Stiebing and later, Monty Towe, where the Privateers produced four classes that received strong marks in the national ratings.

A graduate of the University of West Georgia and Chipola Junior College, the 46-year-old Johnson also served as an assistant coach at each of those schools, as well as Odessa (Texas) College before moving to the Division I level where he served as assistant coach at Murray State from 1993-95, Duquesne from 1995-98, Tennessee State in 1998 and six years at UNO.

Five coaches he has worked for in Division I have been named Coach of the Year during his tenure at their respective schools.

That included Stiebing in 2001 when the UNO coach was named the Sun Belt Conference Coach of the Year. In his last year, as part of Towe's staff, he helped lead the Privateers to the championship game of the Sun Belt Tournament. In his first two years with the Tigers, LSU twice won the SEC Western Division, won the 2006 SEC Championship and advanced to the 2006 NCAA Final Four.

At Murray State, he was part of a staff that won two Ohio Valley Conference championships and advanced to the NIT and NCAA Tournament. The 1993-94 team posted a 23-6 record.

Johnson coached NBA players Moochie Norris (Odessa) and Mike James (Duquesne), both presently in the league, and also coached Marcus Brown at Murray State who played for several years in the NBA. Tyrus Thomas from the most recent LSU team has also joined the NBA ranks.

As a junior college coach, Johnson helped Chipola win six conference titles for Coach Milton Johnson, the winningest coach in Florida junior college history. Johnson was on the staff of the 1993 Odessa team when the school finished eighth in the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament. This came several years after Johnson as a player helped lead Chipola to a fifth-place finish in the same event.

Johnson was born in Donaldsonville, Ga., and grew up in nearby Greenwood, Fla. He earned regional, all-county and all-district honors for Marianna (Fla.) High. He helped his team go 76-10 in three seasons, including a pair of runner-up finishes in the Class AAA state playoffs in 1977 and 1978.

Johnson is married to the former Tonya Ramey of Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE TRELOAR FILE

Year at LSU: Third
Birth Date: Oct. 25, 1956
Age: 50
Hometown: Clinton, Miss.
Wife: Debra
Children: Taylor (7), Trey (3)
College:
BA, Business Administration,
Belhaven College, '78;
MA, Area of Behavioral Studies,
University of Alabama, '82

John Treloar enters his third year on the LSU men's basketball staff after a stellar career as a club team coach in Germany, a winning general manager and coach in the Continental Basketball Association and a top college assistant.

At LSU he has quickly become known for his ability to provide strong scouting reports on the opposition and he has helped bring a new level of video teaching and game preparation to the program.

Treloar came to LSU from Indiana University, where he served on the staff for seven years. While at Indiana, he was on teams that went to six NCAA Tournaments working under coaches Bob Knight and Mike Davis, including the 2002 Hoosier team, which advanced to the NCAA Final Four and finished as the national runner-up. He was part of six straight 20-win seasons and part of teams that defeated 28-ranked opponents including 12 teams among the nation's top 10 at the time of the game.

In his first two seasons as an LSU assistant, the Tigers have won two SEC Western Division titles, an SEC Championship, went to two NCAA Tournaments and in 2006 advanced to the NCAA Final Four, LSU's first appearance in the Final Four in 20 years.

In the last nine years as a college assistant coach, eight of the teams he worked with advanced to the NCAA Tournament at the conclusion of the season.

A veteran head coach and general manager in the CBA, his teams advanced to the playoffs seven out of eight years. In the CBA, Treloar competed against such recent NBA head coaches as George Karl, Terry Stotts, Eric Musselman and Flip Saunders.

While in the CBA, Treloar earned a reputation for making championship runs late in the season, as evidenced by his playoff winning percentage of over 50 percent. His 22 playoff wins rank among the top 10 in CBA history. He was just the second coach in league history at the time to win a CBA Championship in his first season as head coach (1991-Wichita Falls Texans).

Prior to his CBA career, Treloar was the head coach of the Olympic Sports Club in Bremerhaven, Germany, from 1982-86. The following year, he served as the head coach of the Steiner Optik Club in Bayreuth, Germany.

Treloar's international experience also includes a stint with a professional team in Venezuela in 1997. He joined the team at midseason and went on to guide the club to the league championship finals.

Treloar's coaching career began at the University of Alabama where he served as academic counselor and graduate assistant for two seasons (1980-82).

Ironically, Treloar and LSU head coach John Brady were teammates at Belhaven College in Mississippi.

A native of Clinton, Miss., Treloar earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Belhaven College in 1978 and a master's degree in the area of behavioral studies from the University of Alabama. John and wife, Debra, have two children, Taylor and Trey.

Tyrus Thomas cuts down the net after winning the NCAA Atlanta Regional

UNFOURGETTABLE

Looking for the right combination of words to sum up a 2005-06 season that resulted in an outright Southeastern Conference championship and a trip to the NCAA Final Four is not the easiest thing to do.

Words like young, chemistry, heart, courage were all used to measure a team that won 27-of-36 games and 14-of-16 in winning the league title. They were young, with just one senior and more than a handful of freshmen who made their mark. There was chemistry as players from Louisiana, mostly from 50 miles of Baton Rouge, represented a state that needed something to smile about in the months of long recovery following Hurricanes Katrina and Rita.

There was plenty to smile about right from the beginning. Darrel Mitchell hit three-pointers to force overtime and then give the Tigers a victory over No. 13 West Virginia in the first of multiple road games against top-notch competition. There was a narrow loss on the road to Ohio State and a dramatic one-point loss at No. 2 ranked UConn that had LSU fans buzzing in defeat.

The preseason allowed fans to watch the development of freshman star Tyrus Thomas, whose leaping ability became an important factor in the LSU success story. The 2005 Freshman of the Year, Glen Davis, would continue to develop as a sophomore into a player who could take over games on the scoring and rebounding end and would eventually earn Player of the Year honors.

Through it all were dramatic moments and important wins that kept LSU moving in the right direction and headed again back to the NCAA Tournament. Once there, the Tigers became not only media favorites, but also fan favorites as well for their ability to rise to the occasion when the moment called for it. Here are some of the special moments of the 2005-06 season:

"It really is a state-grown team collected at the flagship university, born, bred and nurtured almost from the cradle to go out and make Louisiana proud ... They came to LSU with ready-made chemistry, a family bond forged from years together on and off the court ... What a happy coincidence it was that they also had the talent to play at college basketball's highest level -- the national media, just now discovering the Tigers, is in almost unanimous awe of the team's "athleticism."

- Scooter Hobbs, Lake Charles American Press

Coach John Brady

For Coach John Brady, the 2005-06 season showed his versatility as a college head coach. He had taken the best talent in the state of the past few years and developed his LSU team into a national powerhouse, in the process delighting high school coaches and basketball fans in this state by proving that local and state players could play the game together on the highest level. Brady in leading the Tigers to the second SEC title in his nine years at LSU and to the first Final Four for the school in 20 years was named the SEC Coach of the Year and a national finalist for the Jim Phelan Coach of the Year award. Brady in nine years has won 162 games, the third most in program history and only two LSU coaches have served longer tenures.

Glen Davis

Glen Davis followed up SEC Freshman of the Year honors with SEC Player of the Year honors in 2006, leading the league in both scoring and rebounding. He was the fifth player since 1961 to lead the league in both categories. Davis also earned Wooden All-American honors and was a member of the league's Academic Honor Roll. Davis had 19 double-doubles during the course of the year and 29 in his first two years at LSU. The Baton Rouge product has started every game since the second game of his freshman season, a streak of 65 straight, and he has scored in double figures in the last 40 games, 57 total for his two-year career. It marked the third time in John Brady's tenure that an LSU player was named the SEC Player of the Year as Davis joined Stromile Swift (2000) and Brandon Bass (2005) in receiving that honor.

Tyrus Thomas

Thomas had a spectacular season in his only year with the Tigers, earning SEC Freshman of the Year honors before going on to be drafted fourth in the 2006 NBA draft. Thomas impressed fans, coaches and obviously NBA scouts alike with his leaping ability that helped him average 12.3 points per game, 9.2 rebounds (second in the league) and a league best 3.1 blocks per game. Thomas also earned MVP honors of the Atlanta NCAA region after scoring nine points with 13 rebounds and five blocks against No. 1-ranked Duke and 21 points and 13 boards against Texas in the game that advanced LSU to the NCAA Final Four. He becomes the fourth LSU player in John Brady's tenure to earn league Freshman of the Year honors joining Torris Bright (2000), Brandy Bass (2004) and Glen Davis (2005).

Darrel Mitchell

The senior took on a strong leadership role for the 2005-06 Tigers as the veteran member of the squad and none more important than taking over as the point guard for LSU. Mitchell would earn first-team All-SEC honors at the position, averaging 16.8 points per game with 160 assists and 82 three-pointers. He would end up as LSU's career leader in three-pointers with 258 and left LSU with close to 1,600 career points. Three times Mitchell hit threes in the closing seconds to push LSU over the top against big-name opponents -- West Virginia (once at the end of regulation to force overtime and then the game winner); Arkansas (a three-pointer with under 15 seconds to play) and the game-winner from long range in the second round of the NCAA Tournament against Texas A&M. The St. Martinville, La., native finished his career in the top 10 in six statistical categories and was a big part of the glue that held the LSU team together.

Tasmin Mitchell & Temple Shine in Debut Season

Each in their own way contributed to the success of LSU in 2006. Mitchell became a reliable scoring threat for the Tigers that opponents had to keep an eye on rather than drop completely down on Davis and Thomas. The unanimous All-SEC Freshman selection averaged 11.4 points per game with 21 games in double figures. Temple wasn't as flashy offensively, but he certainly proved he could take over the point position to allow Darrel Mitchell to roam or when he needed a break. The third member of his family to play at LSU, Temple's freshman year will forever be remembered for his defensive effort against Duke's J. J. Reddick in the round of 16 upset of the nation's No. 1 team in Atlanta.

Darnell Lazare

Lazare worked as hard as anyone to get ready for the 2005-06 season after a disappointing 2004-05 year and that hard work paid dividends for him and the LSU team. Lazare started early in the season and then came off the bench to provide solid minutes and scoring just about every time he stepped on the floor. He also started four games at the end of the season when Thomas was down with an ankle injury and helped LSU to a 3-1 record in those games. The SEC Good Works Selection and Academic Honor Roll student-athlete averaged 6.7 points and almost 19 minutes of playing time a game.

Streaks

LSU continued its home-court winning streak against Louisiana schools for another season and will enter the 2006-07 opener against Nicholls State on a 58-game winning streak against Louisiana schools. LSU also enters the year having not lost at the Maravich Center in a home SEC game since March of 2004. LSU won the final home game of that year against Ole Miss and then defeated all eight league opponents in 2005 and 2006. LSU has beaten every team in the league during that time span. The Tigers will enter the 2006-07 season with a nine-game home court winning streak and a six-game win streak in the SEC, having won the final six regular season league games.

Paid Attendance

The Tigers paid attendance last season was 9,469, giving LSU its fifth consecutive year with an increase in paid attendance at the Maravich Center. The

Was Reunion An Omen?

Before the Tigers faced Kentucky late in the 2006 regular season, LSU hosted a 20-year reunion for the 1986 NCAA Final Four team. A team no expected to make any kind of run in the NCAA Tournament as an 11 seed in 1986, upset Purdue, Memphis State, Georgia Tech and Kentucky to advance to the Final Four. Now 20 years later, LSU was going back to the Final Four after beating the one and two seeds in a region and not only that, just like 1986, playing the regional final round in Atlanta.

Tough Non-Conference Schedule Pays Off

John Brady made the most of something he said in his inaugural press conference that his schedule would get tougher and tougher as his team became more advanced. Never was that seen than in 2005-06 as LSU traveled to West Virginia, Ohio State, met Cincinnati on a neutral court, traveled to Hartford to meet UConn and hosted Houston and Northern Iowa. In the upcoming season, LSU travels to Oregon State and Washington, plays Texas and Texas A&M and host UConn in a return match from last season.

Throughout its 74-year history, the Southeastern Conference has been a leader in the integration of athletic competition and higher education.

Since its formation in 1933, the SEC has achieved both stature and stability by designating governing/voting power to the presidents of the member institutions. They have determined the policies of the conference and through the years this involvement has been the principal source of strength in the evolution of the SEC.

Intercollegiate athletics has encountered many challenges in the 1990s and again the SEC provided guidance. In 1993, the member institutions adopted The Principles of Gender Equity. Committed to increasing the quantity and quality of women's athletic opportunities, each school provides at least two more women's intercollegiate programs than the number of men's.

Faced with the task of conference realignment after competing with 10 members since 1966, the SEC welcomed the University of Arkansas and the University of South Carolina in 1991.

SEC schools began athletic competition with one another almost 100 years ago as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Seven institutions (Alabama, Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Sewanee and Vanderbilt) attended the SIAA organizational meeting of faculty representatives in Atlanta in 1894.

Basketball moved quickly to the South as Vanderbilt was playing at the Nashville YMCA in 1893, just two years after Dr. James Naismith originated the game at Springfield (Mass.) College. Basketball became an intercollegiate sport in 1901 and in 1908 Vanderbilt was meeting Columbia and Yale intersectionally.

The seven-member SIAA expanded to 19 institutions in 1895 and by 1920 there were 30 members.

The larger schools reorganized as the Southern Conference in 1920. Despite an original limit of 16, the membership grew to 23 by 1928.

The 13 members west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized as the Southeastern Conference at the annual SC meeting in 1932. The 10 coast members remained in the Southern Conference. Charter members of the new conference were: Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt. (Sewanee withdrew in 1940, Georgia Tech in 1964 and Tulane in 1966).

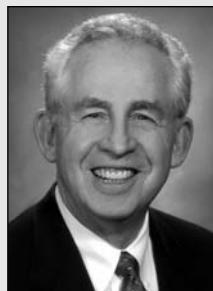

The first SEC champions were crowned in 1933 in four sports (baseball, basketball, football and outdoor track). The league's inaugural championship event was a basketball tournament in Atlanta in 1933. Records show the first men's team title for cross-country was awarded in 1935, while golf and swimming were added in 1937. The league later began hosting championships in tennis (1953) and indoor track (1957).

In the 1979-80 academic year SEC championships for women were recognized in basketball, tennis and volleyball. The following year golf, gymnastics, swimming and track and field were added. The administration of women's athletics officially came under the auspices of the conference office in 1984.

The SEC currently regulates nine men's sports and 11 women's sports: Men—baseball, basketball, football, golf, swimming, tennis and track (cross country, indoor and outdoor). Women—basketball, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track (cross country, indoor and outdoor) and volleyball.

The SEC office is located in Birmingham, Ala.

Michael L. Slive

Commissioner

SEC Commissioner

The office of the commissioner was formed in 1940 in Jackson due to the great amount of detail work developing, especially in recruiting and eligibility. Former Mississippi Governor Martin S. Conner took office as commissioner Aug. 21, 1940. Conner later became ill and the secretary of the conference, Dean N.W. Dougherty of Tennessee, served as acting commissioner during the fall of 1946.

The office moved to Birmingham with the appointing of Bernie H. Moore as the second full-time commissioner on Feb. 21, 1948. Moore, a former LSU coach, guided the SEC to national respect in his 18-year tenure. A.M. (Tonto) Coleman succeeded Moore upon his retirement April 1, 1966. The Alabama native, who was reared in Texas and experienced in athletic coaching and administration, served six and a half years.

Dr. H. Boyd McWhorter, then Dean of Arts and Sciences at Georgia, secretary of the league since 1967, accepted the position upon the retirement of Coleman Aug. 1, 1972. Under his leadership the SEC experienced unparalleled growth. In McWhorter's first year the SEC distributed $1.57 million and 14 years later (1986), the league distributed $15 million in revenue to the member institutions.

Dr. Harvey W. Schiller, an Air Force colonel and faculty chair at the U. S. Air Force Academy, followed McWhorter upon retirement, taking office Sept. 15, 1986. Under his guidance the SEC established itself as a leader in the areas of athletic scholarship and marketing.

Roy F. Kramer succeeded Schiller on Jan. 10, 1990. Kramer, who has served on numerous NCAA committees, joined the league office after spending 12 years as athletic director at Vanderbilt. Kramer held the office of Commissioner for more than 12 years before retiring in the summer of 2002.

Michael L. Slive, who served as Commissioner of Conference USA for seven years, was appointed the seventh Commissioner of the Southeastern Conference on July 2, 2002.

The 2007 Southeastern Conference Men's Basketball tournament returns to the Georgia Dome in Atlanta and the tournament will be back in Atlanta through the 2008 event. The 2007 event marks the 11th time the tournament has been held in Atlanta and the eighth time since 1995 that the tournament has been held at the Dome.

The winner of the 11-game tournament receives the SEC's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. The tournament seeds, conference championships and division titles are determined by the 16-game conference schedule during the regular season. Teams are seeded by their divisional finish and features Eastern Division-Western Division matchups in every game should the higher seed win every contest.

Atlanta served as host of the inaugural SEC Tournament played following the 1932-33 seasons and did so again after the 1933-34 season. The event was held every year through 1952, with the exception of 1935. After a 26-year-layoff (1953-1978), the tournament was renewed in 1979. The 2007 tournament will be the 48th in league history and the 29th since the renewal.

The SEC has shown extraordinary balance in the tournament, evidenced by the fact that a different school won the first seven titles after the renewal. The event has helped set the stage for SEC teams in the NCAA Tournament as 21 of the last 27 tournament champions have advanced to at least the Sweet 16 with four of the last 11 going on to the NCAA Final Four. Since the renewal in 1979, the SEC Tournament Champions has failed to win at least one NCAA Tournament game only three times.

Kentucky leads the league with 25 SEC Tournament titles. Alabama is second with six, while Tennessee ranks third with four, Florida and Mississippi State have two championship trophies. Arkansas, Auburn, Georgia, LSU, Ole Miss, Vanderbilt and former league member Georgia Tech have each won one SEC Tournament championship.

Vacated by SEC

NOTE: In the early years of the SEC, members did not play a full conference schedule. Instead of determining a champion from regular season play, the SEC champion was determined by the conference tournament from 1933-50, except for 1935. Beginning with the 1950-51 season when the SEC adopted a 14-game round-robin schedule, the team completing the regular season conference schedule with the best winning percentage was recognized as champion. The conference schedule was increased to 16 games in 1964-65, and to 18-games for the 1966-67 season. With the addition of Arkansas and South Carolina for the 1991-92 season, the league split into two six-team divisions playing a schedule of 16 games. Both divisional and overall champions were crowned.

Harry Rabenhorst

Before there was Dale Brown, there was Harry Rabenhorst. In an era when college basketball wasn't big news and when cable didn't send hundreds of game all across the country, Rabenhorst laid the foundation for others like Jay McCreary, Press Maravich, Dale Brown and John Brady to follow.

Like Maravich with Pete, like Dale with Rudy, Chris and Shaq, Rabenhorst coached two of the legends of the game: Sparky Wade and Bob Pettit. Like Brown, he took his team to a Final Four in the days before anyone realized what a major event the NCAA Tournament was. But unlike any other LSU coach, Rabenhorst laid claim to a national championship, mythical though it may have been. It was a year to remember for Rabenhorst, but it was a long way from the end of his career.

The Baton Rouge native, however, came to LSU holding a record of a much different kind. He was a star athlete at Wake Forest in the years following World War I and holds the world record for the single longest punt of 110 yards.

After serving in the U.S. Army in World War I, Rabenhorst began his career in coaching in 1921 at Greensboro High School in Greensboro, N.C. After that, he moved to New Mexico Military Academy where he coached for three seasons before moving back to Baton Rouge and the start of a long and dedicated lifetime of service to LSU.

In any capacity he served, he showed the same gracious understanding of the individual and devotion to duty that have set him apart from the ordinary.

He was a walking encyclopedia of LSU athletics and could recall in a moment the big game, the big play and the individual star of almost every athletic success enjoyed by the Tigers during his tenure.

Few men alive in college athletics numbered among their close personal friends the great and near great personalities who dominated the athletic scene for much of the first 60 years of this century. His list of associates reads like a "Who's Who" of American Collegiate Athletics, names that capture the imagination of sports fans and historians everywhere -- Knute Rockne, Amos Alonzo Stagg, Pop Warner, Fielding Yost, Wallace Wade,

Adolph Rupp -- and many more.

Rabenhorst's career at LSU meant more than victories and championships. A popular and respected coach and administrator, he brought LSU distinction with his long and brilliant service and developed athletes who became outstanding students, and later outstanding citizens.

Harry Rabenhorst was a competitor. He was also a gentleman. He proved that you can be both and be successful.

When Coach Rabenhorst passed away in March, 1972, at the age of 73, then athletic director Carl Maddox said, "Coach Raby was revered and respected nationally by the many who came to know him in the world of intercollegiate athletics -- but more significant is the esteem and the love he earned from the men who played for him."

"I always enjoyed competing with him," said Adolph Rupp. "He was a great credit to the game. He developed some of LSU's outstanding players and teams."

Coach Raby was a man for all seasons and still to this day remains one of the league's all-time winningest basketball coaches. Those who played for him, loved him. Those who knew him, respected him. There's not much better can be said.

Dale Brown

When he arrived from Washington State via Minot, N. D., there weren't that many basketball fans in the state of Louisiana who knew who Dale Brown was. When he retired after the 1996-97 season, you would have been hard pressed to find a college basketball fan in the country who didn't have some inkling about who Dale Brown was and what he stood for.

When Brown arrived in Baton Rouge in March, 1972, he arrived with a dream that was perceived by many who knew the LSU basketball program as impossible. The dream was to make basketball important in football-crazy Tiger country. When Brown was introduced as the Tiger coach, LSU fans were still remembering the Pete Maravich era. Final Fours? Rudy Macklin? Chris Jackson? Shaq? All a dream. In those year, fans had to be convinced to come to the new arena known as the LSU Assembly Center.

Brown traveled from one end of the state to the other telling all who would listen about the future of LSU basketball. Some thought him foolish. Others questioned his statements. But none who saw or heard him criticized his effort and his tireless energy.

His first LSU team shocked the basketball world by knocking off third-ranked Memphis State in Brown's home opener in December, 1972. The Hustlers, as they were dubbed, gave the competition fits all season long. They won 14 games, finished 9-9 in the SEC and drew praise from all around the country for their determination. For his achievements with a team picked last in the league, Brown was named SEC Coach of the Year, the first of four such honors he would receive.

Starting with the 1976-77 season, the Tigers increased their victory total ever year for the next six seasons. The streak was highlighted by a 31-5 record in 1980-81 (the most wins in a season in LSU history) and the first of Brown's two trips to the Final Four. For his success that season Brown was honored as the 1981 National Coach of the Year.

Even more impressive was his second trip to the Final Four in 1985-86 when his Tigers were the lowest seed-ed team ever to make it to the Final Four after knocking off teams seeded first, second and third in the region (the only team ever to accomplish that feat on the road to the Final Four).

The Tigers won four SEC titles under Brown and only Adolph Rupp and Joe B. Hall at Kentucky won more SEC titles. His 448-301 record with 238 wins in regular season SEC play, put him second behind only Rupp in wins in the league. He was only the third SEC coach to coach 25 years as a head coach in the league.

Brown was part of 38.5 percent of LSU's 1,164 total victories in the first 89 seasons of basketball. Also, no coach in LSU history coached more consecutive games -- 749.

In 1990, Brown was the winning coach, capturing the Gold Medal for the South in the Olympic Festival in Minneapolis.

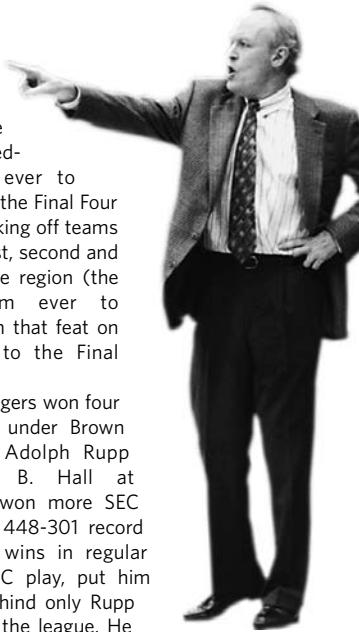

Brown was born in 1935 in Minot, a small railroad town in the northwest corner of North Dakota. In high school, he was the leading scorer in both football and basketball at St. Leo's of Minot. As a senior, he was the state scoring leader in basketball with a state record scoring average. He also set a school record in the 440-yard dash.

Brown earned 12 letters in basketball, football and track at Minot State University, making him the school's only athlete to achieve that goal.

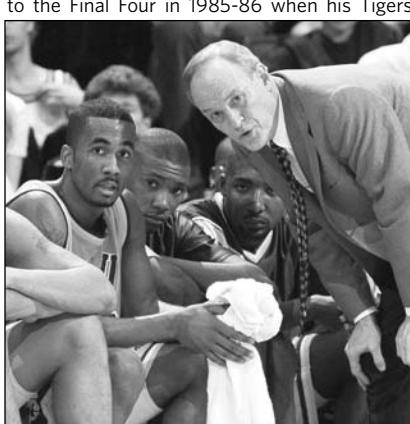

John Chaney of Temple called Brown, "...one of the true statesmen of college basketball. His contributions to the game and society have impacted many. He is an outstanding coach and an outstanding person."

Legendary coach John Wooden of UCLA said: "I will always remember Dale for his enthusiasm. There are those who say he is a put-on -- they just can't believe that he can be what he professes. But I never questioned that. He amazed me because there is a lot more depth to the man. He was much more than a basketball coach."

At halftime of the Kentucky game in February 2004, athletics director Skip Bertman and the LSU basketball program honored Coach Brown with a banner in his honor to permanently hang from the rafters of the Maravich Asembly Center.

Already a Louisiana Legend and one of the greatest college baseball coaches of all time, J. Stanley "Skip" Bertman has made the seamless transition into the athletics director's chair with the same enthusiasm, vision and demand for excellence that were trademarks of his stellar coaching career.

In just four years as LSU's director of athletics, Bertman has already added to his impressive list of on-the-field achievements. Under his direction, LSU enjoyed arguably the greatest athletics years in the history of the institution. In 2003-04 three teams won national championships, nine teams finished in the nation's top ten, and fourteen teams ranked in the top 25 and in 2004-05 14 teams advanced to the post-season. LSU teams also enjoyed improved grade point averages across the board, making the LSU student-athlete experience a success on and off the fields of competition.

While supervising the Tigers' progress on the playing fields, he has begun to implement measures necessary to realize his vision of building the LSU athletics department into the best in the country. Bertman's bold and innovative plans promise to keep the Tigers among the nation's elite in all phases of collegiate athletics.

Bertman is now in the midst of upgrading LSU's athletics complex. Working hand in hand with the Tiger Athletic Foundation, Bertman has already overseen the completion of the Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes while renovating Tiger Stadium and the Pete Maravich Assembly Center, and constructing the Football Operations Center.

It was also Bertman who took the bold but essential move to implement a seat contribution program in Tiger Stadium to fund facility improvements and ensure the financial stability of the LSU Athletics Department for the next decade.

Bertman was named LSU's athletics director on January 19, 2001. With Bertman, LSU gained an athletics director who provides the leadership and experience necessary to manage the Tigers' $52 million budget.

Bertman guided LSU to five NCAA baseball titles, and his teams drew huge crowds to venerable Alex Box Stadium, as the Tigers led the nation in attendance in each of his final six seasons (1996-2001).

He also served as head coach of the 1996 U.S. Olympic team which captured the bronze medal in Atlanta.

Bertman continues to be honored for his remarkable coaching tenure, as he was inducted in June, 2002, into the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame. He was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame in January, 2003. Bertman was also inducted into the College Baseball Hall of Fame this past summer.

In a Baseball America poll published in 1999, Bertman was voted the second greatest college baseball coach of the 20th century, trailing only Rod Dedeaux of Southern California. Bertman and Dedeaux are the only coaches to win five CWS titles.

He had previously earned recognition as one of the nation's brightest assistant coaches while at the University of Miami (Fla.) for eight seasons (1976-83). Before working at Miami, Bertman was renowned for his coaching excellence. In 11 seasons at Miami Beach High School, he directed the Hi-Tides to a state championship and two runners-up finishes and he was named Florida's Coach of the Year on three occasions.

In 1975, Bertman coached at Miami-Dade Downtown, leaving after one season to join legendary head coach Ron Fraser at Miami. The move was a homecoming of sorts, as Bertman spent his collegiate playing days with the Hurricanes as an outfielder and catcher from 1958-60. He earned his B.A. in health and physical education from Miami in 1961 and received his master's degree from UM in 1964.

Bertman and his wife Sandy are the parents of four daughters - Jan, Jodi, Lisa and Lori. The Bertman's have three grandchildren - Sophie Faith and Isaac Stanley, the children of Emile and Lori Bertman Guirard, and Samuel Aaron, the son of Drew and Lisa Pate.

Maj. Gen. R. G. Richard,
USMC (Ret.)

Chief Executive Officer

The Tiger Athletic Foundation (TAF) is a private, nonprofit foundation dedicated to supporting LSU and its Athletic Program. The Foundation is administered by its own board of directors, comprised of TAF donors, which meets quarterly. Officers of the corporation are elected bi-annually.

Louisiana State University has a proud athletic tradition, highlighted by scores of Southeastern Conference and NCAA championships in more than 20 men's and women's varsity sports. Thanks to generous private-sector contributions, the Tiger Athletic Foundation continues to play an integral role in sustaining that outstanding tradition. As the central fund-raising organization in support of LSU athletics, TAF's mission is clear - to lead the university in building a comprehensively superior athletic program.

Unrestricted contributions to the Tiger Athletic Foundation benefit every athlete and team at LSU through scholarship and academic awards, as well as through the construction and maintenance of athletic facilities. These projects, large and small, chart the unmistakable course to excellence. And it is the shared vision of alumni and friends of LSU that are making them a reality.

WHO IS TAF?

A donation to the Tiger Athletic Foundation assists in its programs of support for LSU Athletics.

- The TAF is made up of average Tiger fans who make donations to help fund the mission of Tiger Athletics.
- Nearly two-thirds of TAF's members have donated less than $1,000 in their lifetime to TAF.
- Less than 1% of TAF's members have donated over $100,000 in their lifetime to TAF.
- Approximately half of TAF's members are football season ticket holders.
- TAF's membership is 14,000 strong and growing.

- Funding scholarships for LSU's student-athletes.
- Funding the construction and renovation of facilities and the purchase of equipment to provide Tiger student-athletes with the best possible opportunity to compete at a national level.
- Funding support for facilities and programs to enhance the academic opportunities for student-athletes.
- Providing support to assure the best possible coaching and support staffs are in place to lead the LSU athletics program.

$1 Million-Plus Projects

Eastside Expansion of Tiger Stadium - $50 Million

The TAF financed an eastside expansion that added over 11,000 seats to Tiger Stadium and moved it up among the five largest on-campus stadiums in America. The eastside expansion not only created 70 Tiger Den suites to the stadium, it has provided over 300,000 more fans the opportunity to see LSU football since the expansion was opened in 2000.

Cox Communications Academic Center - $12 Million

The TAF provided LSU with unquestionably the most advanced academic facility in America for its student-athletes. By renovating LSU's old Gym Armory, the TAF allowed LSU to make the emphatic statement that the academic welfare of its student-athletes is its foremost priority. Opened in 2002.

Scoreboards (Tiger Stadium, Assembly Center, Outdoor Track) - $5.2 Million

The TAF added to fan enjoyment in LSU's major athletics facilities by purchasing state-of-the-art video scoreboards in 1998.

Lawton Squad Room - $1.2 Million

The TAF funded the construction of a squad meeting room attached to Tiger Stadium for use by LSU's athletics teams. Prior to the construction of the Lawton Squad Room, there was no one place in LSU's athletics complex where the entire football team could meet and view instructional and motivational video presentations. Opened in 1997.

Football Operations Center - $15 Million

The TAF built a stand-alone Football Operations Center in which all facets of the national champion Tiger football program will be under one roof. The building will include locker rooms, meeting rooms, coaches offices, video operations, a training room and strength facility. Scheduled to open in the fall of 2005.

Mike the Tiger's Habitat - $3 Million

LSU's legendary live mascot is now in a new home, thanks to the TAF. This new habitat will provide Mike with a new 15,000-square foot environment with lush planting, a landmark size Live Oak tree, a beautiful waterfall and a stream evolving from a rocky backdrop overflowing with plants and trees. It will be one of the finest live tiger habitats in America. Scheduled to open in the fall of 2005.

Westside Renovation of Tiger Stadium - $60 Million

The TAF renovated the Westside of Tiger Stadium in order to provide 3,200 new club seats and a new press box. The new club seats will provide additional revenue for the athletics program to invest in future facility projects. Scheduled to open in September of 2005.
