- Broadcaster Erik Bremer

Welcome to Blue Wahoos Stadium!

The 2024 season is moving quickly, thanks in large part to a home-heavy schedule that has us playing in Pensacola far more than we're on the road. When the weather cooperates and the fans are behind us, there's no better place to play baseball than here by the bay.

Having a competitive team helps, too. Our first half ends on June 23, and as I write this message the Blue Wahoos are fighting for what would be their third consecutive first half division title in as many years. Clinching a playoff spot with half the season to go is a nice luxury, and the winning tradition here in Pensacola has made for a consistently high quality of baseball for our passionate fans.

In this month's edition of the Tacklebox program, you'll read two stories helping to illuminate why the Wahoos have done so much winning in recent years.

It was a sad day in Miami when the Marlins traded batting champion (and former Blue Wahoo) Luis Arraez to the Padres, but that early-May trade paid immediate dividends for the minor league system. Jakob Marsee and Nathan Martorella have become everyday players for the Blue Wahoos, and each have a promising future.

On the pitching side, it's remarkable the number of talented young arms the Marlins have sent through Pensacola the past few years. It's a testament to good scouting, good coaching, and the type of environment that the Blue Wahoos organization cultivates with an eye towards player development.

One thing's for sure: Anytime you make it to the playoffs six out of seven seasons, you're doing something right. Let's see if the Wahoos can make it back to the playoffs again!

Even if you're not here at the ballpark, you can follow the team all season long on the Blue Wahoos Baseball Network. Tune in to our audio broadcast at BlueWahoos.com/ radio or the MiLB app, watch on Bally Live or with a subscription to MLB At Bat, or catch select home games on local television on Blab TV. We'll be there every step of the way!

CASHLESS & DIGITAL

In accordance with Major League Baseball facility requirements for Minor League ballparks, Blue Wahoos Stadium is a cashless and digital facility!

To create a more efficient and secure payment environment, the Blue Wahoos box office, concessions, and team store will once again be cashless in 2024, accepting credit, debit, and gift cards. Select locations will process mobile tap-to-pay payments, and the StadiumDrop app will remain available, allowing fans to order food and beverages directly to their seat!

Got cash? That's okay! Cash can be exchanged at the box office and team store for a reloadable Blue Wahoos Gift Card that you can use all season long and add additional cash to whenever necessary!

With digital ticketing, fans can purchase their tickets, enter the stadium, and transfer their tickets with just a few taps on their cell phone without ever waiting in line or worrying about losing or forgetting their paper tickets.

Want more information on digital tickets and step-by-step instructions on how to access and transfer your tickets? Visit BlueWahoos.com/Digital for instructions or call 805-934-8444!

Men on a MISSION

By Bill Vilona

No player joined the Blue Wahoos in a more bizarre fashion than infielder Nathan Martorella.

On May 3, while playing for the San Antonio Missions, the Double-A affiliate of the San Diego Padres, Martorella had just reached second base in that night's game.

Suddenly, he looked into the dugout and saw the team's manager and coaching staff signaling for him to exit for a pinch runner. Martorella was confused. In a video that became viral that night, he was seen extending his hands with a confused look on his face.

Eventually, as the pinch runner entered the field, Martorella realized the move was not based on lack of performance, but necessity.

He had just been traded to the Blue Wahoos as part of a deal that sent fellow Missions teammate Jakob Marsee and two other Padres minor league prospects to the Miami Marlins organization in exchange for star major leaguer Luis Arraez, who had played in Pensacola in 2019 as a Minnesota Twins prospect.

Martorella was giving a "what, me?" reaction as he looked into the visitor's dugout.

"It was weird, for sure," said Martorella, 23, a Monterey, California native, who was chosen in the fifth round by the Padres in the 2022 Draft out of the University of California-Berkeley.

"I was on base and I'm a competitor so when I'm on the field, I want to compete," said Martorella, who climbed to a #13 ranking among the Padres top 30 prospects by MLB Pipeline.

"I was just confused as to why I was getting pulled," he said. "When I got to the dugout, the manager told me and I was just ready for a new opportunity."

The reason for this kind of notification is that once a deal is finalized, a player can no longer play for his now-former team due to injury potential that would void the trade. So a player has to be lifted immediately if it happens during a game.

Martorella and Marsee have since become a regular part of the Blue Wahoos starting lineup. Martorella is now posited as the Marlins' #11 ranked prospect. As is only natural, however, there have been challenges to adjust to a new league and pitchers he had never faced before.

The other two players the Marlins received were Missions pitcher Woo-Suk Go, a South Korea native who is with the Jacksonville Jumbo Shrimp in Triple-A, and 19-year-old outfielder Dillon Head, the Padres' No. 1 pick in the 2023 Draft (No. 25th overall selection). He is playing for the Jupiter Hammerheads, the Single-A affiliate of the Marlins.

The Blue Wahoos' Jacob Berry played with Martorella and Marsee in the Arizona Fall League with the Peoria Javelinas.

"They are both great guys," Berry said, immediately following the trade. "We all had a great opportunity to bond. We had a good team in Arizona and really looking forward to having them out here.

"Marsee spoke for himself in the Fall League when he won the player of the year. Marty is a great player. I played against him when I was in college and now last year (in the Arizona Fall League) and I'm looking forward to playing with him now. Hopefully they will help us win in the future."

Marsee, the Padres' sixth round Draft pick in 2022, earned that Arizona Fall League MVP after a strong fall season in 2023 with the Javelinas, where he led the AFL in runs scored (25), hits (36), doubles (12) and on-base plus slugging (OPS) at 1.215.

The month-long performance earned him the Joe Black Award, annually given to the AFL's most outstanding player. He rose from Central Michigan University into being a sixth-round pick by the Padres.

"It's been a blessing," said Marsee, the Padres' former No. 12 prospect, speaking to MLB.com that day. "I mean, if you would have told me this was where I'd be - I would have dreamed about this, but I never would have believed it. Just being here and being able to compete every single day with these guys, it's a blessing.

"Honestly, without my time at Central, I don't think I'd be doing what I'm doing right now. I pay tribute to all my friends and teammates and coaches there and everyone that's helped me along the way."

Martorella had a great outlook when discussing what has transpired in his career.

Peter Bendix, the Marlins president of baseball operations, who visited Pensacola in April and spent days in town checking out the Blue Wahoos, spoke about the trade as a forward step on a quest for long-term success.

Arraez played six weeks for the Blue Wahoos during the 2019 season, their only one as a Minnesota Twins affiliate. Just as he does now, he was slashing pitches to all fields and wowed as a difficult player to strike out. He has since risen to make MLB history in becoming the American League (2022) and National League (2023) batting champion in consecutive years.

“We got a lot of prospect talent in return (for Arraez), because Luis is the back-to-back batting champion who is a very good player,” said Bendix, speaking to Miami area media members on a Zoom call. “And that’s something that – given where we are right now with this season – is something we were determined was better to set the franchise up moving forward.”

The Marlins - and the Blue Wahoos - hope that Marsee and Martorella can each contribute to a winning team in Pensacola this year, and in Miami for many years to come.

THE SEAGULLS

Over their first 12 years of existence, the Blue Wahoos have forged a dense collection of their own unique history. Two championships and a slew of future Major League talent have helped the Wahoos establish a genuine connection with Pensacola's baseball-hungry community. However, the success of baseball in Pensacola today is mostly owed to the perseverance of trailblazing Negro League teams and Black players during the 20th century.

Before Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier in Major League Baseball in 1947, Negro League Baseball was the only option for professional Black players. Beginning in 1920, the leagues lasted into the late 1940s and produced numerous players now featured in the National Baseball Hall of Fame. In 2020, Major League Baseball moved to recognize Negro League Statistics as Major League in quality, thereby beginning the process to integrate statistical records.

Pensacola's relationship with Negro League Baseball saw several teams play and gain popularity within the city. At different points, the Pensacola Arthur Giants, the Pepsi-Cola Stars and the Pensacola Seagulls called The City of Five Flags home. At the time, the Seagulls used historic Legion Field and Admiral Mason Park to showcase their stars. Former Seagulls great Richard Mobley recently recalled his experience with the team.

"Everybody went to see them play, white and black fans," said Mobley in a 2022 interview with Blue Wahoos staff writer Bill Viloni. "A lot of the guys on those teams back then lived in my neighborhood...those guys [the players] encouraged us to play baseball."

Though the Seagulls weren't Pensacola's only Negro League baseball squad during the mid-20th century, they were the most well-known and longest-lasting professional team of the group. The Seagulls' Legion Field hosted Major League teams during spring training trips back to their home cities and saw multitudes of Negro League talent pass through during exhibitions versus well-known entities like the Indianapolis Clowns and Kansas City Monarchs.

One former Kansas City Monarch star eventually came back to Pensacola nearly 60 full years after the end of the Negro League era. Hall of Famer Buck O'Neil visited for a Pensacola Pelicans game while the independent team was the only professional baseball tenant in the city. Current Blue Wahoos owner Quint Studer remembers O'Neil's visit as a highlight of his baseball experience.

"We were fortunate to bring him [O'Neil] here," said Studer. "He shared with the community what it was like as a Black person who played professional baseball before and after the color barrier was broken...it was an educational experience for many."

At present, the Blue Wahoos have done their part to educate fans and celebrate Pensacola's baseball past. In seasons past, the Wahoos have donned replica Seagulls jerseys for special occasions and will do so again in 2024. During the Wahoos' June 18-23 series versus the Chattanooga Lookouts, Pensacola will don the Seagulls' jerseys on Wednesday, June 19 - otherwise known as Juneteenth, an annual holiday commemorating the end of slavery in the United States - and during the series finale on Sunday, June 23 in "The Nine" Night presented by Cox.

The celebration of the Seagulls holds special meaning for Studer, who observed the occasion back in 2022 during a similar celebration.

"A number of players from the Seagulls were honored at the game and the Wahoos wore Seagulls uniforms," Studer said. "This leads us to the 2024 season when the Seagulls will again grace the field."

The celebration of Pensacola baseball history at Blue Wahoos Stadium will provide a rare up-close glimpse into a city's past rich with baseball history and lore. The week is set to provide a unique and enjoyable look at the past - all while the current day Wahoos continue to make fresh history of their own.

BLUE WAHOOS STADIUM

Entering its 13th season, Blue Wahoos Stadium is widely considered one of the premier facilities in Minor League Baseball. Recently named the Best Ballpark in Double-A by Ballpark Digest, the stadium has established itself as one of the best places to enjoy a Minor League Baseball game in the country. A three-time recipient of the Southern League Ballpark of the Year, Blue Wahoos Stadium welcomed over two million fans in its first eight seasons, finishing first or second in the league in attendance five times.

With a capacity of 5,038 fans, Blue Wahoos Stadium is the smallest in the Southern League, allowing fans to get closer to the action than any other park in the league. Nestled alongside the water in Pensacola's Community Maritime Park, the field provides unbeatable views of the Pensacola Bay. The playing surface at Blue Wahoos Stadium was officially named Admiral Fetterman Field in 2015 in honor of the late Admiral Jack Fetterman, who was instrumental in the creation of Community Maritime Park for the Pensacola community.

Blue Wahoos Stadium and the surrounding Maritime Community Park were built to be used by the local community throughout the year, not just for Wahoos baseball games. More than 200 events are held at the ballpark throughout the year, making it truly a stadium for the entire community to enjoy.

TOP DOG

Did you spot an affable puppy in a yellow vest at today's game? It was likely Pensacola's newest Canine Companions Service future service dog that is training at Blue Wahoos Stadium!

Following a successful 18 months of training with team pup Watson in 2021 and 2022, Blue Wahoos Stadium has again been chosen as a training ground for a future service dog! The new Canine Companions puppy arrived in March 2023 and its name, Bubba, was chosen by Blue Wahoos fans.

Just like how Blue Wahoos Stadium serves as an important place for baseball players to develop for their future careers, it's also a great place to train a service animal! Service dogs need to be prepared for all sorts of environments, including places with large crowds, loud noises, lights, and lots of stimuli. A Blue Wahoos game offers all of that and more as the puppy prepares to become a helpful companion for a child, adult, or military veteran with disabilities.

Founded in 1975, Canine Companions has helped train and provide service dogs for people with physical disabilities for over 45 years. Currently, nearly 1,000 dogs are being trained nationwide just like Bubba through Canine Companions. Learn more about their organization and become an advocate at Canine.org!

The Blue Wahoos are five-time winners of the Southern League's Community Service Award and continue to build on their community programs in 2024! Check out some of the ways the team works to improve the quality of life for all in Pensacola below.

Reading Program

Literacy is one of the most important skills for students to develop to succeed academically, and Kazoo has made it one of his primary focuses each year! Annually, Kazoo visits over 30,000 local students at dozens of schools to encourage kids to get reading!

Charitable Donations

The Pensacola Blue Wahoos are proud to support local organizations that help improve the quality of life in our community. In 2023, over $1 million was donated locally by the Studer Family of Companies through monetary and in-kind donations and giving by team ownership!

NPO Fundraising

In addition to their standard in-stadium fundraising, the Blue Wahoos offer local non-profits opportunities to raise money for their cause through volunteering in concessions at Blue Wahoos Stadium. If your group is interested in raising money at the ballpark, contact EKroll@BlueWahoos.com.

Stadium Events

Blue Wahoos Stadium was built for the community and serves as one of the nation's busiest ballparks, hosting over 200 events throughout the calendar year including youth sports, festivals, concerts, movie nights, reunions, fundraisers, and more!

Brain Bags

You can make a difference in the community simply by attending a game! By donating $1 when prompted while purchasing your ticket, you can help support the Studer Community Institute's Brain Bag program, which provides over 5,000 new mothers in Escambia County with resources to help with early brain development.

Honoring Admiral Fetterman

On September 23, 2015, the field at Blue Wahoos Stadium was officially renamed Admiral Jack Fetterman Field. It honors the memory of Fetterman, a three-star Vice Admiral in the U.S. Navy who retired in Pensacola and became a prominent civic leader, dedicating himself, alongside his wife Nancy, to preserving Pensacola's history.

A strong advocate for the construction of Maritime Community Park and Blue Wahoos Stadium, Fetterman passed away on March 24, 2006 at the age of 74 and was never able to see his vision of a waterfront stadium become reality. Although he never watched the Wahoos play at the ballpark, his memory is honored at each game played on the field bearing his name.

As you enjoy today's game at Blue Wahoos Stadium, please take a moment in your own way to thank Admiral Fetterman for his contributions to the city of Pensacola and the United States military.

A Pennsylvania native, Fetterman graduated from college in 1954 and enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He made his first trip to Pensacola soon after to attend the Aviation Officer Candidate School at Naval Air Station Pensacola.

He rose in rank and was appointed Rear Admiral and then Vice Admiral, assuming command duties of the U.S. Naval Air Force Pacific Fleet in San Diego, a capacity he served in until 1990.

In 1991, Fetterman returned to Pensacola where his Naval career began and assumed duties as Chief of Naval Education and Training before retiring from active duty in 1993. During his illustrious Naval career, he formulated and produced the Core Values Training program, earning him the title of "Father of Navy Ethics."

He then became president and CEO of the National Naval Aviation Museum at NAS-Pensacola. Under his leadership, the museum grew in capacity and scope, making the facility one of the largest air and space museums in the world.

In addition to his work at NAS-Pensacola and with other U.S. Navy roles, Fetterman served his community in roles that included being Chairman of the Pensacola Mayor Community Core Values Board. He was also Chairman of the Pensacola Chamber of Commerce.

The Blue Wahoos are proud to honor Fetterman's service to our nation, along with his legacy and efforts to make Pensacola the greatest place to live on earth.

How Are We Doing?

Our goal is to provide our fans with the best experience in professional sports at every single Blue Wahoos home game. That's why we work so hard to make sure our staff is friendly and helpful, our food is hot and fresh, and our in-game entertainment is, well, entertaining.

We can't be successful at making your gameday experience the best without your input.

To find out what you liked and what you didn't like at today's game, we might ask you a few questions either during the game, on your way out of the stadium, or by email in the next few days. Your input is incredibly valuable and will help guide how we make tomorrow's game even better.

Every morning after a home game, our staff sits down and reviews the fan comments, feedback, and surveys we received the day before. We use that information to make adjustments constantly, correcting and improving things you want to see changed and rewarding and recognizing employees highlighted by fans for great service.

For instance, fans in our outfield party decks told us they couldn't see the main scoreboard located directly above them. So, we had an additional scoreboard installed behind home plate to ensure the fans sitting in the outfield would have a great experience.

Your feedback makes changes like this and many others possible.

If we approach you at today's game or send you an email afterwards, know that we greatly appreciate the time and thought you put into giving us feedback and your recommendations will be listened to by our staff.

Without happy fans, we're just a baseball team, so please let us know what we can do to make your trip to Blue Wahoos Stadium a great one!

PENSACOLA'S PITCHING PIPELINE

By Bill Vilona

The Blue Wahoos will finish their first half of the 2024 season this month with a familiar narrative.

Pitching and defense has been the calling card.

Since becoming part of the Miami Marlins organization in 2021, the Blue Wahoos success of three winning seasons, two consecutive trips to the Southern League championship series and their first outright league title can directly be attributed to the position on the mound.

They've been led by a youthful face, red haired, top draft pick in Max Meyer (2021), a precocious teenager in Eury Perez (2022) and a stable of strong relievers in 2023.

There have been 12 pitchers who wore a Blue Wahoos uniform the past three seasons make Major League Baseball debuts, led by Meyer and Perez, of course, with the Marlins.

"When you win championships, or when you win a lot of ballgames, pitching is usually the thing behind it," said Blue Wahoos manager Kevin Randel, who has been Pensacola's manager since the 2021 season. "We've had a strong corps of really good bullpen guys, really good back-end guys (closers) and a really strong rotation.

"This year is no different. The six rotation guys, the bullpen guys, the back-end guys are all performing, they are all executing and they are feeding off each other. When you win these games, win the championships, it all comes down to pitching."

So far this season, pitching has been the backbone.

While the Blue Wahoos have often struggled at the plate, closing the month of May with one of the lower batting averages in the Southern League, they have stayed competitive in the first half divisional race because of the pitching staff.

When he left spring training, Randel knew this season would be a transitional one. There was not a much-heralded prospect like Meyer or Perez to start the season, but there were proven, returning pitchers like Evan Fitterer, MD Johnson, Luis Palacios and Jonathan Bermudez in the mix.

Through May, they have combined to give the Blue Wahoos an opportunity to win games with some timely hits.

"I wouldn't say I was surprised," Randel said. "But what I've like about them the most is the consistency. You know they can all do it, but now they are stringing their starts together and that's been a big part of our success. It's the consistency that you have to have."

With Fitterer, who started strong last season, Randel has seen the benefits of experience.

"There is a little bit more confidence with him, a little bit more a swagger," he said. "He's throwing more strikes. He is getting pretty much same ground ball numbers as last year. His fastball is cutting well, so there's a lot to it."

In Johnson, one of the most popular players with fans because of his friendly demeanor away from the mound, Randel has seen a more aggressive approach.

“He is starting to attack the (strike) zone a lot more,” Randel said. “He’s not pitching away from contact as he did in the past. He’s shifted to his two seamer (fastball), has developed a sweeping slider, a cutter and he’s changed a lot of grips on pitches. He’s started tinkering with a sinker and some days it’s good, some days it’s bad, but that is another pitch. MD has done well.”

Bermudez, a lefthander with strong velocity, has shown Randel a more refined version of the way he pitched last year:

“He has shifted away from trying to strike everybody out,” Randel said. “He’s getting in the (strike) zone a lot more, a lot less non-competitive pitches, and that comes from attacking the strike zone.

“His command is a lot better. He’s under control. He is night and day from last year. He’s turned a corner.” All of this progression has come under a new pitching coach. After long-time pitching coach Dave Eiland left in 2023, the Marlins hired former MLB pitcher Jerad Eickhoff, 33, who pitched in seven MLB seasons, to become the Blue Wahoos’ 2024 pitching coach.

Eickhoff, nicknamed “Ike,” pitched in 2022 for the Pittsburgh Pirates, his third MLB team, then retired after last season in Triple-A with the Cleveland Guardians organization.

He was hired in March by the Marlins and joined the Blue Wahoos spring training camp prior to exiting for Pensacola.

“I had not met Ike until the last two weeks of spring training,” Randel said. “But he jumped right in. There were a lot of hours (working), a lot of one on one meetings to get know all his players.

“He developed new pitch groups (in spring training workouts), his team shifted certain pitches that will match each pitchers’ releases. He watched video after video of hitters’ swings to find holes to expose and just get the guys to buy into the approach to throw strikes.”

There has been an instant connection, Randel said, between the Blue Wahoos pitching staff and Eickhoff due to closer proximity in ages.

“He’s got a lot of feel for it,” Randel said. “He is just coming off the field, just finishing his own career himself for a long time, so he know exactly what these guys are doing after a poor outing, a great outing, a mediocre outing.

“He knows it, he’s been there. He’s not far removed from it. He relates to these players really well. I think that’s been huge. Obviously, Dave did it well, too, and the track record with Dave was exceptional, having won a World Series, pitched so long in the big leagues, but I think the youth of Ike, the way he speaks about analytics, that holds a lot of weight with these players.”

Randel sees the organization’s pitching strength continuing. Their No. 1 draft pick from 2023, Noble Meyer, a former high school phenom, is off to a strong start as a rookie and will eventually join the Blue Wahoos in the future.

“You have a lot of great guys on the big league club and I know guys like Eury and Sandy (Alcantara) who are out this season will be back to go with the guys in their rotation now. You’ve got enough core there. And there are a lot of great young guys coming through the pipeline.”

Scott A. Remington, Esq.

Scott Remington of the Clark Partington law firm has had the good fortune of representing the Pensacola Blue Wahoos since Quint and Rishy Studer acquired the team. This representation included a successful negotiation of the ten-year agreement for use of Pensacola's Bayfront Stadium by the Wahoos as their home field and the addition of Bubba Watson as a minority owner.

In addition, Scott actively represents local and national businesses and individuals in transactions, serious injury matters, and complex litigation. Scott has been recognized by his peers as an "AV Preeminent" rated lawyer in the Martindale-Hubbell directory and was selected to Florida Trend Magazine's "Legal Elite" list and Florida "Super Lawyers."

Scott is committed to making the Pensacola community a better place for all residents. He was Chairman of the Escambia County Area Transit Citizens Advisory Board (2007-2008) and presently sits on the ECAT Mass Transit Advisory Committee. As the co-founder of the Political Action Committee, Escambia All For One, P.C., Scott was responsible for organizing a group of citizens who worked to consolidate local governments into a more cohesive and efficient structure.

Scott is on the Board of Directors for Autism Pensacola, Inc., a group dedicated to improving the lives of families living with autism in Northwest Florida and serves on the Board of Directors for Northwest Florida Professional Baseball, LLC, the parent company of the Blue Wahoos.

A graduate of the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee, Scott played football at Sewanee and was a member of the 1990 CAC Co-Championship Team earning a varsity letter playing nose guard. After Sewanee, Scott attended law school at Florida State University where he was an Associate Editor of the Law Review and a member of the Moot Court Team.

In his free time he enjoys reading, fishing, and tennis. Most weekends you can find Scott with his wife Amie and their three children (Virginia, Tom & Harry) participating in youth sports events or chasing their beloved Boykin Spaniel ("Molly") around Cordova Park.

BALLPARK RULES

We want every game at Blue Wahoos Stadium to be an enjoyable and memorable experience for every fan. To make that possible, the following rules are enforced.

- Foul/abusive language and/or rowdy behavior will not be tolerated and will be cause for ejection and/or arrest. Violators may also have their season tickets revoked. Notify the nearest guest services or safety/security representative immediately if actions of this type occur near you.
- The use of derogatory language, which is defined as offensive language concerning another person's race, ethnicity, gender, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation, or national origin is cause for immediate ejection from the stadium without a refund and could result in future ticket loss.
- By Major League Baseball rule, bags are not permitted in the stadium. Diaper bags, medical bags, and small purses are allowed.
- Entering the playing field without authorization or throwing objects onto the field is a violation of ballpark rules and may be hazardous. Offenders will be ejected and subject to arrest and prosecution.
- All tobacco and electronic cigarettes are prohibited in Blue Wahoos Stadium which includes the seating sections, concourses, and stairwells.
- Keep aisles clear at all times; emergency situations require that stairways be kept clear. Guests sitting or standing in the ballpark aisles jeopardize the safety of others.
- For your safety and the safety of those around you, please sit in your assigned seat to avoid inconveniencing other guests.
- Drunk and disorderly behavior as well as violation of any alcohol policy will result in ejections from the ballpark without a refund and could result in the loss of season tickets. Underage consumption and the excessive consumption of alcohol is strictly prohibited.
- Umbrellas are allowed in the stadium. Please be courteous of those around you when using an umbrella.
- The Blue Wahoos ask that no one solicit contributions or distribute literature on stadium property without written approval of the team.
- Flags and banners without poles are permitted. Flags must be event related and may not cover any ballpark signage. All flags or banners deemed inappropriate by stadium management are subject to removal.
- Gates will open 60 minutes (1 hour) prior to the start of the game for admission into the stadium. We strongly encourage guests to enter the stadium as early as possible to avoid delays.
- All guests entering the stadium are subject to search. Refusal may be grounds to prohibit admission.
- The following items are prohibited from entering the stadium: bottles, cans, coolers, containers, fireworks, flares, pets or animals of any kind (with the exception of service animals), weapons, water guns, toy/replica weapons, squirt bottles, soap bottles, balloons, brooms, skateboards, roller blades or skates.
- Handheld radios and televisions are allowed as long as guests listen with an earpiece or headphones. Guests should be considerate of their neighbors when using these devices.
- Outside food and beverages are not permitted inside the stadium. Concession stands are conveniently located on both sides of the concourse for your food and beverage needs.
- All fans must comply with requests from stadium staff regarding stadium policies and emergency response procedures. Be safe. Have fun!
