- Broadcaster Erik Bremer

Welcome to Blue Wahoos Stadium!

This is my third season broadcasting games for the Blue Wahoos, and we've had some great moments on the field. From a Southern League title in 2022 to a record-setting regular season in 2023, the players have provided memories for our fans that will last a lifetime.

Equally important are the ways in which the Blue Wahoos help to elevate our local community. In this edition of the Tacklebox Magazine, you'll read about some of the cool stories that make the Blue Wahoos part of the fabric of Pensacola.

Before our season began, the Blue Wahoos welcomed the Mexican League's Sultanes de Monterrey for a two-game exhibition series. It was something that had never been done by a baseball team in this region, and it helped us connect with new fans in a meaningful way.

During our second homestand, Blue Wahoos players made their annual trip to NAS Pensacola to get an up-close look at the Blue Angels. Our growing relationship with the local military community is an organizational point of pride, and our players jump at the chance to see a spectacle that people travel from all over the country to experience.

Finally, you might see a familiar face around the ballpark this summer: Infielder Cobie Fletcher-Vance, whose go-ahead grand slam in the decisive game of the 2022 Southern League Championship Series helped the Blue Wahoos claim their title, retired over the offseason and is now learning the ropes in our front office. That Cobie has decided to stick around is yet another indication that the environment we create with the Blue Wahoos is something special.

You can read about these stories in this month's Tacklebox, and hear more tales being told all season long on the Blue Wahoos Baseball Network. Tune in to our audio broadcast at BlueWahoos.com/radio or the MiLB app, watch on Bally Live or with a subscription to MLB At Bat, or catch select home games on local television on Blab TV. We'll be there every step of the way!

Select locations will process mobile tap-to-pay payments, and the StadiumDrop app will remain available, allowing fans to order food and beverages directly to their seat!

Got cash? That's okay! Cash can be exchanged at the box office and team store for a reloadable Blue Wahoos Gift Card that you can use all season long and add additional cash to whenever necessary!

With digital ticketing, fans can purchase their tickets, enter the stadium, and transfer their tickets with just a few taps on their cell phone without ever waiting in line or worrying about losing or forgetting their paper tickets.

MONTERREY MEMORIES

By Bill Vilona

The connection now forged between the Blue Wahoos and the Monterrey Sultanes, the oldest franchise in the Mexican Professional League, began in a unique way.

First, an email was sent nearly two years ago. Then a direct message on the Blue Wahoos' team Twitter account.

"We really thought at first, who is this contacting us from Mexico? Is this real? You're thinking, this is a scam," said Blue Wahoos team president Jonathan Griffith, chuckling at the memory.

Nope. Turns out, it wasn't a scam, it was sincere.

"So, it starts out like this, in an odd way, right? And then I finally got a number for [the Sultanes]," Griffith said. "But now, of course, I've got to call to Mexico. How do you call Mexico when I can't speak Spanish? Fortunately, the person answering was their marketing person who understood me and we finally got in touch."

This led to a visit in early 2023 to Pensacola by Monterrey Sultanes executives, led by Sultanes vice president Guillermo "Willie" Gonzalez, who speaks fluent English.

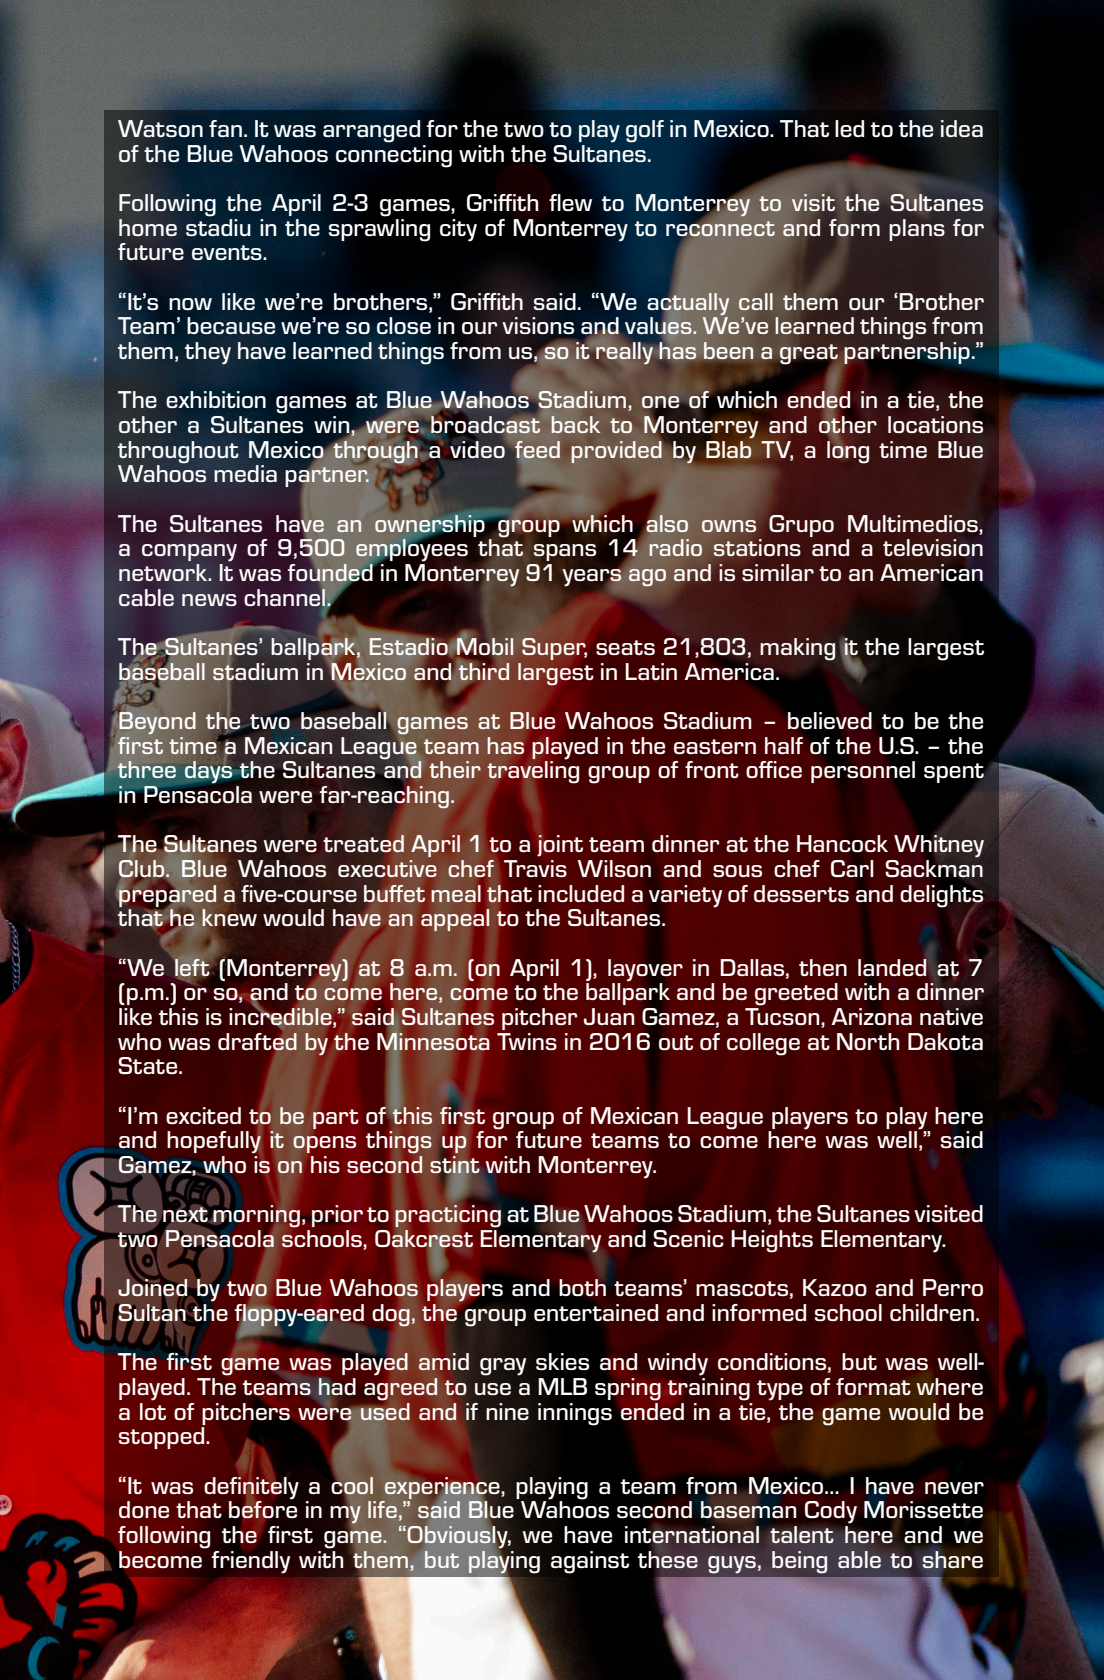

And then another visit last November for a press conference at Blue Wahoos Stadium to announce the historic two exhibition games that occurred April 2-3 in Pensacola prior to the start of the Blue Wahoos' 2024 season.

At that moment, it was revealed that Sultanes majority owner, Francisco Gonzalez, read Bubba Watson's introspective 2021 book "Up And Down: Victories and Struggles in the Course of Life."

It was a powerful look at Watson's life and how he became a world-renowned professional golfer, along with being a Blue Wahoos partial owner, while dealing with mental health issues.

Francisco Gonzalez was an avid golfer and Bubba

Watson fan. It was arranged for the two to play golf in Mexico. That led to the idea of the Blue Wahoos connecting with the Sultanes.

Following the April 2-3 games, Griffith flew to Monterrey to visit the Sultanes home stadium in the sprawling city of Monterrey to reconnect and form plans for future events.

"It's now like we're brothers," Griffith said. "We actually call them our 'Brother Team' because we're so close in our visions and values. We've learned things from them, they have learned things from us, so it really has been a great partnership."

The exhibition games at Blue Wahoos Stadium, one of which ended in a tie, the other a Sultanes win, were broadcast back to Monterrey and other locations throughout Mexico through a video feed provided by Blab TV, a long time Blue Wahoos media partner.

The Sultanes have an ownership group which also owns Grupo Multimedios, a company of 9,500 employees that spans 14 radio stations and a television network. It was founded in Monterrey 91 years ago and is similar to an American cable news channel.

The Sultanes' ballpark, Estadio Mobil Super, seats 21,803, making it the largest baseball stadium in Mexico and third largest in Latin America.

Beyond the two baseball games at Blue Wahoos Stadium – believed to be the first time a Mexican League team has played in the eastern half of the U.S. – the three days the Sultanes and their traveling group of front office personnel spent in Pensacola were far-reaching.

The Sultanes were treated April 1 to a joint team dinner at the Hancock Whitney Club. Blue Wahoos executive chef Travis Wilson and sous chef Carl Sackman prepared a five-course buffet meal that included a variety of desserts and delights that he knew would have an appeal to the Sultanes.

"We left (Monterrey) at 8 a.m. (on April 1), layover in Dallas, then landed at 7 (p.m.) or so, and to come here, come to the ballpark and be greeted with a dinner like this is incredible," said Sultanes pitcher Juan Gamez, a Tucson, Arizona native who was drafted by the Minnesota Twins in 2016 out of college at North Dakota State.

"I'm excited to be part of this first group of Mexican League players to play here and hopefully it opens things up for future teams to come here was well," said Gamez, who is on his second stint with Monterrey.

The next morning, prior to practicing at Blue Wahoos Stadium, the Sultanes visited two Pensacola schools, Oakcrest Elementary and Scenic Heights Elementary.

Joined by two Blue Wahoos players and both teams' mascots, Kazoo and Perro Sultan the floppy-eared dog, the group entertained and informed school children.

The first game was played amid gray skies and windy conditions, but was well-played. The teams had agreed to use a MLB spring training type of format where a lot of pitchers were used and if nine innings ended in a tie, the game would be stopped.

"It was definitely a cool experience, playing a team from Mexico... I have never done that before in my life," said Blue Wahoos second baseman Cody Morissette following the first game. "Obviously, we have international talent here and we become friendly with them, but playing against these guys, being able to share dinner with them Monday, hearing some of their stories, it's definitely a cool experience."

On Wednesday morning, the Northwest Florida Fellowship of Christian Athletes, led by its long-time executive director Mike Killam, now in his 33rd year with the Pensacola chapter, treated the Sultanes players and staff to a breakfast and fellowship at First Baptist Church.

The church senior pastor Dave Snyder and his wife Brooke greeted the players. Brooke is bilingual and she was able to translate Killam's address to the team as well as other elements of the event that included a video of future Hall of Famer Albert Pujols and his life story and commitment to his faith.

After the second game on April 3, the teams exchanged jerseys and hugs and players remained on the field for several minutes to visit with each other before a post-game fireworks show occurred, which was sponsored by Nationwide Insurance, the presenting sponsor for the two-game exhibition series.

Following the fireworks, a Latino band entertained in front of Bubba's Sand Trap on the concourse and fans danced for nearly an hour before the party was concluded.

Following the second game on April 4, the Sultanes visited Pensacola Beach before departing on a flight back to their home city.

"I love Pensacola. I really love the city and love the people. The weather is amazing. ... Having a chance to play here, it's so amazing for us," Willie Gonzalez said. "It was such a brilliant idea when we called and spoke with Jonathan.

"We're a huge city (in Monterrey) but we're like Pensacola – everybody says hello and smiling faces everywhere. ... This is my fifth time here in Pensacola. I need to buy a house here. I heard there's some cheap ones very close to the beach," Gonzalez said with a laugh.

Sultanes manager Roberto Kelly, a Panama native who enjoyed an extended outfielder career in Major League Baseball for 13 years, looked at the trip as a way for his players to get taste of Major League level competition.

"For a lot of our players, they've never played pro ball. To be able to come over here and play in a facility like this – on a nice, beautiful, well-kept field – when they saw this, they were excited about it," Kelly said. "It's a good experience for us."

The Blue Wahoos partnered with Grace Resendez McCafferty, publisher of Pensacola's Latino newspaper, Periodico La Costa Latina, which is now in its 19th year of distribution to Pensacola's growing Latino community. She helped set up entertainment in tune to the culture of Monterrey.

One of the Sultanes players on their current roster is pitcher Keury Mella, who pitched in parts of two seasons for the Blue Wahoos while he was a Cincinnati Reds prospect. Mella was the winning pitcher for the Blue Wahoos in their final regular-season game of 2017.

The Blue Wahoos made the three-day visit from the Sultanes a special experience for fans to learn and embrace something so different from any previous start to a season.

"I have never done anything like this before," said Blue Wahoos manager Randel. "As a player with the Marlins organization, we played the big-league team in an exhibition game in Greensboro (North Carolina) before a season once, then we had the Marlins play against the Greensboro team I managed in another year. But never a game anything like this."

"It was a good way to start the season."

BLUE WAHOOS

When the United States Navy's Blue Angel pilots overflew Blue Wahoos Stadium on April 7th, 2024, it was a familiar sight for most in attendance. The acrobatic maneuvers and low-flying presence of Pensacola's famed airmen are a welcome sight at the stadium, but some players in the Blue Wahoos' dugout knew they'd soon have a chance to appreciate the Blue Angels up close.

On Tuesday, April 15th, a large group of Blue Wahoo players and coaches visited Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola, home to the Blue Angels and the National Naval Aviation Museum. The visit continues a partnership tradition that began several years ago between the Wahoos and NAS.

"I visited last year [in 2023], and I wanted to make sure I woke up just to do it again," said infielder Cody Morissette. "I really appreciate and want to support all those people who fight for our country, so I always make sure I give the time to go and support those causes."

The Wahoos' visits at NAS have included a practice demonstration of the Blue Angels' capabilities and a tour of the National Naval Aviation Museum, which houses some rich Pensacola baseball history. Hall-of-Fame outfielder Ted Williams was part of an all-star team that played at Pensacola's Bronson Field from 1942-45 during World War II. Williams later returned to NAS Pensacola for a separate tour of duty during the Korean War.

"Baseball and the navy base have always gone hand-in-hand here in Pensacola," Morissette said. "It was a lot of fun seeing the history and seeing them [the Blue Angels] do their thing."

For some new Blue Wahoo players, it was their first time taking in the dual-pronged history of NAS Pensacola and the museum. 2024 marks infielder Sean Roby's first year with the Wahoos, and the California native came away impressed from the trip.

"It was beautiful," Roby said. "It was definitely a good experience seeing everything and seeing their [routine] in practice."

The Wahoos have been visiting NAS Pensacola annually since 2022, when only a few players attended a first visit early on in the season. Current Blue Wahoos front office member and former infielder Cobie Fletcher-Vance attended early that year with two other players.

"It was a really fun thing because it was such a small group," Fletcher-Vance said. "The next time we went was a much larger group, it was exciting...I had always heard of the Blue Angels, and being able to go see them practice was really cool."

& BLUE ANGELS

The visit and building a relationship with NAS Pensacola was important to Fletcher-Vance after an upbringing with active military parents molded an appreciation for servicemen and women.

"[The army] is where my parents met, and I moved around a little bit as a kid," Fletcher-Vance said. "Moving around, I learned little bits about every military town and why I was there...coming here, it felt like I was home."

From former to current and new Blue Wahoos, the visit to NAS Pensacola continues to rank as a favorite for the lasting memories it creates. The partnership is the latest chapter in a wide-ranging effort by the Blue Wahoos to acknowledge and appreciate the city's military history.

The team continues to host Salute To Service nights at the stadium and currently offers ticket packages to active duty military members during weekend games.

AFTER THE BALL GAME.

WHATABURGER PROUDLY SUPPORTS THE PENSACOLA BLUE WAHOOS

BLUE WAHOOS STADIUM

Entering its 13th season, Blue Wahoos Stadium is widely considered one of the premier facilities in Minor League Baseball. Recently named the Best Ballpark in Double-A by Ballpark Digest, the stadium has established itself as one of the best places to enjoy a Minor League Baseball game in the country. A three-time recipient of the Southern League Ballpark of the Year, Blue Wahoos Stadium welcomed over two million fans in its first eight seasons, finishing first or second in the league in attendance five times.

With a capacity of 5,038 fans, Blue Wahoos Stadium is the smallest in the Southern League, allowing fans to get closer to the action than any other park in the league. Nestled alongside the water in Pensacola's Community Maritime Park, the field provides unbeatable views of the Pensacola Bay. The playing surface at Blue Wahoos Stadium was officially named Admiral Fetterman Field in 2015 in honor of the late Admiral Jack Fetterman, who was instrumental in the creation of Community Maritime Park for the Pensacola community.

Blue Wahoos Stadium and the surrounding Maritime Community Park were built to be used by the local community throughout the year, not just for Wahoos baseball games. More than 200 events are held at the ballpark throughout the year, making it truly a stadium for the entire community to enjoy.

TOP DOG

Did you spot an affable puppy in a yellow vest at today's game? It was likely Pensacola's newest Canine Companions Service future service dog that is training at Blue Wahoos Stadium!

Following a successful 18 months of training with team pup Watson in 2021 and 2022, Blue Wahoos Stadium has again been chosen as a training ground for a future service dog! The new Canine Companions puppy arrived in March 2023 and its name, Bubba, was chosen by Blue Wahoos fans.

Just like how Blue Wahoos Stadium serves as an important place for baseball players to develop for their future careers, it's also a great place to train a service animal! Service dogs need to be prepared for all sorts of environments, including places with large crowds, loud noises, lights, and lots of stimuli. A Blue Wahoos game offers all of that and more as the puppy prepares to become a helpful companion for a child, adult, or military veteran with disabilities.

Founded in 1975, Canine Companions has helped train and provide service dogs for people with physical disabilities for over 45 years. Currently, nearly 1,000 dogs are being trained nationwide just like Bubba through Canine Companions. Learn more about their organization and become an advocate at Canine.org!

The Blue Wahoos are five-time winners of the Southern League's Community Service Award and continue to build on their community programs in 2024! Check out some of the ways the team works to improve the quality of life for all in Pensacola below.

Reading Program

Literacy is one of the most important skills for students to develop to succeed academically, and Kazoo has made it one of his primary focuses each year! Annually, Kazoo visits over 30,000 local students at dozens of schools to encourage kids to get reading!

Charitable Donations

The Pensacola Blue Wahoos are proud to support local organizations that help improve the quality of life in our community. In 2023, over $1 million was donated locally by the Studer Family of Companies through monetary and in-kind donations and giving by team ownership!

NPO Fundraising

In addition to their standard in-stadium fundraising, the Blue Wahoos offer local non-profits opportunities to raise money for their cause through volunteering in concessions at Blue Wahoos Stadium. If your group is interested in raising money at the ballpark, contact EKroll@BlueWahoos.com.

Stadium Events

Blue Wahoos Stadium was built for the community and serves as one of the nation's busiest ballparks, hosting over 200 events throughout the calendar year including youth sports, festivals, concerts, movie nights, reunions, fundraisers, and more!

Brain Bags

You can make a difference in the community simply by attending a game! By donating $1 when prompted while purchasing your ticket, you can help support the Studer Community Institute's Brain Bag program, which provides over 5,000 new mothers in Escambia County with resources to help with early brain development.

Honoring Admiral Fetterman

On September 23, 2015, the field at Blue Wahoos Stadium was officially renamed Admiral Jack Fetterman Field. It honors the memory of Fetterman, a three-star Vice Admiral in the U.S. Navy who retired in Pensacola and became a prominent civic leader, dedicating himself, alongside his wife Nancy, to preserving Pensacola's history.

A strong advocate for the construction of Maritime Community Park and Blue Wahoos Stadium, Fetterman passed away on March 24, 2006 at the age of 74 and was never able to see his vision of a waterfront stadium become reality. Although he never watched the Wahoos play at the ballpark, his memory is honored at each game played on the field bearing his name.

As you enjoy today's game at Blue Wahoos Stadium, please take a moment in your own way to thank Admiral Fetterman for his contributions to the city of Pensacola and the United States military.

A Pennsylvania native, Fetterman graduated from college in 1954 and enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He made his first trip to Pensacola soon after to attend the Aviation Officer Candidate School at Naval Air Station Pensacola.

He rose in rank and was appointed Rear Admiral and then Vice Admiral, assuming command duties of the U.S. Naval Air Force Pacific Fleet in San Diego, a capacity he served in until 1990.

In 1991, Fetterman returned to Pensacola where his Naval career began and assumed duties as Chief of Naval Education and Training before retiring from active duty in 1993. During his illustrious Naval career, he formulated and produced the Core Values Training program, earning him the title of "Father of Navy Ethics."

He then became president and CEO of the National Naval Aviation Museum at NAS-Pensacola. Under his leadership, the museum grew in capacity and scope, making the facility one of the largest air and space museums in the world.

In addition to his work at NAS-Pensacola and with other U.S. Navy roles, Fetterman served his community in roles that included being Chairman of the Pensacola Mayor Community Core Values Board. He was also Chairman of the Pensacola Chamber of Commerce.

The Blue Wahoos are proud to honor Fetterman's service to our nation, along with his legacy and efforts to make Pensacola the greatest place to live on earth.

How Are We Doing?

Our goal is to provide our fans with the best experience in professional sports at every single Blue Wahoos home game. That's why we work so hard to make sure our staff is friendly and helpful, our food is hot and fresh, and our in-game entertainment is, well, entertaining.

We can't be successful at making your gameday experience the best without your input.

To find out what you liked and what you didn't like at today's game, we might ask you a few questions either during the game, on your way out of the stadium, or by email in the next few days. Your input is incredibly valuable and will help guide how we make tomorrow's game even better.

Every morning after a home game, our staff sits down and reviews the fan comments, feedback, and surveys we received the day before. We use that information to make adjustments constantly, correcting and improving things you want to see changed and rewarding and recognizing employees highlighted by fans for great service.

For instance, fans in our outfield party decks told us they couldn't see the main scoreboard located directly above them. So, we had an additional scoreboard installed behind home plate to ensure the fans sitting in the outfield would have a great experience.

Your feedback makes changes like this and many others possible.

If we approach you at today's game or send you an email afterwards, know that we greatly appreciate the time and thought you put into giving us feedback and your recommendations will be listened to by our staff.

Without happy fans, we're just a baseball team, so please let us know what we can do to make your trip to Blue Wahoos Stadium a great one!

COBIE FLETCHER-VANCE'S NEXT CHAPTER

By Bill Vilona

The National Anthem has just been played and Cobie Fletcher-Vance is ready as the game's first pitch awaits.

Eyes moving, his mind focused. Ready for a split-second movement anywhere he's needed.

Except now, a role has flipped. The team has the same name, but the teammates are not in the Blue Wahoos dugout, but rather across all points at Blue Wahoos Stadium.

Since April 1, Fletcher-Vance has been a member of the Blue Wahoos front office. He wears the same polo shirts and long pants attire as others do on the staff.

But it's so different. And eye-opening. And enlightening as he transitions from player to staffer, helping the Blue Wahoos stay successful on the business side of the scoreboard.

"One big thing that has stood out to me is how the show is run on this side of things," said Fletcher-Vance who played in 147 games for the Blue Wahoos across two seasons in 2022-23. "I have to admit, I never had the appreciation of what everyone does and how hard everyone had to work.

"From Jonathan (Griffith) as the team president to the great interns and trainees that we have here ... just how hard everyone actually had to work. Obviously, I knew [front office roles] came with a lot of hard work, but to see it from this side has really been very intriguing.

"I have a different appreciation for how the game is played now. I see the lights on, you see the players, you see all the people in the stands, but how did they get here?"

And that is now Fletcher-Vance's main objective. To be a power hitter on the business side.

After making a difficult decision following the Blue Wahoos 2023 season to retire from baseball, a sport he had played since childhood, Fletcher-Vance is now pursuing a career in baseball operations.

He met with Blue Wahoos owner Quint Studer, who embraced the idea of Fletcher-Vance working this season in the front office, performing a wide variety of tasks and learning from each department.

"It's kind of like a residency type of role," said Fletcher-Vance, a Fayetteville, North Carolina native, who will turn 27 in August. "Mr. Studer and I went over it much like a medical doctor would do, being a doctor in residency at a hospital. Except this being the front office of a baseball team."

It is a similar role that former Blue Wahoos star Travis "Moose" Mattair held with the Blue Wahoos years ago after he retired from the game as a player.

Mattair took knowledge and insight from that year with the Blue Wahoos front office and soon became a baseball instructor and then Gulf Breeze High baseball coach. He is now a successful realtor in the area.

"The goal is to learn how each area works and what I like to do best, then what will be the best place [in baseball operations] for me," Fletcher-Vance said. "I feel really comfortable that I will make some sort of impact with fan experience and the front office."

On May 3, he received his degree from the University of Alabama and participated in commencement ceremonies at the Coleman Coliseum.

He was the first generation in his family to receive a college degree. His father, Phillip, a former collegiate player at Bethune-Cookman University, is a retired U.S. Army Sergeant Major. One of the largest U.S. Army bases is Fort Bragg, located in Fayetteville.

The road to graduation for Cobie took a temporary halt after he played three seasons for the Crimson Tide (2016-18) in a distinguished collegiate career. The versatile infielder started all 168 games in his three seasons for Alabama.

“(A college degree) means the world to me,” Fletcher-Vance said. “More than playing ball, more than any of that could have meant. This is amazing for me.”

In two seasons with the Blue Wahoos, Fletcher-Vance was a fan favorite. He was always willing to sign autographs. He engaged with fans near the dugout. He tossed baseballs into the crowd after recording a final out.

Whenever the Blue Wahoos needed someone to be the catcher for a ceremonial first pitch, he often filled that need. And he was active in all of the team's community service projects.

On the field, he produced one of the most famous moments in Blue Wahoos history. He hit a go-ahead grand slam in the deciding game of the 2022 Southern League Championship Series at Tennessee that propelled the Blue Wahoos to a title. That season in 2022, his 96 hits were tied with Troy Johnston for the most on the team.

His experience playing in Pensacola and connections he made in the community made it an easy decision to start the chapter of his life in the community he has loved.

“There's no better place in Minor League Baseball than Pensacola,” Fletcher-Vance said. “I told people that when I was a player. And I tell them that now. There is nothing like Pensacola with the Blue Wahoos fans and this environment, so to be able to transition now on this side has been incredible.

“I’ve been very blessed everyone has been so welcoming that it has made the transition so easy. I know this, people living here love the city of Pensacola. Obviously, the beach is great, the weather is great. Part of what we do on the field is what they appreciate the most. It’s a great place to be.”

In his first month on the job in April, Fletcher-Vance saw the parallel between players’ daily routine and the front office staff.

“Definitely the timing,” he said. “As a player, we get here, we have our own schedule and then around 5:50 or so is when the front office and the players match up.

“Players have to be on the line ready for the National Anthem. And when I was a player, I was like, dang, (the front office staff) have got us doing this, got us doing that. And now I realize, there are 15 things that are going on just to get us to (the first pitch).

“Seeing that has been eye opening. There’s a plan, just like there is for players.”

Fletcher-Vance is confident his plan will lead to the next level of his life.

Scott A. Remington, Esq.

Scott Remington of the Clark Partington law firm has had the good fortune of representing the Pensacola Blue Wahoos since Quint and Rishy Studer acquired the team. This representation included a successful negotiation of the ten-year agreement for use of Pensacola's Bayfront Stadium by the Wahoos as their home field and the addition of Bubba Watson as a minority owner.

In addition, Scott actively represents local and national businesses and individuals in transactions, serious injury matters, and complex litigation. Scott has been recognized by his peers as an "AV Preeminent" rated lawyer in the Martindale-Hubbell directory and was selected to Florida Trend Magazine's "Legal Elite" list and Florida "Super Lawyers."

Scott is committed to making the Pensacola community a better place for all residents. He was Chairman of the Escambia County Area Transit Citizens Advisory Board (2007-2008) and presently sits on the ECAT Mass Transit Advisory Committee. As the co-founder of the Political Action Committee, Escambia All For One, P.C., Scott was responsible for organizing a group of citizens who worked to consolidate local governments into a more cohesive and efficient structure.

Scott is on the Board of Directors for Autism Pensacola, Inc., a group dedicated to improving the lives of families living with autism in Northwest Florida and serves on the Board of Directors for Northwest Florida Professional Baseball, LLC, the parent company of the Blue Wahoos.

A graduate of the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee, Scott played football at Sewanee and was a member of the 1990 CAC Co-Championship Team earning a varsity letter playing nose guard. After Sewanee, Scott attended law school at Florida State University where he was an Associate Editor of the Law Review and a member of the Moot Court Team.

In his free time he enjoys reading, fishing, and tennis. Most weekends you can find Scott with his wife Amie and their three children (Virginia, Tom & Harry) participating in youth sports events or chasing their beloved Boykin Spaniel ("Molly") around Cordova Park.

BALLPARK RULES

We want every game at Blue Wahoos Stadium to be an enjoyable and memorable experience for every fan. To make that possible, the following rules are enforced.

- Foul/abusive language and/or rowdy behavior will not be tolerated and will be cause for ejection and/or arrest. Violators may also have their season tickets revoked. Notify the nearest guest services or safety/security representative immediately if actions of this type occur near you.
- The use of derogatory language, which is defined as offensive language concerning another person's race, ethnicity, gender, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation, or national origin is cause for immediate ejection from the stadium without a refund and could result in future ticket loss.
- By Major League Baseball rule, bags are not permitted in the stadium. Diaper bags, medical bags, and small purses are allowed.
- Entering the playing field without authorization or throwing objects onto the field is a violation of ballpark rules and may be hazardous. Offenders will be ejected and subject to arrest and prosecution.
- All tobacco and electronic cigarettes are prohibited in Blue Wahoos Stadium which includes the seating sections, concourses, and stairwells.
- Keep aisles clear at all times; emergency situations require that stairways be kept clear. Guests sitting or standing in the ballpark aisles jeopardize the safety of others.
- For your safety and the safety of those around you, please sit in your assigned seat to avoid inconveniencing other guests.
- Drunk and disorderly behavior as well as violation of any alcohol policy will result in ejections from the ballpark without a refund and could result in the loss of season tickets. Underage consumption and the excessive consumption of alcohol is strictly prohibited.
- Umbrellas are allowed in the stadium. Please be courteous of those around you when using an umbrella.
- The Blue Wahoos ask that no one solicit contributions or distribute literature on stadium property without written approval of the team.
- Flags and banners without poles are permitted. Flags must be event related and may not cover any ballpark signage. All flags or banners deemed inappropriate by stadium management are subject to removal.
- Gates will open 60 minutes (1 hour) prior to the start of the game for admission into the stadium. We strongly encourage guests to enter the stadium as early as possible to avoid delays.
- All guests entering the stadium are subject to search. Refusal may be grounds to prohibit admission.
- The following items are prohibited from entering the stadium: bottles, cans, coolers, containers, fireworks, flares, pets or animals of any kind (with the exception of service animals), weapons, water guns, toy/replica weapons, squirt bottles, soap bottles, balloons, brooms, skateboards, roller blades or skates.
- Handheld radios and televisions are allowed as long as guests listen with an earpiece or headphones. Guests should be considerate of their neighbors when using these devices.
- Outside food and beverages are not permitted inside the stadium. Concession stands are conveniently located on both sides of the concourse for your food and beverage needs.
- All fans must comply with requests from stadium staff regarding stadium policies and emergency response procedures. Be safe. Have fun!
