SALUKI WAY — ARENA RENOVATION

WORLD-RENOWNED SALUKI MASCOT

Several members of the Southern Illinois University athletic staff suggested a new nickname in 1951. The teams had been known as the Maroons since intercollegiate athletics began in 1913. The name became official on March 19, 1951, when the student body overwhelmingly approved "Salukis" as the new symbol of SIU athletics, easily besting "Rebels," "Knights," "Flyers," "Marauders," and "Maroons."

The tomb of King Tut lies in the northeast corner of McAndrew Stadium.

After Khalila died in 2005, Saluki fans throughout the area have volunteered their purebred dogs to serve as mascot.

The oldest purebred dogs in the world with records dating back to 3600 B.C., the Saluki is an ancient Egyptian hunting dog known for its speed and hunting prowess.

So why is the name Salukis relevant to Southern Illinois? Natives of southern Illinois know that the region is frequently referred to as "Egypt." Historian Baker Brownell, in his book "The Other Illinois," explained how the region came to be known as Egypt.

He wrote, "There was a drought in the northern counties (of Illinois) in the early 1800s...the wheat fields dried up, the streams died in their beds. But in southern Illinois, rain fell and there were good crops, and from the north came people seeking corn and wheat as to Egypt of old. Thus, the name, Egypt."

The 19th century drought in Illinois parallels the Biblical account of the country of Egypt.

"There was famine in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread. All the earth came to Egypt to Joseph to buy grain, because the famine was so severe. And (Jacob) said, 'Behold, I have heard that there is grain in Egypt; go down and buy grain for us there, that we may live, and not die.' So 10 of Joseph's brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt." (Genesis 41:54b, 57, 42:2-3).

In Egypt at that time, Salukis were accepted as the finest animal a family could possess. Adopting such a well-respected dog as its mascot fit perfectly for a school in a region known as "Egypt."

SALUKIS HAVE WORLD-CLASS STRENGTH PROGRAM

The guiding force behind the team's strength program is coach Jared Nessland. The primary objectives of the strength and conditioning program at Southern Illinois University are to reduce the incidence of injury and help our student-athletes achieve their full athletic potential. We will achieve these objectives by designing and implementing a long-term and comprehensive strength, speed, and conditioning program. Through the guidance of our staff, Saluki student-athletes will become better athletes and be prepared both physically and mentally for the rigors of collegiate athletics.

Chris Lowery Sees Program on Upswing

Although the Salukis had their string of six-straight NCAA appearances snapped, Chris Lowery saw some bright spots in the 2007-08 NIT season, including some lessons learned.

"Going to the second round of the NIT is a tremendous accomplishment for any team in the country," Lowery said. "We did some very good things last year. We beat several ranked teams. We were ranked ourselves. We had the most sell-outs in school history. All of that is far from a failure."

Lowery said there is a fine line every season between making the NCAA Tournament and missing it. SIU lost several games at the buzzer, and winning one or two of those could have sent the team dancing.

"Learning to deal with the adversity of not getting to the NCAA Tournament really helped us to respect our program more and take it less for granted," he said. "At any time, things can go either way."

The fact that an NIT season is disappointing is a testament to how far the program has come under Lowery.

"I think it is important for our kids to know where I want this program to go," Lowery said. "The Sweet Sixteen two years ago is not it. We have to really think that our program is on an upswing and continue to push upward."

The origins of the juggernaut that has become Saluki Basketball can be traced all the way back to the 1992-93 season. That team, which was led by a 20-year-old point guard named Chris Lowery, broke a 16-year NCAA Tournament drought in '93.

In doing so, it set into motion a chain of events that has evolved into one of the nation's best college basketball programs.

Lowery was the catalyst for the 1993 and 1994 teams that reached the NCAA Tournament. A scrappy, hustling player, he still ranks among the school's career leaders in scoring, assists and steals.

Lowery returned to his alma mater as an assistant coach under Bruce Weber in 2002. That team advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament, knocking off opponents such as Indiana, Texas Tech and Georgia. Saluki Basketball has been on a sweet ride ever since.

spent three seasons serving under Weber, he was named head coach at Southern Illinois in 2004.

In his first year at the helm of SIU, all Lowery did was win 27 games and become the youngest coach, at age 32, to ever win Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year honors. The Salukis won the MVC regular-season crown and beat Saint Mary's in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

The program has continued its steady ascent.

Lowery guided a team with no seniors to the 2006

"I have never seen the defensive intensity for an entire game, anywhere in the country, like the Salukis play. When other teams cross half court, they climb into your shorts and take you out of anything you want to do. That is coaching."

"Coach Lowery is a credit to the coaching profession. I have had the opportunity to watch him grow and mature into one of the best and most highly respected coaches in all of college basketball."

NCAA Tournament and a Missouri Valley Conference tournament championship.

In 2006-07, the Salukis had the greatest season in school history. They won a school-record 29 games, advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament and finished the year with a No. 11 ranking — the highest ever at SIU.

More than any season in school history, the 2006-07 season established an identity for Saluki Basketball. Commentators from across the country marveled at the tenacity with which the Salukis played defense.

“They play as good a defense, if not better defense, than just about anybody in the country,” said analyst Jerry Tarkanian. “(Lowery’s) defense was so similar to what we were playing at UNLV, that I really fell in love with it. His team just plays so hard and sound. I like his philosophies — he believes in good, solid defense, starting with fundamentals and with intensity and playing hard.”

Southern Illinois ranked third in the nation in points allowed per game with 56.2.

“Chris Lowery is clearly one of the best young coaches in the country. If Matt Shaw is healthy last season, there’s a good chance that the Salukis knock off Kansas. So many coaches try to get their players to buy into playing defense, but Lowery is one of the few that is successful. If you are talking about the elite up-and-coming coaches in the nation, Lowery’s got to be right at the top of the list.”

“I’ve said for years that no school plays better fundamental, man-to-man defense than Southern Illinois,” according to CBS analyst Seth Davis.

“Lowery is very charismatic, very intense, and he’s a great motivator. He is a product of a winning culture, and it’s one of the best examples at the mid-major level of a school having a culture that allows you to win consistently.”

Lowery said the key to Southern’s defense is how it dictates what an opponent can and cannot do.

“I think our ability to take things away from people sets us apart,” explained Lowery. “We play hard on defense.

That’s probably the only thing that is going to stick out, is our ability to guard and how tough our kids are. We defend, we’re tough, and we are in great shape.”

Lowery, who was the youngest head coach in the NCAA Tournament in 2005, 2006 and 2007, has big plans for Saluki Basketball.

“My goal is to push the program each year, play a tough schedule, and recruit at a high level,” he said. “If you can do that, you can maintain some level of consistency. And that’s what we’ve got to do to keep our program on top and see how far this program can go.”

“Southern Illinois hit a home run when it convinced Chris Lowery to stay and continue to build one of the premier programs in the country instead of searching for some potentially propped-up higher major conference job that wouldn’t offer the same results. SIU is in good hands with one of the top defensive coaches in the country and genuinely a real person who doesn’t coach or act with any pretense.”

implemented an entire program at Illinois, and I watched more than I spoke," he said. "I know we have to work hard to continue at this pace of success."

"Chris was instrumental in much of the success we have had at each school," said Weber. "He's a terrific young coach."

Lowery is also by playing quality opponents whenever possible. He dismisses all the accolades that come his team's way by simply saying, "this is where we expect the program to be." And he's not a bit concerned about the pressure of high expectations, noting, "Our kids are tough. That's what makes our program so special."

Lowery, Saluki basketball and winning have been intertwined since he first set foot on the campus as a player in 1990.

In his 10 seasons as a Saluki player, assistant coach and now head coach, ALL of his teams have advanced to postseason play. His four-year record as head coach is a remarkable 96-41.

It all started 18 years ago when Lowery, as the team's starting point guard, began a stellar playing career that featured two NCAA Tournament berths and two NITs from 1990-94.

A product of Evansville, Ind., Lowery scored 1,225 career points and dished out 391 assists at SIU. The Salukis recorded an 86-37 record during his four years.

On April 9, 2004, he fulfilled a dream. Lowery returned to his alma mater and was introduced as the 12th men's basketball head coach at Southern Illinois University in the 91-year history of the program.

Prior to landing the head coaching job, Lowery spent three seasons on Bruce Weber's staff at both Southern Illinois and Illinois. Lowery said working for Weber helped prepare him for the opportunity to be a head coach at a young age.

"I saw how Coach Weber

regarded as one of the top young recruiters in college basketball and has consistently landed some of the region’s top players. The 2007-08 recruiting class is widely regarded as the best in school history.

“(He) has the innate ability to light up a room with his smile and demeanor,” ESPN analyst Doug Gottlieb said. “No wonder so many great kids want to play for him.”

Lowery’s recruiting philosophy is simple.

“Recruit the areas you’re strong in,” he said. “And the areas you’re not strong in, get to know the people better and work with them. Don’t waste time recruiting people that don’t want to come, you’re not going to get, or that aren’t good enough. I think we’ve done a good job of those three things.”

Lowery began his coaching career as an assistant coach at Rend Lake Community College in Ina, Ill. for two seasons.

He then coached at Missouri Southern State College for three years, helping the Lions to a 30-3 record and an NCAA Division II Final Four appearance in 2000.

Prior to his coaching tenure at Southern Illinois, Lowery spent one season as an assistant at Southeast Missouri State under Gary Garner. The Redhawks finished 18-12 that season.

Lowery is the third-youngest head coach in school history, behind former Saluki coach and NBA Hall-of-Famer Harry Gallatin, who was 31-years-old when he was named head coach in 1958, and William McAndrew, the founder of Saluki basketball, who was 26 when he took the reigns of SIU’s first squad in 1913.

Lowery was born on July 7, 1972 in Evansville, Ind. and attended Harrison High School. He graduated from Southern Illinois in 1995 with a bachelor’s degree in physical education. He and his wife, Erika, have four children: Lexis (14), C.J. (8), Kahari (7) and Jazmyn (4).

Rodney Watson is the dean of Missouri Valley Conference assistant coaches — beginning his 21st season on the Southern Illinois staff.

His energetic work behind the scenes has been essential to SIU’s rise to national prominence. Whether he’s on the road recruiting top prospects, preparing the scouting report and game plan for an upcoming opponent, or simply representing the program at a university function, Watson epitomizes the best of Saluki Basketball.

“Coach Watson is invaluable to our program,” said head coach Chris Lowery. “He’s a person I lean on when tough decisions need to be made and how to handle certain situations. You need to have somebody to bounce ideas off of to have a successful program.”

Watson has been the one constant as SIU has transitioned from head coach Bruce Weber to Matt Painter to Chris Lowery. During Watson’s tenure, the Salukis have won 11 Missouri Valley Conference championships and qualified for nine NCAA Tournaments and five NITs. The Salukis have compiled a 417-220 record during Watson’s 20 seasons, including 15 postseason appearances.

A native of Paris, Ill., Watson began his coaching career at Coulterville High School, where he guided the school to its first regional championship. He moved to Madison, Ill. in 1984, and led that school to a regional and sectional championship, advancing all the way to the high school Elite Eight.

Watson used his success at the high school level as a springboard to the college ranks. He coached two years at Nebraska-Omaha (1986-88) before joining Rich Herrin’s staff at SIU in 1988.

Watson, 48, and his wife, Carol, have four children, Ashley (17), Zach (16) and twins Olivia and Blake (12).

Position: Assistant Coach
Experience: 16th year
At SIU: 1st year
Alma Mater: Idaho, 1992

“Lance brings tremendous recruiting ties. He’s been at a lot of different places — a lot of high-end places. He knows a lot of people, and his ability to go into different circles and different areas of the country is a tremendous asset to our program. He’s out there sharing the Saluki message, and people know him on a first-name basis.”

The Irvin Family: Paula, Brooklyn and Lance

Lance Irvin has worked with many big names and high-profile programs in college basketball — Joey Meyer (DePaul, 1992-97), Larry Farmer (Loyola-Chicago, 1998-01), Larry Eustachy (Iowa State, 2001-02), Tom Richardson (Illinois State, 2002-03), Melvin Watkins (Texas A&M, 2003-04), Quin Snyder (Missouri, 2005-06) and Matt Doherty (SMU, 2006-08).

Lowery said he was looking for an assistant with proven recruiting skills. At Iowa State, Irvin helped Eustachy and the Cyclones land a top-five rated recruiting class.

“He’s recruited nationally in a lot of different circles, and he has a good grasp of the Chicago scene, which is obviously very important for us,” Lowery said.

SIU recently signed two players — Kevin Dillard and Ryan Hare — from the Chicago area, and the city is loaded with up-and-coming talent, according to Lowery.

Irvin said he doesn’t want to be known as just a recruiter, though.

“I’ve work hard not to be labeled as a guy who just recruits,” he said. “I can coach, too. I bring a little bit of everything to the table. I think I relate well to players. I try to be well-rounded.”

Irvin started his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Idaho in 1991-92. Along the way, he has helped several players reach the NBA, including Jackson Vroman (Iowa State), Paul McPherson (DePaul), and Antoine Wright and Acie Law (Texas A&M).

As a player, Irvin was an all-city, all-area and all-state selection and an honorable mention All-American as a senior at Chicago’s Julian High School in 1987. Irvin played basketball at Colorado State before transferring to Idaho, where he played for Eustachy. Irvin received his bachelor’s degree in criminal justice from Idaho in 1992.

He comes from a basketball family. His brother, Byron, played college basketball at Missouri, after which he was selected in the 1989 NBA Draft with the 23rd pick by the Portland Trail Blazers. His father runs one of the premier AAU teams in Illinois — the Mac Irvin Fire.

Brad and Kristin Korn

Whether as a player or assistant coach, Brad Korn has contributed as much to the bottom line of Saluki Basketball as anyone.

During his career as a player, the Salukis made three-straight NCAA Tournament appearances and won three MVC championships. Now as an assistant coach, he has three more tourney appearances and championship rings to his credit.

In addition to recruiting, breaking down film and preparing scouting reports, Korn handles a variety of administrative matters and oversees the off-season conditioning program.

"Brad has taken the next step as far as recruiting and day-to-day coaching," Lowery said. "He's made tremendous strides from a GA to a full-time assistant. Now, he's put himself into a position where he'll be a hot commodity down the road."

Success is a good word to define Korn's four-year career at SIU from 1999-2004. At the time he graduated, Korn had the distinction of having been involved in more wins in his career at Southern than any other player in school history (92).

The 6-foot-9, Plano (Ill.) native was often like having a coach on the floor. He was a prolific 3-point shooter, finishing his career with 78 3-pointers.

In 2004, he started for the first time and was named to the MVC's Most Improved team. He improved his scoring average from 3.8 ppg to 9.7 ppg and ranked among the team leaders in free throw shooting. Korn posted a career-high 17 points versus Bradley, Jacksonville State and Wright State in 2003-04.

Aundrey Wright begins his second year on the staff as the team's director of basketball operations. Wright is a 1997 SIU grad, who has worked his way up the coaching ladder during the past decade.

He began his career as an assistant coach at Carbondale High School (1994-97) and has since served as an assistant at St. Louis Community College-Meramec (1997-2000), Erskine College (2000-01), California University of PA (2001-02), Georgia College & State University (2002-03) and most recently at Missouri Southern State (2003-07).

Wright has handled all facets of a program, including game and practice coaching, recruiting, scouting, community relations, pre-season conditioning, summer camps, scheduling and marketing.

"He's done all the little things," Lowery said. "You have to respect that. He's had chances to go other places, but he wants to stay here and focus on why we're successful and really understand our philosophy."

At SIU, Wright is primarily in charge of handling travel arrangements and overseeing the business aspects of the program.

Wright earned a bachelor's degree in health education from SIU in 1997 and a master's of education from University of Missouri-St. Louis in 2000. He and his wife, Tamra, have an infant son, Austin.

The Secretary of Defense has entered the coaching ranks. Former Saluki star guard Tony Young was admired and respected for his defensive prowess during a stellar career at SIU from 2002-07. Now, he enters his first year on the staff as a graduate assistant.

Young was a three-time member of the Missouri Valley Conference’s all-defense team (2005-07) and ranks fifth in career steals at Southern with 171. More than a defensive specialist, Young scored 1,069 points and distributed 204 assists in his career. He shot 41.5 percent from 3-point range during the 2005-06 season and earned first-team all-conference honors that year. The Salukis made the NCAA Tournament all five seasons that Young played.

“Tony brings that same level of toughness he had as a player and that same commitment to winning to our coaching staff,” Lowery said. “He’s also close to the players in terms of age and his experience in our program, so he can relate to what they are going through.”

Chancellor Samuel Goldman

Southern Illinois University President Glenn Poshard named retired professor and long-time Carbondale community leader Samuel Goldman the school's interim chancellor on April 11, 2008.

"My biggest focus is to bring the university campus together to meet the challenges we have," Goldman said upon taking over as chancellor. "We have such an enormous wealth of talent here. We need to remember our main source of strength is in the university."

Goldman is a native of Winnipeg, Canada. He earned his bachelor's degree in English and sociology at the University of Manitoba, and then moved to the United States in the mid-1950s to attend the University of Chicago.

He earned both his master's degree and doctoral degree in social sciences with a major in education from the University of Chicago.

He became an American citizen in January 1978. In 1980, Goldman left Ohio University to become dean of the former College of Human Resources at SIU Carbondale.

He subsequently joined former President Albert Somit's staff, focusing on regional research and service. Goldman then served as a professor in the Department of Educational Administration and Higher Education in the College of Education and Human Services.

In addition to his research, administrative and classroom work, Goldman served on the Faculty Senate's Judicial Review Board. Goldman was a member of the committee that drafted SIUC's strategic plan, Southern at 150: Building Excellence Through Commitment. Goldman retired in 2003 and remains very active in the southern Illinois community.

He has worked separately with Hospice of Southern Illinois and with Southern Illinois Regional Social Services in both fund raising and marketing.

Upon completion of his three-year term as Chair of the Carbondale Human Relations Commission (2003-2006), he was appointed to the Carbondale Convention and Tourism Bureau and currently serves as Board Chairman.

He is a certified clergy volunteer at the Illinois Youth Center in Murphysboro, Memorial Hospital of Carbondale, the Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Marion, St. Joseph's Hospital in Murphysboro and Herrin Hospital.

He has won numerous honors for his contributions in education and in community service, including: Kentucky Colonel award from the governor of Kentucky for service to public education in that state; Honorary Tar Heel, from the governor of North Carolina in recognition of his service to public education in that state; special citation from the Ohio Legislature for "an extensive record of community services especially in the areas of community health and public education"; 2000 Citizen of the Year from the Southern Illinois District of the National Association of Social Workers; and the 2001 Essence Award from the Center for Comprehensive Services in Carbondale.

He has two grown sons, Joseph, who is Assistant Director of Golf Operations at a resort in Hawaii, and Peter, who is a sculptor and attends Northeastern Illinois University in Chicago.

Director of Athletics Mario Moccia

Two years into his tenure as director of athletics at Southern Illinois University, Mario Moccia has charted a course that will enable the Salukis to play in state-of-the-art facilities and allow SIU to compete financially with the best of its peers.

As Moccia's vision becomes reality, the Salukis will be poised for even greater competitive success.

Moccia (pronounced Mo-chuh) is presently leading the Saluki Way campaign, an $83 million facilities project that will break ground in early 2009 and feature a new football stadium and arena renovation.

When Moccia took the helm at SIU, the annual scholarship fund had peaked at slightly more than $600,000. Two years later, the fund is up nearly 70 percent to more than $1 million.

Ticket sales have also made dramatic gains during Moccia's tenure, with sharp increases in revenue in both football and men's basketball.

In the past year, the athletics department has also reached lucrative agreements with both Learfield Sports and Under Armour.

The financial boon has allowed Moccia to hire and retain top coaches.

For example, he was able to entice one of the nation's winningest Division II coaches — Dale Lennon — to become SIU's new football head coach. Moccia also had the resources to ink two-time men's basketball coach-of-the-year Chris Lowery to a seven-year, $5.25 million contract.

During Moccia's tenure the football program has risen to elite status. Not only did the Salukis reach the Final Four of the FCS Playoffs last year for the first time since 1983, but the program pulled off shocking upsets of FBS schools Indiana and Northern Illinois.

Under Moccia's watch, the men's basketball program advanced to the Sweet 16 in 2007 and finished No. 11 in the nation — the highest ranking in school history.

The Salukis have also won conference championships in women's golf, women's basketball, men's cross country and women's swimming & diving in the last two years.

In addition, Brittany Riley became the first two-time National Champion in conference history by claiming two weight throw titles in track & field.

Equally impressive are the marks Saluki student-athletes have posted in the classroom. The cumulative GPA of all student-athletes stands at a school-best 3.06.

Prior to SIU, Moccia was the senior associate AD for external operations at the University of Missouri, where he oversaw the largest fund raising effort in the history of Mizzou Athletics with the Champions For Life campaign. The external components of the athletics department at Missouri were routinely recognized as among the best in college athletics. During his tenure (1998-2006), Missouri posted record football season ticket sales and an increase of more than $3 million in annual giving over a five-year period.

Prior to Missouri, Moccia was associate athletics director at Texas State University in San Marcos from 1997 to 1998, and he was director of sales and assistant director of the Lobo Club for the athletic department at the University of New Mexico from 1993 to 1997.

Moccia holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from

New Mexico State University (1989), where he was the Most Valuable Player of the Aggie baseball team in 1988 and 1989. As a senior, he was a pre-season All-American. Moccia was drafted by the Detroit Tigers and played professionally for two years before beginning his sports administration career.

Moccia earned a master's degree in sports administration from the University of New Mexico (1993). In 1998, he was named to the New Mexico State University Athletics Hall of Fame. Moccia is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and serves on several regional and national committees.

Mario and his wife, Heidi — a former All-American women's soccer player at UMass — reside in Murphysboro with their daughter, Addie.

Newcomers usher in new era at SIU

With eight newcomers on the roster, a brand-new era of Saluki Basketball will begin in 2008-09. Head coach Chris Lowery has been stockpiling young talent for the last two years, and this collection of players could be the most gifted in school history. How quickly Lowery can mold them into a cohesive unit will determine how much success the Salukis enjoy this season.

The incoming class includes the 2008 Illinois Mr. Basketball (Kevin Dillard), the St. Louis-area player-of-the-year (Torres Roundtree), a top-100 big man (Anthony Booker) and the best player on USA Today's No. 14-ranked team (Ryan Hare). Add in a prop 48 star guard (Justin Bocot) and a 6-foot-11 redshirt freshman (Nick Evans), and you have a remarkable infusion of young talent.

Lowery said SIU's string of six straight NCAA Tournament appearances from 2002-07 was key to bringing in this class.

"I think what allowed us to get this class is the success of the program over the course of several years," Lowery said. "It was not one year. You get good players because you win consistently, not because you do it once. You have to continuously show parents that, 'Hey, we're doing some-

The academic side is also an important factor in recruiting, and Lowery points out that every Saluki senior since 2000 has graduated or is on track to graduate. The program has produced back-to-back Academic All-Americans in Bryan Mullins and Jamaal Tatum.

"With the ability to have Academic All-Americans and still win at a high rate, I think that shows parents and it shows kids that we are committed to making them better people," he said.

Success on the court speaks for itself. Southern Illinois has won 173 games since 2001, which ranks 10th-best in the nation in Division I. The program has made seven-straight post-season appearances, including six-straight NCAA Tournaments from 2002-07. The 2002 and 2007 teams landed in the Sweet 16.

Although the Salukis are short on experience this year, they do have one decorated veteran in senior point guard Bryan Mullins, the reigning Missouri Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Year. Mullins is more than a defensive specialist, though. He's the heart and soul of the team.

"You get good players because you win consistently, not because you do it once. You have to continuously show parents that, 'Hey, we're doing something right here.'"

— Chris Lowery

Barring injury, Mullins should have little trouble becoming the school's career leader in both assists and steals this year. He's also a much-improved offensive player, upping his scoring average to 10.7 ppg last year, while shooting 41 percent from 3-point range.

"Bryan has played in some of the biggest games in Saluki history," Lowery said. "He's a terrific leader, and this is clearly his team."

Who will join Mullins in the starting lineup in SIU's three-guard attack is an open question. Senior Wesley Clemmons made 25 starts last year, but averaged 6.0 ppg and appears more comfortable coming off the bench.

The Salukis made a late-August trip to Canada to play three games, where the coaches discovered they have some exciting options to choose from in the guard rotation.

Freshman Kevin Dillard is an ultra-quick point guard, who led SIU in scoring in Canada by averaging 17.5 ppg.

Sophomore Justin Bocot sat out last year to focus on academics, yet he looked anything but rusty in Canada and is a strong candidate to seize a starting berth.

Although freshman Ryan Hare didn't sign until last spring, he may be the steal of the recruiting class. The 6-foot-4 guard has a deadly combination of inside/outside scoring ability.

Freshman Torres Roundtree is a big guard with explosive scoring ability. He had off-season shoulder surgery but was given a clean bill of health in September.

JUCO transfer Brandon Allen rounds out the guard corps. He's a superb athlete, who was slowed by injury last season at Shawnee Community College.

Senior guard Tony Free- man will spend the season helping Mullins mentor the young guards. After leading Iowa in scoring last year, Freeman transferred to SIU and will have to sit out the 2008-09 campaign.

In the front court, SIU has a veteran big man in 6-foot-8 forward Tony Boyle. The fifth-year senior has been an integral part of the rotation, though he has just 10 career starts under his belt and averaged 4.6 ppg a year ago.

"Tony has waited patiently for his opportunity," Lowery said. "He's been a mainstay off the bench for three years, and now it's his chance to put his mark on this team."

Sophomore Carlton Fay also labored behind star forwards Randal Falker and Matt Shaw last year. This could be a breakout year for the 6-foot-8 former Illinois player-of-the-year. He averaged 12.7 ppg in Canada and showed a sharp eye from 3-point range.

It seems like the Salukis have been waiting years for forward Christian Cornelius to contribute. Fact is, they have. Multiple knee surgeries put the breaks on Cornelius' career, but he is finally back to playing strength. He logged significant minutes in Canada, where he averaged 7.7 ppg.

The Salukis think they found a diamond in the rough in 6-foot-11 center Nick Evans. The redshirt freshman was home-schooled and played only two seasons of competitive basketball in high school. He has impressed with his athletic ability and work ethic.

Lowery said he's most excited about the competitiveness the team displayed on its trip to Canada.

"When you are competitive and every possession means something to you, then you know that your kids are focused on winning at all times," Lowery said. •

Dawg Bites

Received scant recruiting attention until the summer after his senior year of high school when he dominated AAU competition for the Illinois Wolves...Saluki staff picked up on him after former coach Bruce Weber noticed his impressive play during open gym in New Hampshire and called Chris Lowery...An excellent student, who carries a 3.1 GPA and is majoring in finance...Son of Paul and Donna Cornelius...Father works for United Airlines, while mother is retired from United...Born February 7, 1986 in Chicago.

"Christian has been a guy we've been waiting and waiting for, and now we are starting to see some of the things that we wanted to see two years ago. He's had his share of misfortune with injuries. Now, it's his turn and it's his opportunity. I think he showed flashes late last year. He's definitely in the rotation, and now he's got to make the most of it." — Lowery

1966-67 NIT Champions

It was March of 1967. Lyndon Baines Johnson was still President of the United States.

The Vietnam War was taking place overseas. A few months earlier, the Green Bay Packers rolled over Kansas City in the first Super Bowl. The Beatles' renowned "Sgt. Pepper's" album was still two months away from its release date. Meanwhile, people in the small town of Carbondale, Ill., were engulfed in Saluki fever.

The Southern Illinois University men's basketball team defeated Marquette, 71-56, in the National Invitation Tournament championship game on March 18 of that year. It was not considered an upset either, as most college basketball pundits picked the Salukis to take the title.

Walt "Clyde" Frazier and Dick Garrett led SIU into New York City's Madison Square Garden with a record of 20-2. The NCAA Tournament consisted of only 16 teams at the time, and the NIT was much more prestigious than it is today. SIU was considered a small college (based on how many major schools it had played) at the time, so it could not participate in the NCAA postseason event. The Salukis were coached by Jack Hartman.

The school turned down a bid to the NCAA Small College Tournament. SIU had already defeated #2-ranked Louisville and defending NCAA champion Texas Western, and wanted no part of the small school postseason.

Garrett scored 28 points to lead SIU over St. Peter's, 103-58, in its opening NIT game. Frazier added 24 points and 14 rebounds for the Salukis (21-2).

The Salukis faced off against Duke in the quarterfinals of the NIT. The Blue Devils had dropped the championship game of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament just two days earlier. Southern knocked off Duke, 72-63, and Garrett led the club with 18 points. Frazier and Ralph Johnson added 17 points apiece for SIU, which outrebounded the Blue Devils 47-41.

Duke head coach Vic Bubas called the Salukis "a great team" and praised the play of Frazier and Garrett.

"The thing that impresses you about Southern Illinois is its fine team discipline," Bubas said in The Chicago Daily News.

The victory was Hartman's 100th as coach of SIU, and moved the team to 22-2. The Saluki coach played for the legendary Hank Iba, and talked about his team's discipline after the game.

"You demand it," Hartman said. "If you don't get it, you fire somebody."

In the NIT semifinals, SIU defeated Rutgers, 79-70. Frazier led the Salukis with 26 points and 18 rebounds. Garrett tallied 22 points and Clarence Smith added 15. Jim Valvano led the Scarlet Knights with 24 points.

Rutgers coach Bill Foster told The Home News he was nervous about the SIU offense before the game even began.

"There's no place to cheat on that ball club," Foster said. "They can really shoot. I got sick just watching them warm up."

SIU would meet up with Marquette – coached by Al McGuire – in the NIT championship game. The Salukis were 23-2 while Marquette held a record of 21-8.

Frazier scored 21 points and grabbed 11 rebounds – on his way to the NIT MVP – as Southern defeated Marquette, 71-56, to win it all. Garrett added 16, Smith had 13 and Roger Bechtold scored 10 for SIU. The Warriors led 42-34 with 13 minutes left in the game, but it was not to be for Marquette.

"We hadn't been taking the battle to them," Hartman said. "We were letting them control the game. I told them at halftime they had to be more aggressive."

The Salukis trailed by 11 points at halftime, and they played inspired basketball in the second half.

"It was a matter of a good club going up against a great club," McGuire said to The Associated Press. "They (SIU) are No. 3 in the nation in my book – behind UCLA and North Carolina."

SIU had dropped the title game of the NCAA College Division (small schools) playoffs the previous two years, but this was one to remember.

The Saluki faithful rushed the court as time expired, and they carried many players on their shoulders.

"We weren't going to be denied this time," said SIU center Ralph Johnson.

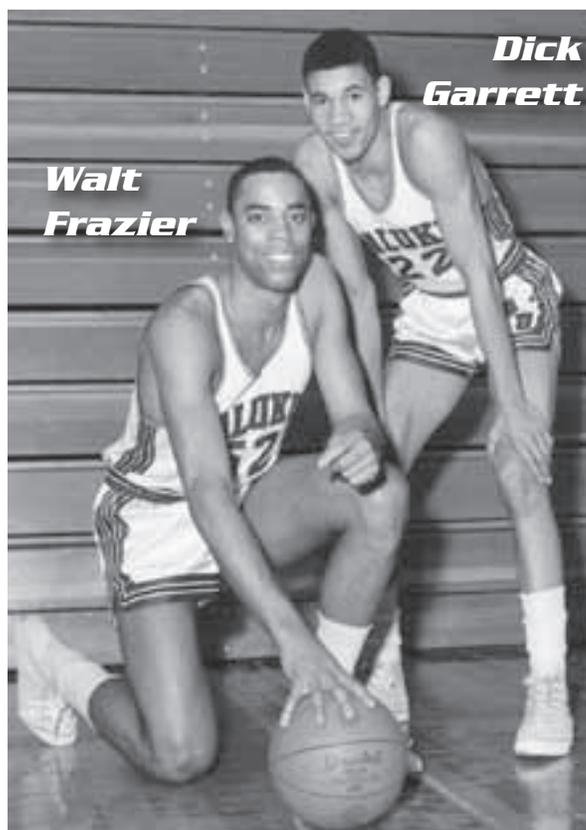

Hartman added, "We didn't want to go to the small college tournament again. We were hoping like the devil to get in the NIT."

Frazier signed a contract with the New York Knicks instead of returning to Southern for his senior year.

The rest of the magical Saluki team included: Chuck Benson, Ed Zastrow, Willie Griffin, Creston Whitaker, Jay Westcott, Craig Taylor, Rick Millis, Rich Brueckner, Andy Kukic and Bobby Jackson.

As impressive as the Salukis' NIT run was, the regular season had its great moments as well.

The Salukis lost in double overtime at Louisville 70-66 in their third game. The Cardinals were led by Butch Beard and Wes Unseld – both went on to the NBA. SIU held Beard to only nine points, but Unseld erupted for 21 points and 28 rebounds.
