Head Coach

2nd Year as HC; 4th year at UConn

In just his second season as the head basketball coach at the University of Connecticut and only his fourth year in the profession since retiring from the NBA, Kevin Ollie has already established himself as one of the rising young coaching stars in the college game.

Ollie accepted a huge responsibility on Sept. 13, 2012, when he was named the 18th head coach in the history of UConn men's basketball, replacing legendary Hall of Fame coach Jim Calhoun.

By the end of the 2012-13 season, however, it was evident that Ollie was more than ready to meet the challenge.

With only two seasons of coaching experience after joining Calhoun's staff as an assistant in 2010-2011, Ollie quickly embraced the opportunity to lead the storied UConn program.

Despite a roster depleted by transfers and early NBA entrants, and a team that was ineligible for any postseason play due to academic shortcomings in years long past, Ollie guided the Huskies to a 20-victory season, a feat no other UConn coach had ever accomplished in his first year.

The Huskies finished 20-10, extending UConn's streak of 20-win seasons to three straight, five in the last six years, and 14 in the last 16 years, as well as extending its streak of winning seasons to 26 in a row. UConn posted a 10-8 mark in the difficult Big East Conference. At season's end, Ollie's efforts were recognized by Collegeinsider.com, which selected him to receive its Ben Jobe National Coach of the Year Award, given to the top Division I minority coach, who produced excellent results despite difficult or adverse conditions.

Ollie raised eyebrows with the season's very first game, upsetting 14th-ranked Michigan State, 66-62, in the Armed Forces Classic at the Ramstein Air Base in Germany. The season also included victories over ranked teams Notre Dame and Syracuse, and five wins in overtime, a school record.

On Dec. 29, 2012, less than a dozen games into his first season as head coach, Ollie was awarded a new contract that will run through at least the 2017-18 season.

Ollie's UConn history --- which began in the fall of 1991 when he reported to school as a freshman from Los Angeles, continued through four successful seasons, including two as a Husky team captain, and resumed when he returned to join Calhoun's coaching staff following a 13-year NBA career --- has come full circle. He may have only served two seasons as an assistant on Calhoun's staff, but possesses a wealth of basketball knowledge after learning from some of the finest teachers to ever coach the game, including Calhoun, Chuck Daly, Larry Brown, and George Karl.

"After 13 years in the NBA, Kevin's got a PhD in basketball," Calhoun said as he passed the torch to his former point guard. "He's a great basketball man and an even better person. I'm very proud of him."

The reins to the Huskies could not have been handed to anyone who wanted them more than Ollie.

"This is my dream job. I was made for this job," Ollie said on the day he was hired. "UConn is a special, special place and I wouldn't want to be anywhere else but right here."

Ollie made that same decision about UConn more than 20 years ago, coming out of Crenshaw High School in Los Angeles. Playing on some of Calhoun's finest teams during the mid-1990s, Ollie was a four-year starting point guard and a two-time captain.

He played in 124 games for the Huskies, averaging 6.7 points and 5.0 assists. A third team All-Big East pick, his 619 assist total still ranks third on UConn's all-time list. He graduated in 1995 with a degree in Communications.

But Ollie was far more concerned with team statistics than individual ones. During his four-year UConn career, the Huskies had a record of 92-33, 51-21 in the Big East Conference and made three NCAA Tournament appearances. During Ollie's last two seasons, when he served as a team captain, UConn's record was 57-10 overall and a dazzling 32-4 in the Big East, capturing two Big East regular-season championships, and reaching the NCAA Sweet 16 and Elite Eight, respectively.

Yet it was after his UConn career that Ollie was most impressive, displaying unmatched perseverance, intestinal fortitude, and a never-say-die attitude as he fought his way through years in the Continental Basketball Association and the U.S. Basketball League to get his chance in the NBA.

Once there, Ollie would simply not give up his dream, signing a series of 10-day and one-year contracts, dealing with trades and frustrating roster cuts.

"One time, I was cut on Christmas Eve," said Ollie. "What a Christmas present that was."

Yet Ollie would not be deterred, earning a reputation throughout the league as an outstanding teammate, with strong moral fiber, impeccable character, and a vast knowledge of the game. His perseverance finally paid off with a multi-year contract from the Cleveland Cavaliers, who also wanted Ollie to mentor a young LeBron James about acting as a professional. Oklahoma City brought Ollie in to do the same for Kevin Durant. During a 13-year NBA career, Ollie played for 11 different franchises in 12 cities and learned from 15 different NBA coaches. It was apparent that Ollie would eventually become a coach.

Ollie couldn't have had a more successful debut season to his coaching career than in 2010-11, as he helped guard Kemba Walker produce one of the most spectacular individual seasons in UConn history in leading the Huskies to the program's third national championship. The 2011-12 season culminated in another NCAA appearance and another UConn guard, Jeremy Lamb, drafted as an NBA lottery selection.

"Kevin Ollie epitomizes what we want a UConn athlete, a UConn student, to be all about, and when you say that, that's heavy stuff," Calhoun said. "Any fox hole you need to jump in, there's your guy. Anytime you need a person who won't quit, there's your guy."

Born in Dallas on Dec. 27, 1972, and raised in Los Angeles, Ollie resides in Glastonbury with wife Stephanie, who is also a UConn grad (1997), and their two children, son Jalen (born 6/22/96) and daughter Cheyanne (born 2/6/01).

Glen MILLER

Associate Head Coach

11th year at UConn

Glen Miller is in his second season as the Huskies' Associate Head Coach under Head Coach Kevin Ollie. It is Miller's 11th season overall on the UConn staff and his fourth since returning to UConn in 2010-11.

Miller rejoined Coach Jim Calhoun's UConn staff in 2010-11 as Director of Basketball Administration following 17 years of head coaching experience at Connecticut College, Brown University, and the University of Pennsylvania. Two years ago, he moved into the role of full-time assistant coach and was an integral part of practice work, game strategy, and recruiting.

Miller's Division I head coaching experience began at Brown in 1999-2000, where his teams set school records for wins in a two-, three-, four-, and five-year span, as well as most Ivy League wins in a season. He recruited and developed 10 all-conference players and the Ivy League's 2004 Player of the Year. Following seven years in Providence, Miller was hired as head coach of the prestigious program at Penn in 2006. He led the Quakers to the Ivy League Championship and an NCAA Tournament berth in 2006-07, setting the school record for most Ivy League wins by a first-year coach. He spent three full years and part of a fourth as the Penn head coach.

Previous to taking over at Brown, Miller enjoyed a highly-successful span as head coach at Division III Connecticut College. In six seasons, beginning in 1993, Miller led Conn College to unprecedented heights, including a 28-1 record, a No. 3 national ranking, and a berth in the Division III Final Four in 1998-99.

In 17 seasons as a head coach, Miller compiled 233 victories.

A native of Groton, Conn., where he starred at Fitch High School, Miller played for two seasons at UConn, then played two seasons for Calhoun at Northeastern. He joined Calhoun's first staff at UConn in 1986 and worked with the Huskies for seven seasons before being named head coach at Conn College in 1993.

Born 8/20/1961, Miller and his wife Yvonne reside in Mansfield and are the parents of four children: Tony, Genelle, Jillian (a UConn senior), and Emma.

Karl HOBBS

Assistant Coach

11th year at UConn

Karl Hobbs is in his 11th season overall on the UConn staff, his second as an Assistant Coach after returning to the Huskies in 2011-12 as the Director of Basketball Administration. Hobbs, a former UConn team captain, spent eight years as a UConn assistant coach from 1993-2001 and helped the Huskies win eight Big East championships and the 1999 NCAA title.

In between his two UConn stints, Hobbs spent 10 years as the head coach at George Washington University, leading the Colonials to two Atlantic 10 Tournament championships, a regular-season title, and five straight postseason appearances, including three consecutive NCAA Tournament berths. He was the Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year in 2005-06, and notched 166 wins while at GWU.

Hobbs began his coaching career as a six-year assistant at Boston University before joining Jim Calhoun's UConn staff. While Hobbs was at UConn, he was instrumental in the recruitment of such Husky stars as Richard Hamilton, Caron Butler, and Emeka Okafor. The Huskies had a record of 216-56 while Hobbs was on Calhoun's staff.

Out of Roxbury, Mass., Hobbs was named Massachusetts Schoolboy Player of the Year in 1979-80 after leading Cambridge Rindge and Latin High School to the state high school championship.

Hobbs was a four-year starting point guard for UConn (1980-84), where he served as team captain and was an All-Big East selection as a senior. He led the team in assists all four years and still ranks fifth on the all-time list.

Born 8/7/1961, Hobbs and wife JoAnn are the parents of two daughters, RaShauna and Kaliah.

Ricky MOORE

Assistant Coach

2nd year at UConn

Ricky Moore, co-captain of UConn's first national championship men's team in 1999, is in his first season as a UConn Assistant Coach after serving as the program's Assistant Director of Basketball Administration last year.

Moore, a 1999 UConn graduate with a degree in community program development, came back to Storrs after serving as an assistant basketball coach at Dartmouth College from 2010-2012, following his retirement from an 11-year career in professional basketball. Moore played professionally for 11 years in five countries --- Austria, Ukraine, Sweden, Turkey, and Germany --- as well as in the Continental Basketball Association and the NBA Developmental League.

During Moore's four seasons at UConn (1995-99), the Huskies compiled an overall record of 114-24 and a Big East Conference mark of 55-17, winning three Big East regular-season championships, three Big East Tournament championships, and reaching the 1996 NCAA Sweet 16, the 1998 NCAA Elite, and capturing the 1999 NCAA Championship. He was a three-time co-captain and his 510 assists still rank sixth on the all-time list.

Moore was named to the 1999 Final Four and West Regional All-Tournament Teams and Basketball News Magazine selected him as the National Defensive Player of the Year. In 2001, he was named to UConn's All-Century Team.

Originally from Augusta, Ga., Moore was born April 10, 1976. He and wife Heather are the parents of two children, daughter Kendyll and son R.J.

Kevin FREEMAN

Director of

Basketball Administration

3rd year at UConn

Kevin Freeman is in his second season as UConn's Director of Basketball Administration after serving for one year as the Assistant Director under Karl Hobbs.

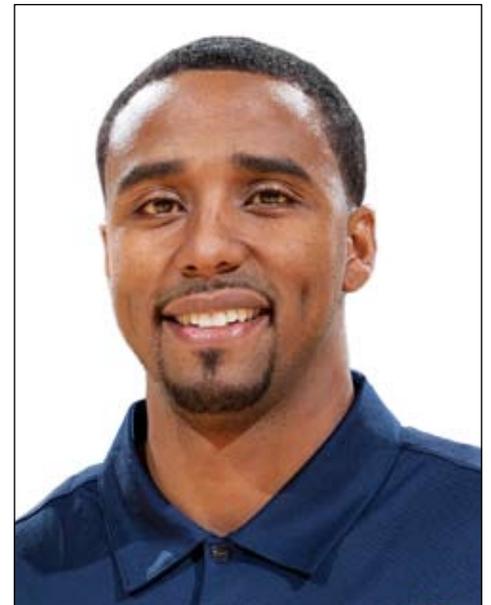

Besides his responsibilities as the coordinator for all the Huskies' travel and practice schedules at home and on the road, Freeman serves as the liaison between the men's basketball program and the university administration, as well as the campus community.

Freeman, a former UConn captain and the program's all-time leader in games played (140), came back to Storrs in 2011-12 after playing 11 seasons of professional basketball in Italy, Australia, Greece, South Korea, China, Puerto Rico, Spain and Venezuela.

Freeman, a native of Springfield, Mass., was an all-state performer at Paterson (N.J.) Catholic before his stellar career at UConn. He was named the Most Outstanding Player of the 1999 Big East Championship and selected to the 1999 NCAA West Regional All-Tournament Team as an invaluable starter on UConn's first National Championship team. During Freeman's career, the Huskies compiled an impressive 109-32 record, and made three NCAA appearances, reaching the Elite Eight in 1998 and winning the NCAA crown in 1999.

At the start of the 2013-14 season, he still ranked No. 17 on UConn's all-time scoring list with 1,476 points, and No. 8 on the all-time rebounding list with 913. He earned his degree in 2006.

Born 3/3/1978, Freeman and his wife Nicole are the parents of a daughter, Kekoa, and a son, Sire.

A Look Ahead: 2013-14 Preview

Last season, for the first time in 26 years, the UConn men's basketball team played under a new head coach.

This season, for the first time in 34 years, UConn will play under a new conference banner.

Yet despite all the changes surrounding the program, the 2013-14 Huskies will still be looking for some of their old-fashioned success.

After 10 Big East Conference regular-season championships and a record seven Big East Tournament titles, UConn enters a new era this season as a member of The American Athletic Conference, along with former league colleagues Louisville, Cincinnati, South Florida and Rutgers, as well as newcomers Central Florida, Memphis, Temple, Houston and Southern Methodist.

"We're looking forward to facing some new challenges, meeting some different teams, traveling to some different places," second-year UConn coach Kevin Ollie said. "But the goal is still to win championships."

The Huskies will try to achieve that goal with the same core of last year's team that posted a 20-10 overall record, a 10-8 Big East mark, and notched five wins over NCAA Tournament teams. UConn will have eight scholarship players retuning, including all five starters, and they will combine with an experienced incoming graduate student, three promising freshmen, and a talented transfer who must sit out the season, but figures to be a major asset to the team during everyday practice.

As was the case last season, the

Huskies' strength will be on the perimeter, boasting one of the best backcourts in the country in terms of talent, experience, heart and intensity. However, an improved frontcourt, with more depth albeit young and inexperienced, should make the Huskies better defensively and more difficult to contain on offense.

It's hard to believe that guard

Shabazz Napier could have had a better season than last year, when he led the Huskies in scoring (17.1), assists (4.6), steals (2.0), three-point shooting (.398), minutes (37.2), was second in rebounding (4.4), and was nothing short of brilliant in overtime. Napier played every minute of UConn's nine overtime periods (two double overtime games) and in 45 minutes, he scored 55 points, shot 12-of-21 overall, 10-of-16 from three-point range, and 21-of-24 from the foul line.

The 6-1 guard was an All-Big East First Team pick, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association District I Player of the Year and named to the NABC District 5 First Team. Twice, he was named the Big East Player of the Week and he was on the Big East Weekly Honor Roll five times.

Napier --- one of three Huskies remaining from UConn's 2011 NCAA National Championship team, along with fellow seniors Niels Giffey and Tyler Olander --- will enter 2013-14 as an All-American candidate, and a Bob Cousy Award candidate, as well as a candidate for American Athletic Conference Player of the Year.

Napier will again team with Ryan Boatright to give the Huskies a dynamic backcourt tandem. Boatright, a junior, was second to Napier last season in team scoring (15.4), assists (4.4), steals (1.5), and minutes (36.3). The lightning-quick Boatright also gives the Huskies a devastating on-ball defender. Like Napier, he was a USBWA All-District I pick.

Sophomore Omar Calhoun was a Big East All-Rookie Team pick last season, a campaign in which he steadily improved and finished as one of four double-figure scorers (11.1) on the Huskies, as well as the third-leading rebounder (3.9). After off-season surgery on both hips, the former Gatorade N.Y. State Player of the Year is expected to have much more explosiveness to the basket and a more complete game.

Joining the UConn backcourt this season will be freshman Terrence Samuel, out of Brooklyn, N.Y., who established himself as one of the top point guards in the New York City area last year. His strength, toughness and ability to run a team on the floor give him a good chance at earning some playing time.

Although he will sit out this season as a transfer student, redshirt sophomore guard Rodney Purvis will be an invaluable asset as he pushes the UConn guards during practice. A former McDonald's All-American, Purvis comes to UConn after playing in 35 games, starting 23, for North Carolina State last year. He averaged 8.3 points, 2.4 rebounds, and shot 44.2 percent for the Wolfpack. Purvis will have three years of eligibility remaining, starting in 2014-15.

Junior forward DeAndre Daniels raised some eyebrows toward the end of last season when he averaged 21.3 points, 9.0 rebounds, shot 47.8 percent overall and had two double-doubles over UConn's last four games. As he did last year, Daniels figures to see playing time at both forward positions and could be ready for a breakout season.

Daniels is just one of a number of Huskies with the versatility to play multiple positions. Veteran senior Niels Giffey, who spent the summer playing in the European Championships with the German National Team, can also be used at either forward spot or even as a big guard, as can grad student Lasan Kromah, who joins the Huskies for one season after scoring more than 1,000 points in his three-year career at George Washington University. Sophomore forward Leon Tolksdorf displayed a deft outside shooting touch at times last season and will be asked to become a solid three-point threat this year.

The Huskies will be looking for a marked improvement from their big men this season. Senior Tyler Olander is the most experienced with 102 games played, 56 of them as a starter, but he will have much more help inside this season. Sophomore Phillip Nolan stepped into a more prominent role at the end of last year when Olander was injured and showed real promise and added weight and strength during the off-season.

Two incoming freshmen bigs will get the opportunity to contribute right away. Forward Kentan Facey was the N.Y. State Gatorade Player of the Year and his rebounding alone should provide the Huskies with a major boost, not to mention his ability to get to the basket or step outside to hit the midrange jumper. Center Amida Brimah is going to need added strength and bulk, but his shot-blocking ability will immediately be a help to the Huskies' defense. Both have the relentless basketball motors that UConn coach Kevin Ollie covets.

The Huskies have 92.4 percent of their scoring, 75.8 percent of their rebounding, and 91.5 percent of their assists returning from last season. They will need all that talent and experience, plus solid contributions from their promising newcomers, to deal with a challenging schedule that includes two games each against defending NCAA champion Louisville, annual Top 25 team Memphis, always tough Cincinnati and Temple and battle-tested USF, as well as rising programs SMU, Houston and UCF in The American. In addition, UConn will face off against perennial national powers Maryland, Florida, Stanford, Washington and possibly Indiana.

Clearly, there have been major changes surrounding the UConn program in the last two years, but two constants remain: the desire to win and the development of high-character young men as athletes and as people.

In 2013-14, the Huskies will bring back:

5 starters and 8 lettermen

92.4% of their scoring

75.8% of their rebounding

91.5% of their assists

88.1% of minutes played

A Look Back: 2012-13 Review

Why are they playing so hard? They have nothing to play for, why the heck are they playing so hard?

It was the prevailing theme for the UConn Huskies throughout their 2012-13 season. With no possibility of postseason tournament play due to past years' academic shortcomings, why are the Huskies putting everything they have into every game? It was the question that first-year UConn Coach Kevin Ollie wanted opposing teams to ask themselves after playing against the Huskies. It was the tone Ollie wanted to set for his own team from the first day of practice through the final buzzer of the season's last game.

Perhaps no season in UConn's 112-year basketball history was filled with more elements of change than 2012-13. From the retirement of longtime Hall of Fame coach Jim Calhoun in September, to the extension of Ollie's contract from seven months to five years in late December, to the team's postseason ineligibility, to conference realignment, the Huskies had a myriad of distractions.

Yet through it all, Ollie kept the Huskies focused and determined. The new coach refused to allow any opponent to finish a game against UConn feeling as if the Huskies had simply gone through the motions. The result was a 20-victory season, UConn's third straight and 14th in the past 16 years, and the first time a first-year UConn coach had accomplished the feat.

"This group of guys is one I'm never going to forget," Ollie said. "Not only did they stay with the program when they could have left, they worked extremely hard and they had an outstanding season."

The 2012-13 Huskies wasted no time getting everybody's attention.

Unranked in the preseason polls, UConn opened the season with a 66-62 upset of 14th-ranked Michigan State in the Armed Forces Classic at Ramstein Air Base in Germany, the first NCAA regular-season game to be played in Europe.

The Huskies defeated Michigan State to win the first Armed Forces Classic in Germany.

Led by the dynamic backcourt duo of Shabazz Napier and Ryan Boatright, the Huskies roared through the first two months of the season, winning 10 of 12 non-conference games. The two setbacks came against New Mexico in the championship game of the Paradise Jam in the U.S. Virgin Islands and to No. 25 North Carolina State in the Jimmy V Classic at Madison Square Garden, by a combined total of 10 points. Both opponents went on to earn NCAA Tournament invitations.

The Huskies took on the challenge of the Big East Conference schedule with the same intensity, starting with a hard-fought overtime loss at Marquette, another to-be NCAA tourney team. The highlights of the January schedule were two road victories: a 65-58 decision at No. 17 Notre Dame as Napier, Boatright and Tyler Olander combined for 49 points, and an 82-79 triumph in overtime at Providence as Napier, Boatright and DeAndre Daniels combined for 55 markers.

In February, UConn notched road wins over Seton Hall and DePaul, and said goodbye to a couple of longtime conference rivals with epic battles. First, the Huskies knocked off No. 6 Syracuse, 66-58, at the XL Center in Hartford led by 17 points from Boatright and 7 assists by Napier in the final meeting between the two as Big East Conference opponents. Then, the Huskies battled No. 7 Georgetown through double overtime before falling, 79-78, in the last Big East meeting against the Hoyas.

With injuries mounting and player availability dwindling, the Huskies still managed to close the year on a high note, completing a season sweep over Providence with a second overtime win against the Friars, this one a 63-59 decision at Gampel Pavilion. It was UConn's fifth overtime victory of the season in seven overtime games, both of which are school records.

The Huskies' 20-10 record marked the 26th consecutive winning season for UConn, while the 10-8

Big East record was good enough to finish seventh in the 15-team league standings.

UConn finished third in the Big East in scoring, was second in three-pointers made and first in free throw percentage. The Huskies were also among the top six league teams in field goal percentage, three-point shooting percentage, three-point shooting percentage defense, assists, blocks, steals, and assist-turnover ratio.

Individually, Napier was honored as a First Team All-Big East selection, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association District I (New England) Player of the Year, a National Association of Basketball Coaches District 5 (Big East Conference) First Team pick, the Big East Player of the Week twice, and the Big East Weekly Honor Roll five times. Boatright was also named to the USBWA All-District I Team and was named to the Big East Honor Roll. Freshman Omar Calhoun was a Big East All-Rookie Team selection and was the league's Rookie of the Week twice during the season.

As it turns out, the UConn Huskies found plenty to play for during the 2012-13 season --- all of it starting with pride.

UConn Basketball Champions Center

Spring 2014

With a target date of opening in the spring of 2014, just one year removed from the official groundbreaking ceremony, construction of the impressive University of Connecticut Basketball Champions Center is proceeding on schedule.

Built on the site of what was Memorial Stadium, the former on-campus home of the football Huskies, the Basketball Champions Center is adjacent to Gampel Pavilion and will provide the UConn men's and women's basketball programs each with a place to call their own.

At an estimated cost of $38 million, the 78,200-square foot facility will consist of two massive and identical wings, containing practice courts, locker rooms, coaches' offices, athletic training rooms, strength and conditioning areas, areas for sports medicine, film rooms, fully-equipped academic study areas, dining areas, and memorabilia celebrating the two programs' decades of success.

"The success of our men's and women's basketball student-athletes, in both the classroom and on the court, will be greatly enhanced by the UConn Basketball Champions Center," said Director of Athletics Warde Manuel. "I want to thank all of our benefactors whose generosity allowed us to begin construction of this project."

The practice courts for each team will consist of one full-size court and two half-courts per team and a dedicated free throw shooting basket, equaling eight goals per court. A viewing balcony will allow coaches and visitors to observe practices with ample space for video equipment to record practice sessions from an elevated position.

There will be three meeting rooms in the building and each program will have student lounges, featuring space to relax, socialize, play video games, or watch TV. The full dining area and buffet style serving area will be on the second floor and will ensure that the athletes get proper nutrition.

The sports medicine components will include areas for testing, hydrotherapy, treatment and taping, doctor's office, and state-of-the-art rehab equipment.

Combining with the Burton Family Football Complex just a short walk away, the Basketball Champions Center will give the University of Connecticut on-campus practice and training facilities that rank among the finest in the nation.

* - Note: In 1910-1911 an independent team was given permission to play some games under the college name. There was no official team, supported by the CAC Athletic Association, between 1908 and 1914. The "independent" CAC team was self-supporting, and played no collegiate opponents.

CAC reinstated its support of basketball at the end of the 1913-1914 year. The last two games of the 1914-1915 season were played in Hawley Armory. The first full season of competition at Hawley was during the 1915-1916 season.
