OVERVIEW OF THE HIGH SCHOOL AMBASSADOR ROLE

The role of an ambassador is to support UN Youth in achieving its vision to inspire students to have a positive impact on the world around them and to develop their skills to be able to make a difference.

As a representative of UN Youth, your responsibilities will be to establish a UN Youth club at school, promote our conferences such as by speaking in assembly, organise in-school workshops and events and advocate for our values of engagement and tolerance.

At school, it will be important to develop and maintain positive relationships with relevant teachers who can support your work as an ambassador. At UN Youth events, it will be essential to employ the facilitative skills you will gain through attending our training sessions.

You will receive recognition of your involvement as an ambassador and be exposed to a range of opportunities. Through gaining experience in a professional capacity, you will develop transferable skills such as event management, leadership and interpersonal skills.

If you are passionate about inspiring global citizens, this is an invaluable opportunity where you can contribute to the vision of UN Youth while still participating as a delegate in regional and national conferences.

IN-SCHOOL LUNCHTIME WORKSHOPS

Ambassadors are given the option of running in-school lunchtime workshops as UN Youth club meetings. All resources including instructions, powerpoints and handouts are provided. Ambassadors are expected to become familiar with these resources and schedule lunchtimes to run them. In 2019, workshop topics included sustainable development goals, media bias, the art of persuasion and our place in Aotearoa.

IN-SCHOOL MODEL UNITED NATIONS EVENTS

Ambassadors are responsible for running an in-school Model United Nations events. These events are designed as one-day events to be run on the weekend. Typically, two or more schools with ambassadors will collaborate on these events as this splits the workload and attracts more participants.

All resources including resolution papers, briefing papers, promotional content and facilitative materials such as event checklists are provided. Ambassadors are expected to liaise with their school to plan and implement this event. In 2019, committee topics included renewable energy, media manipulation, NBC Weapons, the rising refugee crisis, and gender equality in UN Peacekeeping Forces.

Note that ambassadors will volunteer at other ambassadors' in-school Model United Nations events as the chairperson, secretary and notepasser. This is a fantastic way to learn facilitative skills and also get to know other like-minded students.

COMMITMENT

Please note that by submitting an application, you are making a commitment to meet the expectations outlined above if appointed as an ambassador. Although previous experience and skills are beneficial, ambassadors are only effective when they are fully committed. Ambassadors are in a leadership position and are expected to be diligent and proactive.

We are always here to support the ambassadors but please ensure you assess your capacity in taking on this role before submitting an application.
